Sheridan breaks ground on flooding, drainage project

The REPORTER

Officials representing Hamilton County and the Town of Sheridan broke ground Monday on a project designed to ease massive flooding for residents in that area. Heavy rains caused a 100-year flood in Sheridan back in 2011, affecting dozens of homes and closing numerous roads, a problem that officials described as becoming increasingly insurmountable over the years.

“Sheridan is built in a low part of the county,” says David Kinkead, Sheridan Town Council president. “I don’t know what has changed, but the flooding has continually gotten worse.”

Sheridan reached out to the Hamilton County Surveyor’s Office and Drainage Board for help in solving the problem. A study of the Symons and Krause Watershed, which serves more than 40 percent of the residents in Sheridan, showed an outdated and

Suspect in Noblesville school shooting makes court appearance

By ELIZABETH CHOI
WISH-TV | wistv.com

David Moore, the 13-year-old Noblesville West Middle School student identified by the Hamilton County Prosecutor as the accused shooter made his first court appearance Monday morning.

The hearing took place in the Hamilton County Government and Judicial Center in Noblesville and lasted approximately 20 minutes.

Escorted into the courtroom by Hamilton County Sheriff Deputies, his parents and his attorney; Moore was described as quiet and shy.

The hearing was open to the public, but on a limited basis. Court officials would only permit 56 people in the public gallery and did not allow into the courtroom any clothing or signs in support of or against Moore.

Hamilton County Prosecutor Lee Buckingham announced Moore will not be tried as an adult because of his age and the fact the shootings were not deadly.

Accused of entering a classroom with two handguns and shooting a classmate and teacher, Moore could face incarceration, probation, home monitoring and other punishments.

Investigators have not indicated how Moore obtained the guns or his motive behind the shooting.

Moore’s attorney stated they will await the outcome of the investigation before issuing a statement; however, told the court magistrate in today’s hearing that they neither admit nor deny the charges.

Moore’s next hearing has been set for June 25 and 26.

Elimination of portable classrooms, potential referendum top agenda . . . Noblesville Schools announces safety enhancements

The REPORTER

Noblesville Schools announced several initial school safety enhancements at its School Board meeting Tuesday evening.

The initial recommendations are the direct result of a continuous improvement safety review the district was pursuing prior to the May 25 shooting at West Middle School. They are based on analysis by the district’s Safe Schools Committee which includes parent, staff and law enforcement input.

While specific details of safety plans cannot be shared publicly as it would increase risk, in general the initial recommendations include:

- Elimination of all portable classrooms
- Additional school resource officers
- Enhanced facility structures

Noblesville streets affected by Long Term Control Plan to be milled, repaved after construction ends

The REPORTER

Noblesville Utilities is nearing the end of Long Term Control Plan Phase IV work to make upgrades to northern Old Town storm sewer systems. Currently, storm pipe is being installed on Clinton Street and brick installation has started on Logan Street.

Phase IV construction began in August 2017. The main purpose of this project is to separate the combination sewers so stormwater is sent to the receiving stream of White River and the sanitary sewer to the Wastewater Treatment Plant.

“Prior to this project, stormwater and sewage both ran to the treatment plant, which causes additional workload to the undersized infrastructure. A plan was developed that included the installation of a 48-inch mainline storm sewer that discharges into a new outlet ditch. On Monday, construction began on a retention pond to catch the overflow on land purchased by Hamilton County.

“The benefit for land-owners once fully completed will be a storm system that has five times the capacity of the existing infrastructure, all the while slowing water within the retention basin to safely discharge it downstream,” says Joe Miller, Banning Engineering project manager.

Even more remarkable is the fact that a large portion of the project is being funded by a 40-year, $2,205,265 loan from the United States Department of Agriculture Rural Development (USDA RD). USDA's Michael Dora explained the loan is the first of its kind in the nation. The Town of Sheridan plans to pay back the low-interest loan with a newly implemented storm water capacity fee.

“Residents may not be too excited about the project right now because of construction,” says Kinkead. “But I would expect that to change the first time it rains and their basements don't fill up with water.”

“The plan is an excellent example of how working together, municipalities can complete projects and fund them in innovative ways,” says Miller. “A project of this magnitude typically takes 20 years to complete and this happened in less than five. It's pretty impressive the amount of people who have sweat equity in this project.”

SAFETY

- Increased facility lockdown tools
- Additional surveillance equipment
- Classroom barricading products
- School parking lot access control
- Additional technology for increased safety communications
- Additional counseling staff and mental health supports

"We are pleased that we are able to address community concerns by eliminating portable classrooms and adding safety enhancements to our already comprehensive list of safety measures," said Dr. Beth Niedermeyer, superintendent of Noblesville Schools. "Beginning in the 2018-19 school year, Noblesville Schools will have a trained police officer in every school. We are so appreciative of the Noblesville Police Department for agreeing to share the cost of additional school resource officers."

