Cicero announces M/I Homes to build new housing community

The REPORTER
The Town of Cicero and M/I Homes has announced the home builders' commitment to develop and build a brand new community, Tamarack, which will be a mixed use development just west of downtown Cicero off of 236th Street. Designed to be connected with nature, Tamarack is 112 acres set against a backdrop of majestic trees, natural wildlife and beautiful views within minutes from Morse Reservoir.
"The Town Council welcomes M/I Homes to the community and is proud to have them as partners in the continued community and economic development of Cicero. I continue to hear from visitors about what a great community we have and many inquire about housing, which our inventory has limited. Tamarack will help to fill that void with the addition of these beautiful family homes," stated Town Council President Rusty Miller.
Tamarack will include a wide variety of exceptionally designed 3-4 bedroom ranch and two story designs with exterior elevations representing craftsman, south-

County residents voice opinions on White River image revamp

By JENNY DREASLER
WISH-TV | wishtv.com
Plans are underway to breathe new life into the White River. Indianapolis city officials have been trying for nearly a decade to revamp the image of the river.
Wednesday, residents had a chance to voice their opinion on what they would like to see changed at the first of three public open houses to discuss the future of the White River.
The White River Vision Plan is a community driven initiative that aims to enhance 58 miles of the White River in Marion and Hamilton counties.
"We want to hear what's important to them," said Emily Mack, the Director of the Department of Metropolitan Development with the City of Indianapolis. "What do they really value? What do they want to see happen? What is important to them to see preserved and enhanced. But also, what do they want to see added? What do they see not only for themselves but also for future generations?"

HSE approves new principal at Riverside, with some controversy

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

The Hamilton Southeastern (HSE) School Board approved a new principal for Riverside Intermediate School, over the objections of the local teacher's union. Dana Kaminski has now been officially named to the principal's post. The concerns were not about the person named, but about the process used by administrators to select the new principal.

Mary Carson, speaking for the Hamilton Southeastern Education Association, said teachers were not involved in the selection process for the Riverside Intermediate principal, which the association says is a departure from past practice. Carson argued that a local teacher in their association says "having teachers on the selection committee would help inform the decision and win the trust of teaching peers." Carson told the board the association asks the board and administration for a return to the past practice in conducting principal interviews.

The board voted to select Kaminski on a tally of 4-1. Board member Michelle Fullhart voted no, and two board members abstained from voting.
Kaminski will replace the previous Riverside Intermediate principal, Danielle Chastain.

WHITE RIVER

inside Noblesville City Hall Wednesday night. "I wouldn't mind if we had a restaurant or some sort of entertainment venue along the river. I wouldn't want it to be overdone," Kitty O'Doherty explained. "I can just take a path from my neighborhood down to the river. So, I'm just kind of curious what ideas are planned, because I think some progress is really good. But, I'm concerned about environmentally. The path I go down to the river is beautiful and scenic, and people fish. So, I just want to see what it's about."

While some residents like O'Doherty are open to changes, others like Jim Flanders are not so sure. Flanders farms nearly eight miles along the river and says bringing more people to the area could have dangerous consequences. "I think we take pretty good care of it," said Flanders. "In developed areas like Carmel, they can do what they need to do with it. But, it's not safe to have things along our property. I've almost ran over folks out in our field."

The project includes three phases and will study roughly one mile on either side of the 58 mile stretch of water. Phase one is called the 'discovery' phase, which is currently underway. This phase looks to analyze the area, determine the water quality and identify current land ownership along the river.

The second 'envision' phase, taking place from July 2018 to December 2018, will pinpoint areas for potential development. The third 'action' phase will look at the legality of adding attractions to the area. That portion of the project will go from December 2018 to April 2019. "People always say, 'Well we don't have oceans and we don't have mountains,'" explained Mack. "They kind of feel sorry for us, right? I always say but we have this incredible resource. We have this wonderful waterway that runs right through our county. Let's capture that!"

Kids can get a fun first look at 4-H

The REPORTER

Children ages 5-12 who are interested in 4-H can get a fun, hands-on sampling of the Hamilton County 4-H Fair and Program at 4-H Jam.

The event takes place from 9 to 10:30 a.m. on Monday, July 23 at the Hamilton County 4-H Fairgrounds. Through 4-H county fair competitions, clubs and community outreach, the Hamilton County 4-H program equips youth with skills related to agriculture, public health, communication and more.

At 4-H Jam, children will learn about the 4-H pledge, explore animal barns, meet a member of the Queen's Court, complete a take-home craft and experience the 4-H exhibit judging process, receiving a ribbon of their own.

Anna Delph is a 4-H alumnus and Hamilton County 4-H Intern. "This hands-on program is a great opportunity for youth to experience what 4-H is all about up close, and for curious parents to pique their child's interest in the program," Delph said.

The event is free of charge and open to 30 participants on a first-come-first-serve basis. The registration deadline is Thursday, July 19. Parents can register their child on the Purdue Extension Hamilton County website at this link.

