Fishers Police Chief arrested for driving while intoxicated

WISH-TV | wistv.com

The mayor of Fishers has released a statement after the apparent arrest of the Fishers police chief overnight.

According to Mayor Scott Fadness, Fishers Police Chief Mitch Thompson, 48, informed officials that he was arrested for driving while intoxicated after being involved in a three-car personal injury crash just before 11 p.m. in the 9500 block of Keystone Avenue.

A police report for the incident stated that Thompson rear-ended a car, causing it to strike a third vehicle.

Fadness has placed Thompson on paid administrative leave pending an investigation. Assistant Police Chief Ed Gebhart will assume Thompson's role while the investigation is conducted.

Officials with the Indianapolis Metropolitan Police Department are investigating the crash.

Clauson legacy lives on in Noblesville

By STU CLAMPITT
ReadTheReporter.com

A Hamilton County business owner and race fan has found a way to both give something back to the sport he loves and to help honor the memory of his friend Bryan Clauson. Joe Murello, who lives in Carmel and will soon run two Noblesville businesses, is sponsoring a local driver at the inaugural Driven2SaveLives BC39 in memory of Clauson.

Murello said he met Clauson because he felt it was important to support a young driver from Noblesville.

"I was involved with Bryan's cars in Indianapolis through my association with Jonathan Byrd and the Byrd restaurant and hospitality group," Murello told The Reporter. "I got to know Bryan. He passed right after we sponsored him in Indianapolis."

Murello said he only played a small part in sponsoring Clauson, but came to admire him deeply.

"Bryan's major backing came from Jonathan Byrd Hospitality and Restaurant group," Murello said. "Ginny, Jonathan and David Byrd took me along and I started to get to know Bryan and started to admire him not only as a driver but as a young man."

Murello, a former drag racer, said he considers himself as a race fan more than anything else.

"I started sponsorship at a small, local 1/5-mile track mostly known for figure-8 racing," Murello said. "Then the Brickyard with Phil Parsons after I heard about Josh Wise fundraising efforts. Gee, seems to be a common theme going that I never realized!"

In 2015 Murello got involved with sponsorship though Byrd Hospitality Group.

Several thoughts from around Hamilton County

Candidates are slow in filing for school board seats in this fall's election. The latest and only candidate filing on Thursday was Dan Degnan, incumbent Westfield Washington board member who will seek re-election on Nov. 6. Four other candidates filed earlier in the week including Arnett Cooper at Hamilton Heights, Frank Whelan at Southeastern and Layla Spanenberg and Michael Kerschner at Carmel. The filing period runs until noon on Friday, Aug. 24.

Hamilton County Republicans have set Sept. 12 as the date for their annual fall dinner. It will be held at the 502 Event Center in Carmel with a 6 p.m. reception followed by dinner at 7. The speaker and other details will be announced later.

The Hamilton County Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) will begin classes for interested persons on Sept. 11. CERT trains civilians for assisting in cases of community emergencies. For enrolling in classes or to get further information citizens may email Jon Baldwin at jon.baldwin@hamiltoncounty.in.gov.

Dan Pajwer, a high school senior from Carmel, was elected governor of Boys State last month. The annual American Legion event, held this year in Angola, provides a week's intensive training in Indiana's political system with participants campaigning and electing public officials from governor to township trustee. About 500 high school students participated, with some then attending Boys Nation in Washington, D.C.

The County Health Department is spraying for mosquitoes carrying the West Nile Virus. Mosquitoes testing positive for the virus have been found at several locations in the county. Two areas being sprayed in Noblesville include Dillon Park and a neighborhood around 2nd and Washington streets. Thus far there have been no cases locally of humans being infected.

Noblesville BASH sets attendance records

The REPORTER

Approximately 8,000 people attended the 2018 Noblesville Schools Back to School BASH on Friday at Federal Hill Commons. It was the highest attendance ever for the BASH and for an event at Federal Hill Commons.

