Wings and prayers

Remember a couple of years ago when I wrote in my column about my daughter, Emily, and her family moving from Fishers to Tampa? I admitted it was an adjustment for my heart.

I've always prayed for my children to enjoy life and never let me hinder their dreams. I've always tried my best to be their greatest cheerleader and supporter. I really did pray that God would help me to give them wings.

And then ...

I remember where I was when Emily broke the news to me. I was sitting in Jim Dandy, enjoying a Hoosier Breaded Tenderloin, and talking about how nice it was to just call her, at a moment's notice, and have her join me for lunch. Emily said, "Well Mom, we may have to plan ahead of time and it will be when you and Chuck are in Tampa ... where we are moving." Drew had accepted a new job.

I took a moment to gather my thoughts and not choke on my sandwich. I smiled and told her, "Well, it will sure be a change, but if you are happy, then I will be happy as well.

Yes, we go to Tampa, where Chuck has had a home since 1989, about every eight weeks to visit his sons, Scott and Jeff, and their families. I've gotten used to actually spending more time with Emily, Drew, Aiden and Leah since they moved about 15 minutes from our house to there. Trips to the beach and the pool and Disney are fun to look forward to.

A few months ago Chuck's son, Scott, announced that he and his family would be moving to New York City where they would all be focusing on their singing, dancing, music production and Rockapella

Fisher Assistant City Attorney Lindsey

Let's say your teenage son is out running around Fishers after curfew, you call the police, they find your son, return him home and write a ticket to your son. Your son goes to court and

Bennett told that story to the Fishers City Council Monday night in explaining why the city is updating its ordinances that lay out penalties for minor offenses.

Now, the parent in the story above would not need to pay the fine if the son is sentenced to community service instead of a fine that would likely be paid by the parent.

Bennett explained the overhaul of the penalty system is needed. She described the current ordinance as "convoluted" after many years of updates and changes.

Taking action with Fishers Kiwanis

The REPORTER

The Fishers-Geist Aktion Club (pronounced "action") is a group started by Kiwanis to engage people 18 and older in the community with developmental disabilities. Now is the perfect time to get involved.

This newly-formed group is looking for members and will meet for the first time from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 6 at the Opportunities for Positive Growth, Inc. (OPG) office, 10080 E. 121st St., Suite 112, Fishers.

OPG Behavior Support Specialist Dana Pottschmidt is a community liaison for Aktion. She became involved in October, just a couple months after the group was formed. She explained that her role is to facilitate the group, which is member-run. She provides some direction and support for the developmentally disabled members as they run the organization themselves.

"In the first couple meetings I will work with the group on putting together a social media page so we can get the word out about when and where meetings are going to be," Pottschmidt said. "Because we are community-based they are going to occur at various locations depending on the service project that we might be doing or the educational component that we might be engaging in."

The first official meeting for Fishers-Geist Aktion Club will be a casual event with the goal of getting to know one another and giving new members an idea of what future project they can participate in.

"The first meeting is a pizza social to meet and greet everybody," Pottschmidt said. "We should also be taking nomination for officers that evening. The following meetings will have an officer-board moving forward and they will be leading things."

If you want more information or want to get involved either as a member or as peer to help with projects, you can contact Pottschmidt by email at dpottschmidt@opgrowth.com or call (317) 478-1522.

Chuck and I agreed that we would have a new place to visit. Who doesn't love the sights and sounds of Broadway and everything NYC? Not to mention the food. Chuck took me there for my 60th birthday.

Well, back to Emily and Drew and Tampa.

They lived in our house for a year until they finally found the perfect place to call their own. That was in June.

I went down and helped them unpack and decorate. It went from a house to a home in just a few days.

Then ...

A few weeks ago Emily called and said, "Mom you are not going to believe this but Drew got an incredible job offer ... in Seattle. We should be out there and settled in by the first of the year."

There was a bit of silence on my end of the phone. I gathered my thoughts and caught my heart before it crashed. I told her exactly what I told her when they moved to Tampa ... and then I checked the airline times and costs for flights to Seattle.

It won't be every eight weeks when I see them, but I hear Seattle is a lovely place to visit. My heart will follow them, wherever they call home.

I gave my daughter wings, many years ago. She's definitely learned to use them. And I have certainly learned to pray more.

Best Christmas Pageant Ever hits Carmel

By STU CLAMPITT
ReadTheReporter.com

The Carmel Community Players offer you The Best Christmas Pageant Ever for two weeks only, Thursday through Sunday, starting Nov. 29. The play will stage at Ji-Eun Lee Music Academy, 10029 E. 126th St. D, Fishers.