The Hamilton County 4-H Fair is organized and sponsored by the Hamilton County 4-H Council, Inc. and Purdue Extension Hamilton County. For more information on the 4-H Fair or the Purdue Extension Service, contact Purdue Extension Hamilton County at (317) 776-0854 or visit extension.purdue.edu/hamilton.

Questions to ask your financial advisor

You should always be able to ask as many questions as you'd like when working with your financial advisor. So, before you have your annual review, think carefully about what you'd like to ask. Here are a few suggestions:

Are my goals still realistic? When you first began working with your financial advisor, you may well have articulated a number of financial goals. For example, you might have said that you wanted to pay for most of your children's college educations, or that you wanted to retire at a certain age, or that you wanted to travel for two months each year during your retirement. In fact, you could have many different goals for which you're saving and investing. When you meet with your financial advisor, you'll certainly want to ask if you're still on track toward meeting these goals. If you are, you can continue with the financial strategies you've been following; but if you aren't, you may need to adjust them.

Am I taking on too much – or too little – risk? The financial markets always fluctuate, and these movements will affect the value of your investment portfolio. If you watch the markets closely every day and track their impact on your investments, you may find yourself fretting considerably over your investments' value and wondering if you are taking on too much investment risk for your comfort level. Conversely, if you think that during an extended period of market gains your own portfolio appears to be lagging, you might feel that you should be investing more aggressively, which entails greater risk. In any case, it's important that you know your own risk tolerance and use it as a guideline for making investment choices – so it's definitely an issue to discuss with your financial advisor.

COREY SYLVESTER

How will changes in my life affect my investment strategy? Your life is not static. Over time, you may experience any number of major events, such as marriage, children, new jobs and so on. When you meet with your financial advisor, you will want to discuss these types of changes, because they can affect your long-term goals and, consequently, your investment decisions.

How are external forces affecting my investment portfolio? Generally speaking, you will want to create an investment strategy that's based on your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon. And, as mentioned above, you may need to adjust your strategy based on changes in your life. But should you also make changes based on outside forces, such as interest rate movements, political events, new legislation or news affecting industries in which you have invested substantially? Try not to make long-term investment decisions based on short-term news. Yet, talk with your financial advisor to make sure your investment portfolio is not out of alignment with relevant external factors.

By making these and other inquiries, you can help yourself stay informed on your overall investment picture and what moves, if any, you should make to keep advancing toward your goals. A financial advisor is there to provide you with valuable expertise – so take full advantage of it.

New state law bans practice of eyeball tattoos

By EMILY KINZER
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

For those who want to get an eyeball tattoo, they will now have to go somewhere other than Indiana. Senate Bill 158, the law that bans eyeball tattoos, or scleral tattooing, took effect on July 1. Republican State Senator John Ruckelshaus wrote the legislation and said he wants to keep the practice out of Indiana. Ruckelshaus said he does not know of any cases in the state so this legislation will serve as a precautionary method. Amanda Gosch is an optometrist at Indiana University Health and said scleral tattooing is extremely dangerous. "Some of the complications that you may read about are of course pain and redness, but light sensitivity, loss of vision, blindness and even loss of the eye itself," Gosch said. She said the same dye used to tattoo skin is the same dye that is injected in the eye. There are different metals in those dyes like nickel, copper and iron.

"There's actually no evidence out there, scientifically or medically to know what these dyes, tattoo dyes do long term so there are definitely serious complications that can happen down the road. This procedure is done by tattoo artists or non-medical professionals, so when you have people who are doing this procedure that are not trained medically there are some serious complications that can happen," she added. Violators of the law can now face up to a $10,000 fine.

And immediately the spirit driveth him into the wilderness.

Summer tradition at Forest Park...

Enchanted Forest Meet begins today

By RICHIE HALL

One of the Noblesville Swim Club's summer traditions begins today: The Enchanted Forest Swim Meet.

The meet begins at noon today at the Forest Park Aquatic Center and runs through Sunday. A total of 800 swimmers will compete in the event, representing 26 teams as well as some unattached athletes.

"It does seem to be really popular," said Noblesville Swim Club vice president Chris Berger, who is serving as the meet director. "We got Ohio swimmers, we got swimmers from Illinois."

The vast majority of teams are from Indiana, with some unattached swimmers coming from Illinois - one of those is a swimmer from Europe. Also on the list is Pikes Peak Athletics from Colorado. Pickering Swim Club, a team from the Toronto suburb, will make the trip from Ontario and across the Canadian border to compete in the meet again. Pickering participated in the meet in 2014.

"We're full every year," said Berger.

The first events of the meet will be the 400 individual medley and the 400 freestyle, in age divisions of 13-14 and Open (generally age 15 and up). Friday evening events begin at 5 p.m., with the 200 free and 200 individual medley for the age divisions of 11-12 and 10-and-under, followed by the Open 1500 free.

Tickets for spectators are $6 for one day, $10 for a two-day pass, and $15 for the entire event. Children ages 12 and under are admitted free. Credit cards are accepted, as is cash.

A list of other events at the meet, along with all competing teams, now follows.
