Democratic Party calls for Jeff Hern to resign

The REPORTER

On Thursday, the Indianapolis Star reported that Jeff Hern, an at-large county council member, admitted to and accepted a plea agreement on a criminal mischief charge related to stealing a political rival's campaign sign before the 2016 May primary.

While Mr. Hern has been ordered as part of a plea agreement to pay restitution, and write an apology letter for his crime the Democratic party joins with many Republicans who have called for Mr. Hern to resign from his office as a Hamilton County Councilman.

Joe Weingarten, of the Hamilton County Democratic Party stated, "The holding of public office brings with it public trust and by his action he has shown a lack of ethical behavior and has lost the public's trust."

Hamilton County for many years has been run by Republican office holders. The one-party system results in a political agenda and may contribute to behind the scene political deals. There is a strong need for opposition office holders to challenge and bring to light misdeeds.

'While some of these instances have been brought to our attention by the news media and/or the businesses themselves, I can't help but wonder about what don't we know about," stated Chairman Weingarten. "I'm taking this opportunity to ask the residents of Hamilton County-Republicans, moderates, and Democratsto get more involved in our local politics. We need more choices on our ballot in the general elections and a greater participation from our residents on election day."

Through collaboration and increased competition, our county has the potential to forge ahead as a community that respects all viewpoints, ethically governs, and actively pursues the publics best interests over individual political aspirations. Now is the time to seize the oppor-

Hamilton County welcomes USB35 national cycle route

The REPORTER

A 360-mile cycling route connecting 15 counties across the Hoosier state officially launches during National Bike Month. USBR35 is the first nationally-approved and interconnected cycling route in Indiana, making its way through Hamilton County.

The USBR35 project was approved in 2015 by the American Association of State Highway Transportation Officials with the help of Indiana Trails and the Adventure Cycling Association. The goal is to draw bicycle enthusiasts to Indiana by offering a unique Midwestern cycling experience that's safe and accessible with bicycle travel options.

Richard Vonnegut, vice chairman for Hoosiers Rails to Trails Council, said the route offers not only a way to see the length of the Hoosier state, but a way to see many local features via slow and meaningful transportation.

"It shows off so many places which we Hoosiers call home," Vonnegut said. USBR35 includes the Indiana counties of Hamilton, LaPorte, Starke, Pulaski, Fulton, Miami, Howard, Tipton, Marion, Hancock, Shelby, Bartholomew, Jackson, Scott and Clark/Floyd (see map on Page 3). The route is part of a nationwide movement to make an interconnected national network of roads for cyclists to easily travel across the country.

The project is part of a $20,000 grant from the Indiana Office of Tourism Development to make the state a more bike-friendly destination. To date, more than 11,000 miles of U.S. bicycle routes have been officially designated in 24 states. When complete, the USBR system will encompass more than 50,000 miles across the country.

Governor signs Cook's bill notifying family after tragic accidents

The REPORTER

Gov. Eric Holcomb today ceremonially signed a law authored by State Rep. Tony Cook (R-Cicero) providing law enforcement officers with a new tool to more quickly notify emergency contacts after responding to a tragic car accident.

Cook said this new measure establishes a database for law enforcement officers to utilize after responding to a death or severe injury. The first responders could more quickly notify the victim's family members or loved ones.

"Minutes count after a tragic accident, and this is an important tool that will help make sure family members are notified," Cook said. "I worked closely with the Bureau of Motor Vehicles and police agencies to pass this legislation that will expedite this time-sensitive and delicate process. Julia Harris' heartbreaking story was one of the incidents that motivated and inspired me to want to improve the accident scene communication process to improve contact to immediate loved ones caught in this heart wrenching situation."

Julia Harris of Westfield was not notified by law enforcement that her son was involved in a car accident and had passed away until approximately four hours later by the hospital chaplain. She was only six miles away from the hospital.

"It was devastating because our son lived for four hours and we could have been with him," Harris said. "We could

Westfield raises over $11k for Relay for Life

The REPORTER

Employees at the city of Westfield met their goal and raised $11,248 to go toward the American Cancer Society.

"Every year our employees show their true hearts as they dedicate themselves to raising thousands of dollars for our Relay for Life team," says Mayor Andy Cook. "In years past our own WPD Detective Scott Clouse was the leader of the Relay for Life team, Shamrockin' for a Cure. He was always so passionate about the organization and what it stood for, and since his passing, our own city employees continue to carry the torch. I'm proud of what they accomplished."

Throughout the year employees raise money for the Shamrockin' for a Cure team by hosting pancake breakfasts at fire stations, collecting donations during the semi-annual Bulk Trash Day and organizing the annual Relay for Life Pie Auction for city of Westfield employees. This year the auction raised $3,160.

