Noblesville breaking new ground

Photos provided

The City of Noblesville along with owners of Klipsch-Card Athletic Facilities has broken ground on a new $15 million, 130,000-square-foot youth sports facility. The Finch Creek Park Fieldhouse on Boden Road will include five hardwood courts, 75,000 square feet of indoor turf and a 10,000-square-foot physical therapy office. The Finch Creek Park Fieldhouse will be located on 10 acres within the 203 acres of Finch Creek Park. (Above, from left) Mayor John Ditslear, Mike Klipsch, Council President Megan Wiles, Councilman Chris Jensen, Councilman Wil Hampton, Councilman Rick Taylor, Andy Card and Councilman Greg O'Connor break ground on Finch CreekParkFieldhouse. (Right) Noblesville Mayor John Ditslear (left) congratulates Andy Card (right) after dirt is turned during the groundbreaking of Finch Creek Park Fieldhouse.

HSE's coach suspension still under investigation

I have written in the past about the WTHR 13Investi-gates series of stories about how the Hamilton Southeastern (HSE) School Board is handling the disclosure (or lack thereof) of the information surrounding the suspension of Fishers High School teacher and varsity football coach Rick Wimmer. WTHR has broadcast another story on this, which again points to my argument that local school officials need to settle this issue, because reporter Bob Segall is not giving up on this story.

One year ago, the HSE Board approved a consent agenda item, which included a long list of personnel actions. One item on that list was a five-day unpaid suspension for employee number 10042. WTHR asked for the name of that employee and school officials disclosed it was Rick Wimmer.

WTHR 13Investigates calls that a secret suspension. School officials defend this by saying there had been a previous decision to handle public disclosure of all such employee disciplinary actions by using an employee number, not a name. The school board could have been more transparent when that policy was changed. I attend nearly all school board meetings and recall no public discussion of changing this policy. Had the board

Students exposed to business world in the Husky Fan Shop

By CODY KANTOR
Hamilton Heights High School Student

Little do most people know, Hamilton Heights High School is home to an entirely student-led enterprise known as the Husky Fan Shop. This is surprising and impressive considering the size of Hamilton Heights, but it's made possible by the new and improved business lounge. The Husky Fan Shop provides the community with quality Hamilton Heights Husky Apparel such as t-shirts, sweatshirts, sweatpants, hats and other accessories all designed, produced and sold by students. Some of our most successful new merchandise includes the Husky Bar Logo Line and new Football apparel.

Julie Oelschlager, the head of the Husky Fan Shop, teaches her Ivy Tech-Dual Credit Principles of Business Management class important skills like time management, organization, cooperation and more in order to teach them how to run a small retail business. Sheridan's Heritage Museum to get a new home

The REPORTER

The Sheridan Historical Society has purchased a new museum site at 315 S. Main St. and is remodeling the site for its collections and genealogy services that will provide two-and-a-half times its present space for heritage exhibits and family archive services. The society, founded in 1969, had been gifted its present location at 308 S. Main St., by late industrialist Kenneth Biddle who had used it for an office during retirement. It opened in 1972 and collections assembled were acquired and managed by volunteers.

"In essence, we have a museum that captures pioneer life, artifacts from an Indiana community that expanded from a hill-top log cabin in 1828," detailed Ron Stone, president. "We have a story to be showcased, and that includes our 1908 Black motor buggy and a restored Civil War American flag carried by a Sheridan resident in Tennessee battles."

"Members joined the board and officers to pool funds for the $40,000 real estate acquisition," explained Stone. "And we have a capital campaign underway. To date, the society, a not-for-profit, 501c3 organization, has attracted a total of $60,000+. We anticipate $100,000 in total needs to handle purchase and repairs in the new facility projected to be open next summer. After years of patchwork and some replacement, we came to a crossroads: if we repaired where we are, we would not be producing enough cost/benefits to justify investment and the expansion of space for exhibits pushed us in this new direction.”

