Dave Mundy: Sheridan Schools prepared for community's growth

Topics at State of the Schools included enrollment, safety, facility upgrades

The REPORTER

"I believe that a key to Sheridan Community Schools' success is partnering with this great community."

That's what Superintendent Dr. Dave Mundy said as he opened his "State of the Schools" presentation. In the spirit of that partnership, Dr. Mundy held his first community meeting on Aug. 30 in the Sheridan Elementary School cafeteria.

In Sheridan, a big topic of discussion is always growth, and Dr. Mundy presented data of current enrollment, comparing it to enrollment over the past 10 years, as well as what is projected by professional demographers. Based on the statistics presented, the demographic studies have been accurate in predicting enrollment. The current SCS enrollment is 1,066, which represents consistency to a slight decline over the past 10 years, while projections indicate slow and

Mayor Cook: Westfield will not tolerate violence

The REPORTER

Last Thursday, Westfield Mayor Andy Cook released this statement following the attempted murder of a Westfield Street Department employee on Aug. 29.

Cook

The arrest of a suspect in the assault and attempted murder of a City of Westfield Street Department employee this week shocked and stunned the citizens of our city.

Two of our Street Department employees were involved in an unprovoked attack on Monday afternoon when they were assaulted by a male with a handgun who attempted to discharge the weapon at one of our employees. Fortunately, the gun did not fire.

The victim was then pistol whipped before the suspect left the area shouting racial slurs at the two men.

County officials debating $63M fairgrounds project

By DANIELLE ZULKOSKY
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

The Hamilton County Commissioners are proposing a fairgrounds improvement project costing upwards of $63 million.

The plan came because Phase 2 of Noblesville's Pleasant Street Expansion Project (reimaginepleasantst.com/project-info) will demolish the O.V. Winks Building and other county municipal buildings.

"The proposed project to fully build it out was approximately $63 million," Commissioner Mark Heirbrandt said. "Obviously, that is a lot of money and we wouldn't be able to afford to do all of that at once."

Noblesville senior Nicole Liu speaks at statewide conference

The REPORTER

Noblesville High School Senior Nicole Liu has been busy this summer.

In June, she was named a Youth Ambassador to VOICE Indiana. VOICE is Indiana's youth initiative whose mission is to engage, educate, and empower teens to live, promote, and celebrate tobacco- and nicotine-free lifestyles. VOICE Youth Ambassadors will coordinate efforts between chapters throughout the state of Indiana and be the statewide youth leadership team for the VOICE program.

In July, Liu participated in the Indiana Black Expo Youth Leadership Summit as a representative of VOICE Hamilton County. The Youth Leadership Summit gives Indiana youth a platform to hear and learn from professionals regarding academics, decision-making, and advocacy, and it takes place annually in conjunction with the Indiana Black Expo.

Then, on Aug. 29, Liu was invited to the Indiana Commercial Tobacco Control Partner X-Change to present on her experiences with VOICE, specifically her trips to the Indiana Statehouse to meet with policy makers and to present a mural project to legislators on behalf of VOICE Hamilton County. She was the only youth to appear at this statewide adult educational and networking event, and she was chosen due to her dedication to VOICE and her passion for keeping the youth of Indiana tobacco- and nicotine-free.

"When I heard I had been asked to speak, I was really honored," Liu said. "I couldn't believe I had the opportunity to present to

S&P affirms county's 'AAA' credit rating

The REPORTER

S&P Global Ratings recently affirmed its 'AAA' long-term rating of Hamilton County, which is the highest rating that can be given. In addition, the agency assigned its 'AAA' to the county's bridge improvement bonds that are scheduled to close in September 2022. The outlook is stable.

The bond proceeds will be used to finance a new bridge project over the White River. This will be done in conjunction with the City of Noblesville. The bridge is the critical component to Noblesville's Pleasant Street project, which city officials say will provide traffic congestion relief on State Road 32.

This is the second year the county has received a AAA rating, and it is still the only county in Indiana that holds a AAA rating from S&P.

"This rating not only saves our residents money, but also signals a sound and stable economic climate," Commissioner Mark Heirbrandt said. "It certainly speaks to the hard work and teamwork of our county commissioners, county council, and finance team."

Heirbrandt

In its report, S&P analysts noted that the county has "[a] very strong economic profile, characterized by robust economic growth … wealth levels that are among the highest in the state, [and] robust tax base growth and strong budgetary management practices…"

"To improve our credit rating, while we continue to recover from the effects of the pandemic and ramp up numerous projects is simply exceptional," Heirbrandt said. "Our county is fiscally strong, disciplined, resilient, and poised for more growth in the future."

Analysts further elaborated that the county's financial position will remain very strong and will be supported by its proactive budgetary management.

Mayor Cook

This incident has left me shaken and angry. This behavior has no place in our society, and it won't be tolerated in this city. Neither will intolerance and racism. The safety of our employees has always been my priority as mayor and an assault on one is an assault on our city.

I'm grateful for our diverse workforce and the women and men who proudly serve our citizens. They deserve our gratitude and respect, not mistreatment.

I'm relieved that the victim of this vicious attack is recovering and will soon return to work. I also commend Westfield Police for making a swift arrest.

As a city and as a society, we must address the difficult questions as to why this type of behavior is spreading across the country. Are we ignoring mental health issues, or are the consequences of criminal actions no longer a sufficient deterrent? Regardless we must find answers and quickly.

For as long as I am mayor, violence and racism will never find safe harbor in our city.

Jill Nicolich was given a second chance at life in 1997 when she received a kidney donation from an organ donor in Philadelphia.

"I was young and scared, just filled with so many emotions," said Nicolich, a Noblesville resident and retired administrator for F.C. Tucker. "Everything with my transplant went very well. Hamilton County launches online portal for county-appointed boards

Streamlined process meant to encourage community engagement

The REPORTER

The Hamilton County Council has a new online process for nominating appointments to county-run boards. In the past, appointments have been made through word of mouth.

"During our last meeting, we had the opportunity to showcase the ineffective nature of the current process as we filled a position on the newly formed consolidated Board of Zoning Appeals and the Hamilton East Public Library board," said Ken Alexander, Vice President of the County Council. "The appointments sparked a spirited debate about recommendations and the qualifications of the nominated individuals. These are items that could be automated if done correctly."

Mertens

The new online process will list each of the county-appointed board seats along with their roles and responsibilities. Anyone interested in filling county-appointed board seat will need to complete an online form with their credentials and experience. When any of the seats on the county-appointed boards need to be filled, the Council can easily review the applications in the online portal.

Applications for the following boards are now live at tinyurl.com/CountyBoardAppointments:

- Alcoholic Beverage Board
- Board of Zoning Appeals
- Economic Development Boards
- Hamilton County Parks Board
- Hamilton County Plan Commission
- Hamilton County Redevelopment Commission
- Hamilton County Visitor and Convention Commission
- Hoosier Heritage Port Authority
- Library Boards
- Property Tax Assessment Board of Appeals
- TriCo Regional Sewer Utility Board of Trustees

"Our goal was to streamline the process," said Chris Mertens, Director of Hamilton County's Information Systems Services Department. "One of our web team members responsible for this project, Jasmine Hazelbaker, is a recent college graduate. In order to attract her generation to service in the community, online applications like these are an expectation, especially in today's technology driven world."

Nickel Plate Arts to highlight local artists & advocates at 10th anniversary Diamond Gala

The REPORTER

Every year, the Nickel Plate Arts Awards recognize some of the most inspirational artists and art advocates among the region's thriving arts scene. The awards originally started in 2016, with nominations coming from the entire central Indiana region. Members of the community submit each nomination.

The award winners will be named at Nickel Plate Arts' 10th Anniversary Diamond Gala on Wednesday, Sept. 21. The gala is the primary fundraiser of the year and is an important event to bring the area's arts community together each year.

McGill

This year, Nickel Plate Arts will feature an Emerging Artist of the Year, an Artist of the Year, an Arts Patron of the Year, and an Arts Champion of the Year, which will recognize someone working hard to integrate arts into programming or putting the needs of artists in the community first.

Also new this year is an award for Cultural Venture of the Year, which recognizes those who are putting effort into creating something new in the arts community.

"The arts are such a driver for economic development in Hamilton County, it's important to recognize those who are leading the charge to support the arts and artists throughout the year," Nickel Plate Arts Director Ailithir McGill said. "That's why we created this and why it continues to be an important celebration of our arts community. Fairgrounds buildings bordering Pleasant Street, and the start of improving various buildings.

