The coroner was called to the scene of 217 deaths during the year, and made reports on another 158 at local hospitals. Of the 375 total, 293 were ruled to be due to natural causes.

There was only one homicide investigated by Chalfin last year. There were 10 traffic fatalities including one pedestrian and one bicycle accident. There were 13 attributed to other types death involved suicide. Of the 31 cases, 18 were caused by gunshots, and 11 by hanging.

Autopsies were conducted in 104 of the overall cases, and toxicology screens were taken in another 127.

There was not any one time of the year that stands out in the report as particularly deadly. Of the deaths investigated, 209 were males and 166 were females. The average age of the deceased was just short of 64, far under of the average lifespan of the overall population.

Noblesville Schools filling board vacancy

THE REPORTER

The Noblesville Schools Board of School Trustees met on Friday, Feb. 10, to consider the 34 completed applications submitted to fill the vacancy left by the passing of Gary Duvall.

"The board was very impressed with the number of highly qualified candidates," said board president Julia Kozicki, "and we are so proud that our community has so many people willing to step up to support public education."

To be eligible for consideration interested persons were required to submit an application to the Noblesville Schools Board of Trustees. When asked what criteria was used to narrow the list of candidates to six, spokesperson Marnie Cook referred to the five questions listed on the application:

- Organizations (offices held, activities, etc.)
- In what ways have you been involved in Noblesville Schools? Please be specific.
- Why are you interested in becoming a trustee on the Noblesville School Board of Trustees?
- In what ways do you think you could strengthen the board and, subsequently, our public schools?
- What role do you believe a school board trustee should play?

Unlike city, county and township board vacancies, where statute requires a caucus to select a replacement, school boards are permitted to fill their own board vacancies.

The board will interview six final candidates, beginning with one on Thursday morning, Feb. 16, and the other five on Friday afternoon, Feb. 17.

"Out of respect for the candidates, we can't release finalist names yet as we are still contacting them," stated Cook. Cook did indicate the list of candidates would be provided to the Reporter on Wednesday.

A vote on Duvall's successor will be conducted on Tuesday, Feb. 21.

County schools asking for voter approval

By FRED SWIFT

Voters in three of Hamilton County's six school districts will have an opportunity this year to decide whether or not to continue supplementing their local school funding with property tax revenue. School boards at Westfield, Sheridan and Carmel have asked that referendums be placed on a May 2 special election ballot.

The method of raising school revenue through referendum is allowed by state law as a way of giving local school districts more money than is provided by the annual distribution of state school assistance.

Most county schools have already taken advantage of the referendum method which by law also limits such a special levy to seven years in duration. If the school district wants to continue the levy, a public referendum must be held, and that is what is being prepared for this spring's ballot. The amount of funds to be raised is also subject to increase or decrease at this time.

Westfield Washington Schools is also asking voters to approve a capital fund referendum of about 30 cents per $100 of assessed valuation for renovation and improvements at all their schools. The estimated cost is not to exceed $90 million.

Sheridan Community Schools is asking to increase its previously adopted referendum tax rate of 19 cents per $100 to a "not to exceed" rate of 25 cents per hundred. This rate would be effective in 2018.

Carmel Clay Schools is expected to be seeking a 19 cent rate which is slightly higher than the referendum approved seven years ago. But, due to slight decreases in

Keeping track of my ducks

JANET HART LEONARD

"I don't have all, not even some, of my ducks in a row. But they're all in the same pond, so I have that going for me which is cool." It's a quote from the Smart School House on Facebook. I can so relate.

I like to keep track, somewhat, on what is going on with my two kids and their spouses and my six grandchildren. Never mind that my kids are 35 and 39. They are still my kids. This next weekend should be interesting. Abby, our eighth grader has a soccer tournament with the Indy Premier in Las Vegas. Angie, my daughter-in-law, is going with her. Emily and Drew are going to California for four days for a wedding. Chuck and I will have six-year-old Aiden and four-year-old Leah, except when I am working. 18-year-old Alekssa will have them unless she is working and then Uncle Brandon will have them.