“In small communities, maintaining heritage is a duty of citizens,” Stone pointed out. “Sheridan has a rich history to capture the interest of both former and new residents. The society sponsors many heritage-oriented events every year and we need good headquarters to house such operations. Over the last decade, our membership has grown and we are still attracting new interest so we can actively keep our young people informed.”

Parvin Gillim, local architect, produced a working draft of the schematic to guide interior redevelopment of the building – a structure which used to be the home of Sheridan’s Hippodrome movie theater. Society members are pursuing plans to replace the HVAC system, electrical, front windows and ceiling/insulation. Dedicated spaces can be named for a contributor’s families or sponsored by corporations and businesses. Museum exhibits offer naming opportunities, including the pioneer kitchen, school displays, and the future. New exhibits are now being considered.

Serving on the society are: Ron Stone, president; Steve Martin, first vice president; Phillip Pearson, second vice president; Connie Pearson, secretary; and Vicki Remsen, secretary. Board of directors include: Wilma Bush, Roberta Huff, Donna Jessup, David Ogle and Ginny Tackitt. Other staff includes Jim Pickett, executive director; Brenda Bush, renewal strategist; Susie Browning, corresponding secretary; Connie Mossburg, historian, and Laura Stapleton-Robbins, membership.

Contributions to the museum project are welcome as well as tax deductible. Those interested in participating should contact Ron Stone at 317-758-5170, by cell at (317) 306-5058, or by email at rmstone@ndwave.com. Checks for the new museum are to be mailed to the Sheridan Historical Society Inc., 308 S. Main St., Sheridan, IN 46069.

aspects of adult life, better preparing our students for the future. They are primarily taught by being assigned roles in the five distinct departments of the Husky Fan Shop, just like a real business. Being exposed to the business field provides students with the opportunity to see if they would pursue a similar career, but even if they’re not interested it still gives an insightful understanding of the business world.

Not only does the enterprise educate students, but it also is important to the community because it brings people together with quality products promoting school spirit. In addition, the Shop often makes donations to local causes, such as the Special Olympics and the Hamilton Heights Educational Foundation.

You can see them at almost any school sporting event and help support the school, or you can even find the wonderful items online at huskyfanshop-online.com.

SUSPENSION

been more up front in their change of this policy when it happened, board members would have a much stronger argument.

WTHR has received two advisory opinions from Luke Britt, the Indiana Public Access Counselor, telling HSE Schools to disclose specific facts surrounding this suspension. So far, HSE school officials have only responded vaguely, pointing to general school policies that were violated.

According to WTHR, an attorney representing HSE Schools has argued in a letter to the television station that disclosing any more facts about this situation would violate federal laws related to the privacy of student records. I am no lawyer, but have dealt with privacy issues in my days working for the federal government. Any names of students could be sanitized and not disclosed in any response that would meet the Indiana Public Counselor’s advisory opinion in this case. I am a bit puzzled about that assertion, unless there is something I am not understanding here.

As I mentioned before, not only is the 13Investigates team not giving up on this story, they are continuing to dig into it. As a result of a WTHR Freedom of Information Act request, HSE Schools have disclosed that over $6,000 in school funds have been paid to a local law firm in order to deal with this Rick Wimmer disclosure issue. That figure is from February to early June of this year.

This situation has already received some attention statewide, but the spotlight will once again be on HSE Schools as State Senator Mike Delph tells WTHR he is introducing a measure to clarify state law on what must be publicly disclosed when school personnel are disciplined. Delph says in the TV interview that his proposal is a direct result of the HSE Schools handling of the Wimmer suspension disclosure.

If the HSE School Board is hoping the whole thing will go away because WTHR will shy away from the legal costs of a court battle, there is news on that front. The TV station is partnering with a nonprofit group, The Reporters Committee For A Free Press, which provides legal help to journalists in situations where the organization chooses to become involved. If this dispute can only be settled in court, this highly-regarded nonprofit organization will be able to provide a lot a legal help to 13Investigates.