The event featured almost 80 community booths, food vendors, NHS athletic stations, live music, face painting, a photo booth, video games, art projects to show support for West Middle School, dunk tanks, a school safety booth, a Miller Mall booth to purchase Noblesville spirit items and lots of free giveaways.

"This event is my favorite," said Mar-nie Cooke, director of marketing and communications at Noblesville Schools. "I love seeing how much fun people have connecting with friends and taking in all the opportunities Noblesville offers. I appreciate the great support we have from both being from Noblesville just seemed right,” Murello said. “In 2016, the 100th Indy 500 and two drivers in Dale Coyne cars sponsored again by the same sponsor group as before – so I was sure in for that! Conor Daly actually led several laps of the Indy Grand Prix and Bryan led the 100th lap of the 100th Indy 500.”

On August 7, 2016, Bryan Clauson died in a racing accident while attempting to race 200 races in one season.

After that, Murello said he was finished with racing.

“Before the 2017 Brickyard 400 and Lily Diabetes 250 Ryan Sieg Racing Contacted me about their Xfinity car and I said no,” Murello told The Reporter.

Murello explained to Sieg Racing his connection to Clauson. They told Murello they also wanted to honor Clauson and if Murello was a sponsor on their car, Clauson’s BC logo would be included.

Thus, Murello helped sponsor them last year.

Which of course brings us to 2018.

When asked how his sponsorship efforts for the BC39 began, Murello said, “Charlie Langenstein contacted me. He knew my history with racing and Bryan was very dear to me. I have an office in Noblesville that is close to a restaurant Bryan used to eat at where I used to see him and his fiancée, Lauren. It was a pleasure to get to help in a very small way to sponsor him in Indianapolis in 2015 and 2016.”

Murello said he has known Langenstein for several years.

“He is involved in all forms of racing, and his son, Austin, is now racing dirt cars,” Murello said. “Charlie wants his son to race in the first commemorative race for Bryan, the BC29 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Austin is an up-and-coming dirt track racer, which is where Bryan started.”

Indianapolis Motor Speedway, USAC pay tribute to Bryan Clauson

WISH-TV | wishtv.com

The racing capital of the world just pushed the boundaries in motorsports.

Indianapolis Motor Speedway will hold a USAC race the Wednesday and Thursday of the Brickyard 400 this fall, Sept. 5-6.

The cool thing is it will draw not just the great USAC drivers, but it's going to draw people like Rick Stenhouse and Kyle Larson and there are other NASCAR drivers you are talking about. IndyCar drivers, many of them haven't been in a midget in their lives are interested," said IMS President Doug Boles.

A quarter-mile dirt racetrack sits inside Turn 3 at the speedway and will play host to the first Driven2SaveLives BC39. The event will honor Bryan Clauson, a USAC champion and Indy 500 starter who lost his life in a USAC national midget race in 2016.

"He wanted to bridge that gap that had been created, which went short-track America and went this place. To see all of this come to fruition on the racing side of it is incredible," said Tim Clauson, Bryan's father.

The dirt track will be the ultimate destination for USAC drivers come the week of the Brickyard. While they are going to be competing against each other for the checkered flag, each and every driver understands the legacy Bryan Clauson left behind on the sport.

"Obviously everybody knows Bryan was one of the best when it comes to a race car driver, period. On the track speaks for itself, but I think off the track he really cared about everybody. He wanted people to do well. If he didn't win, he was excited for people and his friends who won. That's something that I've always struggled with and I think he really helped me with," said NASCAR driver Ricky Stenhouse Jr.

"Bryan loved the sport, Bryan loved the Speedway but he loved the fans more. Just being able to celebrate him at the first of the Speedway is pretty important," Boles said.

Murello's new restaurant

In addition to his Noblesville business and his BC39 sponsorship, Murello is also opening a new restaurant in the next few weeks.