"The fairgrounds are used by numerous county offices for training, such as the sheriff's office, emergency management, the health department," Heirbrandt said.

Heirbrandt

Alexander

The first phase of the project will relocate the maintenance and storage barn, improve the Llama Barn, and build a new Bicentennial Pavilion. The plan also calls for expanding and improving the Exhibition Center and creating a new show arena.

Heirbrandt said the plan will "change some of the uses to make it more educational for people in our community as well as rental space and looking at a potential return on investments whether it's weddings or other family events."

The Hamilton County Council manages the county's finances. Councilor Ken Alexander says he is concerned about funding all three phases of the plan. Alexander says, as it currently stands, the first phase of the project would cost approximately $26.5 million. Phase 2 would come in at $15.5 million and, Phase 3, $22 million.

"We've dedicated $15 million and provided a financial plan to fill a gap," Alexander said. "If they're not going to choose that plan, it's incumbent upon the fairgrounds and that leadership to fill that gap."

Alexander says the council asked the commissioners to come up with a plan to finance the rest of the project. He suggests using a bond anticipation note to fund moving the fairgrounds to a new location, then using the tax dollars from private development to finance it.

The fairgrounds are tax-exempt because they are county-owned, so by allowing them to be privately developed and taxed through tax-increment financing, also called a TIF bond, the county could use that money to build a fairground in a new location.

"My opinion was not to move the fairgrounds but to find a financial plan that got the fairgrounds built," Alexander said. "We have a unique opportunity with it being on tax-free land to maybe turn it into a 'TIF-able' area."

Heirbrandt says it is important the fairgrounds remain in a central part of the county.

"It was overwhelmingly supported to keep the fairgrounds in that location," Heirbrandt said. "One of my jobs is to listen to the people, especially the people that utilize that facility."

Ag Science classes & FFA back in action at Westfield High School

The REPORTER

After over 30 years, Agriculture Science has returned to Westfield High School.

Students are encouraged to be a part of this fun and engaging program that will offer students an opportunity to explore more than 300 careers related to the Agricultural Bio and Life Sciences.

This program is relevant to everyone. Throughout our lives we all must eat, and through agriculture is where that food comes from, is processed, and eventually gets to your table. Everyone can benefit from a better understanding of how food gets to the table. Everyone daily interacts with plants and animals, and in the Ag Science program, students will study and understand the internal and external anatomical characteristics and functions of animals and plants.

Agriculture is so much more than farming, and WHS encourages all students to enroll in these courses to broaden and expand their knowledge of food, natural resources, plants, and animals.

All Ag Science courses will be dual credit courses with Ivy Tech, meaning students will earn both college credit and a grade-point average weighted grade.

As a bonus to restarting the Ag Science program, WHS has reopened its FFA Chapter and offers this club to all those students enrolled in Ag Science classes. Bier Brewery expanding into Noblesville

The REPORTER

Bier Brewery has been working with the City of Noblesville to open a new 6,000 square-foot taproom at 1618 S. 10th St. Located on four acres of property, the new family-friendly establishment will serve BIER, wine, cider, cold brew coffee, wine slushies and food.

The plan includes a dog park, kids' playground, covered outdoor seating, a private room, and a large outdoor green space with bike access to the Allisonville Road Trail. It will have a focus on working with the community, local farmers and sustainable environmental practices throughout the operation. The space also will be welcoming as a coworking office space with plenty of room to accommodate staff, guests and families.

"Bier Brewery is known for its quality and taste, and I know their commitment to excellence will make them a success in Noblesville," Mayor Chris Jensen said. "Our administration has invested heavily into our city's gateways, including a new trail and road improvements along the South Tenth Street corridor. I'm excited for our residents to have Bier Brewery as a new dining and recreation option in this area of the community."

This will be the third and largest location for Bier Brewery, which also has taprooms at 5133 E. 65th St., Indianapolis, and 13720 N. Meridian St., Carmel. This is a multi-million-dollar investment for Bier Brewery to complete the project.

"We are very excited to be adding our third location in Noblesville," said Ryan Connor, Director of Sales and Distribution for Bier Brewery. "The City of Noblesville has been a great partner and very welcoming to our ideas and goals. We are anxious to get started as soon as we tie up loose ends."

Bier is a local family-owned and operated brewery that opened in 2010. The operation started out small by Jerry (father) and Darren Connor (son) as a small-scale nano brewery. It has since evolved to include Darren's siblings, Ryan Connor and Leah Keene, and expanded in 2015 to a 20-barrel system in order to keep pace with growing demand for its product, which now consists of more than 130 beer selections. It opened the 4,300 square-foot, all-ages taproom location with food service in Carmel in 2018.

With a steadfast focus on crafting quality brews, Bier Brewery is a perennial award-winner in statewide and national craft beer competitions. Bier Brewery was awarded the Indiana Brewers Cup Champion award in both 2011 and 2012, and has garnered over 110 medals at state, national, and international competitions.

Bier Brewery has been involved with the Noblesville Chamber of Commerce as a Taste of Business vendor and featured in their Birdies & Brews Golf Outing fundraiser along with numerous other fundraisers in the Noblesville area. The taproom also plans to host community organizations and local musicians on their outdoor patio. The new taproom is expected to open in summer 2023.

County Surveyor appointed to five national committees

The REPORTER

Hamilton County Surveyor Kenton C. Ward was recently appointed to five committees with the National Association of Counties (NACo).

Ward was appointed to serve on the GIS Subcommittee, Information Technology Standing Committee, Resilient Counties Advisory Board, and the Rural Action Caucus. He was also named to a leadership position as Vice Chair of the Water Subcommittee. The appointments were made by NACo President Denise Winfrey, Board Member, of Will County, Ill.

"It's an honor to be chosen to serve on these committees and to be able to bring back to Hamilton County what I have learned by doing so," Ward said. "It's important to make sure local and county issues are heard at the federal level. Through these appointments and the strength of NACo, Hamilton County has a seat at the national policy table."

In addition to his seat on these committees, Ward continues to serve on the NACo Board of Directors and the Environment, Energy and Land Use Steering Committee.

so many amazing professionals and advocates about what my county is doing," Liu said.

Erica Strahm, Youth Coordinator for VOICE Hamilton County, said, "Nicole is always among the first to participate and isn't afraid of new experiences. Her maturity and presence, lengthy VOICE resumé, and knowledge about the topic made her the perfect choice to present to Indiana's adult Tobacco Control Partners."

According to Liu, she found VOICE through a Purdue University Extension leadership program called A Chance To Serve. Upon graduation from the program, ACTS students are matched with a Hamilton County organization where they can continue building on the leadership skills they've learned.

Liu plans to attend college after graduation, and she would like to make advocacy and helping others a career someday.

steady growth over the next 10 years, with an estimated a total K-12 increase of 200 students by 2032.

Although there is often talk about potential housing additions in a small community, Mundy shared that there are currently only three developments that are in the town pipeline.

Dr. Mundy explained that another factor in enrollment is transfer students. SCS is one of the two districts in Hamilton County that accepts transfer students from other districts. The data presented showed 159 transfer students from 15 different school districts, with the majority coming from Westfield and Clinton Central. In response to a parent question, Mundy added, "We absolutely enjoy our out-of-district students. They are an integral part of our daily culture, and we look forward to continuing to increase our number of out-of-district students over the next few years."

To be ready for the controlled growth coming to the community, Mundy presented short- and long-term planning for facility upgrades in three phases. Phase 1 has begun with the construction of a fieldhouse that will provide two additional gyms for athletic and classroom use, as well as an upgraded fitness center that will be used for classes and after school. Phase I also includes two additional classrooms for the high school and upgraded concessions and locker rooms for football.

Phases II and III are in the cost estimating phase, as the board and administration with community input is exploring auditorium upgrades, bringing softball and soccer on-site, and other general building upgrades. Long-term planning also includes exploration of the best place for a new school when the time comes to build one.

Mundy explained that a strength of Sheridan has been small class sizes, and he provided data showing that the elementary still has room to keep class sizes relatively small. He also shared that the elementary was designed to expand wings to build capacity at a relatively low cost and maintained the SCS commitment to quality education, which includes small class sizes.

Moving to another topic that is a great concern to parents, Dr. Mundy introduced Dr. Melissa Hampton, High School Assistant Principal and Corporation Safety Director, who shared information about safety updates at Sheridan. She explained that SCS has moved to a four-level safety system that allows it to be consistent with other Hamilton County school districts and first responders. She shared that students and staff will be trained in the A.L.I.C.E. method in response to a violent intruder.