I have been following this story for the past year and have written some commentaries about this as well. Why am I so concerned about this situation? Allow me to explain.

This has the potential to cast our local schools in a very bad light. It is already a statewide news story. The involvement of the Reporters Committee For A Free Press, a national organization based in Washington D.C., has the potential to raise the profile of this dispute to the national level.

This is not good news for those of us that have lived in Fishers for many years. We know this is an outstanding school system with outstanding teachers and administrators. My daughters, now adults with college degrees, were educated grades K-12 at HSE Schools. They received a great education that prepared them well for the university experience.

I have a great deal of sympathy for the argument school board members appear to be making that certain employee personnel facts should remain confidential. As a former federal civil servant, I understand that perfectly.

But the law must be considered. The Indiana

Public Counselor has issued not one, but two separate advisory opinions saying facts about this specific situation leading to Wimmer’s discipline must be disclosed. Public Counselor Luke Britt even went as far as granting an on-camera interview to WTHR to make his case that HSE Schools must disclose more facts about what led to this disciplinary decision.

If this is not settled, HSE Schools will be in the spotlight not about the high quality of the educational experience students are receiving here. Instead, the story will be about why school officials will not disclose this information and how much money the school board is paying in legal fees to defend this decision.

As someone that loves this community, and believes we have one of the best school systems in the nation here in Fishers, I would hope our school board will take a long look at where they are and how they got here. Let’s settle this situation with WTHR now.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Howbeit this kind goeth not out but by prayer and fasting. And while they abode in Galilee, Jesus said unto them, The Son of man shall be betrayed into the hands of men: And they shall kill him, and the third day he shall be raised again. And they were exceeding sorry.

Stingy defense, second half surge sends Millers to HCC win over Shamrocks

By CRAIG ADKINS

The Noblesville boys basketball team was glad to be back on its home floor at The Mill on Friday night, especially after what happened in last Friday's 47-point drubbing at Carmel. The Millers were able to find their way in every opportunity in their 48-27 convincing Hoosier Crossroads Conference win on Friday night over rival Westfield.

Consecutive baskets from juniors Zack Johnson and Eagan Keever-Hill, along with senior Ryan Barnes that jumped Noblesville out to a 6-0 with 5:15 left in the first, forced third-year Westfield head coach Shane Sumpter to call his first timeout to settle down his Shamrocks.

"I think our first four possessions tonight were turnovers before we even got a shot off. You're not gonna win many games with 17 turnovers and 27 points. Give them credit, their zone was really good tonight and we just didn't execute very well against it," said Sumpter on what his team's loss boiled down to tonight.

Following the timeout, Westfield managed to put some points on the board and trail 13-6 through one quarter.

The Shamrocks made a slight push, but the Millers were able to keep their distance. Ryan Barnes again was able to add four more points to his total with two straight layups. Westfield got a pair of three's from Zach Banks and Camden Simons that helped keep them within striking distance at halftime with Noblesville up 20-14.

"Yeah, it certainly caused a lot of problems with their length," said Westfield head coach Shane Sumpter on the length of Noblesville's defense that gave them problems inside and out all night long.

"I don't think watching them on film or even watching them in person is the same as. They've got a lot of length that cause you the problems, but we just had way too many turnovers," Sumpter continued on the Miller 2-3 zone giving his team fits.

Something sparked the Millers in the locker room at halftime and they brought that sense of urgency onto the floor in the third quarter.

Right away, Zack Johnson drained a three from the left corner and Ryan Barnes scored his fifth basket of the night, giving the Millers their first double-digit lead of the night that they would only build on.

Camden Simons put Westfield's first two of the third on the board, but that just ignited a 5-0 run by Barnes and before the Shamrocks knew it, Keever-Hill joined the fast-paced quarter with six straight points of his own, including a couple jumpers that made it a 36-20 game at the end of the third.

"We came out and did a really good job of attacking in the third and opened it up," said Noblesville head coach Brian McCauley on his team's ability to springboard their lead from a six-point lead at halftime to 16 through three quarters.

