Free meal for Sheridan residents

The REPORTER

On Saturday, Oct. 21 the Sheridan Rotary Club, in cooperation with multiple other community agencies and churches, is coordinating a free meal to members of the Sheridan community. The meal will be served at the Shelter House in Community Park from noon to 4 p.m. everyone in the Sheridan community is invited to enjoy roast pork loin, baked potato, green beans, roll with butter and a delicious dessert. Drinks will be provided, too. And out in the park, the kids can enjoy a bounce house, cotton candy and snow cones while they sing along to their favorite karaoke song.

Sheridan Rotarian Steve Martin is coordinating the meal this year. According to Martin, “It was all started four years ago by then Sheridan Rotary President Rev. VJ Stover as an effort to highlight the plight of world hunger and it proved so successful that first year that it has continued annually. Last year we served over 450 meals to community members and this year our goal is to reach 500.”

Hunger is not something tied just to third world nations or homeless people. Hunger occurs in affluent locations like Hamilton County and is perhaps more prevalent in rural places like Sheridan. Someone loses a job or the family’s breadwinner becomes ill or passes away and suddenly a family that was making ends meet finds itself having difficulty putting a meal on the table every day. Often the situation is only temporary, but people, especially children, need a square meal every day. The situation may resolve itself in a few days or weeks, but for those few days or weeks a family can really need some sort of food assistance.

Sheridan Rotary wants their community members to have at least one day when no one in the community needs to go hungry. While only a start to local, regional and world hunger needs, at least it is a start, and hopefully a reminder to all that hunger often occurs close to home. Join them for a good meal and casual conversation this Saturday. Best of all, it is all free.

Noblesville Parks announces Pickleball open gym hours

The REPORTER

The Noblesville Parks and Recreation Department has announced Pickleball open gym hours for fall and winter. As Pickleball continues to grow in popularity, open gym hours offer a fun, competitive way for the community to play the sport. All skill levels are encouraged to participate in open gym hours to learn more about Pickleball.

Pickleball open gym hours are held from 9 a.m. to noon on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the Recreation Annex in Ivy Tech Community College, 300 N. 17th St. Morning open gym hours will not be offered on Nov. 22 and 24, Dec. 25 and Jan. 1. Weekday evening hours will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. Mondays from Nov. 6 through Dec. 18 and from 5 to 7 p.m. Tuesdays from Jan. 9 through April 24. Open gym hours also will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. Sundays starting Nov. 5. Sunday open gym will not be held on Dec. 24 and 31.

Participants should park on the east side of the building off of Harrison Street by Hare Chevrolet Football Stadium and enter Gate 18. The cost for a drop-in player is $5 or a Punch Pass is available for $50 for 12 visits. For more information, contact the Parks Department at (317) 770-5750 or visit noblesvilleparks.org.

For those not familiar with the sport, Pickleball was created for all ages and skill levels and is played with a paddle and a plastic ball with holes. The rules are simple and the game is easy for beginners to learn, but can develop into a quick, fast-paced, competitive game for experienced players. Pickleball combines many elements of tennis, badminton and ping-pong. It is played indoors on a badminton-sized court with a slightly modified tennis net.

Carmel Christkindlmarkt seeking volunteers

The REPORTER

For 20 years Carmel has had an event called Holiday at the Square. This year Holiday at the Square will move to Holiday at Center Green.

For the first time ever, the tradition of Christkindlmarkt is coming to Carmel and bringing with it the old-world charm of Christmas in Germany. The Carmel Christkindlmarkt will offer a spectacular blend of traditional German foods and gifts, surrounding a beautifully adorned outdoor ice skating rink. With so much to see and do, the whole family will enjoy exploring the market and making cherished memories.

Volunteer shifts are scheduled in two-hour increments and include positions such as:

- Beautification
- Cultural Ambassador
- Hospitality-Alcohol Check (21+ only)
- Hospitality-Greeter

• Information/Way Finder
Register for more than one shift and receive a special gift.

To be a part of Christkindlmarkt, a traditional German festival featuring Carmel’s new ice-skating rink, go to the website, carmelchristkindlmarkt.com, and click the volunteer link.

Westfield bulk trash event raises funds for Relay for Life

The REPORTER

Westfield’s heavy trash drop-off event this past weekend allowed residents to get rid of unwanted furniture, electronics and other large items. It also helped raise funds for Westfield’s Relay for Life efforts.

“We are very grateful to the residents who donated to our Relay for Life efforts while utilizing our heavy trash drop-off option,” Mayor Andy Cook said. “Westfield’s Relay efforts are always impressive and I know this money will be put to good use.”

