Indiana Republican Women gather to give thanks, plan ahead for 2019

The Indiana Federation of Republican Women held its 2018 holiday celebration at Boulder Creek in Brownsburg Saturday afternoon. GOP women from across the state gathered for fellowship, to give thanks for personal and political events in 2018, to plan ahead for the national convention coming to Indiana next year, and to get into the spirit of the holidays. Everyone present signed several holiday cards to be sent to our troops serving in the military. Of course, Hamilton County had a strong presence at this event. ## Noblesville Diversity Coalition issues statement following threat at NHS

The REPORTER

The following statement was issued by the Noblesville Diversity Coalition regarding Friday’s shooting threat at Noblesville High School:

The Noblesville Diversity Coalition (NDC) was angered, saddened and disappointed to learn about the racist graffiti discovered at Noblesville High School. This was one student’s attempt to intimidate African-American students with the threat of violence. We applaud school officials and the Noblesville Police Department for taking quick action to investigate the incident, remove the suspected student, address the concerns of parents, students and staff and impose swift disciplinary actions.

Acts of hatred like this are precisely why the Noblesville Diversity Coalition’s mission is so important, which is to create a culture that understands, accepts, celebrates and respects our diversity. To achieve the culture of respect and kindness that we all want for Noblesville, we must stand together as a community to oppose those who promote and commit racism, hatred and violence towards others.

About Noblesville Diversity Coalition

The Noblesville Diversity Coalition was formed in 2018 by concerned citizens and representatives from education, government, business and faith-based organizations. NDC’s advocates stand together for diversity, equity and inclusion in the Noblesville community. NDC is committed to creating and maintaining a culture that respects and values all individuals and families by promoting community efforts that celebrate our differences.

HSE School Board meetings to be available on video

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

Now that the Hamilton Southeastern School District administration building remodeling project is complete, and a new room has been constructed to hold school board meetings, the board approved a policy Wednesday on video live streaming board meetings and making the recordings available for 45 days. The vote was 6-0. Board member Amanda Shera was not at the session so she should could attend a ceremony where her daughter was receiving a major award.

Michelle Fullhart had voted no on first reading, because she objected to the 45-day limit on accessing past board meeting video recordings. She voted yes on final approval.

Fishers to vote on incentives for new Design Center

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

The Fishers City Council is set to vote on an incentive package for a new development planned in the area of 106th Street and the proposed Nickel Plate Trail, the Hub & Spoke Design Center.

The city is offering a 10-year tax abatement and waiver of fees for the developers of this project. The city is also making a commitment to lease space in the building.

The council vote is on the agenda for the Monday council session, scheduled to start at 7 p.m.

City officials say Hub and Spoke founder David Decker and president of On-Point Real Estate Solutions Travis Tucker are heading-up the $14 million project that aims to provide maker space for hobbyists, entrepreneurs and students.

Another covered bridge for Hamilton County

Hamilton County is probably the only county in America where the number of iconic covered bridges is increasing. Most areas have either a decreasing number of the wooden structures or none at all.

Locally, we will soon have three. That may not seem like many, but given the small number of these picturesque bridges still standing, it is remarkable. And, the way it happens is a tribute to local interest in acquiring the structures from other counties where they can no longer afford to be maintained.

The most recent acquisition is the Bell Ford Bridge from Jackson County built in 1868. It has been stored in a barn since it was taken out of service on the East Fork of White River near Seymour a few years ago.

County Commissioner Mark Heirbrandt, who is acquainted with a commissioner in Jackson County, made the deal on behalf of Fall Creek Township and county park officials. The bridge will be moved in coming months to Geist Park on Fall Creek to become the historic centerpiece for the relatively new park.

The Bell Ford Bridge was built in 1868 in Jackson County. It will be moved to Geist Park on Fall Creek to serve as the centerpiece for the park.

"This bridge is the only combination post and truss bridge remaining anywhere," Heirbrandt said Thursday. It has been placed on the National Register of Historic Places. The deal with Jackson County provides for a $25,000 donation to the Jackson County Round Barn Restoration Fund to enable that county to complete a move and restoration of a rare barn.