Feeding the hot hand is what is was about during the Millers' big run that widened the gap, pushing Noblesville to the huge home victory.

drove to the bucket for another two and just like that, Noblesville found itself up 46-20, taking Westfield completely out of the game.

"Xavier then hit two back-to-back three's that really opened it up," said McCauley on his junior guard comfortably nailing two three's that put the game out of reach for the Shamrocks.

On a night when they were able to spread out their scoring, it really was their defense that propelled them to the HCC victory.

The Miller defense was able to force 18 Westfield turnovers, 12 of which were steals and held the visitors to single-digits in each quarter in running away with a 48-27 Hoosier Crossroads Conference win.

"Our defense tonight was really solid. We were active in our defense. I think they had 18 turnovers and we had 12 steals on the night and we had seven deflections," McCauley on the Miller defense dominating Westfield on Friday night.

Westfield (4-3, 0-2 HCC) snaps its three-game winning streak and will look to split their weekend when they host Tipton (6-1) on Saturday night. The Blue Devils edged Lewis Cass 58-56 on Friday.

Junior Zach Banks led Westfield with a team-high 14 points.

Noblesville (4-2, 2-0 HCC) will look to continue their stingy defensive play when they head north to face another Hamilton County rival on Saturday night at Hamilton Heights (3-4), who won at Western 61-36 on Friday.

Ryan Barnes led all scorers with a game-high 15 points on seven field goals. Xavier Hines and Zack Johnson both added 11 points, while Eagan Keever-Hill chipped in with eight.

Another close Mudsock game...

Southeastern holds on over scrappy Fishers

By RICHIE HALL
Reporter Sports Editor
There is no such thing as momentum in a Mudsock game.
There certainly wasn't in Friday's Hamilton Southeastern-Fishers boys basketball game, which took place at the Royals' gym. Southeastern, ranked No. 3 in Class 4A, appeared to have pulled away twice during the second half, but the Tigers clawed their way back both times.
Finally, the Royals escaped with a 42-38 victory. The victory keeps Southeastern unbeaten for the season at 6-0. Fishers is now 2-4.

"We've played a challenging schedule," said HSE coach Brian Satterfield. "We have to with our conference and with our sectional. We've got to do that and guys got to be ready to step up. We know that we're going to go through ups and downs throughout the year with as young as we are."
There were ups and downs in the first quarter, for sure. Aaron Etherington opened things up for the Royals with a 3-point basket, then Fishers took the lead when Willie Jackson scored on a putback and Jeremy Szilagyi drained a 3.

The Tigers led 7-5 before Etherington pushed HSE back up 9-7 with a pair of baskets. But a Jordan Jones layin finished the quarter, and got Fishers back to even at 9-9.
"It was crazy," said Etherington. "It was really fun. It was really loud and it's just fun being able to play in front of all those people."
Jackson made two steals in the first half that led to baskets, and his second-quarter takeaway got back in the hands of Szilagyi, who nailed another 3. That put Fishers ahead 14-12.
Then it was Noah Smith time. The Royals junior took over in the later minutes of the period, scoring six straight points on three baskets, the last of which was a buzzer-beater that gave HSE an 18-14 halftime lead.
The third quarter opened with Brendhan Russom making a layin to get Fishers within 18-16. But Southeastern swung the game in their favor quickly with back-to-back 3-pointers by Etherington and Nick Bowman. Those long-range shots gave HSE a 24-16 lead.
Undaunted, Fishers pushed back, making a 6-0 run to get within 24-22. Terry Hicks helped out with a pair of baskets and Jones scored on a layin.