On Friday someone has to be at Emily and Drew's when Aiden gets off the bus. Leah must be picked up shortly after Aiden gets home from her preschool, about ten minutes away from their home. Now you have to understand that Aiden has his first basketball game on Saturday. His cousin Jake who is a fifth grader will also have a basketball game on Saturday. I'll be working so Grand Chuck and Brandon and Alekksa will have to figure it out. To complicate matters you have to remember that Aiden and Leah are still in car seats. Emily said she will have the logistics figured out. 19 year old Matt may be called in as a backup when he is not working as a chef at Sagamore Golf Course. So, I'm worried about my ducks and I'm worried about the pond. It's 17 minutes east to Emily's on her side of the pond and 15 minutes north to Brandon's side of the pond. There is no way that I will have my ducks in a row. I just don't want to be in the middle of the pond without a paddle or car seats. Stay tuned. My ducks have always inspired a few columns.

February, all about hearts

SHARON McMAHON
CNWC

"I want to live, I want to give. I've been a miner for a heart of gold." – Neil Young, 1972 Most of you are very aware that February is "National Heart Health Month" as well as the "Go Red for Women" month. Fortunately, there is much information available now about heart health, particularly as it relates to women. Few people are not surprised, thankfully, that heart disease is the number one killer of both men and women, surpassing all types of cancer and other diseases. In 2011, nearly 787,000 people in the U.S. succumbed to heart disease, with coronary heart disease being the most prevalent. Direct and indirect costs of heart disease total more than $320.1 billion. That includes health expenditures and lost productivity. While heart disease statistics have been available and research conducted for many years regarding heart disease and men, both research and information-gathering for women's heart issues are relatively recent. While only 1 in 5 American women believe that heart disease is her greatest health threat, heart disease causes 1 in 3 women's deaths each year, killing approximately one woman every minute. Ninety percent of women have one or more risk factors for developing heart disease. The symptoms of heart disease can be different in women and men, and are often misunderstood. Thankfully, the information noted above, and much more, is readily available. I encourage everyone to talk frankly with their health provider about their risk factors, review their dietary habits, and make this a priority. My own viewpoint on the subject also incorporates getting adequate sleep, removing stress, "getting up from sofas and chairs" and making the necessary life changes which can alter those statistics. Additionally, the effects of isolation and loneliness have been widely studied as it relates to heart disease. To learn more about the "Roseto" effect in which a close-knit community experiences a reduced rate of heart disease. A recent PBS special documentary revealed attributes of positive relationships which reflect on our heart health. Information is also available online for those who wish to search for more information. The effect is named for Roseto, PA and describes family and community interaction there and the healthy effect on the inhabitants. My quote this week may seem a little odd, but I hope that as we close up the month of February you do take responsibility and become a "miner for a (healthy) heart of gold." Let's strive for the "gold standard" in heart health by consuming fewer trans fats, packaged foods high in sodium, refined carbs, fried foods, and whole milk products. Working on establishing better family and working relationships, getting in those 10,000 steps each day, and adequate rest will do your heart good!

Pro Bowl improvements

By RHETT WILLIAMS
Sheridan High School Student

Through the years and mostly very recently the Pro Bowl has been under fire by fans of football and even by the players and coaches themselves for the lack of seriousness taken and effort put out. Back in 2012, NFL commissioner Roger Goodell was so fed up with the performance of the games he was ready to abandon it for good. Goodell since has made changes to the game to try and make it much more competitive.

First off, the Pro Bowl Game isn't played like any regular football game. The two teams consist of 43 man rosters. Rule changes include that kickoffs are completely eliminated from the game. After a team scores, the opponents take over on their own 25-yard line. There is no shifting or motion by the offense and you must always run with a tight end set. On defense the only legal formation you can run is a 4-3, but cover 2 is permitted.