Potters Bridge just north of Noblesville was built in its present location in 1870 and is also now the focal point of Potters Bridge Park. Conner Prairie Pioneer Museum acquired another covered bridge several years ago. After repairs were made, it was placed on museum grounds over a small ravine as part of the Conner Prairie pioneer village.

Reader calls for changes to County Election Board

Dear Editor:

Spring 2003: Jim Brainard announces he will file campaign finance reports weekly in lead-up to Republican mayoral primary. "This is being done in the spirit of openness and the public's interest in – and right to know – who is exactly supporting these campaigns." The pre-primary report was "too late in the campaign." "[T]he people I've talked to are very concerned about the money being spent and where it's coming from."

October 2005: Speaking of his and other campaign supporters fundraising for a Kokomo mayoral candidate, Brainard says, "It may not be the best system, but it's the system we have. There are safeguards, and everything is publicly recorded."

Prior to 2015 Republican primary: Brainard and Woody Rider, Jeff Worrell, Keith Griffin, Sue Finkam, Bruce Kimball, Ron Carter, and Christine Pauley agree to support each other financially in primary.

April 17, 2015: Pre-primary campaign finance reports due for the eight above. No indications of financial support for each other.

May 5, 2015: Primary election where all but Keith Griffin win.

October 16, 2015: All eight above report supporting each other for over $22,000 each on the date of the primary itself.

April 20, 2018 Election Board meeting: Tammy Baitz, Hamilton County Clerk of Court and Election Board member: "Tammy also stated she had contacted Mayor Brainard on Wednesday (April 18, 2018) of this week and that his campaign had since filed corrected [2015] CFAs."

May 18, 2018 Election Board: Greg [Purvis] moved, and Bob [Becker] seconded, to have Tammy prepare letters to all the candidates listed in Mr. Morris' letter, advising them that their [2015] reports would need to be amended. It was approved unanimously. Tammy will prepare letters for each candidate and submit to both Bob and Greg for their review before sending out to the candidates.

June 28, 2018 Election Board: Republican Party Chairwoman, Laura

Campbell, appointed Ray Adler as the new Republican member of the Board. Tammy nominated Ray as Chairman, Greg seconded, and it was approved.

Oct. 12, 2018 Election Board Meeting: Brainard's lawyer admits the recently re-filed 2015 reports were still incorrect. Board unanimously approves requiring new (fourth) reports from Brainard by midnight, Oct. 19, and the other seven by Oct. 29.

Nov. 6, 2018: Mr. Adler moved to dismiss the complaint as it appears that no violation had occurred with the original Brainard report filing and to declare the subsequent amended report filing moot. Seconded by Tammy Baitz. After much discussion, the consensus of the board was to encourage the mayor to be more thorough in any future reporting but the amendment was rejected. The Motion to dismiss the complaint carried.

Also, on this date I wrote Lee Buckingham, Prosecutor, asking him to look into this issue and determine if the Board failed in its statutory duty to investigate expeditiously and thoroughly. No response yet.

Nov. 15, 2018: Ray Adler writes to the Hamilton County Reporter: "Finally, anyone with grievances can obtain a [newly created] form from the Hamilton County Clerk, complete the information requested and return to the Clerk so that complaints may be dealt with expeditiously."

I ask you, fellow engaged citizens, does it look like Ray Adler, Greg Purvis, and Tammy Baitz performed their duties well? I call on Joe Weingarten to replace Greg Purvis with me on this Board. I call on Lee Buckingham to review this. I call on Ray Adler to determine whether focusing on creating a new grievance form is absurd when he thinks that the campaign finance forms required by the state legislature essentially carry no legal weight, much less legal repercussions, for filing incorrectly! Mr. Purvis correctly saw that as a "novel theory". This tale reads like a novel.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Eric S. Morris

NPD Detective Robert Saxon completes cybersecurity training

The REPORTER

The Noblesville Police Department is proud to announce that Detective Robert Saxon has completed pilot cybersecurity specialist training at the University of Louisville.

"Cybersecurity is an area of national priority," said UofL President Neeli Bendapudi. "Through the combined efforts of the J.B. Speed School of Engineering, the College of Arts and Sciences and the College of Business, UofL is helping to provide the skills necessary for law enforcement agencies of all sizes to combat cyber crime."