The play is written by Barbara Robinson and is directed by Lori Raffel, who told The Reporter she is surprised by how her experience is mirroring one of the characters in the play.

The play is about a small church that has put on the same Christmas pageant, with the same cast and director, for years. But this year the director breaks her leg and someone new steps in to put the pageant together.

"The new woman in charge, Grace, is naïve in that she is just full of the Christmas spirit and thinks everyone should be included," Raffel told The Reporter. "And that means the Herdmans, a group of five kids who don't normally go to church, but started going when they heard there were free refreshments. The Herdmans are a little on the rough side. They don't have a whole lot of supervision and they don't even know what the Christmas story is."

So much goes against her, but Grace decides she's not going to give in to the difficulties. She will put on the best Christmas pageant ever, no matter what.

"I don't normally direct Christmas plays," Raffel said. "It's a tough one. People are traveling, and it is hard to find a director. So I said I'd do it because I don't have any family left and I don't need to travel. I thought it might be really fun and I've just had a blast."

Of the 16 cast members, 11 are children ranging in age from 9 to 14. This is the first time Raffel has directed a play with kids.

Thus, Raffel is directing her first play with kids about a first-time director working with kids.

When asked if she sees the parallels between herself and Grace, Raffel said, "Oh yes! I really didn't at first. But when we started rehearsing and running through the whole thing I thought, 'Oh my gosh, I'm Grace."

One example of the learning curve came when Raffel scheduled rehearsals as she normally would for adults.

"First I set the rehearsal time for 7 to 9:30 p.m.," Raffel said. "Of course the parents said, 'Then they don't get home and go to bed until 10:30.' I've never directed kids before. So we set it for 6:30 to 8:30 and parents just started talking to each other, they built a Facebook group, they give each other rides and have carpools. They are helping with the costumes. Now I'm not sure I want to do a show again without parents. They have been so wonderful!"

Can Grace pull off the best Christmas pageant ever?

And did Raffel pull together her first Christmas play – and her first play with young actors – as well as she hoped?

Westfield offering you A Little Christmas Spirit

By STU CLAMPITT
ReadTheReporter.com

Main Street Productions is bringing you A Little Christmas Spirit at Westfield Playhouse, 1836 W. State Road 32, for three weekends beginning Nov. 30.

This play, written by Pat Cook and directed by Kathy Watson, contains a bit of magic about which The Reporter has been sworn to secrecy.

Watson told The Reporter working on this play has helped her have more Christmas spirit and she hopes the same will be true for audiences.

The 11 people in her cast formed a quick and comfortable rapport from the moment they met.

"This is one of the rare casts where we have all just bonded from the first day we got together for our first read-through," Watson said. "You could feel a closeness forming almost immediately. We are like a family. That has only happened to me a couple times before. It is really nice."

With only one exception, everyone in the cast lives in Hamilton County. For eight of the 11 members of this cast, this will be their first appearance at Westfield Playhouse. For four members, this will be their first appearance on stage anywhere.

"There is an old grouchy grandpa out trying to find a particular Christmas gift – a watch – for his grandson," Watson said. "He finds a flyer on his car telling him to go to Nick's Emporium."

After he is in the shop and talks to Nick briefly, he goes outside for a moment and returns to find the shop is closed and the police are there to ask why he is in a business that has been closed for over 30 years.

And no, that is not the bit of magic we were sworn not to tell you about. The real magic happens after Grandpa gets back into the shop again and Nick teaches him to slow down a bit, relax and let go of some of the stress of last-minute shopping.

According to Watson, this play teaches a valuable lesson we can easily forget in the holiday consumer rush.

"Grandpa finds his Christmas spirit by taking time, relaxing, enjoying the moment and remembering the happiness he felt when he 1838 – Governor David Wallace and other officials took the first steam train ride in Indiana along 15 miles of track on the Madison and Indianapolis Railroad.

1927 – Indianapolis Postmaster Robert H. Bryson announced the 1874 – Charles A. Beard was born in Knightstown. During the first half of the 20th century, he and his wife Mary became two of the most influential scholars of United States history.

1878 – Marshall "Major" Taylor was born in Indianapolis. He became a professional bicycle racer and set numerous world records. He was the first African-American to achieve the level of world

White River Vision Plan releases data report, interactive mapping survey

The REPORTER

Current and historical perspectives that were gathered during the initial Discovery Phase of the White River Vision Plan in Indianapolis and Hamilton County are now available for public review and comment online. The Phase 1 Task Report is a comprehensive review of research by experts and public input gathered from April through July 2018 about the 58 miles of river in the study area.