The Westfield-Sheridan lay for Life event was at Westfield High School on May 20. If you would like to make a donation, go to www.relayforlife.org.

'Perfect Wedding' at The Belfry Theatre

The REPORTER

Imagine this: A man wakes up in the bridal suite on his wedding morning to find an extremely attractive girl in his room. In the depths of a stag night hangover he can't even remember meeting her.

Before he can get her out, his bride to be arrives for the wedding.

In the ensuing panic, the girl is locked in the bathroom. The best man is persuaded to claim her, but he gets confused and introduces the chamber maid to the bride as his date.

The crisis escalates to nuclear levels by the time the mother of the bride and the best man's actual girlfriend arrive.

That is the story of "Perfect Wedding," a comedy in two acts by Robin Hawdon, directed by Elaine Wagner which will be staged at The Belfry from June 2 to June 18.

This rare combination of riotous farce and touching love story has provoked

Staying safe this holiday weekend

The REPORTER

Memorial Day weekend traditionally starts off the summer travel season, and this season is shaping up to be the busiest in years. With race weekend coming up here in Indiana, Lieutenant Tony Delello, Commander of the Pendleton State Police Post, would like to remind all motorists that there will be extra troopers on the roadways this upcoming holiday weekend. Troopers will be working federally funded overtime during the "Click it or Ticket" Campaign and Operation CARE, or Combined Accident Reduction Effort, to help insure safe family travel.

The "AAA" Motor Club suggests leaving early if planning to travel this holiday weekend, as they are predicting that 39.3 million Americans will be traveling. The increase is expected to be the highest volume for holiday travel since 2005.

With the expected increase in traffic, it's important that motorists follow the safety tips below:

Obey all speed limits and always use vour turn signals.

Never drink and drive. If celebrating make sure to have a designated driver.

Make sure everyone is buckled up and children are properly restrained in · Always watch for and expect slowed or stopped traffic ahead, especially when approaching construction zones.

When stopped in traffic be watchful of traffic approaching from behind and be ready to take evasive action if it appears traffic is approaching too fast to stop.

If you're planning to travel a long distance, make sure you are well rested. A fatigued driver is as dangerous as an impaired driver.

· Avoid tailgating. Remember the two-second rule, and always increase following distance in construction zones.

· Leave early, expecting heavy traffic, and give yourself extra time to reach your destination.

Remember to ALWAYS SLOW DOWN AND MOVE OVER for emergency, utility and highway service vehi-

The Pendleton District covers the eight counties of Delaware, Madison, and Randolph; Henry, Wayne, Union, Rush and Fayette counties. Motorists are encouraged to report suspected impaired drivers by calling 9-1-1. Give a vehicle description, location, and direction of travel. Never follow an impaired driver.

Refresh yourself this summer

StatePoint

For a happier, healthier you, take some time to clean and clear your body and mind. Here are five great ways to give yourself a mid-year refresh.

- 1. Rise and shine. Waking up earlier gives you more "me" time, and some studies have found it makes you more productive during the day and can make you more focused.
- 2. Try something new. Just because you exercise consistently doesn't mean you can't get into a rut. Try a new studio or fitness class that can shake up your routine. While you're at it, you may even make some new friends. New services are allowing members to search for and book classes on-the-go from their mobile device.
- 3. Get outdoors. Get outdoors and walk, hike, cycle or paddle. Take along water-resistant, rugged outdoor tech gear to enhance the experience. With a full color map display, built-in GPS, location memory and the ability to write memos on the maps, Casio's WSD-F20
- Pro Trek smart outdoor watch is a good tool when exploring or working out. Apps include the ability to monitor speed, distance, altitude, change in barometric pressure, and get notifications for sunset and sunrise data. Users can also input goals and get notified when goals are met.
- 4. Eat well. Rethink your eating habits. Don't just buy quick and easy premade foods. Try switching up your meals and snacks by adding whole foods, like seasonal fruits and veggies to the mix. New subscription services can make it easier to cook yourself fresh, wholesome meals by delivering pre-portioned ingredients accompanied by nutritious, tasty recipes to your doorstep for faster meal prep.
- 5. Pamper yourself. Take a day for yourself. Whether it's a full immersive spa day, or simply a day free of commitments to read the book you've been putting off or to finish the project you started months ago but haven't found the time to complete.

Tips to avoid 'summer brain drain'

StatePoint

It's only natural that kids get excited for summer vacation. However, parents may be concerned about "summer brain drain," which occurs when students lose the knowledge they gained during the school year.

Unfortunately, many children show learning losses when they return to school in the fall, and these summer setbacks are cumulative, resulting in increasing levels of learning loss over time, according to RAND research.