Saturday’s event raised over $1,300. The funds will help to kick-start the 2018 Shamrockin’ for a Cure campaign.

Carmel’s 111th roundabout open, 112th coming soon

The REPORTER

Roundabout number 111 has opened in Carmel at 4th Street South and Range Line Road.

Now that 4th Street South and Range Line Road is open, work will begin at the roundabout at Executive Drive and Range Line Road. That intersection is now closed and will remain closed until mid-November.

Meanwhile, Roundabout number 112 at Guilford Road and City Center Drive is anticipated to be open Friday, Oct. 20.

Keystone Parkway has been undergoing cleaning and repainting during nighttime lane restrictions. Due to recent adverse weather, crews have been granted permission to work during the day as well to make up for lost time. Drivers will see daytime lane restrictions beginning Friday, Oct. 27 in addition to the continued late night lane restrictions. However, morning and evening commute times will be avoided, so the daytime and nighttime lane restrictions will occur between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. and in the evening/overnight between 8 p.m. and 5 a.m.

The program is free and no registration necessary. All attendees will receive a Holiday Survival Guide with over 30 encouraging readings, helpful charts and tips to manage the holiday season during this difficult time.

House internship applications due Oct. 31

The REPORTER

Applications to intern with the Indiana House Republicans during the 2018 legislative session are due Tuesday, Oct. 31, according to State Rep. Tony Cook (R-Cicero).

The House Republican Internship Program offers paid, spring-semester internships at the Indiana Statehouse in downtown Indianapolis. These are full-time positions, Monday through Friday, lasting from January through mid-March. According to Cook, college-level students participating in the internship program work one-on-one with state legislators while developing valuable skills and connections for a professional career.

"An internship with the Indiana House Republicans helps students to strengthen their understanding of how state government works, and learn about the legislative process," Cook said. "With the application deadline looming, I encourage students in our community to apply for this one-of-a-kind opportunity."

College sophomores, juniors and seniors, graduate or law students and recent graduates of all majors are eligible. Students can apply for internships in a variety of areas, focusing on legislative, communications, video production, policy, fiscal policy and technology. Along with getting paid $750 every two weeks, students can earn academic credit through their college or university.

When submitting an application, students must also include an official transcript, resume and two letters of recommendation. Cook said top applicants will demonstrate strong writing skills, have a positive attitude and be willing to work in a fast-paced environment.

Applications can be submitted online at indianahouserpublicans.com/internship.

State Rep. Tony Cook (R-Cicero) represents House District 32, which includes all of Tipton County and portions of Hamilton, Madison, Delaware, Howard and Grant counties.

Don't miss sandhill crane motor coach tour next month

The REPORTER

Nature enthusiasts are invited to join the Indiana Audubon Society for a special motor coach tour to view the mass migration of sandhill cranes at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 18, leaving from the Cool Creek Nature Center in Carmel. This unique will take participants to the Jasper-Pulaski Fish and Wildlife Area, where upwards of 20,000 sandhill cranes converge to gab and socialize each fall. After sunset, the tour will return to Cool Creek around 8 p.m.

At Jasper-Pulaski, participants will be able to witness the evening gathering of cranes from atop special viewing platforms. Binoculars and spotting scopes will be provided to assist with the observations. Beginning about one hour before sunset, flocks of cranes will glide in from all directions. Outdoor Indiana magazine rated the fall spectacle among the top 20 things every Hoosier should witness before they die. This trip is well suited for beginning and experienced birders, general nature enthusiasts and photographers.

Space is limited and advance registration is required. Trip costs includes a special presentation, light refreshments, binocular and optics use at the site, coach bus travel to and from Jasper-Pulaski and on-site guiding by IAS staff. Registration for the workshop is $48, with discounts available to Indiana Audubon Society members. Registration is in the events page at indianaaudubon.org/events.

For more information about the workshop, call Brad Bumgardner at (219) 928-6905. Cool Creek Park is located at 2000 E. 151st St., Carmel. To learn more about the Indiana Audubon Society and to search for programs near you, visit them on the web at indianaaudubon.org.

Make Halloween less scary: Don't forget anti-monster spray

The REPORTER

After a young child watches a scary movie or is frightened by a Halloween costume, parents should reach for a can of anti-monster spray before bedtime, says Theresa Kruczek, a counseling psychology professor at Ball State University.