This year because of the color rush uniforms newly added to the Thursday Night Football games, the Pro Bowl turned to the color rush uniforms for its game. The AFC was dressed in all red, while the NFC was in all blue. This made the field a lot more appealing to most fans instead of the amount of white seen on the field in previous years. During the 2012, 13, and 14 seasons, the NFL eliminated the conference teams and had Pro Bowl Hall of Famers like Jerry Rice, Deion Sanders, Cris Carter, and Michael Irvin select the two teams. The games became a little bit more competitive and the player feedback was strong.

This year's Pro Bowl was back to the original format where teams were divided by conference. Goodell also changed the location of the Pro Bowl, almost always played at Aloha Stadium in Hawaii, to being played at Camping World Stadium in Orlando, Florida. The attendance between the two games went up by over 10,000 spectators between this year and last. This is also bringing in a lot of money for the league.

Although Roger Goodell has not made Camping World Stadium the permanent home for the game, that is where it will be played for the next two years. The overall quality of the ballgame definitely changed with the performance of the players. A lot more defense was played this year in a low-scoring contest of 20-13. The MVP of the offensive side of the ball was tight end Travis Kelce from the Kansas City Chiefs. The defensive MVP was named Lorenzo Alexander of the Buffalo Bills.

Previous scores of the game before the player draft came along included: 62-35, 59-41, and 55-41. Goodell was not happy with the defensive side of the ball and this is where the changes came along. This year the NFL also brought back the skills challenges to the Pro Bowl weekend. The events included Epic Pro Bowl Dodgeball, Power Relay Challenge, Precision Passing, and Best Hands. This brought a better experience to the weekend for the fans instead of just the game to look forward to. It also brought a more competitive manner out of some of the athletes that maybe wasn't seen in the game. Only athletes that were participating in the game were invited for the skills challenges.

The overall turnout of the game was very impressive. The game sold out Camping World Stadium with an attendance of a little over 60,000 fans. Since Goodell and the league have made changes to the game it has further improved in quality.

Thinking out of the box

MARY SUE ROWLAND

The article is taken from the Hamilton County Business Magazine written by Mike Corbett, editor with permission to rewrite for the Hamilton Reporter. The article / interview "The Flaw of Attraction" research questions the value of tax incentives for economic development was written by Mike Corbett as an interview with Dr. Michael J. Hicks, Ball State University Economist. Go to the Business Magazine to see the entire article as originally written.

Millions of tax payer dollars are offered up each year to new and existing businesses in order to secure the new construction or to retain the business in the given community. Often Hamilton County communities get into a bidding war as the development community approaches more than one location to get the best deal. It is not unusual for an existing business to say, "We love the community but we must move on for business opportunity". That is code for what kind of money will make us remain in the community. At hearing that statement the community starts to offer dollars to retain the business. Many times, only a few new employees are guaranteed. Very little is gained by the community and the opportunity to reinvest in the community to help all citizens is lost.

Dr. Michael J. Hicks in a presentation to the Westfield Chamber of Commerce believes these incentives just don't work especially in the long run. It is clear that capital based tax incentives does nothing to induce net employment growth or net business investment. The worst of these are abatements followed by tax increment financing (TIF). These kinds of abatements and TIF, generally move tax revenues away from local government or shifts the cost to other local taxpayers. Only 2% of new employment since 1990, come from relocation of firms. Dr. Hicks also suggests that firms who make their money from the sale of bonds and negotiating abatements are the winners and want to keep the economic development community coming along in support.

"It is an unpleasant reality that the fortunes made by bond attorneys plays a bigger role in the deployment of economic development dollars than does the welfare of citizens and communities in Indiana," according to Dr. Hicks.

Most communities do not even track the total dollars given away or the cumulative effect to the city or town. The argument for incentives is that everyone is doing it and how can we attract new business if we (the cities) do not play the game? Dr. Hicks believes in a multi part answer.