Hampton also said that that through the generosity of the Hamilton County Council on Alcohol and Other Drugs, vape sensors are being installed in high school bathrooms and will likely be added at the middle school in the future.

Other safety activities include a camera audit, re-keying the district, and replacing card readers. The importance of not propping open doors is being stressed to students and staff and signs are posted on doors as a constant reminder. She added that the safety team is reviewing several safety policies, and it will develop a three-year plan for multiple safety initiatives to be implemented at SCS.

Dr. Mundy then addressed the topic of the large number of new teachers this school year. He shared data about the 18 new teachers to the district, as well as data about why teachers have left SCS over the last five years. The data suggests that the departures are for a variety of reasons, ranging from retirement (30 percent) to leaving education (5 percent), and many reasons in between.

"We really are being successful," Mundy said. "For the most part, teachers are not leaving to go to other districts – they have many different reasons. We believe we are staying competitive with our teacher salaries and have a culture where teachers want to teach. That also showed up in the hiring process, and we were very pleased with our pool of outstanding candidates."

Mundy closed on an enthusiastic note, thanking the audience for taking time to attend and noting that there are a lot of great things happening at Sheridan, and expressing his appreciation for the great community support and partnership.

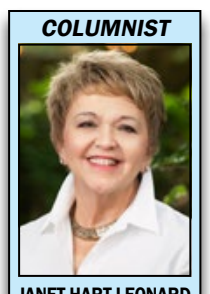
Every plot has a story

COLUMNIST



JANET HART LEONARD
From the Hart

Have you ever walked through a cemetery and thought about the stories that lie in the plots of the gravesites?

My childhood – and now growing older together friend – Cathy Swank Fuqua, gave me this idea for a column.

I celebrated my 67th birthday on September 3. Have I told you that I love birthdays? I celebrate all month long. Just ask my husband.

A few years after my dad passed, my mother told me she wanted to buy me a "special" birthday present. I was excited to hear what she had in mind. It was a cemetery plot at Crownland Cemetery. I could not quit laughing. Now that is SPECIAL!

She wanted to know where I would be when I died. I told her I'd be with her in heaven. She laughed and said, "Janet, I mean your earthly body." We both laughed. I now own my house, my mom's house and a cemetery plot. All are within six blocks of each other in old Noblesville. I'd say prime real estate. My parents paid $6,500 for their house in 1951. I paid $17,500 for my house in 1975. Mom paid $600 for my burial plot. It would be a safe bet to say they have all appreciated, even my cemetery plot.

Now I'm thinking I need to pick out my headstone. I want my final decisions made now, so my family will not have to make any difficult decisions later. Honestly, I don't mind thinking about death, but don't worry, I plan to dance at my grandson, Thomas' wedding reception. He was born on August 16. That would make me in my early nineties then. I hope I can still dance.

So back to the cemetery. I've always been fascinated with the cemetery. I grew up riding my bicycle through Crownland. The plot where I will "live" (doesn't that sound better than "be buried"?) is in a row behind and two plots south of my parents. The lane to get there is lined with the plots of my friends and the parents of my friends. I like to say that my plot will be in the same "neighborhood" as my friends.

When people pass by my grave, I know there will be stories told. I want the stories to be one of "her words made a difference."

We all have a story, and we all will have a legacy.

What will people remember about me? Did I love well? Did my words encourage? Did my testimony tell of my faith? Was I kind to those who hurt me? Did I love enough so that I will be missed by those I leave behind? Will people smile when they remember me?

People grieve because the person is no longer in their life, and they miss the love that was there. The truth is that the love will always be there. It will just look different. The love will go on.

I miss my mom and my dad, but wonderful reminders are left of their love for me … one just is very special … my cemetery plot. I still have to laugh.

Yes, my stories have a plot, and … my plot has a story. Stay tuned … I have more memories to make and more stories to tell.

HP held my customer's printer hostage

COLUMNIST

NIK ROBERTS
Tech Tips

Need tech advice? Look no further than Hamilton County's own Noble Geeks.

My name is Nik Roberts, and I am the owner of Noble Geeks located in Downtown Noblesville. I have over 15 years of experience in the tech field.

This week, I am going to share a recent experience with a customer's HP printer issue.

I got a call that a customer's printer would not work. All they ever did was replace the ink. Other than that, they had no idea about how to diagnose it.

When I arrived at the customer's house, the printer was confirmed to be not working. I begin to perform basic troubleshooting.

The computer says it's printing, and the printer is silent. I eventually perform a factory reset, and behold I now get an error! E9, which means the internal printer software was corrupt after a quick lookup. At this point, I called to get HP on the phone. I am expecting this thing to be a paperweight and I was ready to negotiate getting an exchange for a new device.

HP answers, I explain everything I have done and what the error code is. HP's rep says "Hmm, I think this might be an issue with the ink."

I am personally shocked, but I go along with it as he transfers me to HP Instant Ink.

New rep, problem explained again.

This rep goes on to inform me that because the customer had a new credit card due to an expiration her HP Instant Ink subscription has been suspended. I was already thinking I was going to get a runaround.

I say, "OK, we can fix that but let's get this printer fixed first. Why have ink for a printer that does not work?"

I am then informed that because her subscription for ink had been suspended, she cannot use her printer in the meantime.

HP essentially has taken this very kind customer's printer hostage!

The official HP ink cartridge was far smaller than the replacement cartridge from Instant Ink.

This customer spent well over $200 for this printer, and all because of a $4.99 per month ink subscription unpaid you are going to disable the customer's printer – their own property!

Now we also need to make a trip somewhere to buy ink at a store.

Now let me tell you about that ink ... The one from the store was official HP ink, but it was HALF the size of the cartridge from Instant Ink.

At this point, I have lost all faith with HP.

I write to you here today and want to warn everyone from ever having to go through any of this. My customer shouldn't have had to.

Reeling in the years with a cane pole boy

COLUMNIST

SCOTT SAALMAN
Scaramouch

I was a cane pole boy.

Bamboo sticking out the backseat window, cork bobbers bobbing in a country breeze, the crunch and grind of Goodyear on gravel, a day's dust drying our throats, our Sundays measured by cousins' smiles and country road miles.

Creek, spillway, river, lake, and pond.

Crappie and catfish and lumbering carp.

Bluegill and bass.

The squirm of live bait in rusty Folgers cans. The worms: slimy, nightmarish creatures unearthed from sewer soil by us wee lads as our grandfather watched from a taskmaster's higher ground. We harvested the stinky, slippery worm bed that sat like a bruise on a steep hillside.

To this day, I have not seen a worm like those my grandfather bred, skinnier than the hooks they were put on, more vein than worm, pink, putrid, little, wriggling, writhing live-wired things, sun stunned when pulled by the handfuls from the black muck, while we cursed the smelly slop squishing between our toes, a cancerous ground that I swear stunted my growth, left me prematurely bald.

Even the birds wouldn't eat those worms. I think they were scared of them. The devil's worms.

The frugal man's worm, the homegrown, free worm, not the costly worm found in the Main Street bait shop where you were somehow calmed by the doomed crickets' chirps and fascinated by the juicy, chilled, fat night crawlers caged in waxed cardboard and sold by the dozens like doughnuts.

Crouching behind cattails, sworn to silence so as not to scare the fish, even if a snake shoots between your legs (which they did), staring intently at that cork bobber, as if trying to psychically will it to bob, to begin a dance between an outdoorsman and a denizen swimming just beneath the cumulous-cloud-reflected surface, refusing to blink—the blink being a fisher boy's biggest sin—so as not to miss the sinking of the bobber and the cue to pull back on the pole, tightly set the hook and lift a deep-water dweller to daylight, all scaly and tail bent, gilled, finned, floppy, and frown faced. I lived for the cane pole bend, the airlift of frightened fish. It was my oxygen.

I caught a mud puppy once, hauled from the murk, all rusty brown, mad, and mucus snorting. (The hellish salamander hiss still gives me chills as I write about it.) Pulling it up the steep creek bank was half the chore, for it then ran wildly across land, eternally hook-mouthed, as if searching for a tree to scale and escape. I cut the line, not wanting to deal with what the devil had dealt. I cut the line, too, for river eel and pond snake – satanic aquatic astonishments that kept this wild-eyed cane pole boy wide-eyed during his water hole days. The snapping turtles did their own line-cutting, which was a good thing, for you didn't want to risk a finger – I was told he wouldn't let go until a full moon.