"Parents can keep minds sharp by creating fun summer learning opportunities at home," says Dr. Clement Chau, director of learning for VTech and LeapFrog, home to a number of educational learning products.

To help families avoid summer setbacks, Chau is offering the following ideas and tips.

• Visit a library. Many libraries offer summer reading challenges which can prove to be great motivation to crack open a book. Enlist the expertise of librarians to help children find titles they'll enjoy, and use the "five-finger" test to be sure your child has books at the proper reading level: read one page of a book; if there are more than five unknown words, have your child choose another book.

• Learn about a new topic. Has your child been collecting rocks when playing outdoors? Does he or she like to point out different shapes of clouds in the sky? Encourage children to research and learn more about the subjects that fascinate them. If they are passionate about a topic, they'll be more likely to seek out more information.

• Set aside required reading time. On average, children who read more than 20 minutes a day scored above the 90th percentile on standardized reading tests, and reading just six books during the summer may keep a struggling reader from regressing, according to the Scholastic Kids & Family Reading Report. Make reading a daily habit in your home.

• Look for teachable moments. Going to a baseball game? Show your child how to calculate a batting average or a pitcher's ERA. Making dinner? Let your child measure the ingredients. Clipping coupons? Show your child how much money will be saved in your grocery budget. Going on a road trip? Look up some fun facts about the different states you'll see on license plates.

• Read together. Forty-eight percent of children ages six to eight report that they want adults to read aloud to them, even though they are able to read on their own, according to the Scholastic Kids & Family Reading Report. Use this time with your child to discuss the topics in the book and ask questions that help build critical thinking skills. Try such prompts as: Tell me about your favorite character. What was your favorite part of the book and why? Would you recommend this book to a friend?

"With a fun focus on learning, you can help children stay academically active all summer, which will help ease the transition back to the classroom in fall," says Chau.

Carb Day at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway brought out the usual fun and frivolity of the annual Friday-before-the-race tradition, but there was also some serious business at hand for the 33 drivers who will run in the 101st Indianapolis 500 on Sunday. The Carb Day practice was the last chance for the racers to get on the track before the big race, including Noblesville native Conor Daly and his No. 4 car. Daly had a strong practice session, finishing 13th with a best speed of 225.557 mph. Three-time champion Hélio Castroneves ran the fastest lap of Carb Day at 227.377, while Takuma Sato was next in line with a best lap of 226.802.

neither one is a surprise. First off, Carmel holds the fastest regional time in the 4x800 relay, clocking in at 7:50.24.

The Greyhounds are vying to win a third consecutive state championship, and they have the potential to do so. The top nine in each event score points at state, and Carmel has 10 athletes/relay teams seeded in the top

Ryan Lipe has two top-nine seeds, with a listing of third in the pole vault and fifth in the 100 dash. Carmel's 4x100 relay is seeded third, as is Spencer Gudgel in the 400 dash. Other Greyhounds top-nine seeds are Ben Miller in the 3200 (fourth), the 4x400 relay (fifth), Trey Harris in the 800 run (eighth), Mitch Lipe in the pole vault (eighth) and Bryce Sharp in the discus

The biggest rival for Carmel at this point appears to be Avon. The Orioles, who finished second to the 'Hounds at Thursday's Lafayette Jeff regional, have nine top-nine seeds, but three first seeds. Avon has the fastest time in the 4x100 and 4x400 relays, plus Peyton DuPriest is the top-rated 400 dash runner. Isaac Guerendo, the regional champ in the 100 and 200 dash, is rated fourth and sixth respectively in those events.

Westfield's Dainon Wray is the first seed in the 300 hurdles, with a time of 38.64. He is the leader of five top-nine seeds for the Shamrocks. Aaron Bennett is listed third in the 800 run, followed by the 4x400 relay, which is rated sixth. Evan Manley is seeded seventh in the 200 dash, and Peyton Haack holds the ninth seed in the pole vault.

Noblesville could be in for a good meet, with four top-nine seeds. That includes a pair of second seeds: James Hardin in the 400 dash and the 4x400 relay. Two more Millers are rated seventh: Eric Hoffman in the 3200 run and Drew Hartmann in the shot Hamilton Southeastern holds second seeds in the two distance events. Gabe Fendel has the second-fastest time in the 1600 run and Ben Wagoner is the second seed in the 3200 run.

Fishers is seeded third in the 4x800 relay. But three other Tigers are seeded 10th, so they could move up and get some points: Jalen Moss in the 200 dash, Peter Werling in the 800 run and Josh Roth in the 3200 run.

In the girls meet, Carmel and Southeastern will be in the mix. Both schools have six top-nine seeds.

Christina Geisler will run into state with the fastest time in the 3200 run at 10:41.27. Phoebe Bates is rated third in that race.