Giuseppe's Italian Market, 1741 Hazel Dell Crossing, Suite 500, Noblesville, will open in August. The restaurant will feature 100 percent Italian food and is a business focused primarily on carry-out service.

Murello, who lives in Carmel, says the new restaurant is only three minutes from his home. "It is a unique area. Basically three cities come together at one intersection," Murello said.

The Driven2SaveLives BC39 will take place the Wednesday and Thursday before the Brickyard 400, Sept. 5 and 6. Langenstein's car for that event is being built by former Indy 500 drive Billy Boat.

Last chance to tour Heights

The REPORTER

Local storm-chaser Carl Willoughby graduated from Hamilton Heights High School in 1976, when the current middle school building was the home of the high school. On June 2, he and some of his classmates walked through their school for what they believed would be the last time. Thanks to support from Heights administration and an outpouring of interest from other alumni, there will be one last chance for Heights graduates to tour their old school before the building is repurposed.

The current middle school, 420 W. North St., Arcadia, will soon be partially torn down, except for the gyms, offices and some classroom areas.

As previously reported in our pages, Willoughby and some of his friends talk on a Facebook livestream they call Nightcast Live (NCL), which Willoughby organizes. That is where they came up with the idea to walk through their old high school.

“We had fun,” Willoughby said when asked about the June tour. “There were a few of us who were starting to shed some tears because Heights means a lot to us. When we were in school the teachers believed in their students and made it fun to go to school.”

Sept. 29, 2018 will be your last chance to tour the facility in its current state.

According to Willoughby, this “will be the last tour of the old Hamilton Heights High School.” He called it “one last time to walk down memory lane. We will be meeting at 2 p.m. There will be an alumni group picture taken in the old gym. The tour will cover all parts of the school.”

If you want to attend, you can contact Willoughby on Facebook at facebook.com/carl.willoughby.52.

We try not to deal in rumors, but this one is too good not to share. Local powers that be are said to be planning to relocate the Chief Straw monument to the center of the new roundabout on State Road 37 at Strawtown Avenue. The monument is located on private property along

White River at Strawtown. Chief Straw was the legendary Delaware chief who settled his people in the area about 1797. He was friendly with the first settlers who came in 1819, and the town was named for him. But, there is no truth to the rumor of putting his monument in the roundabout. At least not yet.

The house that love built

It was 1952 when my parents moved into their house on North 12th Street. It was September 7, 1955 when the Welfare Department brought me to their house. I was taught about love and life in that home. 62 years of memories are tucked into that little two bedroom house.

It was Sunday, July 22, 2018 when we moved my mother to assisted living. It's been a hard week.

Finding a new normal is tough for anyone at any time, but when you are 92, it takes a bit longer to find any sense of normal in new surroundings.

Mom is still a pretty sharp cookie and ever so sweet. She pushes herself in physical and occupational therapy.

I have seen the things that she struggles with, things that I take for granted. So many abilities are worn thin, by the aging process. The process can be so cruel.

Tying laces on tennis shoes. Hearing conversations. Reaching into the bottom shelf of the refrigerator.

At times her thoughts get tangled and processing those takes more time.

And yet, my mom gets up every morning with the attitude that she is going to enjoy the people and the day to the best of her ability.

It's not easy.

Losing one's independence. Leaving the home where so many memories were made.

Even the sounds of the antique clock would strike my heart as I packed her things. It's chiming seemed to echo a loneliness.

Sights that were seen at every visit are now tucked away. Yarn for her crocheted sock dolls. Half a stick of gum lying on the end table. A Blair clothes catalogue with pages dog-eared and items marked for me to order for her. She has always been a woman who was fashion conscious.

I, now, take nothing for granted, when it comes to my mom.

I call several times a day and I visit her almost every day. It just seems to be never enough.

My heart struggles as I see her physically struggle.

I want to make this season of her life as enjoyable and safe as possible. The decision to move her to an assisted living residence was one of the most difficult decisions of my life.