My grandfather kept everything he caught, even the smallest of sunfish. Catch and release was a real eye-roller to him. "It'll make a fine sandwich," he'd say with each catch attached to the stringer. We'd hatchet the heads, scale the bodies, slit the bellies, thumb-gut them. We'd coat them with crumb, fry them, and once the meat was in our mouths, use our tongue tips to tease, test and tunnel the meat to find stray bone. I feared the fish bone choke, a slain fish's final revenge. Karma. Balled bread loosened the bone from the gullet, dropped it safely to the belly. I have reached my fifties, in part, thanks to dough balls of my youth.

Before all that, I was a creek bank baby, left behind on a blanket while my young, lovey-dovey parents fished and cavorted beside a Perry County creek. My father once lifted my squealing mother and pretended to toss her into the drink, except he didn't pretend well enough . . . my infant ears soon heard the big splash of two bodies. I could've become an instant orphan, the perfect bait for the infamous bobcat slinking around that summer, but then I heard my parents laugh and splash and bob together (they were in love like that), and everything was A-OK.

I graduated from cane pole to rod and reel. I lived for Zebco summers: river hooks baited with drippy liver slime, standing sure-footed on riverbank, lost in catfish fever; casted Rapalas and rubber worms from boat decks, hoping to fool a bigmouthed bass; mined crappie beds with the shine of minnow and corpse of cricket.

In my 20s, I experienced a sea change. I started feeling sorry for fish – even worms. Cricket choruses gnawed at my conscience. I lost the thrill of the gill, sold my poles and tackle in a yard sale. I became a repentant fisherman. Somehow, though, when I catch myself reeling in the years, like now, I think fondly of the carefreeness of a cane pole boy whiling away warm-aired days near creeks, spillways, rivers, lakes, and ponds, thinking of nothing else but crappie and catfish and lumbering carp, bluegill, and bass, way back before the adulthood hooks of worry and regret sunk in and, sadly, my jaw became tightly set.

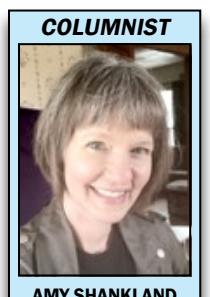
Examining my adoption records

COLUMNIST



AMY SHANKLAND
Perfectly Imperfect

As my adoption and reunion story continues, I've changed some names, places, and dates.

Imagine my excitement two weeks later to come home for lunch and find an envelope in the mailbox from the State of Ohio. I practically flew up our steep stairs to my husband's office to share the news with him. I couldn't bear to open the envelope up alone and was grateful John was home for lunch that day. His eyes widened in surprise at what I held in my hand.

I noticed that the envelope wasn't too bulky and wasn't certain what that meant. Surely it would be bigger if it contained medical records. I sat down across from John and shook as I opened it.

The first thing I saw was my original birth certificate. Of course, I had viewed my other one many times with my mother and father's names on it. But this was the real deal, and nothing was whited out.

The name my birth mother had originally given me was the first thing on top – Autumn Sun. I thought it sounded absolutely beautiful. I saw my birth mother's name next – Linda Ann Fitzgerald. The certificate listed her address in Cleveland, Ohio, along with some surprising information such as what month she began prenatal care (second) and when her last period had started.

It was obvious to me that Linda had taken good care of me in the womb and my heart flooded with gratitude. I was disappointed to see nothing under the section for information for my birth father. The next page did have a section showing each of their races, which was "white," and how many years of school they had completed.

The third page was a triplicate copy of my record of adoption from the Indiana State Board of Health, with my maiden name typed at the top. The next portion had my parents' names, dates of birth, address, and employment information. My eyebrows rose at what I saw in the second section. Linda's name was listed, along with my birth father's name – Jack Richer.

The Certification of Clerk of Court showed that my adoption was final on March 19 the year after I was born. I thought about what my mother and father must've gone through as they waited six months to be certain I could truly be theirs. That wait must have felt long and agonizing.

The final page was the Ohio Department of Health Division of Vital Statistics Listing Information Concerning Adoptive Parents. This information was used to establish a new birth certificate for me. It showed both my name at birth and my name after adoption. I felt my heart melt seeing my mother's handwriting and then a bit of sadness.

Mom had listed that she had two living children and one child that had been born alive and was now deceased. I thought of Laurie up in Heaven at that moment and wondered if she had been watching over me all these years. She was the other big sister that I never got to meet.

Debunking the spending myth in Carmel

JEFF WORRELL
Carmel Cents

When the words "spending" and "Carmel" are used in the same sentence, it is often in the context of someone trying to criticize the city and use scare tactics about how the sky is falling.

However, there's a different kind of spending that is happening in Carmel more frequently than those self-proclaimed pundits would like to admit – private entities who are investing their dollars within our city limits instead of anywhere else in the world. Why? And why is that a good thing?

It's not uncommon to see a local TV station report on a $25 million investment by a private company coming to Indianapolis. Yet in Carmel, $200 million in private investment is just another routine series of major economic announcements. Why do companies like GEICO, Allied Solutions, Republic or any of the other 118 corporate entities now in Carmel want to invest their money here?

It's because Carmel has invested in itself.

When looking to move or build a corporate headquarters, almost every company emphasizes the ability to attract and retain employees as a primary objective. Over the last 20 years, Carmel has prioritized enhanced amenities that do just that. Roundabouts, cultural attractions, streetscapes, public spaces, free parking, and access to nightlife are the kinds of things companies searching for a new location are looking for. Add in great schools, a safe community, and low taxes (we'll get to that in a minute), and you get a winning recipe for success – one that leaders from across Indiana and throughout the country have been trying to replicate.

But why does this private investment matter? LOW TAXES! In Indiana, commercial property taxes are capped at 3 percent of assessed value, three times that of residential property taxes. When you figure that a typical retail strip mall might generate $120,000 in annual tax revenue but a corporate headquarters on the same piece of land can easily generate $400,000 in tax revenue, it's obvious to see how attracting private investment positively impacts the tax owed by residential property owners. The extra dollars go to support police, fire, parks, streets, etc., all while ensuring residential taxes in Carmel are the fifth-lowest in Indiana. This doesn't even take into account the increased income and sales taxes that come along with the jobs filling the corporate HQs.

In Carmel, the investments the city has made have paid off time and time again as private companies have invested their money into our community. The result is a world-class city with quality amenities and low taxes for our residents.

Spending in Carmel isn't a problem; it's the reason for our success.

Perry turns 8: Sheridan students love this hardworking canine companion

Submitted

On Aug. 31, Sheridan Elementary School's (SES) service dog Perry Winkle Doyle turned 8 years old. This will be his sixth school year at SES. The Golden Retriever/Labrador cross is a working dog – his job is to help students in speech therapy, as well as spread comfort to all students.

In speech class where he works with his owner Cathy Doyle, Perry motivates students to correctly articulate their target sounds or use completed sentences while interacting with Perry. If the student wants him to "get," which is the command for Perry to pick up something off the ground, and they do not correctly articulate the /g/ and they say "det," Perry will not be able to do the command. They work very hard to get that correct /g/ sound.

Perry greets students when they enter the building every day. Students feel unconditional love from Perry, and it is a great way to start their day. Students come and read to him; he is a great listener, and he never judges anyone who reads slowly or incorrectly pronounces a word.

Perry is even able to play Jenga with the students, but it isn't all fun and games. Perry is a highly-trained service dog from Canine Companions. Cathy graduated from team training with Perry on Sept. 29, 2017. Canine Companions is a leader in the service dog industry, promoting greater independence for owners with their dogs. The organization provides service dogs to adults, children and veterans with disabilities and facility dogs to professionals working in healthcare, criminal justice and educational settings. Since its founding in 1975, the dogs and all follow-up services are provided at no cost to clients.

Perry was raised by a family in Chicago. When he was about 2 years old, he went to Canine Companions in Ohio to begin his advanced training. While there, he learned some basic tasks like how to pick up objects and open and close drawers and cabinets. Perry knew over 40 commands when Cathy met him at team training. Once Perry was trained, Cathy had to attend a two-week team training in Ohio to learn how to work with him, which included quizzes and homework assignments.

Canine Companions wants to make sure that the new team will have all the skills needed to be successful. Cathy and Perry have to get recertified as a team every two years and are required to send a vet report annually. Canine Companions wants to make sure the dogs are heathy, up to date on all vaccines, and that they remain at their ideal weight. It costs about $50,000 to $60,000 to raise and train a service dog, so Canine Companions wants to make sure the dogs are taken care of by the recipients.