"Preschool children and those in early elementary school often have a difficult time with Halloween," she says. "Children this age often struggle with separating fantasy from reality and as a result they may get confused and think the scary elements of Halloween are real."

"After a frightening experience, children may have nightmares. They really can't tell us too much about the dream, but we can take some precautions to ward off those dreams by using a can of air freshener, otherwise known as anti-monster spray, to keep monsters at bay. Monsters don't like nice-smelling stuff."

Kruczek also advises:

- Limit preschoolers to 30 minutes or less of activities, including trick-or-treating, and only during daylight hours.

- Ask friends and strangers to take off masks to show children that there really is a person under the costume.

- Parents and siblings should never wear masks around youngsters afraid of such items.

- In families with children of varying age ranges, allow each youngster to participate in age-appropriate activities.

• Avoid haunted houses unless the facility offers age-appropriate activities.

"Just because you love haunted houses doesn't mean your 4-year-old will," Kruczek says. "Parents are in the best position to know what frightens their child and to help them cope with Halloween. If kids freak out during a scary movie, they'll freak out at a haunted house or when someone in a scary outfit comes by."

Download the video of Prof. Kruczek explaining the use of anti-monster spray here, or watch it on YouTube here.

Parents should set expectations for Halloween

The REPORTER

Parents can avoid transforming into monsters during Halloween by embracing the holiday and establishing clear expectations for their children, says Jill Walls, a Ball State University professor who specializes in child development.

“Halloween can be a fun event for the entire family,” Walls says. “The fun of Halloween is not all about the candy, or at least, it doesn’t have to be. Children get to dress up in costumes, and there are other ‘treats’ parents can incorporate into the evening. Color a spooky picture, carve pumpkins, bob for apples in a pot of water, tell spooky stories or read a book together. In today’s hectic and on-the-go lifestyle, time together can be even sweeter than candy.”

She says the most important step in planning for a fun Halloween is to talk about the event with youngsters, preparing them for what is to come (known as pre-arming in the parenting literature).

When children know what to expect and what’s expected of them, they are more likely to conform to parents’ expectations. Toddlers and preschoolers might even enjoy rehearsing before you go out – at this age they often enjoy pretend play, Walls says.

“Some children may be scared to approach the house of unfamiliar people – practicing ahead of time might lessen those fears, but it’s important that parents not push children to the door if they are uncomfortable. Walk with them or have them hold the hand of a friend. If they prefer to stay back, that’s OK too.”

She also advises parents to have fun and relax:

- Acknowledge children’s excitement around this special event.
- This is a time to make memories.
- Although parents want to document this day with pictures and videos, remember to be present with your child and soak up this time with them. It’s OK to put the camera away and simply enjoy being in the moment with your child.

Prof. Walls may be reached at jkwalls2@bsu.edu.

Ordinary people making extraordinary differences for children with cancer

StatePoint

When it comes to helping children with cancer, amazing new things are possible – as long as there is funding. And it’s not just doctors and researchers who can make a difference, it can be anyone volunteering at their local hospital, planning fundraisers, or simply just spreading the word – all paving the way for a brighter future for children with cancer.

Luckily, efforts are being made to help by both private businesses and individuals across the country. For example, Aflac has raised and contributed more than $118 million to the cause and is making strides to help increase awareness to encourage others to get involved. Aflac herein means American Family Life Assurance Company of Columbus or New York. Since 2013, the company has donated $2 to The Aflac Foundation for every use of the hashtag #Duck-prints across social media, up to $1.5 million per year. To learn more about how you can help, visit aflacchildhoodcancer.org.

With more support and increased funding, more children can get the care they need.

Emil M. Spencer
November 7, 1924 – October 16, 2017

Emil M. Spencer, 92, Carmel, passed away on Monday, October 16, 2017 at IU Health Methodist Hospital in Indianapolis. He was born on November 7, 1924 and raised on a farm in Switz City, Ind. His parents Joseph Daniel and Elizabeth (McClarren) Spencer precede him in death.

Emil proudly served his country with the Army Air Force and was a WWII veteran, having been a POW in Germany for 11 months. For his service to his country, he was awarded a Purple Heart, a World War II Victory Medal, an American Theater Ribbon and four Battle Stars. He was a graduate of University of Illinois, where he had been President of his Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity; and retired from the agricultural sales industry after more than 35 years. He attended Carmel United Methodist Church and enjoyed riding his bicycle, but his greatest joy came from spending time with his family whom he loved dearly.