The report is an in-depth study of the White River’s history, industry, river access, hydrology, ecology and recreation completed by core team members from Agency Landscape + Planning, RATIO Architects, DAVID RUBIN Land Collective, Applied Ecological Services, Engaging Solutions, Heritage Strategies, HR&A, Land Story and Christopher B. Burke Engineering. Community feedback gathered during steering committees, stakeholder discussions and public meetings held in July 2018 are also included in the report.

“This report is the first time the public can see everything the core team found in its research and the feedback we’ve heard so far from the community,” said Emily Mack, director of the Department of Metropolitan Development for the City of Indianapolis. “As we work to keep the community involved in the process, this report gives the community a baseline of current conditions and the possibilities for the White River Vision Plan.”

Divided into four themes – Reveal History, Express Identity, Experience Nature and Connect Communities – the report seeks to inform Central Indiana of the opportunities and challenges that will be addressed in a final master plan set to be released in spring 2019.

Key findings from the report include the following:

- Reveal History: The Task One study uncovered rich and compelling stories about the river’s history but also revealed that residents are relatively unaware of that history. Potential opportunities for expanded programming, celebrations and interpretive activities to raise public awareness and appreciation for the archaeological and heritage locations along the White River.
- Express Our Identity: Past and more recent development and demographic trends emphasize that the White River Vision Plan must serve all ages, work to attract younger residents, stress inclusivity and support quality of life to support economic growth. Improvements need to respect existing residents while supporting the creation of distinct nodes and subdistricts with different types of programming customized to nearby residents and visitors.

- Experience Nature: This theme examines the natural wildlife, water quality, levees, floodplains and storm water runoff along the river. The White River Vision Plan should support existing plans and programs such as the Greenways Master Plan, Indiana Forest Alliance Marion County Forest Study, Indianapolis Parks Master Plan, city and parks master plans for Carmel, Fishers and Noblesville, and sediment reduction initiatives. Because of the enormity of the task and scarcity of widely accepted natural resource plans, the White River Vision Plan can help galvanize support for new initiatives by and mirror powerful results from similar regional projects.

- Get Outdoors: Conner Prairie, Strawtown Koteewi Park, Newfields, White River State Park and Southwestway Park are examples of programs that can inform the White River Vision Plan’s goal of offering diverse experiences, access and ecological systems for the final plan. The White River Vision Plan will seek to differentiate experiences and favorably increase perceptions through the promotion of enhanced stewardship of the river balanced with diversified activation opportunities.
- Connect Communities: A recommendation to increase visibility in public rights-of-way through signage and lighting will be included in the White River Vision Plan. Improvements for existing roadways and trails can lift the White River up as a regional destination, but these improvements should be addressed carefully due to implementation costs, flood concerns and environmental sensitivities. Local differentiators along the extensive study area must stay at the forefront of the final plan discussion.

“Physical connection and access to the river is one of the most tangible potential improvements the White River Vision Plan can bring to the study area,” said Brenda Myers, president and CEO of Hamilton County Tourism, Inc. “Throughout this study, we will continue to address specific needs found in the wide variety of neighborhoods and communities along the river. We will seek to increase connectivity to public lands while protecting places where residents work, live, farm and play. We hope to gain insights from the community about these locations through the interactive survey online.”

Residents can participate in a new, five-minute Interactive Mapping Survey available on MyWhiteRiver.com. The survey is modeled from a hands-on activity created for the public meetings that asked attendees to mark locations on a large map of the study area. Attendees shared ideas about the places where they live, work and play. Now, all visitors to the White River Vision Plan website can participate in the same way with the new survey. Times and locations for the next set of community meetings Jan. 29-31 are forthcoming.

Following the 12-month planning period slated for completion in April 2019, the final plan will be shared with the public and a variety of stakeholder groups and organizations. For more information on the White River Vision Plan, or to participate in the interactive survey, visit MyWhiteRiver.com. You can also follow My White River on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.