The list of Perry's benefits to students at SES is long.

He is very helpful with students with autism during emergency drills by decreasing the children's fears and anxiety. SES Principal Valerie Roberts said, "Many times when a student is upset or having a tough day, Perry can accomplish things we can't! Something about the comfort and unconditional love of a dog just puts the students right at ease and helps transition them back to the classroom! Perry has been a huge asset to the mental health of our entire building!"

Reflecting on her years with Perry, Cathy recalled one story that particularly melted her heart. A student who struggled with reading was coming down to read with Perry for 10 minutes twice a week. After a few weeks, the student announced to Cathy that he was the best reader in the school. He may not have been the best reader in the school, but Cathy knows that increasing confidence in reading is a crucial step to being more successful in reading.

Perry has helped many children who are struggling to leave their mom or dad in the mornings. The student will take Perry's leash and have Perry walk them to class, providing a great distraction and comfort for separation anxiety. He also participates in the annual talent show, game nights, and the school carnival. Perry dressed up as a lion and jumped through a ring of fire, which was a huge hit at the carnival.

During his time off, Perry has visited residents at nursing homes, Janus Developmental Services, and people in local hospitals. A visit with Perry can bring joy and happiness to people everywhere.

"Having Perry at school with me has been one of the greatest joys of my life," Cathy said. "I love how the children and the staff interact with him. He has changed our school in so many more ways than I ever thought possible."

Courage is what it takes to stand up and speak: courage is also what it takes to sit down and listen.

Show me a young conservative and I'll show you someone with no heart, but show me an old liberal and I'll show you someone with no brains.

A lady came up to me one day and said 'Sir! You are drunk,' to which I replied, 'I am drunk today madam, and tomorrow I shall be sober, but you will still be ugly."

"Feel-good" Margaritaville is "thoroughly enjoyable"

COLUMNIST

KEN KLINGENMEIER
A Seat on the Aisle

Let's start with this premise: Nobody doesn't like Jimmy Buffett ... oh, I guess there may be someone somewhere who dislikes the easy-going feeling of Buffett's tunes and lyrics, but I've never run across them, or even heard of such an unhappy person.

Given that premise – what a brilliant idea to take Buffett's song catalogue and weave them into a story of an island, an entertainer on that island, and the visitors who are come there to recharge. Thus, we have Escape to Margaritaville which opened Aug. 18 on the B&B stage.

Shaped by director Douglas E. Stark, with musical direction by Terry Woods and choreography by Ron Morgan, the show is a pleasing romantic romp which entertains with an interesting set of love stories, plenty of humorous situations, and many colorful displays of music and dance.

Kyle Southern and Amanda Tong star as rakish island musician Tully, and work-bound island visitor Rachel. Both give excellent performances full of musical and acting dexterity. Their story arc is set along the lines of Boy meets/wins/loses/regains Girl, but they make it an interesting journey with apt and original characterizations.

A similar story is offered in a more comedic vein by Brett Mutter and Hannah Elizabeth Boswell in their featured roles as hotel bartender Brick, and Rachel's best friend – visiting bride-to-be Tammy. Tammy's prenuptial situation of being engaged to a clueless heel (played by Logan Moore) while being attracted to Brick leads to lots of fun situations that this duo presents peppered with jocosity.

A strong supporting cast, led by B&B regular Jeff Stockberger as island old-timer J.D., and Rachel Bibbs as hotel owner Marley, brighten the proceedings. Additionally, Ray Gleaves has several very nice moments as hotel worker Jamal. A large ensemble of players/dancers covers a long list of small roles and while filling the stage with Ron Morgan's lively combinations.

Escape from Margaritaville is a bit sexier than other B&B shows I've seen (given the hardy audience participation for "Let's Get Drunk and Screw"), and the playful sexual humor comes off well enough, but parents – be aware of what's here.

The costumes by Travis M. Grant are bright and "island appropriate." Plus, Grant provides a generous number of wigs for the production. Terry Woods and his small orchestra do excellent work with the familiar score. The set design by Michael Layton covers the show's needs for hotel, hiking trail, volcano, beach, plus assorted off-island locations.

Bottom line: This is a surprisingly well-done, feel-good show. Talent-levels are high, and the story (book by Greg Garcia and Mike O'Malley) is interesting – taking the Boy/Girl arc to new and different places. I'd label it "thoroughly enjoyable."

GiGi's Playhouse gearing up for seventh 3.21 Run in Noblesville

Raising awareness & supporting programs for hundreds with Down syndrome

The REPORTER

GiGi's Playhouse Indianapolis, a local Down syndrome achievement center, will play host to its seventh annual 3.21 Mile Run on Saturday, Sept. 10 at Forest Park in Noblesville. The event supports the continued growth of GiGi's Indianapolis location and the 572 participants who benefit from its free therapeutic, educational, wellness and career programs.

"This will be the first time we've been able to host this event in person since the pandemic," Executive Director Denisse Jensen said. "It will be so exciting to celebrate together in person once again and raise funds for the Playhouse."

This year's fundraising goal is $60,000, money that is vital to helping GiGi's achieve its mission.

"Like many not-for-profits, the past couple years have been a challenge financially," Jensen added. "Down syndrome is the largest chromosomal disability in our country, and yet, it's the least funded. This run is critical in helping us expand our programs and reach more people with Down syndrome."

The 3.21 Run is also designed to educate and inspire central Indiana residents to embrace children and adults with Down syndrome – kids like 10-year-old Kinley Palmer from Fishers, who was diagnosed with Down syndrome moments after she was born.

"We love GiGi's," her mom, Maria, said. "It provides a safe and inclusive place for Kinley, and it has provided our family with tremendous support and resources, as well as lifelong friendships."

Adult Honoree David Harshbarger is 25 years old. The Zionsville resident participates in a number of programs at the Playhouse, including EPIC, a program for adults that provides opportunities for socialization and community involvement. His mom Sue says the activities are key to keeping him engaged in his community.

"As they get older and graduate from high school it's easy to become isolated," Sue said.

"Routines and schedules are so important for their mental health and happiness. We're incredibly grateful to GiGi's for providing that for David."

The 3.21 Run kicks off with open registration at 2 p.m., along with live music, a kids' carnival, and a Silly Safaris show. The Kids Dash for Down syndrome starts promptly at 4 p.m., immediately followed with the 3.21 Mile Run and a 1 Mile Inspirational Walk.

To register a team, learn more about the event, volunteer or become a sponsor, go to tinyurl.com/GiGis-321Run2022. Registration is $40. Kids 12 and under are $15. All registered attendees will receive a shirt and medal.

Fishers pulls away late to secure HCC opener

By JAMES SEAY
For The Reporter

FISHERS – The Fishers Tigers beat the Noblesville Millers 49-25 as both Hamilton County teams met at the Fishers stadium last Friday to open Hoosier Crossroads Conference play.

Both teams got off to a strong start with great offensive plays and key stops in the first half. The second half was a different story as sophomore JonAnthony Hall and senior Carson Dunn powered Fishers to pull away by outscoring Noblesville 28–8 in the second half.

"I'm proud of our kids' effort, we preach effort. It is important to us and it is a staple of our program and our kids brought effort for all four quarters," Fishers head coach Curt Funk said after the win on Friday.

Fishers started off what would be 74 combined points from the Hamilton County foes with a five-play, 64-yard drive which was capped off by a 25-yard touchdown run by Dunn. The drive featured a pass from Lucas Minns to Joe Syrus to start and was powered by runs from Dunn and junior Khobie Martin.

"Khobie and Carson are elite, elite, elite - they are the best in the state and are able to turn small gains into big gains," said Noblesville head coach Dave Sharpe after the game.

Sharpe's Millers were quick to respond on the following drive as they marched right down the field with a 11-play, 76-yard drive of their own. Noblesville's rushing attack was crisp and the offensive line got a great push on the Tigers with a rushing attack that featured several different running backs and ended with junior Blake Widget marching in for a two-yard score.

The Millers were able to keep momentum on the defensive side of the ball and stopped the following drive from Fishers with a turnover on downs. Junior Austin Hastings anchored the Millers defense with nine tackles on the night including being in on the action for the fourth down stop, but it wasn't enough as the Millers fell short on the following drive.

Junior Logan Shoffner started the drive off strong for the Millers with a 20-yard run. In a beautiful play design by Sharpe, freshman quarterback Landon Hughes slightly overthrew junior tight end Andrew Page for what could have easily been a walk in "big man" touchdown. Two plays later Hughes did connect with sophomore Aiden Brewer for a huge pass, but the play was waved off by an offensive pass interference call.