He is survived by his three sons, Kendall L (Sylvia) Spencer, Keith M (Susie) Spencer and Kyle E (Lori) Spencer; brother, Plato (Betty) Spencer; grandchildren, Rachel (Brian) Smith, Rebecca (Ben) Davis, Stephen (Samantha) Spencer, Matthew (Audrey) Spencer, Mark Spencer, Nicole (Tim) Six and Carrie (Nathan) Stephens; and eleven great-grandchildren.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by his beloved wife of 54 years, Patricia A. Spencer, who passed away in 2005.

Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Tuesday, October 24, 2017 at Randall & Roberts Funeral Center, 1685 Westfield Road, Noblesville, with visitation beginning at 9:30 a.m. prior to the service. Rev. Greg McGarvey will officiate. Burial with military rites will be at Oaklawn Memorial Gardens in Indianapolis.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to Wounded Warrior Project, P.O. Box 758516, Topeka, KS 66675; or, Samaritan's Purse, P.O. Box 3000, Boone, NC 28607.

HSE's Fendel to Colorado, NHS' Little to IU...

County running stars make college commitments

By RICHIE HALL

Reporter Sports Editor

Two of Hamilton County's best high school runners made news of a different sort last week when they announced their college choices.

Hamilton Southeastern's Gabe Fendel will be going out west to the University of Colorado. Noblesville's Abi Little, meanwhile, is staying closer to home and committing to Indiana University. Both are seniors, have been stars for their schools for years and are track and field state champions: Fendel won the 1600 run at last summer's boys track and field state meet, while Little was part of the Millers' girls 4x800 relay state champion team.

RUNNING FOR A LEGEND

Colorado might not be on the radar of people who live in Indiana. But runners know where the best programs are, and Fendel said that the Buffaloes program, led by longtime coach Mark Wetmore, is one of the best in the country.

"They always have been," said Fendel. "They have a really good history. Wetmore is one of the best coaches ever. He's a very legendary coach. It was definitely one of my first choices of where to visit, and once I visited there, I just knew it was where I wanted to go."

Wetmore has been the cross country/track and field head coach for the Buffaloes since 1995. Since 2000, Colorado has won seven national cross country championships. Wetmore has also coached 11 individuals to 22 NCAA titles.

Fendel was contacted by the Buffaloes last winter. He kept in touch, then asked for a visit this year, taking his official visit on Sept. 16. He liked the way Wetmore worked with his athletes - "just the connection he has with everyone," said Fendel. "Everyone really likes him and I just feel like he'll be a great fit for me."

At that point Fendel was leaning towards Colorado, but he also wanted to finish up his other visits. Fendel also visited Wisconsin, Oklahoma State, Oregon and Syracuse.

"I just wanted to keep on visiting everywhere, just to make sure I was making the right choice, and after my last visit, I just knew," said Fendel. "Called them right when I got off the plane and just let them know that I wanted to commit and announced it on Wednesday."

With that, Fendel had the big decision taken care of, and can now focus on his senior season. Fendel has already won the Hoosier Crossroads Conference and sectional championships, and was second at last Friday's regional.

"Now I can just start focusing on running more," said Fendel. "I know where I'm going. I don't really have to worry about anything now except racing."

OLD FRIENDS IN BLOOMINGTON

For Abi Little, committing to run for the Hoosiers was always an option, and a little more than that.

"I grew up in Indiana, so Indiana was always a big school, almost like a dream to me," said Little.

Little was contacted by IU assistant coach Andrew Poore around seven months ago, and the two have been in contact ever since. Little then took her official visit last weekend, and that pretty much sealed the deal.

"I visited last weekend and I absolutely fell in love with it," said Little. She made the commitment soon after.

Little was instantly greeted with some familiar faces when she went to Bloomington. Three cross country runners on the Hoosiers' women's team are from Carmel: Haley Harris, Kelsey Harris and Stacy Morozov. Four more county runners are on the men's team: Bobby Browning, Teddy Browning and Ben Veatch from Carmel, and Aaron Bennett, who graduated from Westfield last year. Still another county star, Noblesville's Rachel Mather, is on the track and field team specializing in the high jump and pole vault.

"So when I went there, it just felt like home," said Little. "We got to talk about all the races we had been in together and stuff. It felt like family instantly."

And with that, Little is also excited to be able to enjoy her senior year while looking forward to IU.

"I'm super excited to be able to commit to IU, because it's such a big school," said Little.

Westfield's Jerald Hayes helps US Super Seniors to Gardnar Mulloy Cup

A Westfield man was part of a historic week for American teams at the USTA National Campus at Lake Nona in Orlando.