- Cities must make themselves a place where people want to move by crafting top flight schools, making their communities safe, offering public spaces where citizens can enjoy themselves. Making their city squares the type of venues that a varied type of recreation and retail business world want to locate.
- There is a viable argument for business attraction to occur at a broad regional level rather than such duplication of offering dollars for business.
- Spending money on attracting firms to the really fine communities in Hamilton County boards on the absurd. Hamilton County is the fastest growing counties in the US and should do nothing to lure new businesses that ups the cost on current residents and firms who have already invested in the community. Hamilton County is successful because of investments in quality of place, not business attraction.
- The availability of workers is the overwhelming location determinant and has been so for several decades.
- Studies give human capital the strongest edge in attracting and retaining business.

The new game in town is the single paying TIF where a district is created that returns the tax increment back to the single payer instead of within a geographic area for one project. Ball State, LSA, USI and Purdue have all published studies that report the benefits of TIF are much smaller than their costs. TIF and tax abatements pull close to a billion dollars a year out of local government coffers. That is one out of every seven dollars and for most communities and that is more than property tax caps.

"Make no mistake about it, the need for Hamilton County to have to supplement school funding through property tax referenda is due to the excessive use of TIF and tax abatements", according to Dr. Hicks. He continues to say, "Development incentives are not a free lunch. It costs real money and lost opportunities to do other things for their communities. All voters should understand this and hold consulting firms, elected official and economic development folks accountable. Building the community first for all the citizens is the goal and business will follow."

In all three referendums, voters will simply register a 'yes' or 'no' when casting a ballot. There will be no candidates or other questions on the ballot. Usually there is no election in the year following a presidential election.

In this case, the schools asked for the special vote and will be paying for the cost of the election.

Turnout is expected to be light unless a referendum becomes controversial.

Norma Ellen (Rowe) Hart

November 25, 1942 – February 9, 2017

It is with sadness that we announce that Norma Ellen (Rowe) Hart left this life and moved into eternity on February 9, 2017.

She was born on November 25, 1942, to William and Mary (Kelly) Rowe in Angola, Indiana. She was the oldest of four girls with her sisters being Marcia, Linda, and Tracey.

As her family mourns her death, we want to remember most what brought her joy. When she reminisced on such things, she would speak of her childhood years living at Lake Pleasant, Ind., her early teen years living in Tyler, Texas, and her high school and college days at Marysville High School in Ohio (1961) and Bowling Green State University (1965) respectively.

She also enjoyed anything related to crafts and baking, musicals, watching the Indianapolis Colts football team and the Butler Bulldogs men's basketball team. And, of course, she relished her time with family.

Moreover, if she was defined by any one key characteristic, it's that she was a teacher to the core. From the time that the desire to be a teacher took hold of her at the age of twelve, she taught as a mother, as a school teacher in private and public schools for over twenty years, as a cake decorating instructor, and as a top sales person in a variety of retail industries of which she finally retired in 2010. If there was one subject she loved to teach most of all, it was poetry. Her sixth-grade students will never forget the passion at which she approached their annual project of writing a large notebook of poems on the five senses. Also, her children and grandchildren will carry with them the love of James Whitcomb Riley and hearing his poems read aloud with enthusiasm (especially The Bear Story!). Norma will be missed by her family that she loved very much, but we will all carry pieces of her for the rest of our lives.

She leaves behind three children, Heather Barnette (Bob), David Martin (Rebecca), Lindsay Wink (Phillip). Norma was also blessed with eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild. She was preceded in death by her father and mother, and her sister, Marcia.

She requested to be cremated, and a memorial service will be held at 1 p.m. on Saturday, April 1, 2017 at Oaklawn Memorial Gardens, 9700 Allisonville Road in Indianapolis, with Pastor David Martin officiating.

If you would like to do a kindness in memory of Norma, the family request a donation be made to the American Cancer Society, 5635 W 96th Street, Suite 100, Indianapolis, IN 46278; or the National Brain Tumor Society, 55 Chapel Street, Suite 200, Newton, MA 02458.