The training, funded by a research grant from the U.S. National Security Agency and the Department of Homeland Security, is part of UofL's Cyber Security Initiative. It reflects the need for an expanded cyber security workforce as detailed in the recently announced DHS National Cyber Strategy and President Donald Trump's Executive Order 13800, "Strengthening the Cybersecurity of Federal Networks and Critical Infrastructure."

Saxon, 51, has been with the NPD since 1998. His training can be used for both community cyber protection and investigation as well as department cyber security.

"The Noblesville Police Department continues to work to anticipate the new and growing threats to the people of our community, especially children, the elderly and small businesses," said Police Chief Kevin Jowitt. "This new training will help us deal with those threats in the on-line cyber world."

"Cybersecurity readiness is our first line of defense to maintain our world economic, political and military leadership," said Adel Elmaghraby, UofL computer engineering and computer science professor. "Helping our workforce learn how to recognize and combat the dangers are first steps toward achieving this goal."

Safety in our schools Noblesville Police investigating car crash at Grace Church

Editor's Note: The Sheridan Student Column is brought to readers by Sheridan High School's 10th grade English class, taught by Abigail Williams.

ABBI CLOUSER
Sheridan High School Student

When I say school shooting, how many schools pop into your head? Sandy Hook Elementary School, Columbine, Stoneman Douglas High School, Noblesville West Middle School and Santa Fe High School are just a few that come to mind when I think of school shootings. In the last decade, people have heard more about school shootings than ever before. It's an unfortunate truth, but no matter how much we wish we could go to school and not have to worry about these things, there's always the chance that it will happen to our school, no matter how many times we say it isn't going to.

Every time the news stations interview students and parents after a school massacre, the same things are always said: "I never thought it would happen to my school," "How many people have to die before we say enough is enough?", "Why aren't there more things being done?". In the past year, students have started speaking out more about what we need to do to prevent these tragedies happening in our schools across the country. If everybody keeps speaking out about it, then why has there been little to no change?

In early May of 2018, I was sitting in my choir class when an announcement came on the speakers. Our principal spoke to us in shaky voice, telling us that we were on lockdown and that it was not a drill. Frantically, my classmates and I rushed to hide in our small classroom. Thirty-one students and my teacher crammed together, and my teacher stood, trying to protect us if bullets were to come through the door. I could hear muffled cries in the room and the girl beside me stood shaking, whispering over and over again that she was going to pass out. In that moment, I held hands with people I didn't even consider my friends and I told them that we were going to be safe. The entire situation turned out to just be a misunderstanding, but it was still one of the scariest moments of my life. I remember calling my mom afterward and crying because the Santa Fe shooting had only happened a few days before and resulted in multiple deaths. For weeks after the incident at our school, I was scared every moment during class because I feared that somebody could gain entry into the school. I knew in the back of my mind that if somebody really wanted to get in, they most likely could.

Student activists have been demanding change for years now, saying that something needs to be done about gun control. Sure, gun control might help to a certain extent, but if a person wanted to get a gun and murder students, he could. Maybe gun control isn't the answer. Maybe we should start turning to our schools and seeing the holes in our safety regulations. This year, Sheridan High School had a new security system installed on the doors. The doors are supposed to make it harder for somebody to gain entry during the school day, but there could be loopholes around these doors to give an intruder just enough time to gain entry before an alarm starts going off. Other schools have given students clear backpacks in order to see what students are carrying into school with them. This will make sure that students aren't bringing shotguns into class, but that doesn't mean that a student can't sneak a different kind of weapon in. Different schools have installed metal detectors at every door, but the metal detectors can't protect us against every weapon.