Funding is already in place for some of the initial safety enhancements the district is recommending. Noblesville Schools is also exploring other funding options through state and federal resources and may ask the community to support a referendum this November to provide additional funding for safety initiatives and teacher compensation.

The district will host several initiatives this summer as it continues to evaluate further ways to strengthen safety. A Community Safety Summit and a Safety Panel with law enforcement will be scheduled soon.

"Safety in today's world is a complex issue and there are no easy answers," said Dr. Niedermeyer. "We are committed to working together with law enforcement, community leaders, parents and the overall community to best protect students. We will be purposeful in our approach to safety enhancements and will make decisions based on what experts recommend."

The district is already considered a leader in school safety thanks to its adoption nine years ago of the Alert, Lockdown, Inform, Counter, Evacuate (ALICE) system and its active partnerships with law enforcement, including its network of school resource officers.

For more information on Noblesville Schools' approach to safety, please reference this video from the March 2018 public safety forum.

plant – especially in times of flooding or high rainfall. The project will improve drainage during heavy downpours as well," Noblesville Utilities Director Ray Thompson said.

When Phase IV work was stopped in the winter, all roads that had been disturbed were temporarily filled with either asphalt or stone. Construction resumed in April on the installation of three storm sewers on 12th Street running east at Clinton, Logan and Conner streets and another storm sewer between Monument and Grant streets down 12th Street. Restoral of sidewalks and work on the rain gardens at 10th and Wayne streets will be completed within a few weeks.

In May, Noblesville announced its annual street rehabilitation project to address the most necessary infrastructure needs within the city. The city has budgeted $2.6 million to address road and alley repaving and repair work to sidewalks and ramps. That project did not include any roads within the LTCP project's scope. All roads affected from the sewer system project that have not been permanently repaired will be milled and repaved at the same time this summer. Thompson said milling will begin on June 18 – after all underground work is completed – and weather permitting, repaving will start June 25 and be completed in July.

"We appreciate the understanding and patience that residents living nearby have had throughout this project," said Thompson. "In addition to a better storm sewer system, the affected roads will be improved as well. Our plan is to pave more roadway than was in the original project scope."

Due to the number of streets work is being done on, the project was expected to be completed by October but is ahead of schedule.

Intermittent closures on Interstate 69 for bridge work

As Milestone Construction closes Brooks School Road over Interstate 69 to add a sidewalk east of the bridge, there will be overnight intermittent closures for 20 minutes on I-69 while crews set up bridge beams.

All northbound and southbound lanes will be closed intermittently for 20 minutes on I-69 near the bridge construction between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. on June 14 and June 15, weather permitting.

Crews have closed the Brooks School Road bridge over I-69 between 126th and 136th streets. It is expected to reopen back to traffic in early August.

The anticipated completion date of these projects is Aug. 8, weather permitting.

Reader wants schools to have airport security

Dear Editor:

We offer up prayers, we speak our gratitude of what might have happened but did not due to the heroism of the science teacher. We offer thanks to all first responders, those who donated food, and shake our heads at what happened at Noblesville West Middle School.

Yet, we do nothing to make our students and their schools safe havens. This country wastes so much money in so many ways.

America needs to put its money where its mouth is. We do not need more of the sorry and condolence talk.

We need action. I truly believe that corporate partners, NRA and rich folks in this country would help fund the purchase and installation of airport-like security devices in every school in America. In addition, I believe regular, tax paying Americans could do crowd source funding to help pay for this type of school security. And, if politicians care about this issue as much as they say, then they could give up some of their perks and travel for a while.

As a taxpayer, I would much rather pay for safe schools than for trade missions and other nonessential travel for politicians and government staff.

It is pretty well proven that current school security and resource officers are ineffective.

Get moving America! Quit the verbiage. Act now!

Attorney General Hill supports safer interactions between civilians, police

The REPORTER

Attorney General Curtis Hill announced Monday he will work with the Indianapolis Fraternal Order of Police (Lodge #86) to build a bridge between police officers and the public.

In May, the Indianapolis FOP launched a multifaceted initiative called #ThinkBigger aimed at educating the public about best practices for interacting with law enforcement. As part of its outreach mission, the Indianapolis FOP has pledged to contribute up to $25,000 to public education and awareness about “do’s and don’ts” during encounters such as traffic stops. The Indiana State FOP has endorsed the plan and agreed to contribute an additional $25,000.