After a punt by Noblesville, Fishers quickly added a passing touchdown from Lucas Minns to Aidan Zimmer. Noblesville responded quickly as Shoffner ripped off a 67-yard run en route to a Noblesville touchdown which knotted the score at 14. Shoffner would go on to lead both teams in all-purpose yards with 245 total yards.

The following drive, Fishers was able to string together a long drive which ended in the second of Dunn's three touchdowns runs on the night.

"We knew coming into the game that Noblesville runs a tempo offense and that we would need to score with every possession. It was a great team win as our offensive line was able to move the opponent" said Dunn after the big night which included 340 yards on the ground between him, Martin and Minns.

The result of the drive was a 21-14 lead for FHS. In what became a theme for the first half the Millers marched down field and were able to add a field goal right before the half for a 21-17 lead.

In the second half, the tables turned as Dunn was able to find daylight for a 75-yard run on the first play of the second half for his third TD. The Millers took the next possession on a methodical 13-play, 72-yard drive that was capped off by a Gage Gulley rushing touchdown that bought the score within three late in the second half at 28-25 Fishers.

JonAnthony Hall took the ensuing kickoff 87 yards to the Millers three-yard line which resulted in another Tigers touchdown to push the lead to 35-25.

"We were good enough to win tonight, but it fell apart with kickoff return," said Sharpe.

According to Hall, he was challenged to make a play at the half and he was able to deliver.

"It was shot for shot in the first half. We scored, then they scored – I knew we had to turn up in the second half and we were fortunate to get it going," said Hall.

Fishers was able to add two more touchdowns from both Hall and Minns to close out the game with a 49-25 win.

"We have to continue to strive for the perfect four-quarter game. We must put four quarters together on all three phases of our team. We haven't done it yet, but the effort is there" said Coach Funk.

The Tigers will travel to rival Hamilton Southeastern to face their crosstown rivals in the annual Mudsock game next week.

"Our slogan this week was TEAM and we will start tomorrow and come as a team to ensure we don't have the same result as last year," said Dunn.

"We are good enough to win all of the games in our conference. We have a similar challenge next week with Westfield, but we know what it will take," said Sharpe.

The Millers will face Westfield at home on Friday.

Carmel shows Detroit how Hoosiers play ball

The REPORTER

Led by a school record-tying performance from Reece Bellin, the Carmel football team got itself its first win of the season last Friday.

The Greyhounds hosted Cass Technical from Detroit. After giving up an early touchdown, Carmel started to roll in the second quarter and eventually won 35-21. Bellin played outstanding for the 'Hounds, with four touchdown receptions on the night.

"I think the first two weeks set the stage for the way we played tonight," said Carmel coach John Hebert. After tough losses to Louisville Trinity and Center Grove to start the season, Hebert said his team was "pretty unified" in their unhappiness about that 0-2 mark.

Also pictured is Reece Bellin (8), who went on to tie a school record by making four touchdown receptions for Carmel in the game.

"They've worked really hard to change that," said Hebert. "I saw a level of focus out of them that you're looking for when you've faced adversity."

Bellin's first score came with 26 seconds left in the first quarter, when he connected on a 28-yard

Hamilton Heights' Bodie Derrer threw three touchdown passes for the Huskies in their 21-0 win over Rensselaer Central last Friday at Heights' brand-new turf field.

Hamilton Heights breaks in new turf with shutout over Rensselaer Central

By CRAIG ADKINS
For The Reporter

ARCADIA – Last Friday night's home opener was special for Hamilton Heights for numerous reasons. The Huskies had waited long enough to join the trend of high school football teams across the country and now they can say they have a new turf field at Husky Stadium.

The Huskies made sure that they were the only team that scored during their first game on their new field turf, keeping the visiting Bombers off of the scoreboard in a convincing 21-0 win.

"We have been waiting and waiting and waiting for this night," said a satisfied fifth-year Hamilton Heights head coach Jon Kirschner.

"We probably had our best practice all year on the turf last night. We had our best Thursday night clean up practice, under the lights and it's the most focused we've been," continued Kirschner on a change in the Huskies having a new surface to practice and play on.

"Physically, mentally, emotionally, it all just plays into it," stated Kirschner on the impact the turf has had on the Huskies just this week in preparation for this game against a Hoosier Conference opponent. (The Bombers are in a different division, so it does not count in the conference standings.)

Hamilton Heights students were moved from the old Jackson Central to the current Heights campus during Spring Break toward the end of the 1992-93 school year. The first football season on the grounds of Husky Stadium took place in August 1993. Now, it's 30 seasons later and the surface has been converted from natural grass to field turf.

This was one of those games where it took both squads some time to feel each other out and figure out what they can do and how.

The Bombers started off the game with an 11-play drive that resulted in a turnover on downs at the Huskies' 10 on a botched snap that quarterback Corbin Mathew had to dive on.

The Huskies resembled the same, but took 14 plays just to turn it back over to Rensselaer Central on downs at their 22.

The new five possessions were three Bomber punts and two Husky punts. Then Heights was able to get something going on their next series.

Heights put together a 10 play, 87-yard drive that was capped off by a Bodie Derrer 19-yard touchdown strike to Tyler Champion for a 7-0 Husky lead.

"Getting that first touchdown and on the board first was a big deal, but typically speaking, we haven't always been a team that can go in and get the score right before half," said Kirschner on his team's first scoring drive.

Hamilton Heights wasted no time at all when it got the ball to start the third quarter.

They marched down the field again in 10 plays, but just 61 yards this time, taking six minutes off the clock. They had a 4th down and six at the Bomber 35 and Derrer went to the air again. He found junior Jaylyn Pugh for a 35-yard TD, pushing the lead to 14-0.

"We came out in the second half and we hit that second touchdown. Not only that, but to run six minutes off of the clock, on a team like Rensselaer Central, where they are methodical with everything they do, putting two touchdowns behind the eight ball is a big, big deal," Kirschner continued on the Huskies' ability to wear down the Bombers all night.

The next Bomber drive had the visitors in position pushing for a score, but a sack of Mathew and a holding penalty took them back to a fouth down and 23 at the Heights 29. Rensselaer Central went for the end zone and Mathew threw an interception right to Pugh.

"He (Pugh) has done that twice this year," said Kirscner of Pugh on his second big interception in just three games.

Two drives later, running back Diego Hernandez-Reyes fumbled at the 11-yard line, giving the Huskies an extremely short field to work with.

After a penalty and another miscue, Heights faced a fourth and 12 at the Bomber 13.

Derrer then found Champion with ease for the 13-yard touchdown, making it what wound up as the final score of 21-0.

"We were able to keep the pedal on and they were gassed," stated Kirschner on Heights wearing down the Bombers' defense, keeping them on the field so much.

"Beating a quality opponent like Rensselaer Central, we played them twice last year, because of how our conference is set up. We went up there twice. It was nice to play here for a

The Westfield seniors pose with the Shining Star trophy, which the Shamrocks won after beating Zionsville 23-16 in a hard-fought game last Friday at Riverview Health Stadium. This is the 10th year in a row that Westfield has beaten the Eagles.

'Rocks keep on rolling with conference wins, beat Zionsville

The REPORTER

Westfield began Hoosier Crossroads Conference play in 2022 the same way it did the past two years: With a win.

The Shamrocks beat Zionsville 23-16 in a hard-fought game at Riverview Health Stadium last Friday. The victory was the 16th straight conference contest win for Westfield, and as coach Jake Gilbert pointed out, it was the team's 21st straight win over HCC opponents, including post-season games, "which I think is the most amazing thing we've done here as a program because our conference is so good," said Gilbert.

The Shamrocks also won the Shining Star trophy, a traveling trophy between the two schools. This is the 10th consecutive year that Westfield has beaten Zionsville, although it wasn't easy.

The 'Rocks scored first when Kendall Garnett took the ball in 15 yards to score early in the first quarter. Zionsville tied the game in the second period with back-to-back field goals, but Westfield's Brody Boehm nailed a 32-yard field goal to put the Shamrocks in front 9-6 at halftime.

Westfield got the lead back early in the third quarter after Cole Ballard took a 12-yard run into the end zone. Again, the Eagles came back with a Eugene Hilton touchdown reception late in the third, and another field goal tied it up early in the fourth.

Ballard stepped up again for the 'Rocks, making a three-yard touchdown run to put Westfield in front for good with 7:40 left in the game. Westfield's defense held on from there, and a Sam Toney interception with 1:05 on the clock sealed the win.

