Heights primary students open Husky Bean coffee shop

The REPORTER
Hamilton Heights Primary School recently held a grand opening and ribbon cutting ceremony for the Husky Bean, an in-school café service for faculty and staff available on Fridays.

“It all started when Peyton Parker, an Instructional Assistant, sent me an article about a Life Skills class at a school in Texas selling coffee to staff and the benefits to everyone involved,” recalled Denise Wisley, of the initial idea. “That was the flame that ignited those of us in Room 58 to begin brainstorming on how we could create a similar service at the building that ultimately grew into The Husky Bean.

Room 58 is a resource classroom that is much more. In addition to Wisley and Parker, Toby Etchison, Amy Waldron, Linda Flederjohn, Jenna Schmidt, Leslie Kortzen-dorf, Cecilia Gentry and Ali Laitas comprise the talented team of educators who work in Room 58. The focus is developing “life skills” – that is, a skill that is necessary, every day, which individuals need to get through life. A part of the Room 58 curriculum includes helping students learn to take care of themselves, take care of each other and take care of their school and their community.

“We believe one of the most important skills we can teach is how to be an independent learner,” Wisley pointed out. “The Husky Bean involves many life skills that will help our little Huskies to be future independent, successful, working citizens.”

“Husky Bean is both a service project and a motivator for students who receive core instruction and interventions in Room 58 to demonstrate positive, ‘Husky Rocks’ behavior all week long so they can participate in The Husky Bean café,” continued Wisley. We also teach a weekly segment on social skills character development which the coffee service blends in perfectly.”

“The life skills we practice with The Husky Bean include math (counting, adding, subtracting, problem-solving); sequencing steps in an activity, fulfilling an order, appropriate social skills, sharing, peer-peer work, reading and comprehension, health and hygiene, and so much more,” added Peyton Parker, who is thrilled with the response to The Husky Bean by students and staff.

The service offers coffee, tea and hot chocolate along with an assortment of donated breakfast items for sale. Money collected through the service is used to replenish supplies, resources and gifts of love for staff and support services.

Local sportswriter Terry Hutchens critically injured in Monday night crash

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

Terry Hutchens, longtime local sports-writer in the central Indiana area, was critically injured in a Monday night crash on 116th Street near Interstate 69 in Fishers.

Fishers Police cited witness statements and evidence at the scene, saying the driver of the Toyota was traveling westbound on 116th Street when he apparently rear-ended a Ford Escape. The force of the initial collision pushed the Ford into the rear of a Jeep.

During the follow-up investigation, hospital medical staff told authorities Hutchens may have suffered a sudden medical condition prior to the crash.

Hutchens was unconscious and not breathing when officers arrived. The officers removed Hutchens from his vehicle and immediately began CPR. Paramedics from the Fishers Department of Fire and Emergency Response transported him to an area hospital in critical condition.

The other two drivers and a passenger in the Ford suffered only minor injuries and were treated at the scene.

Traffic law enforcement increasing through Jan. 1

The REPORTER
Millions of Americans will travel the nation’s highways during the holidays to visit family and friends. With more vehicles on the road, the chances of being involved in a crash increase greatly.

The Hamilton County Traffic Safety Partnership, a consortium of local law enforcement agencies, is joining law-enforcement agencies across the country to participate in the winter “Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over” enforcement mobilization going on now through Jan. 1. In addition, Indiana police are enforcing seat belt and speeding laws.

Overtime patrols and equipment purchases are supported with National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) funds distributed by the Indiana Criminal Justice Institute (ICJI).

Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over

Taking a new drug or a higher dose?

With all of today's options for getting home safely, there's no excuse for getting behind the wheel impaired as it endangers you and everyone else around you. Law enforcement recommends these safe alternatives to impaired driving:

- Designate, or be, a sober driver.
- Use public transportation.
- Call a cab or a ridesharing service.
- Download the SaferRide mobile app from the Android Play Store or the Apple App Store. This app only has three options: Call a taxi, call a friend, and identify your location for pickup.
- Celebrate at home or a place where you can stay until sober.
- Throwing a party? Offer non-alcoholic beverages and plenty of food.
- Never provide alcohol to minors.
- Ask young drivers about their plans.
- Friend or family member about to drive? Take the keys and make alternate arrangements.

Click It or Ticket

Indiana has a primary seat belt law, meaning that police officers may ticket unrestrained drivers or passengers, even if no other traffic violation has taken place.

ICJI and the Purdue University Center for Road Safety estimate that about 93 percent of Hoosiers buckle up. But the small amount of drivers and passengers not wearing seat belts made up more than half of Indiana's fatal crashes.