Perhaps it is time that we start looking at the health of the human population. The symptoms of people who commit mass murders are feelings of anger, lack of friends, social alienation, and making threats about hurting others. According to counseling.org, one-third of school shooters have had mental health evaluations and out of that one third, one-fifth have actually been diagnosed with mental illness. Not only that, but 61 percent of all school shooters have reported feeling depressed and lonely. Even though one-fifth of one-third does not sound like a lot of people, one-ninth of all Americans are taking antidepressants, which sometimes can cause symptoms of depression to worsen. Antidepressants aren't made for all people. We as a society need to find a way to solve the mental health issue that is affecting people across the country. Most people who have depression aren't going to harm people, but there is always the chance that it could happen and the chance is greater when the perpetrator has suffered from mental health issues. There are other ways to cure depression besides taking antidepressants, and we should find different solutions that will fit different kinds of people.

I am by no means an expert, so I don't know what is going to stop tragedies in schools. I am saying that we need to find a way to prevent harm from getting into our schools. Maybe the solution is gun control, or better security, or the solution could be to stop prescribing so much medicine to people because it could actually be causing our society harm. I don't know how we are going to figure out what to do, but something needs to be done. Something needs to be done, and instead of everybody just saying that it needs to be done, we need to actually take some action. If that doesn't take action, we are just going to keep hearing about these tragedies more frequently. In conclusion, I think that not only do we need to find a way to better the security systems in our schools, but we also need to look at the mental health side of things and see if we can prevent people from being so far gone due to mental health that they end up creating these tragedies.

The REPORTER

At approximately 9:27 p.m. on Nov. 16, police officers from the Noblesville Police Department and firefighters from the Noblesville Fire Department responded to Grace Church, 5504 E. 146th St., Noblesville, in reference to a complaint of a motor vehicle crash involving a vehicle into the water.

Based on witness statements and evidence at the scene, it appears the driver of a 2012 Nissan Versa was traveling eastbound in the parking lot and for some unknown reason veered to the right (south) and drove into a pond located on the south side of the parking lot. NPDP officers and a Hamilton County Sheriff's deputy arrived on the scene shortly after the call and four officers immediately entered the water in an effort to rescue the driver. Upon entering the water, the officers worked their way to the vehicle and assisted the driver out of the vehicle. Firefighters from NFD then assisted the officers and the driver back to the shore.

The driver of the vehicle is identified as Melissa Purpura, 34, Noblesville. Purpura was transported by ground ambulance to Riverview Health Noblesville and was treated for symptoms of hypothermia. Purpura is expected to be released. There were no other occupants in the vehicle.

The officers that entered the water have been identified as Sgt. Jordan Granger, Patrolmen Matthew Johnston and Steven Meyer from the Noblesville Police Department, as well as Deputy Travis Petrie from the Hamilton County Sheriff's Department. Granger, Johnston and Meyer were transported to St. Vincent Carmel and Petrie to Riverview Health for symptoms of hypothermia. All officers are expected to be released.

The crash is still under investigation.

Tired of Black Friday in shopping malls? Why not get outside instead?

Indiana State Parks can help. The DNR is offering free admission to any state park, reservoir or state forest recreation area that charges gate admission on that day, including state off-road riding areas. You can also get 20 percent off a meal at an Indiana State Park Inn that day by downloading a coupon from Indiana State Parks Special Events page at state-parks.IN.gov/3282.htm.

There’s more – you can get annual passes, lake permits and camping gear, among other items, just by choosing to #optoutside. You can win prizes just by sharing your experiences on social media on Black Friday. Here’s how to participate:

- Post a photo to the Indiana State Parks Facebook page or to the DNR Instagram page and you’ll be entered into a drawing for annual passes, lake permits and more. Include the hashtag #optoutside or #optoutsideIN when you post your photo.

- Camp at a state park or state forest recreation area, or stay at an Indiana State Park Inn on Black Friday, and you’ll be entered in a drawing for camping or inns gift cards. The first 20 people to post a photo to the Indiana State Parks Facebook page of their camping trip or inns visit will receive a logoed #OptOutside Indiana State Parks winter knit cap.

- Complete the #optoutside scavenger hunt at state-parks.IN.gov/3282.htm and return it to the email or address on the page to be entered in a separate drawing for 2019 annual passes. The first 20 scavenger hunts returned will receive a logoed #OptOutside Indiana State Parks winter knit hat.

Everyone who posts a photo or participates in the scavenger hunt will be entered into a grand prize drawing for a gift pack from the outdoor gear retailer REI in Castleton. REI is a supporter of the Indiana Natural Resources Foundation and Indiana State Parks.