Girls state swimming

‘Hounds run championship record to 31

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor
Flashback to 52 weeks ago. You're the Carmel girls swim team, and you finally scaled the seemingly insurmountable record of consecutive state championships. So now what?
You keep going.
The Greyhounds added to their record Saturday at the IU Natatorium by winning their 31st straight state title. Carmel scored 386.5 points, well ahead of second-place Chesterton's 189. The 'Hounds totaled eight individual victories, which is just one shy of the wins that their record-setting team of 2015 collected two years ago.
Simply put, Carmel is its own measuring stick.
"There is no secret, number one," said Greyhounds coach Chris Plumb. "Number two, set really high standards. We know what we can do, and it's a lot more than people think. We set that high standard. It's uncomfortable, but we know what the human body can do, and we push that every day."
Carmel began the meet by winning three individual events. First up was a medley relay win from senior Sammie Burchill, juniors Grace Estabrook and Trude Rothrock, and sophomore Grace Pangburn.
Rothrock was back in the pool minutes later for the 200 freestyle. She wound up part of a 1-2 finish for the 'Hounds in that event, behind senior Emma Nordin, who defended her state title in that event.

"It's my senior year, it's just exciting to be closing it off like this," said Nordin. "I'm just having so much fun with my teammates."
Next up was the individual medley, and Burchill not only won it, but set a new state record of 1:56.67, two-tenths of a second faster than the old record. The old mark was held by Center Grove Michelle McKeehan, who went on to swim at the University of Georgia - which just happens to be where Burchill will be swimming next fall.
"On the bus on the way home a year ago, we talked about her breaking the record this year," said Plumb. "This has been a year process for her, she really wanted that record. She's worked hard, we've seen it in practice, but to actually see it come to fruition, it's just a special feeling. It's a great moment for her."
"I was pretty anxious after last year, when I won," said Burchill. "I was like, 'Oh, I want to go do it again.' Waiting a year to do it was kind of agonizing, just getting to this point. But it was so worth it in the end."
Rothrock would get her own state championship after the diving break, winning the butterfly event. Next up was sophomore Kelly Pash, who was the 100 freestyle winner. Then Nordin led the way for another 1-2 finish, defending her 500 free state championship. Junior Katie Dougherty got the second place finish.

"She wasn't on our team for the past two years," said Plumb. "Comes in as a junior and gets second in the 500. That's a special day."
Carmel finished up the meet by taking the two remaining relays. Pangburn, Pash, sophomore Rachel Young and Nordin won the 200 free relay, and Rothrock, Pash, Nordin and Burchill took the 400 free relay.
Nordin will swim for Arizona State University in the fall. Morgan Grout, who swam in two consolation races for Carmel, is headed to the University of Iowa, while Caroline Schultz, who took fourth in the butterfly, will swim at the University of Kansas.

Heights’ Houser wins diving battle

Ivy Houser may only get one year as a Hamilton Heights diver, but she certainly made it memorable.
The Huskies senior won the state diving championship Saturday. Houser was involved in a spirited battle with Homestead sophomore Jackie Brenn, but won with 535.80 points. Brenn finished second with 525.35.
"It feels amazing," said Houser. "I feel like I worked very hard and had it coming to me. The girl who got second, I've known for a long time, and I loved competing against her today, she did phenomenal. We just had a great time. I feel good."
Houser had won the Hamilton Southeastern diving regional by a more comfortable margin, but was able to persevere through the challenge that Brenn gave her.
"I expected a little less of a battle, but it didn't matter," said Houser. "I still put my dives down just good enough to win. So that's Next up for Houser is college, and how about this: She has committed to the University of Hawaii.

"I was going to look at some other schools and possibly go to them, but they fell through, so I called up that coach and he said yes," said Houser.
Make that Aloha.
"I've visited the campus. It's beautiful, I love their program and I'm so excited to start in the fall."
Houser is the second Hamilton Heights diver to win state in the past three years. Brooke Schultz won in 2015.
FOLTA PLACES FOURTH
Fishers' Maddie Folta added another state medal to the Tigers' decorated diving program, as she placed fourth at state with a score of 476.35.
"I'm really excited," said Folta, a senior. "It's taken four years of high school to get here, and I think it's finally paid off, all that work."
While she admitted that she had one or two dives that were a little off, Folta said that she had one of her best meets of the year at state. She was also in the midst of a nice battle between the above-mentioned top two finishers and the third-place diver, Northridge junior Sara Troyer.