"Zionsville really outplayed us in the second and third quarter in a lot of ways, but the fourth quarter was definitely way better," said Gilbert, who also called the Shamrocks' defense "awesome."

Garnett led the Westfield rushing with 113 yards, while Ballard had a solid night, going 11-of-16 for 128 yards.

The Shamrocks are 2-1 overall and play at Noblesville Friday.

throw from Jack Kazmierczak. That tied the game at 7-7, the Technicians scored earlier on a short run midway through the quarter.

Carmel then shut-out Cass in the second quarter to take a 21-7 lead. A long run by Christian Peterson got the Greyhounds the Technician's 13-yard line, and that's all Bellin needed for his second TD pass of the game. But why not get one more? That's what Bellin did late in the quarter, grabbing a 23-yard throw from Kazmierczak and putting Carmel up 21-7 at the break.

Bellin and Kazmierczak teamed up one more time with under a minute left in the third period. Their fourth touchdown connection of the game was a 53-yard throw, and it put Carmel up 28-14. With that, Bellin put himself in a three-way tie with Joe Bejin in 1978 and Jalen Walker in 2016 for most touchdown catches by a Greyhound in a single game.

"He's having quite a start to the season," said Hebert.

Kazmierczak finished 13-of-17 with 210 total yards, while Bellin's six catches gave him 139 yards.

Aidan Alfayyad completed Carmel's scoring, making a one-yard run in the fourth quarter. Alfayyad led the Carmel rushing with 75 yards. Ben Sponsler was a perfect 5-for-5 in extra-point kicks.

"Aidan really stepped up, seeing his first action of the season," said Hebert. "Nick Beidl was out and Aidan just really made a difference there, especially in that fourth quarter, that last drive that we had."

Hebert also had praise for his quarterbacks. He said Kazmierczak "did a great job" and threw the ball efficiently, and credited Cam Carmichael with leading the way on the Greyhounds' last drive of the game, throwing well and making "some good reads on the run game."

Carmel's defense played well, with Arty Bryant, Aidan McFall, Noah Bradbury (who made a strip sack) and Will Heldt among those helping out. Winston Berglund's late interception sealed the victory.

"The defense pulled together quite a bit," said Hebert.

The Greyhounds are 1-2 and host Pike Friday.

Guerin Catholic's Cooper Navarro made several big runs for the Golden Eagles during their 35-21 win over Heritage Christian last Friday.

Golden Eagles still perfect, send Heritage Christian home

The REPORTER

Guerin Catholic kept its record perfect last Friday, beating Heritage Christian 35-21 at the Eagles' Nest.

The Golden Eagles were in a tough battle with Heritage in the first half, which finished in a 14-14 tie. Ryan Zimmerman caught a 71-yard touchdown pass in the first quarter, then Justin Zdobylak scored on a six-yard run in the second quarter.

Things began to turn Guerin Catholic's way in the third quarter, in which the Golden Eagles shut out Heritage. Meanwhile, GC's Harrison Miller connected with Zimmerman for a 27-yard touchdown pass play to put the Golden Eagles ahead 21-14.

Miller and Zimmerman teamed up for a 32-yard touchdown pass in the fourth quarter. Heritage Christian scored again to stay within 28-21, but Zdobylak's two-yard run sealed the victory Evan Guenthner kicked all five extra-point kicks.

"I think our guys just calmed down at halftime, stopped making the mistakes they were making earlier," said Guerin Catholic coach Tom Dilley. The coach said his team made "some good simple adjustments" and went back to what it was good at.

"There weren't really any earth-shattering adjustments, it was just calm down and execute," said Dilley.

The Golden Eagles host Brebeuf Jesuit Friday for their first Circle City Conference game of the season.

change," continued a happy Jon Kirschner on his teams' performance to get their second win of the season.

"Trey Ehman was a big difference for us tonight as well," said Kirschner on his senior running back.

"All three running backs that we played tonight, did a great job, but Trey has been out. He's an all-state back, has been a 1,000-yard back the last two years and he has not played yet, because he has been recovering from an injury during track season. To have him fresh and ready to go, having another back in our stable, he's a load," continued Kirschner on Ehman and his impact back in the backfield.

After rushing for 317 yards and seven touchdowns in the first two games, Heights held running back Kadyn Rowland to 55 yards on 16 carries.

Rensselaer Central (2-1) lost its first game this season. The Bombers will travel to Twin Lakes (1-2) on Friday.

Trey Ehman led the rushing attack for the Huskies with 96 yards on 24 rushes and also caught one pass out of the backfield for 21 yards.

Bodie Derrer had a great night passing, going 13-of-17 for 210 yards and three touchdowns. Derrer connected on two of those scores with Tyler Champion, who grabbed five passes for 65 yards. Jaylyn Pugh caught four for 79 yards and a touchdown.

Hamilton Heights (2-1) heads to Kokomo for its first Hoosier Conference East Division game, at Northwestern (1-2) Friday.

Blackhawks handily take care of Tri-Central

Sheridan quarterback Caleb Alexander threw two touchdown passes during the Blackhawks' Hoosier Heartland Conference win over Tri-Central last Friday.

The REPORTER

Sheridan overwhelmed anSheridan overwhelmed another Hoosier Heartland Conference opponent last Friday, easily winning its Homecoming game over Tri-Central 54-7 at Bud Wright Stadium.

The Blackhawks trailed early after the Trojans scored an early touchdown, but tied the game in the middle of the first quarter on a 61-yard touchdown run by Zach Bales.

"We were a little bit slow getting started," said Wright. "We had a miscommunication on the receiver."

But that would just be a speed bump for the game. Sheridan outscored Tri-Central 47-0 over the next three quarters, and made it to the end zone both by land and by air. The 'Hawks had three touchdown passes, including two throws from Caleb Alexander – a 26-yarder to Evan Grinstead and a 13-yarder toe Keagan Hampton. Owen Bell also connected with Chance Spencer on a 12-yard score in the third quarter.

Sheridan's ground game was solid too, of course. Bales ran in from 32 yards early in the second quarter to put the 'Hawks in front for good. Peyton Cross, Trent DeCraene and Bell also scored rushing touchdowns.

"We were down 7-0," said Wright. "We decided to come back and play then." The coach said that once Sheridan got going, it held the Trojans to minus yardage.

Bales finished with 182 yards rushing, while Cross totaled 123 yards on the ground. Alexander went 6-of-10 through the air, totaling 120 yards.

The Blackhawks are 2-0 in HHC play and 2-1 overall, and play at Delphi Friday to continue conference play.

Southeastern soars to victory in HCC opener against Avon

The REPORTER

On the ground and through the air, the Royals were scoring everywhere last Friday night.

Hamilton Southeastern won its Hoosier Crossroads Conference opener in style, blasting past Avon 48-13 in an away game. The Royals led 14-0 after the first quarter and never looked back, putting up a total of 448 yards on offense.

"It was a pretty balanced attack," said Southeastern coach Michael Kelly.

The Royals went to the air for their first touchdown, as Ty Bradle connected with Clayton Wilke on a 23-yard scoring pass early in the first quarter. A few minutes later, Jalen Alexander got Southeastern's first rushing touchdown on a four-yard carry.

Donovan Hamilton then got going, delivering HSE's next two touchdowns, both on throws from Bradle. Hamilton hauled in a 30-yard touchdown pass in the second quarter, which gave the Royals a 21-6 halftime lead. In the third quarter, Hamilton scored on an 18-yard pass.

"Donovan Hamilton's a really special player," said Kelly, who noted that the Orioles were putting two or three defenders on him during the game. He also credited Alexander with running "really hard tonight as well."

Southeastern stayed on the ground for its remaining scores. Chandler Weston went 31 yards into the end zone midway through the third quarter, then Azariah Wallace took a three-yard run to score late in the period. Sam Forrest completed HSE's scoring with a 13-yard touchdown as the clock ran out in the fourth quarter.

The Royals' defense played well, making a goal-line stand in the third quarter from what Kelly said was "about the six-inch line." Southeastern's defense stopped a quarterback sneak, then had two tackles for a loss in that stand.

"Any conference win's a good win," said Kelly.

The Royals are 3-0 overall and return home to TCU Field Friday to host Fishers in the Mudsock game.

Soccer: Fishers & Noblesville tie it up

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

NOBLESVILLE – The Noblesville and Fishers boys soccer teams met last Tuesday at the Millers' Hallmark Orthodontics Soccer Complex, and the game was as close as one would expect from these two rival teams. The Tigers and Noblesville played to a 0-0 tie in a well-played game in front of a big crowd.