“Both police and civilians are accountable for their behavior at these times when tensions are high,” Hill said. “Beyond expecting all involved to follow the law, we must do everything possible to prepare individuals to make smart choices at these moments. By exercising a modicum of judgment and self-control, people can help prevent routine encounters from escalating into more serious incidents.”

Among other proactive measures, the FOP plans to work with Indiana’s executive and legislative branches to produce new training protocols administered by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. The goal would be to teach motorists how to conduct themselves during possible police interactions.

Motivated by recent tragic events involving police-action shootings, the FOP aims to reduce the numbers of injuries and deaths associated with police incidents. Anyone with reason to suspect police misconduct should promptly report their suspicions at appropriate times and secure locations, away from confrontations that could prove dangerous to community members. When police are responding to emergency situations, individuals are always best-advised to cooperate with officers at the scene.

By advocating such commonsense behavior, the FOP potentially could save lives, Hill said.

“Citizens have every right to file complaints, to protest and to pursue legal actions,” Hill said. “But for everyone’s safety, Hoosiers should avoid any sort of confrontation, interference or resistance when police are working to arrest, detain or question someone.”

Hill anticipates further discussions with FOP officials about helping facilitate meaningful dialogue and productive programs throughout Indiana.

Cole Harris and Nick Dentino both had 74s, putting them in a seven-way tie for 10th place.

"Our goal every day is just to come out here and beat Prairie View," said Greyhounds coach Chard Reid. "We played pretty well today. We left a few shots on the course, especially late in the round. But we like our position right now and looking forward to a fun day tomorrow, for sure."

Zionsville is in third place with a score of 304. Carmel, Center Grove and Zionsville will all play in the same group for today's second round; they will go off the first tee between 9:57 and 10:33 a.m.

HEIGHTS BASKETBALL STAR SIGNS WITH INDIANA TECH

Lexi Branham, Hamilton Heights’ senior, has signed a letter of intent to play basketball for the Indiana Tech Warriors in Fort Wayne, Indiana, this fall. Indiana Tech is a comprehensive, private, not-for-profit university founded in 1930. Most Tech teams participate in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference (WHAC). She is the daughter of Danny and Tina Branham.

“I really enjoyed the girls on the team, the coaching staff and the head of the exercise science department,” said Lexi Branham, of her visit to the Indiana Tech campus. Branham, who has been passionate about playing basketball from the time she could pick up a ball, wasn’t ready to give up her game at the end of her senior year. “The opportunity to be a part of the Warriors team while pursuing a degree in exercise science is a dream come true,” she added. From there she plans to attend graduate school to study physical therapy with the goal of working as a physical therapist in sports medicine or at a veteran’s facility.

Branham, a four-year member of the Lady Huskies Basketball team, made valuable contributions as a point guard during her tenure. She received an All-Conference Honorable Mention for two years and named a High School All American from the National Strength and Training Association.

“I started playing basketball at around age four,” Branham explained. “I played on school, inhouse, and travel teams. I joined the Indiana Flight’s AAU team with Mike Duke. My freshman year in high school, I spent a lot of time in the gym, lifted weights and successfully recovered from two back to back ACL surgeries to get back in the game as soon as possible.”

Branham credits all her coaches throughout her playing career as having a major influence in the player and person she has become. It was through their support, guidance, practices, training and rehabilitation that helped her be in the position to play at the college level. “Mostly, she continued, “it has been my dad, who was my coach for many years, and taught me to be the strong competitor I am today.”

"Lexi has been such a joy to watch play basketball ever since she was in kindergarten and attended the basketball camps way back when I coached girls’ basketball,” said Hamilton Heights Athletic Director Kurt Ogden. “You could tell, even at that early of an age, that she was going to be a great athlete. But she's not just a great athlete...she's a great kid too. We're going to miss having her involved with our basketball program because of the leadership she has provided the past four years. We wish her the best as she continues her career at Indiana Tech.”

“I could not be more proud of a student athlete than I am of Lexi Branham,” said Coach Keegan Cherry, Hamilton Heights Varsity Girls Basketball. “Lexi is the face of courage, hard work and dedication. Indiana Tech is getting one of our finest. Lexi's determination combined with her mental toughness through injury has truly paid off. It has been a tremendous honor to coach Lexi and I'm confident she will excel at Indiana Tech both in the classroom and on the court - Lexi is a winner!”

Branham is a member of Student Government (president of the student body), National Honor Society, Key Club, Student Athletic Advisory Committee, and volunteer and board member of the Hamilton County Harvest Food Bank.