"I feel like I'm prepared for college for sure," said Folta, who has committed to Miami of Ohio University.
"It's a great school academically, and it fit my needs athletically as well," said Folta. "It's not too far from home, and I love the team and the coach."
In total, five Hamilton County divers competed at state, and all five wound up scoring points for their respective teams.
Hamilton Southeastern freshman Sarah Ballard took ninth at state with 442.30 points. Noblesville senior Dayana Popa finished 11th with 434.35, and another HSE diver, sophomore Halli Siwik, placed 16th with 403.75.

Royals finish ninth, and the future is bright

After graduating seven seniors and sending them off to Division I college swim programs, Hamilton Southeastern came back this year to score a satisfying top 10 finish.
The Royals placed ninth as a team at the state meet, picking up three medals along the way. Three of the four swimmers that earned medals are returning next year, so the future looks great for Southeastern swimming.
"A lot of our points today came from underclassmen, so we're really, really looking forward to what this program can grow into," said HSE coach Andy Pedersen.
The Royals' top finish came from its medley relay, which took fifth. On that team were junior Madison Kertin, senior Sydney Knurek and two underclassmen: Abigail Harter and Hannah Pugh.

Pugh finished sixth in the butterfly, while Harter was seventh in the backstroke.
"Abby's a freshman, Hannah's a sophomore," said Pedersen. "Emily Barnes had a great meet today. She's a junior. Sydney Knurek was fantastic. Eight swims over two days, all really solid efforts."
Barnes swam in three events: The 50 free, where she placed 15th, and the 200 and 400 freestyle relays; the former winning the consolation heat for an official ninth-place finish. Knurek was a part of all three relays and tied for 10th in the 50 free.
"It feels great," said Pugh of her two-medal day. "It was a really great close to a great sophomore season."
Pugh swam at state last year as a freshman, and having that extra year of experience was a great help.

"I feel like the experience has really helped me handle this meet better this year than I did last year. I'm definitely looking forward to the future," said Pugh.
And just like her coach, she knows there are good things to come for the Royals in the coming years.
"I'm really excited for next year because I feel like we've set ourselves up to do well next year," said Pugh. "There's going to be a lot of incoming freshmen that I'm excited to be on the team with."
VERBRUGGE 14TH IN BACKSTROKE
Erin Verbrugge finished 14th in the backstroke event at the state meet.
This is the second year in a row that Verbrugge has scored at state. She improved upon a 16th place finish in the backstroke from last year.

AKERS NAMED ACADEMIC ALL-STATE
Noblesville's Alexa Akers was named to the Indiana Coaches of Girls Sports Association's Swimming Academic All-State list for 2016-17.
Two other Millers earned Academic All-State Honorable Mention: Kelsey Lovitt and Jordan Wolfred.

Parrish wins Mental Attitude Award, helps Tigers to 3rd place

Lauryn Parrish of Fishers said that she was placing bets with her friends that fellow senior Hannah Kukurugya of Crown Point would win the Mental Attitude Award for girls swimming.

Parrish lost the bet. And won the Mental Attitude Award.

It was the finish to a memorable state meet for Parrish, who collected three third-place medals and helped the Tigers finish third in the team standings.

"It's amazing," said Parrish. The senior said she had always dreamed of winning the award, "but I never thought it really could be a reality."

Parrish, the daughter of Shawn and Aimee Parrish, exemplifies everything that high school swimming should be. Race as hard as you can, push yourself and your teammates to go as far as you can, and enjoy the camaraderie and company of your fellow swimmers in and out of the pool.