Parents and caregivers who don't buckle up are more likely to have unbuckled kids as adults set the example. Motor vehicle crashes are a leading and increasing cause of death for children age 14 and younger. In Indiana, all passengers under age 8 must be in an approved car seat or booster seat, and unrestrained children under 16 are the driver's responsibility.

AG Curtis Hill continues seeking U.S. Supreme Court review of case involving Indiana abortion laws

The REPORTER

Indiana Attorney General Curtis Hill filed Indiana's latest brief on Tuesday asking the U.S. Supreme Court to uphold the constitutionality of an Indiana law involving abortion.

Enacted in 2016, House Bill 1337 contains two provisions at issue in the current case. One provision requires health facilities disposing of fetal remains to treat them with the same dignity accorded other human remains by either burying or cremating them. (Unlike health facilities, parents who choose to take possession of fetal remains after an abortion or miscarriage have no such requirements imposed on them.) The other provision prohibits abortion performed solely because of the disability, race or sex of the unborn child.

The Seventh Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals has held that both of these provisions violate the U.S. Constitution.

In the case of the fetal remains provision, the Seventh Circuit panel contradicted an earlier decision in the Eighth Circuit upholding as constitutional a virtually identical law enacted in Minnesota.

"The result is that Minnesota can require burial or cremation of fetal remains while Indiana cannot," Hill wrote in the filing. Only the U.S. Supreme Court, he notes, "can decide which of these positions is correct."

While the anti-discrimination provision involves no such conflict between circuits, it raises issues of national importance that the Court should address, Hill said.

"Other states are adopting laws similar to ours," he said. "Internationally, there is attention focused on whether it's ethical to abort babies because, for example, they have Down Syndrome, which is a very prevalent reason given for abortions. So we're hoping that the significance of the issue will justify Supreme Court review."

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And Zacharias said unto the angel, Whereby shall I know this? for I am an old man, and my wife well stricken in years. And the angel answering said unto him, I am Gabriel, that stand in the presence of God; and am sent to speak unto thee, and to shew thee these glad tidings. And, behold, thou shalt be dumb, and not able to speak, until the day that these things shall be performed, because thou believest not my words, which shall be fulfilled in their season. And the people waited for Zacharias, and marvelled that he tarried so long in the temple. And when he came out, he could not speak unto them: and they perceived that he had seen a vision in the temple: for he beckoned unto them, and remained speechless. And it came to pass, that, as soon as the days of his ministration were accomplished, he departed to his own house. And after those days his wife Elisabeth conceived, and hid herself five months, saying, Thus hath the Lord dealt with me in the days wherein he looked on me, to take away my reproach among men.

Second-quarter run sends Tigers to easy victory

By RICHIE HALL

FISHERS - Fishers was locked in a tough battle with Delta in the Tiger Den Wednesday night, and coach Lauren Vail challenged her team in the beginning of the second quarter.

The Tigers responded to that challenge very well - to the tune of a 21-0 run. Fishers didn't stop there, but continued its momentum through the second half on its way to a 67-36 victory over the Eagles.

While the Tigers led early, Delta proved to be a formidable challenge in the first quarter. Fishers led 8-4 thanks to six points from Tamia Perryman, then 10-6 after Katie Burton scored on a layin.

But the Eagles came back to lead 11-10; Madison Delaney's 3-pointer gave Delta the lead. Both teams traded 3s during the final couple minutes of the period: Kaitlynn Feagan hit a long-range shot, then Burton's 3 in the quarter's last few seconds put the Tigers on top 16-14.

The Eagles opened the second quarter with five straight points from its two freshman players: Addie Chester scored off a steal and Gracie Gilland drained a 3. That put Delta up 19-16 and Fishers called a timeout with 6:54 left in the period.

Following the timeout, the Eagles didn't score again for the remainder of the half. As for the Tigers? Katie Howard scored on a floater, then Skylar Fulton's 3 gave Fishers the lead for good, at 21-19. Feagan and Emmerson both hit 3s during the run, then Fulton nailed her second 3 late in the period.

"We know we have kids that can shoot the ball, but we've really had to talk to them about when the best times to shoot those are," said Vail. "And tonight we showed that when we get those off of kickouts and good ball movement, our percentage increases even more."

Emmerson also had a nice under-the-basket layin, while Feagan scored off a steal, then converted the and-1 opportunity. That was the last score of the first half, and Fishers led 37-19 after that.

"We got contributions from a lot of different players tonight and that's also something that I really like about this group," said Vail.

Delta ended the run by scoring the first basket of the third quarter, but Fishers kept itself solidly in control in the second half. The Tigers' defense played very strong, stealing practically at will; at times not allowing the Eagles to get past the half-court line.

"That's something we've been talking about doing more," said Vail. "That was one of our keys to success in the comeback win that we had over Pendleton Heights last week, was that we really picked the pressure up and were able to turn them over a little bit. And so we talked about that tonight and I was pleased with how our girls came out and did that."