Outdoor gear retailer REI started the #optoutside initiative in 2015, announcing it would close its stores on Black Friday to encourage people to experience nature instead of waiting in long lines at cash registers. For more information, visit rei.com/opt-outside.

TODAY’S BIBLE READING

Now learn a parable of the fig tree; When her branch is yet tender, and putteth forth leaves, ye know that summer is near: So ye in like manner, when ye shall see these things come to pass, know that it is nigh, even at the doors. Verily I say unto you, that this generation shall not pass, till all these things be done. Heaven and earth shall pass away: but my words shall not pass away. But of that day and that hour knoweth no man, no, not the angels which are in heaven, neither the Son, but the Father. Take ye heed, watch and pray: for ye know not when the time is. For the Son of Man is as a man taking a far journey, who left his house, and gave authority to his servants, and to every man his work, and commanded the porter to watch. Watch ye therefore: for ye know not when the master of the house cometh, at even, or at midnight, or at the cockcrow, or in the morning: Lest coming suddenly he find you sleeping. And what I say unto you I say unto all, Watch.

Wrestling season begins...

Millers finish close second at Husky Super 6

The wrestling season began for several Hamilton County teams on Saturday.

One of those starting tournaments was at Hamilton Heights, where the Huskies hosted their annual Super 6 event. It was a very competitive meet: Three of the six schools finished the event with 4-1 team records: Pendleton Heights, Noblesville and North Central.

The Arabians won the tiebreaker based on most total points scored, with 238. The Millers scored 225, while the Panthers totaled 219. Noblesville won its first four meets of the day, beating Cascade 57-21, Tipton 56-18, Pendleton Heights 40-36 and Hamilton Heights 41-22. The Millers lost to North Central in a close dual, 40-31.

Five Noblesville wrestlers were champions, with four of them finishing the tournament with 5-0 records: Dalton Huffman at 126 pounds, Justin Johnson-Sparks at 138, Sebastian Dillon at 152 and Zach Knoll at 182. Keaton Sepiol was the 113-pound champion with a 4-1 record. Gary Kitko went 4-1 at 145 pounds.

"I was very proud of how the team rallied together during our Pendleton Heights dual," said Millers coach Michael Weimer. "It was a very high-energy dual with a lot of adversity going on. We had losses we expected to win and a lot of our younger guys stepped it up in that dual.

"Overall, I was proud of the guys, how they competed," said Weimer. While he acknowledged it was tough to drop the last dual of the day, the coach noted that last year Noblesville was 2-3 at this meet, so there was improvement.

The host Huskies finished fourth at their event, going 2-3 for the day. Heights defeated Tipton 61-18 and Cascade 61-17, while in between falling to Pendleton Heights 45-30, North Central 41-24 and Noblesville 41-22.

Two Huskies wrestlers were undefeated champions at 5-0: Isaiah Rodriguez at 106 pounds and Bobby Williams at 170. Three other wrestlers finished 4-1: Cole Cowan at 113, Devonte Henson at 120 and Dreiken Dunn at 160.

The Noblesville wrestling team began its season by finishing a close second at the Hamilton Heights Husky Super 6 on Saturday. The Millers were 4-1 for the tournament and had five individual champions.

"We're starting seven underclassmen and seven upperclassmen," said Heights coach Gary Myers, who also said there are a few Huskies wrestlers out with injuries. "So I thought we did pretty good overall. We hung tight with a lot of people."

Hamilton Southeastern and Fishers competed in the John Hurrell Memorial Invitational, which took place Saturday at Arsenal Tech.

The Royals finished second out of 14 teams with 310.5 points, while the Tigers were third with 251.5 points. Warren Central dominated the meet, winning with 418.5 points.

Southeastern had three individual champions at the event. Jackson Williams won the 152-pound title with a 6-4 decision, with Ronan Hiner getting a 3-2 decision to win the 160-pound championship. Crae Kunkleman won at 285 pounds in a 10-4 decision.

Fishers' JD Farrell won the 182-pound title, doing so with a pin in the second period. Results are as follows:

Guerin Catholic dropped a Circle City Conference game at Heritage Christian 70-24 on Saturday.