Jerald Hayes helped the United States to win the Gardnar Mulloy Cup at the 37th International Tennis Federation Super-Seniors World Team Championships. The Mulloy Cup is for men 80 and over. The US defeated Austria in the championship match.

The tournament is the senior tennis equivalent of the Davis Cup and Fed Cup competitions, with top American tennis players representing their country in the 65-, 70-, 75-, 80- and 85-and-over age groups. The ITF Super-Seniors World Team Championships is the most prestigious team event on the ITF Seniors circuit.

The U.S. also brought home the titles in

Oladipo leads the way in Pacers' opener

By GREG RAPPAPORT
Courtesy nba.com/pacers

Each quarter, the Pacers built what appeared a comfortable lead. And each quarter, the visiting Brooklyn Nets battled back.

But following a circus shot from Darren Collison with 59 seconds remaining in the fourth quarter, the energy of the home crowd during the Pacers' season-opening game was enough to carry Indiana to a 140-131 win over the visiting Nets.

The game was filled with tense moments for the hosts during Opening Night presented by Kroger, with the feisty Nets keeping things interesting as D'Angelo Russell filled up the stat sheet with 30 points and five assists.

For the Pacers (1-0), it was newcomer Victor Oladipo who led the way offensively, scoring 22 points and setting the pace for Indiana by breaking out in transition and harassing opposing ball handlers on defense. Along with his team-high in points, Oladipo also recorded four steals, four assists, and five rebounds.

"We have speed that can get the ball down the floor and create open opportunities by Victor pushing," said Pacers head coach Nate McMillan after the game. "I thought both guards did a good job of running the team tonight."

When Oladipo reentered the game in the fourth quarter, the Nets had just connected on back-to-back 3-pointers to make it a 119-112 game with 7:13 left.

The offseason acquisition went to work, ripping down a rebound on defense from the grasp of a Nets player and firing a pass ahead to Bojan Bogdanovic, who converted on an and-1 bucket to light up the home crowd.

While Oladipo did his damage with the starting unit, backup center Domantas Sabonis — who joined the Pacers along with Oladipo via trade in the offseason — was a leader on the bench unit, racking up 16 points and seven rebounds in his first regular season action with Indiana.

As shown during the preseason, Sabonis displayed a connection with Lance Stephenson — who finished with 16 points of his own — as the pair connected on a number of pick-and-roll baskets to keep the team afloat as the Nets rallied.

During the third quarter, Indiana began to grab hold of the game, breaking off a 10-0 run following a Nets basket that opened the quarter.

After Stephenson hit a runner in the lane, the Pacers' lead grew to a 94-82 advantage, their largest lead of the night at that point.

While a 3-pointer from Quincy Acy brought Brooklyn back within striking distance, Indiana managed a 5-0 burst to close the quarter strong, taking a 106-98 lead into the final quarter of action at Bankers Life Fieldhouse.

In the fourth, the Nets once again made things too close for comfort, shaving their deficit to just four points in the final minutes of the game. Luckily for the Pacers, an impressive layup by Collison created separation once again, putting Indiana up by eight points with under a minute remaining in the game — a cushion that allowed the Pacers to secure a win in Game 1 of their season.

In the early going, it looked as if Indiana might turn its opening night into a blowout, establishing leads and running out in transition for high-flying dunks that electrified the crowd at the Fieldhouse.

Despite the Pacers growing their lead as large as seven points in the first quarter, Brooklyn's bench battled back in the game, taking the lead with less than a minute remaining in the quarter and owning a 30-29 edge entering the second frame.

In the second quarter, it was the same story, with the Pacers building what looked to be a large lead — this time nine points — only to have it erased in a matter of minutes with a 9-0 run from Brooklyn.

For the Nets, Russell was instrumental, scoring a team-high 16 points in the first half.

In the final minutes of the second quarter, Indiana used a fastbreak layup from Thaddeus Young and an offensive rebound and putback by Myles Turner — who finished his night with 21 points, 14 rebounds, and four blocks — to grab a two-point edge entering the locker room at the break.

In the second half, despite spirited rallies from the Nets, it was the Pacers who had the edge.

In new uniforms and on a new court with plenty of new faces, fans at the Fieldhouse saw a familiar sight, a #PacersWin on opening night.

"It was a great first night and hopefully Pacers fans get a chance to see what we're capable of and what type of basketball team we are," Oladipo said. "Obviously, it wasn't perfect and there are some things we want to get better and improve at; but it's always great to get a win in the NBA."