Delta got to within 43-26 midway through the third, but a quick six-point run took care of that. Perryman made back-to-back baskets, then Feagan scored off a steal. The Tigers then held the Eagles to six points in the fourth quarter. Feagan and Cierra Tolbert each added four points in that period.

Three players hit double figures: Feagan scored 15 points, Perryman added 14 and Fulton contributed 11. Perryman reached double-double status with 10 rebounds, while Lydia Stullken grabbed seven and Emmerson collected five.

Feagan dished out four assists. The Tigers totaled 16 steals as a team, with Emmerson making five steals.

Fishers is 9-4 for the season and will go on the road for the next month, starting with a Friday game at Hamilton Heights.

Pacers blow 17-point lead, stunned by Raptors

By WHEAT HOTCHKISS
Courtesy nba.com/pacers

For the second straight night, the Pacers dropped a game in gut-wrenching fashion. A night after seeing their seven-game win streak snapped on a buzzer-beating putback, the Pacers (20-12) blew a 17-point second-half lead on Wednesday night in Toronto, falling to the East-leading Raptors (24-9), 99-96.

The Pacers entered the fourth quarter with a 10-point lead and held Toronto scoreless over the first three minutes of the final frame, but only managed three points themselves over that span. The hosts came alive shortly thereafter, stringing together a 13-2 run to make it a two-point game.

After Darren Collison and Kawhi Leonard traded baskets, Pascal Siakam corralled a long rebound and converted a layup in transition to tie the game at 92 with 4:12 to play.

Collison's jumper put Indiana back in front with 3:35 remaining, but Leonard answered with a jumper of his own with 3:07 on the clock.

Neither team scored again until Victor

Oladipo got a step-back jumper to fall with 1:36 remaining. The Pacers stopped Toronto on their next two possessions, but an eight-second violation on Oladipo after the second gave the ball back to the Raptors.

Danny Green missed a 3-pointer on that possession, but the rebound was tipped back out to Green, who dished to a wide-open Fred VanVleet, who buried a triple with 25.9 seconds left to give the hosts their first lead since the 9:59 mark in the first quarter.

The Pacers put the ball back in the hands of Oladipo, but Green forced a jump ball, which he won, giving the ball back to Toronto. Green was sent to the line with 2.5 seconds left and made both free throws to give the Raptors a three-point lead.

Indiana had a chance to tie the game, as Tyreke Evans inbounded to Bojan Bogdanovic. He went up for a shot and drew contact from OG Anunoby, but there was no whistle, as Indiana dropped another heart-breaker.

"You have to execute down the stretch offensively and protect the basketball, certainly get an attempt at the rim or at the basket and defensively you have to get stops," Pacers head coach Nate McMillan said after the loss. "Tonight, we didn't do either."

Oladipo led Indiana with 20 points in the loss, going 9-for-19 from the field, but also had six of Indiana's 20 turnovers.

"Things like this happen, unfortunately," Oladipo said. "Great teams just find a way to get out of it and just stay motivated, look forward. I know I have to be better down the stretch. I've excelled in those moments numerous times, so (it) just didn't go well the past two nights."

Bogdanovic added 18 points, while Myles Turner was a force defensively and finished with 10 points, 14 rebounds, and five blocks.

The Pacers moved in front with an early 13-4 run, then closed the opening frame with a 7-2 surge to take a 34-24 lead.

The Blue & Gold used seven unanswered points early in the second quarter to extend their lead to 15 points.

The Raptors reeled off a 12-2 run to trim the deficit to five, only for Indiana to rattle off another eight unanswered shortly thereafter. The Pacers maintained a comfortable advantage for the remainder of the half, taking a 58-50 lead into the break.

Bogdanovic caught fire after halftime, drilling three 3-pointers and scoring 11 points in the first seven minutes of the third quarter. His final three in that stretch made it 77-60.

The Raptors chipped a little off that lead, but a Bogdanovic free throw with one second left in the third gave Indiana a 85-75 advantage at the end of the frame.

Leonard scored nine of his game-high 28 points in the fourth quarter and also tallied 10 rebounds, six assists, and four steals. Siakam added 17 points, seven rebounds, four assists, and three steals for Toronto.

Domantas Sabonis recorded a double-double off the bench for Indiana, finishing with 12 points and 10 rebounds. Thaddeus Young was the fifth and final Pacers player in double figures, finishing with 11 points and five boards.

The Pacers are the only team in the NBA that has not dropped three consecutive games in all of 2018. They will need to pick up a road win at the suddenly surging Brooklyn Nets, who have won seven straight games, on Friday night to keep that stat alive.