I went back to the house for a few more things to take to her.

As I wiped tears, I felt the memories trickle down my cheeks.

I sat on the front porch in the rocking chair where I spent many a Sunday afternoon with my mom.

And I thought ...

This is the house that built me. This is the house where I was loved. This is where my mom made it a home.

And I wipe a few more tears. This is a tough chapter. The words are getting harder to write.

Disregarding a stopped school bus (including on multi-lane undivided roads) can result in a Class A infraction and fines up to $10,000.

“Do I have to stop for that school bus?”

The REPORTER

In Indiana, late July and early August brings hot weather, the State Fair and also the start of a new school year. Every school year, the Indiana State Police receives numerous complaints about school bus stop arm violations from school corporations around the state. The Indiana Department of Education surveys school corporations annually for stop arm violations on one given day, and reports those numbers to the National Association of State Directors for Pupil Transportation Services.

There are just over 16,000 school buses on the road in Indiana, and according to the yearly statistics, as the number of school buses on the road has increased, so has the number of school bus stop arm violations.

The Indiana State Police would like to remind motorists of the Indiana law concerning school buses, flashing lights and stop arms. Remember, when approaching a school bus, from any direction, which is stopped with its flashing red lights activated and its stop arm extended, motorists must stop, even on multiple lane undivided highways.

Motorists who are on a highway that is divided by a barrier or unimproved median (i.e. a concrete or cable barrier or a grass median) are required to stop only if they are traveling the same direction as the school bus. If there is no unimproved median or barrier, then all lanes of a highway, in all directions must stop for a school bus stop arm.

When approaching a school bus, always be prepared to stop and watch for stopped traffic.

Disregarding a school bus stop arm is a serious moving violation and one that school bus drivers are quick to report. Violation of this law is a Class “A” infraction and is punishable by a maximum fine of up to $10,000.

The Indiana State Police is committed to the safety of our children, motorists and highways, and will continue our enforcement and education efforts to ensure that safety. To learn more about national stop arm violation statistics you may access the National Association of State Directors of Pupil Transportation Services web site at nasdpts.org/StopArm/index.html.

Greenhalgh announces candidacy for Delaware Township Trustee

The REPORTER

Dan Greenhalgh, a Fishers resident and member of the Democratic Party, has formally announced his candidacy for Delaware Township Trustee. Delaware Township is one of nine townships in Hamilton County and covers roughly the western half of Fishers.

Greenhalgh took action to enter the race upon learning the seat for township trustee was left uncontested after the Primary Election.

"As a licensed Indiana attorney and an experienced engineer, I have spent my career solving complex problems and continuously improving products and processes," said Greenhalgh. "If elected, I'll use these unique skills and experiences to streamline township government and refocus the township's nearly $1.5 million budget on the township's core purpose – providing assistance to those in need."

Greenhalgh's platform is shown as the acronym RENEW, which stands for Reduce salary of trustee, Expand access to assistance for those in need, Negotiate better contracts for the township, Enhance transparency, and Widen public engagement.

According to Greenhalgh, his platform immediately addresses deficiencies in the current township government relating to fiscal responsibility, accountability, and core purpose.

"I am passionate about these issues, especially the efficient use of taxpayer money," said Greenhalgh. "And it's these unaddressed issues that have motivated me to get involved for the benefit of my community."

Please go to danfortrustee.com to view Greenhalgh's official campaign website, and visit @danfortrustee to follow him on Facebook and Twitter and get the latest campaign information.

The election for Delaware Township Trustee will take place on Nov. 6.

About Dan Greenhalgh

Greenhalgh graduated from the University of Dayton in Dayton, Ohio, with a bachelor's degree in Mechanical Engineering. He also has a law degree from Michigan State University College of Law in East Lansing, Mich. Greenhalgh currently works as an intellectual property attorney with an Indianapolis law firm.