"I thought that was a great high school soccer game," said Fishers coach Phil Schmidt. "I thought that's exactly what high school athletics is all about. Both teams poured their heart out on the field, competing."

Both teams had their chances in this Hoosier Crossroads Conference game, but neither was able to break through for the entire 80 minutes. The Millers almost scored a goal in the contest's waning seconds, but it was waved off.

"I think overall, the game went well," said Noblesville acting head coach Jack Hart. "Our issue is putting a first half and a second half together right now."

Hart said the game between Fishers and the Millers is "always going to be a battle. For me, the tie is a win at this stage in the season."

"We had some good chances, they had some chances and I thought it was just a great night of soccer," said Schmidt.

The Tigers were back in action last Thursday in another all-county game. Carmel beat Fishers 2-1.

Junior Connor Dora scored a first-half goal for the No. 6 Greyhounds. The No. 3 Tigers tied the game in the second half, but Carmel's Alex Kaczmarek put in the game-winning goal. Senior Braden Thomson made one assist.

"Tonight was a fantastic game to be a part of," said Carmel coach Shane Schmidt. "The team is continuing to play better game after game."

Santiago Morales scored Fishers' goal, with Awyan Ishaq making the assist.

In an earlier game, Carmel beat Brebeuf Jesuit 1-0 on the road Tuesday.

Braeden Thomson scored the winning goal for the Greyhounds, with Davis Dilling getting the assist. Adam Keleher got the shutout in goal. "I am proud of the effort the team gave for all 80 minutes," said Schmidt. "We possessed the ball well all because of our movement off the ball. Our team shape continues to improve."

The 'Hounds are 4-2-2 and play Tuesday at Lawrence North. The Tigers are 1-1-2 in HCC play and 4-2-2 overall, and host Hamilton Southeastern Tuesday in the Mudsock game. Noblesville is 1-0-1 in the conference and 3-0-2 overall, and plays at Westfield Tuesday.

The Hamilton Heights boys team got a dramatic victory at Anderson last Tuesday night, with Sam Harpham putting in the winning goal with 16.6 seconds left to lift the Huskies past the Indians 4-3.

Heights struck quickly in the first half, with Micah Colvin getting the first goal in the 18th minute, then Phoenix Vondersaar scored a goal just seconds later. Anderson tied the game back up, but Harpham would score before halftime to give the Huskies a 3-2 lead at the break. The Indians tied the game in the second half, and the score would stay even until Harpham made the game-winning goal.

Last Thursday, the Huskies beat Kokomo 3-1 to stay unbeaten at home.

Harpham, Mathew Rezsonya and Vondersaar all scored goals for the Huskies.

Heights is 5-1-1 and plays at the Hoosier Conference tournament next week. The Huskies will be seeded second at the event.

Hamilton Southeastern's boys cruised past Avon 5-1 last Tuesday in an HCC game.

The Orioles led 1-0 at halftime, but the Royals dominated the second half. Oscar Tittle and James Wells both scored two goals, with Logan Puls putting in another goal. Five different Southeastern players had an assist: Jonathan Leeper, Evan Shideler, Drew MacDonald, Davis Brown and Rodrigo Silvestre-Muniz.

The Royals beat Brebeuf Jesuit 1-0 last Saturday, scoring their goal in the second half. Noah Link sent a cross to James Wells, who put the ball in the net.

Southeastern is 2-0-1 in HCC play and 6-0-2 overall. The Royals play Tuesday at Fishers in the Mudsock game.

Tigers prevail over Millers in four hard-fought sets

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

NOBLESVILLE – The Hoosier Crossroads Conference volleyball match between Fishers and Noblesville last Thursday at The Mill was about as close as a four-set match could get.

Both teams fought to the very end, but it was the Tigers that prevailed, 25-21, 15-25, 25-23, 25-22. It was an exciting match, with several big hits and aces, amazing plays and the intensity was sustained throughout the entire night.

Fishers won a close first set, but the Millers were able to take control in the second set and steadily increase their lead. Ava Harris had several kills, including a net tip that won the set.

The third set was the closest of the entire match. Noblesville again led early, going up by as much as 17-13. But the Tigers made a four-point run to the match at 17-17; Leslie Groff hit a kill, Ava Tester served an ace, Margo Hernandez put down a kill, then Tester tied the set with another ace. The Millers jumped out to a 22-19 lead before Fishers won six of the next seven points to take the set.

"Noblesville, heck of a team," said Fishers coach Steven Peek. "I thought they were phenomenal and really consistent and we were really not, but we really found a way to do the things that we are exceptional at, at the right times."

In the fourth set, Fishers blasted out to a 9-3 lead, which included kills from Hernandez and Groff, an ace by Adi Amirrezvari and a Roberts block. But the Millers stormed back to tie the set at 9-9. Harris served three straight aces and Aubrey Stitcher hit a kill.

The back and forth continued again all through the set. Fishers led 22-20 before Noblesville tied it up with a Harris kill and ace. But the Tigers took the next three points for the match, with Roberts hitting a kill and Ava Vickers serving an ace on match point.

"We fought," said Peek. "We've been talking a lot about fighting no matter what, being tenacious. We absolutely did that from start to finish, which I love to see."

Vickers hit 14 kills and made six blocks, with Roberts getting 11 kills and Lucy Kay putting down 10. Hernandez dished out 41 assists and also had eight digs. Amirrezvari led the defense with 17 digs and also served four aces. Brynn Zastrow collected eight digs and Groff hit four aces.

Harris led Noblesville's offense with nine kills and five aces, and also got 13 digs. Madison Brown handed out 27 assists and served four aces. Gabby Weihe added seven kills and four blocks while Reese Resmer hit six kills. Ava Rundle had 23 digs.

"I think that they fought the whole, entire time," said Noblesville coach Annie Poulson. "They never gave up. They fought continuously."

Poulson said that it was a "step up" for the Millers team. "I think it's given us some confidence and we're prepared to see them later," she said.

Noblesville swept past Lawrence North 25-13, 25-23, 29-27 in a match last Wednesday at The Mill. Riley Resmer hit eight kills in that match, while Anna Elkin served three aces. Rundle led the defense with 15 digs and Avery Rhamy dished out 27 assists.

Fishers went 3-1 at the Providence Early Bird tournament last Saturday.

In pool play, the Tigers swept Brownstown Central 25-10, 25-16, then held off Roncalli in three close sets, 25-22, 28-30, 15-12. Fishers dropped its only match of the day to host Providence 25-23, 25-17, then beat Cathedral 21-25, 25-19, 15-9.

The Tigers are 8-4 and play Tuesday at Lawrence North, then host Hamilton Southeastern Thursday in the Mudsock match. The Millers are 0-2 in the conference and 8-2 overall, and play Tuesday at McCutcheon.

The Hamilton Southeastern volleyball team has been on an eight-match win streak, adding to that total with four victories over the past several days.

On Aug. 27, the Royals picked up two wins at the North vs. South Showdown at Providence. First, Southeastern beat Floyd Central 25-14, 25-18, 25-19. Lauren Harden paced the offense with 14 kills, followed by Avery Hobson with 13 on the outside and Lindsey Mangelson with seven. Bre Goss added six kills in the middle. Macy Hinshaw handed out 28 assists, with Ava Hunter dishing out 12. Sophie Ledbetter picked up 14 digs, with Kaylyn Christy making 10 digs.

In their second match, the Royals took care of host Providence 25-23, 25-12, 25-21. Hobson again dominated the outside with 17 kills, while Mangelson put down nine. Hinshaw dished out 10 assists. Ledbetter collected 12 digs with Christy making eight.

Last Tuesday, Southeastern was back on the road, playing at Brebeuf Jesuit. The result was another straight-set win, 25-14, 25-21, 25-12.

Hobson had another strong night with 15 kills, followed by Harden with nine. Tiffany Snook put down eight kills in the middle, with Mangelson hitting seven. Madi Evett hit two kills and made several big blocks.

Hinshaw handed out 21 assists and Hunter dished out 11. Ledbetter made 15 digs and Christy picked up 10 digs.

The Royals traveled to Avon last Thursday and won a Hoosier Crossroads Conference match 25-19, 25-17, 25-16. Southeastern is 2-0 in HCC play.

This week, the Royals play at Yorktown on Tuesday, then travel to Fishers on Thursday for the Mudsock match.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County (nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children). Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them.