About White River Vision Plan

The White River Vision Plan is a joint effort between the City of Indianapolis and Hamilton County Tourism, Inc. in partnership with Visit Indy’s philanthropic arm, Tourism Tomorrow, Inc., to develop a comprehensive and coordinated regional, community-driven plan to enhance 58 miles of the White River in Indianapolis and Hamilton County. The goal of the vision plan is to create an accessible, recreational and cultural environment that encourages a unique sense of place for the community.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And when they had sung an hymn, they went out into the mount of Olives. And Jesus saith unto them, All ye shall be offended because of me this night: for it is written, I will smite the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered. But after that I am risen, I will go before you into Galilee. But Peter said unto him, Although all shall be offended, yet will not I. And Jesus saith unto him, Verily I say unto thee, That this day, even in this night, before the cock crow twice, thou shalt deny me thrice. But he spake the more vehemently, If I should die with thee, I will not deny thee in any wise. Likewise also said they all.

Lisa Christine Lingle

May 16, 1951 – November 22, 2018

Lisa Christine Lingle, 67, Indianapolis, passed away on Thursday, November 22, 2018 at Heartway House. She was born on May 16, 1951 to Richard and Barbara (Mosher) Lingle in Indianapolis.

Although Lisa struggled with significant health issues her entire life, she was an inspiration to many and maintained her independence until her final months. With an Education degree from Purdue, and a master's degree in Special Education from Butler, Lisa taught in Indianapolis Public Schools for 39 years. She loved to travel and collect angels. In her younger years, Lisa also enjoyed competitive ballroom dancing.

She is survived by her mother, Barbara Lingle; sisters, Susan (Bruce) Bartley and Catherine (Jeffrey) Platt; brothers, Stephen (Shelia) Lingle and Thomas (Bonnie) Lingle; step-mother, Beverly Lingle; step-sister, Julie (Craig) Miller; step-brother, Brad Olson; eight nieces and nephews; and five grand-nieces and nephews.

Her final Thanksgiving was enjoyed with several family members who were able to stop by to encourage her. Each one departed without the realization that Lisa would take her last breath that very night ... but inspired by the fact that she made it a point to personally thank every visitor.

Learning of her recent profession of faith, her family rejoices in knowing that she has been reconnected with other loved ones – most notably her father, Richard Lingle. One of her final comments was, "Christmas has always been my favorite time of the year." Her family smiles at the thought of Lisa giving a merry greeting to the heavenly Host and all those who preceded her with: "Jingle, Jingle ... Here comes Lingle."

A celebration of life will occur at a later date. Lisa's family is thankful for the loving care provided by Anew Home Care, Clover Companion Care and Heartway House. The family has entrusted Randall and Roberts Funeral Homes with her care.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to: Anew Home Care, 3830 E. Southport Road, Indianapolis, IN 46237.

Westfield got off to an incredible start for its boys basketball season on Saturday, sailing past Kokomo 75-33 at The Rock.

The Shamrocks scored the first four points of the game in quick fashion, eventually leading 23-9 after the first quarter. Westfield outscored the Wildkats in each period, leading 40-14 at halftime and 59-23 after three periods.

Zach Banks and Caleb Welch each poured in 16 points; Welch drained four 3-pointers along the way. Zach Bryer and Chris Chin both added 10. Nine different Shamrock players scored: Freshman Braden Smith and Benji Welch both added six points, Mason Brooks had four, Eli Patchett scored three on a 3-pointer, and Jaret Bailey and Francis Agbo each added two.

Westfield had 22 rebounds, led by Smith's six. Simons and Patchett both pulled three. Smith also handed out six assists, while Caleb Welch dished out four assists and also made four steals. Banks and Patchett both had three steals. Simons blocked two shots.

Westfield's Zach Banks scored 16 points in the Shamrocks season-opening win over Kokomo Saturday evening at The Rock.

Huskies fall to Marauders, tie 3-point record

Hamilton Heights dropped its home opener on Saturday, falling to Mount Vernon 73-61.

The Marauders jumped ahead 21-16 after the first quarter. The Huskies kept it close, trailing by just 36-34 at halftime. Gus Etchison had a great first half, scoring 15 points, including three 3-pointers.

Heights tied a record for most made 3s in a game with 15. AJ Field drained six of them, while Etchison and Camron Knott both had four 3s. But Mount Vernon outscored the Huskies in both the third and fourth quarters, and also kept them off of the free throw line: Heights only had one free throw attempt in the entire game.

"We got to find a way to get some stops and keep people off the 'O' boards," said Huskies coach Chad Ballenger. "We shot way too many 3s. We hit 15, but we've got to find a way to get to the bucket because that's going to open up even more for the perimeter. Our last 13 possessions, we weren't patient enough."

Field and Etchison both finished with 18 points, while Knott scored 14. Hudson Hochstedler dished out eight assists and pulled four rebounds, while Etchison handed out four assists.

Heights is 1-1 and plays at New Castle on Friday.