Parrish is also very mindful of the talent that is coming out of the high school pools in Indiana. Consider this: The breaststroke state champion this year was Yorktown sophomore Emily Weiss, who set a new state record in that event with a time of 59.37 seconds. Who was the old record holder? You might have heard of her: Evansville Reitz's Lilly King, who won two gold medals at the Rio de Janeiro

Olympics last summer. "Indiana swimming is the best swimming in the country if we're being completely honest," said Parrish. "They're just not only amazing competitors and so much fun to race, but they're fun to train with. They're my best friends in the world, and I really wouldn't trade them for anything, they're incredible."

Parrish finished third in both the 100 and 200 freestyles, and was part of the Tigers' third-place 200 free relay with junior Amilia Nusbaum and freshmen Ellen Fero and Kyla Srncik.

Next up for Parrish is college swimming at the University of Kansas, and that was an easy decision.

"Kansas is the perfect combination of swimming, academics," said Parrish. "The coaching staff is unreal. I love Lawrence, Kansas. From the second I stepped foot on the campus. It's a perfect school for me, and I knew right when I stepped foot on campus that that's where I wanted to spend four years."

In addition to Parrish's success, Fishers was helped out in its third-place cause by winning two medals in the 500 freestyle. Sophomore Samantha Hietpas placed fourth and her classmate Morgan Booth was eighth.

"We had a great day," said Tigers coach Jay Chambers. "We had some minor disappointments last night, maybe not so much disappointments when some of our kids actually moved up and swam a little slower. But there were some opportunities we missed on getting some kids in the bigs. That would've been really great.

"But we came back and swim inspired today. Our girls were racing. Our relays did an outstanding job, much better than yesterday. I'm really proud of them."

Girls basketball regional

'Hounds nearly come back against Homestead

By RICHIE HALL

An opponent can never count out a Carmel team. Ever.

The Greyhounds' girls basketball team nearly delivered that lesson to Homestead the hard way Saturday night in the championship game of the Class 4A Kokomo regional. Carmel nearly made a most improbable comeback from 19 points down in the fourth quarter.

The Greyhounds cut the Spartans' lead to one, 54-53 with 1:40 left, and the battle continued all the way to the buzzer before Homestead escaped with a 63-59 regional victory. The Spartans now advance to the 4A north semi-state to play Northridge, while Carmel's season ends with a 23-4 record.

"I just told our kids after the game, I've never been more prouder of a team that I've coached," said 'Hounds coach Tod Windlan. "The heart, desire and the never-give-up attitude that we preach in our program all the way from third grade up kind of reared its ugly head on Homestead tonight."

Carmel was down 48-29 with 6:18 left in the fourth period, but then began its run. It started with four free throws from Tomi Taiwo (two on a personal foul and two more on a Spartans' technical foul). Olivia Christy then made a jumper, and Carmel was now within 48-35.

The Greyhounds' big push came when they trailed 54-43 with 2:29 left. Carmel went on a blistering 10-0 run, only needing 49 seconds to cut Homestead's lead from 11 to one. Jasmine McWilliams started it with two foul shots.

Then it was Amy Dilk time. The junior had been in foul trouble, having picked up her fourth foul late in the third quarter. But Dilk played with a remarkable amount of poise and courage, including eight straight points in a 30-second span.

Dilk took Homestead's lead down to 54-48 after making a three-point play. Carmel quickly got the ball back, and Dilk's layin whittled the lead to 54-50. The 'Hounds got the ball back again, and Dilk scored on a putback while being fouled, and made the free throw. "Foul trouble's part of the game, and I thought Amy played tremendously in the fourth quarter with four fouls," said Windlan. "Not commit another one and to be able to score like she did, and her free throw shooting was great."

Unfortunately, 54-53 was as close as Carmel would get. Homestead turned up its defense, and the Spartans went 9-of-12 from the free throw line to keep themselves ahead. The Greyhounds did get within 60-57 with less than a minute to go, and threw up a 3-pointer that just missed. The Spartans were able to hang on from there.