Interstate 69

As part of a $92 million design-build contract, Milestone has added a third lane in each direction to the median, repaired and resurfaced existing pavement, and rehabilitated bridges and drainage structures on 15 miles of I-69 in Hamilton and Madison counties. Construction of an additional auxiliary lane between the 116th Street entrance ramp to I-69 South and the I-69 South Exit 204 ramp to 106th Street will continue through next spring.

I-69 South will be temporarily reduced to two lanes to allow space for the State Road 37 and 116th Street entrance ramps to safely merge while construction continues on the southbound auxiliary lane between the 116th Street and 106th Street ramps.

Questions about this project should be directed to INDOT via email or at 1-855-463-6848.

McCormick's Creek State Park dedicates Centennial Cabin

The REPORTER

Visitors to McCormick's Creek State Park have a new lodging option thanks to the generosity of a family with a 70-year tradition of vacationing there.

The Department of Natural Resources dedicated the Centennial Cabin during a ribbon-cutting ceremony on Thursday that honored the Luetkemeier family.

"This cabin represents 70 years of memories made naturally by the Luetkemeier family," said DNR director Cameron Clark. "But it also represents the importance of partnerships for us."

The 1,400-square-foot, two-story log cabin is surrounded by forest and overlooks McCormick's Cove Nature Preserve. It sleeps eight, features a fully accessible entrance and first floor, and is air-conditioned and heated. The cabin will become available to the public on Labor Day weekend. The public can begin making reservations on Aug. 15 at camp.IN.gov or by calling 866-622-6746.

The cabin was the idea of brothers Jim, Glenn and Maurie Luetkemeier, who together provided much of the funding. The brothers wanted to honor their late parents, Oscar and Louise Luetkemeier, of West Lafayette. Oscar and Louise spent their first vacation as a married couple at the park in 1948. The vacation became an annual tradition spanning four generations.

Luetkemeier family members attended the dedication, traveling from Michigan and North Carolina. Glenn and Maurie addressed the audience of about 200 people, stressing their desire to help other families develop the sort of traditions and memories that they have enjoyed.

"My dad referred to this park as the best kept secret in Indiana," Glenn Luetkemeier said.

An interpretive sign at the cabin will tell the Luetkemeier family story and honor their generosity.

Other contributors included the Friends of McCormick's Creek State Park group and Indiana Hardwood Specialists, who donated material.

The cabin is called Centennial Cabin in recognition of the recent 100th anniversary of Indiana's system of state parks. McCormick's Creek is the state's first park. It opened in 1916.

McCormick's Creek State Park is located at 250 McCormick's Creek Park Road in Spencer.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And it came to pass, that he went through the corn fields on the sabbath day; and his disciples began, as they went, to pluck the ears of corn. And the Pharisees said unto him, Behold, why do they on the sabbath day that which is not lawful? And he said unto them, Have ye never read what David did, when he had need, and was an hungred, he, and they that were with him? How he went into the house of God in the days of Abiathar the high priest, and did eat the shewbread, which is not lawful to eat but for the priests, and gave also to them which were with him? And he said unto them, The sabbath was made for man, and not man for the sabbath: Therefore the Son of man is Lord also of the sabbath.

AG Curtis Hill responds to demands that Indiana withdraw from lawsuit challenging Affordable Care Act

The REPORTER

Attorney General Curtis Hill recently responded to several groups that dropped off petitions at his office demanding that he withdraw Indiana from a lawsuit challenging the federal Affordable Care Act.

"Along with 19 other states, we have opposed the Affordable Care Act because it is unconstitutional. In NFIB v. Sebelius, the U.S. Supreme Court narrowly upheld the core provision of the ACA — the individual mandate — as a 'tax.' However, Congress later repealed this tax while leaving the mandate in place. As a result, the foundation on which the Supreme Court built its justification for Obamacare's constitutionality ceased to exist. I hope to see the emergence of sound policies that constitutionally safeguard the healthcare needs of all Americans, including those with pre-existing conditions. I support efforts to this end by Governor Holcomb and the General Assembly here in Indiana, and I support such efforts by Congress and the Trump administration on the national level."