"You play one possession at a time and I thought we did a good job of not getting emotional when they went up eight," said Tigers coach Matt Moore. "We turned them over, we were able to convert a little bit. We did a much better job when we'd attack the paint, making that extra pass.
"But we left too many shots out there. We had a ton of shots in the lane that we just didn't convert that put us over the top."
The third quarter ended on a basket by the Royals' Chaz Birchfield, which made the score 28-24. The Tigers got to within 30-29 with 5:17 left in the fourth, but then Southeastern took off on an 8-1 run.
Etherington started things with a layin. Birchfield made two free throws with 3:37 left, then two more at the 3:06 mark. The run ended in dramatic fashion as Mabor Majak made a two-handed dunk - his only points of the game, but they certainly counted. Southeastern was up 38-30 after that.
The Tigers made one more 6-0 run to cut HSE's lead to 38-36. Josiah Matthews hit a 3-pointer to begin the run, then a free throw by Jones and two more by Jackson put Fishers in striking distance with 27.1 seconds left. But the Royals were able to hang on, with Birchfield's putback with around 10 seconds left essentially sealing the game.
"Our guys keep battling through," said Satterfield. "They're playing together and staying together, even through the challenging times and we're finding ways to win."
Southeastern's Etherington led all scorers with 17 points, while Birchfield added 10 points and pulled seven rebounds. Bowman dished out six assists, while Etherington and Majak both blocked two shots.
Szilagyi scored eight points to lead Fishers, and also made five steals. Jackson and Russom both had five rebounds and Hicks made four steals.
The Royals will play another home game on Wednesday, taking on Pendleton Heights. Fishers is back on the road Thursday, traveling to Muncie Central.

McGuinness steps in, helps Golden Eagles to CCC win

McGuinness

Sophomore Bernie McGuinness scored 11 points in leading Guerin Catholic to a 48-44 Circle City Conference victory over Heritage Christian in boys basketball Friday night.

Guerin Catholic (3-3, 1-1 CCC) took the lead 6-5 on a Zach Munson basket in the first quarter, and never trailed after that.

However after building a 31-19 lead late in the third quarter, Heritage Christian (3-3, 0-2 CCC) erupted on a 10-0 run before Luke Godfrey drained a 3-point shot to stop HC momentum. After the Godfrey shot the Golden Eagles methodically built the lead back up 11 points. Andrew Williams, who lead all scorers with 16 points, scored his team's final nine points to get Heritage close at the end.

"Our defensive effort was good tonight," said CG coach Pete Smith after the game. "We tried to push them out farther on the court in our zones, and we rebounded really well." The Golden Eagles held a 30-19 rebounding edge, with Munson and Jack Hansen each grabbing 10 caroms, all at the defensive end. Normally the team's leading scorer, Hansen was out of practice Thursday with illness, and came off the bench late in the first quarter. McGuinness started in his place and the move worked in GC's favor. "Bernie is getting use to the speed of the varsity game more and more, and his comfort level is improving," said Smith.

GC shot 51.3 percent (20-of-39) from the field, and committed nine turnovers for the contest. As Smith referred to, Heritage Christian attempted 22 of their 43 shots for the game from 3-point range, and connected on only 37.2 percent (16-of-43). HC finished with only seven turnovers, which kept them close at the end. Six of the Golden Eagles nine turnovers though were in second half and allowed Heritage to cut into the lead.

Kian Sills passed out six assists and recorded two steals for Guerin Catholic, who plays at home Saturday night against Lafayette Jefferson, who's coached by Smith's former assistant, former Noblesville High School assistant Scott Radeker.

Pacers fall to Detroit despite solid fourth-quarter defense

Just like they've done all season, the Indiana Pacers scrapped and clawed until the bitter end on Friday night. This time, however, they came up just short.

Despite holding the Pistons to just one field goal over the final nine minutes of regulation, the Pacers (16-13) fell to Detroit (16-13) on Friday night at Bankers Life Fieldhouse, 104-98.

Coupled with Wednesday's loss to Oklahoma City, the Pacers dropped the final two games of a season-long, six-game home-stand after winning the first four.

"I said after the game, we've got to stay confident, stay positive, stay aggressive," Victor Oladipo, who scored a game-high 26 points, said after the loss. "Because at the end of the day, we've been in that position before. When we've won, everybody's excited, everybody's happy.