The championship game was a screamer from the beginning. Taiwo opened the scoring with a basket off a steal, and Dilk scored six points in the first quarter. Homestead began to pull away in the second period, eventually leading 19-13 at halftime. Two quick 3-pointers from Karissa McLaughlin helped give the Spartans some momentum.

Carmel tried to seize the momentum back in the beginning of the second half, scoring five points at the start. Blake Smith laid the ball in, and Olivia Christy threw in a 3-pointer to get the 'Hounds within 19-18. But the Spartans went on an 8-0 run, and kept steadily increasing their lead until Carmel began its furious comeback.

Dilk scored 21 points to lead all scorers, while Smith added 10 points. Smith, McWilliams and Reagan Hune all pulled five rebounds; Hune played exceptionally well on the boards in the fourth quarter. Smith had three blocked shots, while Dilk made two blocks.

In the morning semi-final, Carmel overwhelmed Fort Wayne Carroll 84-46. The Greyhounds led 15-10 after the first quarter, then blasted through the second period to take a 40-14 halftime lead. Carmel then cruised through the second half.

Taiwo drained five 3-pointers on her way to 17 points, with Molly Gillig and Mackenzie Wood both scoring 11. Macy Berglund added 10 points.

Carmel totaled 45 rebounds, with Smith grabbing nine, McWilliams getting eight and Hune grabbing six. Dilk dished out eight assists, while Sophie Bair handed out six. Smith blocked two shots.

Seven county wrestlers qualify for state

Seven Hamilton County wrestlers have qualified for the state finals after finishing in the top four in their respective weight classes at the New Castle semi-state on Saturday.

Leading the way was Hamilton Southeastern 182-pounder Alec Jessop, who won the championship in that weight class. Jessop opened his tournament with a 13-1 major decision win over Rushville's Jaykeb Thorp, then toughed out decision victories in his other three bouts, beating Perry Meridian's Jalen Allen 5-3 in the quarter-finals, Lawrence Central's Cameron Simmons 2-1 in the semi-finals, and Lebanon's Evan Stambaugh 6-4 in the final match.

Three wrestlers finished in third place: Carmel's Adam Jerde at 126 pounds, HSE's Joe Mazero at 170 pounds, and Westfield's Liam Jagow at 195 pounds.

Finishing in fourth place were Carmel's Brendan Mattingly at 106, Noblesville's David Kitko at 152, Westfield's Justin Miller at 160.

Hamilton Southeastern placed highest in the team standings, finishing 11th with 36 points. Carmel was 15th with 31 points, Westfield took 17th with 28 points, and Noblesville tied for 22nd with 18 points. Cathedral ran away with the meet, scoring 140.5 points.

Noblesville boys basketball wins another close game

Noblesville won yet another close game on Saturday, edging past Arsenal Tech 60-58 at the Titans' gym.

This is the third victory in a row for the Millers, and all three of them have been by two points. Noblesville trailed 16-12 after the first quarter and 30-26 at halftime. But the Millers kept chipping away at the lead, and were down by just 39-38 after three periods.

Noblesville took over in the fourth quarter, with a Max Flinchum 3-pointer and a Nolan Ginther three-point play getting the Millers ahead 57-49 with 2:06 left. Tech made a comeback to within 57-55 with 1:15 remaining, but Noblesville was able to hold on for the win.

Flinchum scored 22 points, and made four 3-pointers. Ginther added 16 points, including a 10-of-12 effort from the free-throw line. Xavier Hines had five rebounds.

Noblesville is now 10-9 and travels to Lawrence Central on Tuesday, heads to Avon Friday and hosts Hamilton Heights Saturday.

Hamilton Heights tied for 29th with four points, while Fishers and Guerin Catholic were part of a tie for 32nd; both schools scored two points.

The state wrestling finals take place next weekend. First-round matches, featuring 16 athletes in each weight class, are scheduled for Friday evening. Winners advance to Saturday action, where each wrestler is guaranteed to compete in three matches, as well as receive a state medal.