The Midwest Lacrosse Challenge was also taking place at Grand Park. Teams of all ages traveled from all over to participate in the fourth annual event co-hosted by Indy United and Lakeshore Lacrosse Clubs.

This event also attracts coaches scouting players for recruitment possibilities as well.

Girls golf

New look for Shamrocks, but All-State player Bruch returns

By RICHIE HALL

When the Westfield girls golf team takes to the first tee at the Bloomington Country Club on Monday for the Bloomington South Invitational, there will be a little bit of a different look to the Shamrocks team.

Westfield graduated a strong senior class last year, and 'Rocks coach Trevor Neu readily admits that players like that are hard to replace. At the same time, there will be some experience for Westfield, including one of the top players in the state.

Junior Jocelyn Bruch has been a star for the Shamrocks ever since her freshman year, and now will be the program's leader. Bruch tied for ninth at the state meet last year, but was sensational from the beginning: She started her sophomore year with a 62 at Bloomington Country Club, and used that as a stepping stone to a great season, easily earning spots on the All-State and All-Hoosier Crossroads Conference teams and the Reporter's Player of the Year award.

Jocelyn Bruch

Two other juniors bring back some varsity experience. Natalie Shupe played in several invitationals last season, and Neu said the team expects her to be a "strong contributor and leader" on varsity this year. Grace Snyder has been on the team since she was a freshman, and has been waiting to get her chance on the big stage.

"She has a great work ethic and attitude and it will be exciting to see what she can do for us this year," said Neu.

After that, the Shamrocks are still trying to figure out who will play the fourth and fifth spots in their varsity rotation. Neu said there are five to six kids who have been "competing hard and shooting around the same scores."

This year's Westfield team is trending young. There are two seniors, Megan Barker and Khloe Miller, and three sophomores: Ellie Cunningham, Cate Jensen and Alli McEvoy. In addition, the Shamrocks have seven freshmen: Avery Brooks, Brette Hanavan, Allie Hildebrand, Claire Ireland, Mallory Mortl and Tia Wallace.

As usual, Westfield will have a busy first week of the season, playing five invitationals in six days. After Bloomington on Monday, the 'Rocks will participate in the HSE Invitational Tuesday at Stony Creek, the Zionsville Invitational Wednesday at Golf Club of Indiana, the Crooked Stick Invitational on Thursday, then the Fall Preview Saturday at Prairie View, the site of the IHSAA state finals.

Neu said he likes the direction of the Westfield program.

"We have a good mix of upperclassmen and lowerclassmen and our numbers are larger than they have ever been," said Neu. "We obviously lost a group of really good seniors last year and you don't just replace kids like that. But the girls that we have this year have been anxiously waiting for their turn to be the players. It is an exciting time for those players and for our coaches to push those kids to become better each time out."

HECHT, KUC TO LEAD CARMEL

Carmel will also be competing in the same five meets as Westfield during this upcoming week, so the Greyhounds and the Shamrocks will be familiar with each other after only a few days.

Actually, Carmel's lineup is already familiar to everybody. The Greyhounds have five returning players, led by senior Nina Hecht and sophomore Katie Kuc. Hecht has been named to the All-State team the past two years, while Kuc was part of Carmel's regular lineup as the 'Hounds made their usual run to the state meet.

Junior Elizabeth Hedrick will be another key varsity player; she was part of Carmel's state lineup last year. Senior Ella Woods and sophomore Sydney Longstreth both had solid summers and will also be big contributors to the team.

And of course, there's the anticipation of what the freshmen can do. Greyhounds coach Kelly Kluesner reports that there is a large number of ninth-graders looking for a spot on the team.

"We have 10 freshman trying out for the team so we are looking forward to adding young talent to our team," said Kluesner. "It's going to be a very exciting season for us."