The Golden Eagles trailed 21-11 after the first quarter, after which Heritage outscored GC 23-0 in the second period to lead 44-11 at halftime. Nicole Cunningham led Guerin with 10 points, including two 3-pointers.

"Although we tried to prepare for it, the speed of HC got them off to a quick start and we fought to stay within striking distance in the first quarter," said Golden Eagles coach Jeff Buckner, who noted that his team was still diving on the floor for loose balls and tieups late in the fourth quarter.

Guerin Catholic is now 0-2 in the conference and 2-4 overall. The Golden Eagles are off until Nov. 29, when they host Yorktown.

"The girls are determined to continue working to be a better team each time we take the floor," said Buckner.

Overpowering third-quarter run sends Pacers past Hawks

On a night in which the Pacers lost Victor Oladipo to injury and trailed by as many as 14 points, Indiana needed all the help it could get.

That help arrived in the form of an overpowering 24-6 third-quarter run, giving the Pacers a lead that they did not surrender for the remainder of the night, beating the Hawks 97-89 at Bankers Life Fieldhouse on Saturday night.

With Oladipo — who only played four minutes before exiting with a sore right knee — out of the game, Indiana (10-6) turned to an unlikely source of offense in the fourth quarter: Aaron Holiday.

"(Aaron) was ready for it," said Pacers head coach Nate McMillan after the game. "He prepared himself. We don't win this game if he doesn't come in and play the way that he did on both ends of the floor."

The rook, playing in the first meaningful minutes of his NBA career, delighted the crowd at the Fieldhouse by sinking a pair of threes and executing a tough layup in the paint to extend Indiana's advantage to six in the fourth.

With under five minutes remaining, the ball again found Holiday on the wing, as the UCLA-product stroked yet another 3-pointer, this time putting the Pacers up 89-78.

From there, the Pacers worked the clock, closing out the eight-point win over the Hawks (3-13) with ease.

"I'm a competitor so if I get the chance I'm going to go out there and take advantage and that's what I did," Holiday said. "I just went out there and played my game. I'm just happy I could help my team win. I was told before halftime, just be ready and eventually my number was called and I was ready."

Aside from Holiday, who finished with 12 points on 4-of-6 shooting, the Pacers were also aided by Bojan Bogdanovic, who wrapped up his night with a game-best 22 points.

For Atlanta, veteran guard Jeremy Lin led the way, scoring 16 points and passing out four assists.

Despite the positive finish at the Fieldhouse, the game opened up on a rough note when Oladipo was pulled from the game early in the first quarter with his sore knee. With the All-Star guard out of the lineup, the Pacers' offense was slow out of the gates, scoring just eight points over the first five minutes of action. But the offense soon found its stride, building a narrow 25-24 lead at the end of the opening quarter.

With the second quarter underway, the Hawks managed to break off a 9-0 run, jumping ahead 30-40. Following a 3-pointer from veteran Vince Carter, McMillan signaled for timeout with 5:40 remaining in the half and his team trailing by 10.

Out of the stoppage, Indiana delivered a punch, opening up a 9-0 run of its own to cut the deficit down to just one and forcing an Atlanta timeout with 3:50 left in the quarter.

But for the remainder of the half, it was all Atlanta, as the Hawks closed the quarter on an 12-0 run to build their 56-47 lead at the break.

To open the third, the Hawks continued their landslide of a run, scoring the first five points of the half to extend it to a 17-0 run.

The Pacers began to dig their way out of the deficit soon after, as Darren Collison helped ignite offense for the Blue & Gold. With Collison at the helm, the Pacers embarked on 24-6 run, highlighted by a 3-pointer from Holiday.

By the end of the quarter, the Pacers had outscored the Hawks 26-16, taking a 73-72 lead into the fourth.

From there, Indiana was able to control the game throughout the final quarter as it managed to hold on for the eight-point win, limiting the Hawks to just 33 second-half points in the process.

"We picked up the energy defensively," said Cory Joseph after the win. "I felt like we kind of turned the tables on them. In the first half, they were getting up into us and put us on our heels a little bit, but we just flipped it on them."