"Now it didn't turn out the way we wanted, but we learn from it, we move on, and we get ready for Sunday (in Brooklyn)."

After trailing by as many as 16 points in the fourth quarter, the Pacers charged back, trimming the deficit to 100-97 on Myles Turner's bucket with 2:58 remaining.

Thaddeus Young hit one of two free throws with 1:34 left to make it a two-point game. Then, after Reggie Jackson missed a jumper, the Pacers had a chance to take the lead when Oladipo drove and found Lance Stephenson open in the corner.

Stephenson couldn't get the shot to fall. Turner corralled the offensive rebound to give the Pacers a second chance, but wound up missing from the right wing after a timeout.

"That's a shot I work, a shot I shoot with confidence," Turner said. "I think I flicked it instead of holding my release. It's one that hurts. I love that moment, I live for that moment, to be the guy to take that last shot."

Jackson came up with the rebound and then knocked down both foul shots to give Detroit a four-point lead with 18.1 seconds remaining.

Andre Drummond blocked Oladipo on the next possession to seal the win for the Pistons over their Central Division rivals.

The Pacers got off to a sluggish start, opening the game 1-for-7 from the field and falling into an early 10-4 hole. They righted the ship with a 7-0 run to take a brief lead, but Detroit outscored Indiana 17-8 the rest of the quarter.

Domantas Sabonis gave Indiana a nice spark off the bench in the second quarter. The reserve center scored eight straight points for the Pacers, capping off the sequence with a thunderous dunk on Pistons big man Eric Moreland after a behind-the-back dish from Stephenson.

Sabonis' strong play sparked a Pacers rally, as the Blue & Gold methodically chipped away at the Pistons' lead, trimming a 14-point deficit down and eventually retaking the lead on Oladipo's 3-pointer with 1:26 remaining in the first half. Detroit moved back in front on Reggie Bullock's corner three with 11.1 seconds left, but Oladipo sank another triple with 0.3 seconds left that gave the hosts a 54-52 advantage at halftime.

Detroit, however, opened the second half with a 7-0 run to move back in front. The Pacers tied the game at 59 on Darren Collison's 3-pointer with 10:01 left in the third quarter, but the Pistons moved back in front on Bullock's layup a minute later and remained in front for the rest of the frame.

Detroit closed the third quarter on a 13-4 run and took an 86-74 lead into the final period.

"Today for whatever reason, we didn't have the start that we needed (in the third quarter) to really step on them," Collison said. "We've got to be better. No excuses."

The visitors added to their lead in the opening half of the fourth quarter, pushing the margin to 16 points with 9:03 remaining before the Pacers began their final rally.

The Pacers scored nine unanswered points from the free throw line to trim the deficit to 95-88, holding Detroit scoreless for over four minutes. Two free throws by Bullock temporarily stopped the bleeding for the Pistons, but a Young jumper and an Oladipo 3-pointer on the next two Pacers possessions made it 97-93 with 4:07 to play.

Oladipo led all scorers with 26 points, eight rebounds, and four assists. The former Indiana University All-American went just 8-for-22 from the field, though he was 5-for-12 from 3-point range.

Turner added 24 points on 8-of-14 shooting. Young (12 points and eight rebounds), Sabonis (11 points and seven boards), and Collison (10 points and five assists) also scored in double figures, while Stephenson chipped in nine points, eight rebounds, and five assists off the bench.

Drummond led the Pistons with 23 points on 9-of-13 shooting, 13 rebounds (six offensive), and three blocks. Bullock chipped in 15 points in the win.

It was the second road victory in as many nights for Detroit, who won in Atlanta on Thursday. Prior to that, the Pistons had dropped seven straight contests.

The Pacers now briefly hit the road, heading to Brooklyn to face the Nets on Sunday before returning to The Fieldhouse to host the Boston Celtics on Monday night.
