Atlanta Fire honors lifetime of service

At the 2018 Atlanta Fire Department Christmas party on Dec. 8, Douglas Stoops was honored as a lifetime member of the department. "This was for his time, effort and service to the community and the department," Atlanta Fire Chief Jerry Liston told The Reporter. "In April, Doug will reach 44 years on the department. Not only did the department think he was worthy of this award, but the town did also." The department has only honored three other firefighters with lifetime member plaques, all posthumously. Stoops is the first to receive his award while still serving as a firefighter. The award was presented by Chief Liston.

Megan Baumgartner named Fishers Economic Development Director

The REPORTER

Fishers Mayor Scott Fadness has announced his promotion of Megan Baumgartner as Economic Development Director effective immediately following the departure of Brandon Dickinson in October 2018. Baumgartner formerly held the assistant director position for the department and previously was with the Indiana Economic Development Corporation.

"Megan has represented Fishers well during her time here and has proven to lead our city in the right direction as we strive to be a place where business thrives," said Fadness. "With this team in place, Fishers will continue to dedicate its efforts toward providing service and partnership to entrepreneurs, innovative firms and small business."

During her tenure at the City of Fishers, Baumgartner has led the city's business retention, expansion and attraction project efforts while serving as the main point of contact between Fishers businesses and the City. Since 2015, Baumgartner has been part of the team responsible for attracting 25 new companies to Fishers resulting in $500 million in capital investment and 4,900 new high wage jobs. Baumgartner led the city's efforts to become a Duke Energy Site Readiness Program city in 2018.

Baumgartner

Baumgartner holds a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and Spanish from Purdue University and lives in Fishers with her husband and two children.

Jordin Alexander joined the Fishers Economic Development team in September 2018 as Economic Development Specialist. Alexander is responsible for all redevelopment project coordination, compliance, programming and outreach for the department. Alexander is a graduate of Brown University and holds a Master of Public Administration from Florida Gulf Coast University.

A different kind of courage

I think I'm riding on a high from watching Spider-Man: Into the Spider-Verse last Saturday with my son Jonathon. If you haven't seen this movie yet, I highly recommend it. It doesn't matter if you're not into comics, animated movies or whether a "PG" film isn't typically your thing. It's brilliant and has some tremendous messages.

One of these messages involves courage. It made me think about a constant prayer I had years ago.

Around 2012 or so, I felt like something was missing in my life. Yes, I had a great family, wonderful friends, a nice little home and a good career. I was doing volunteer work here and there and enjoying my community. But I felt like I'd never done anything truly courageous in my life.

At the time I pictured a courageous act as one where I'd boldly speak my mind on a heated topic without fear in front of a group. Or where I'd defend someone who was being bullied. Or where I would push someone out of the way of a speeding car or rush into a burning building to save an elderly lady.

So I asked God to put me on a path to do something courageous, something like what I had imagined. But of course, He never operates the way we think He will.

In the spring of 2013, my mom fell in her home in Mishawaka, near South Bend, and broke her leg in multiple places. With my brother traveling on vacation at the time and my sister in Florida, it was up to me to drive the 2 ½ hours north to be with her. My husband John had to stay here to take care of our boys.

Thankfully my nephew and his wife could be with Mom while I made the drive. I'll never forget how badly I was shaking that day as I traveled up Highway 31. Shortly after I arrived at the hospital, my nephew and his wife left to be with their young son. Soon the orthopedic surgeon was showing Mom and me X-rays and discussing the surgery he would perform that very evening.

The X-rays looked awful and I couldn't believe what would be involved in fixing

Meet Me on Main debuts Saturday in Carmel

The REPORTER

Meet Me on Main debuts this Saturday, Jan. 12 in the Carmel Arts & Design District. It will include all of your favorite components of the Second Saturday Gallery Walks including live music, face painting and caricatures, new exhibits and features in local art galleries and businesses staying open until 9 p.m.

Meet Me on Main will offer expanded options of "hands-on" art for the public offered every month. In January, The Art Lab joins the fun to create pressed clay coasters from 5 to 8:30 p.m. This event is free and no sign-up is required. It will be held at 110 W. Main Street, Suite 125, next to Highgarden Real Estate.

New to Meet Me on Main is a monthly drawing. Each month, three $100 gift cards to businesses in the Arts & Design District will be given away. To enter, participants can visit participating galleries and businesses to fill out an entry form. Only one can be filled out per location but the more businesses visited, the more you can increase your chances. There is no purchase necessary to participate.

The City of Carmel's Caffeine Trail returns in January for Tea Tasting 101. Discover the variety of tea types along with a tea tasting as Tina Jeson, owner of Tina's Traditional Tea Room (30 N. Range Line Road) discusses the possible health benefits of tea, how tea is processed to form each variety and benefits and flavors of herbal teas. Tina's classic cucumber sandwiches and shortbreads will also be available as snacks for the evening. The Caffeine Trail will also sponsor three gift baskets that will be given away to one lucky person each hour. Tea Tasting 101 takes place at the top of each hour at 5, 6 and 7 p.m.

Special gallery exhibits will be featured throughout Meet Me on Main including:

- Hoosier Salon will be featuring Winter Light, an exhibit of winter scenes by some of Indiana's best landscape painters including Roy Boswell, Corrine Hull, Pam Newell, Jerry Smith and many others. (111 W. Main St., #140)

- Art Lab will be open during Meet Me on Main for open studio work in addition to their Make & Take Project on Main Street. (31 E. Main St., #300; enter via 37 E. Main St.)
- Visit CCA Gallery's Indoor Sidewalk Sale for great original art at fabulous prices. The sale continues through the month of January. (111 W. Main St., #135)
- In January, the Carmel Arts Council Children's Art Gallery will feature student art from Prairie Trace Elementary, CCS middle schools and Carmel High School. The Community Art exhibit will feature Cartier artwork from the CHS Life Skills Class. (40 W. Main St.)
- Soori Gallery features paintings, bronze and acrylic sculptured works by leading American and international artists. Featured sculptors include Michael Wilkinson, Frederick Hart, Jerry Joslin and more. (33 E. Main St.)

Riverview Health implements temporary visitor restrictions

The REPORTER

As the number of flu cases is increasing, Riverview Health is taking added precautions to protect patients, families, staff members and the community from unnecessary exposure to influenza.

Beginning today, Riverview Health is implementing these temporary visitation restrictions:

- No visitors with influenza-like illness, fever or cough.
- No visitors under the age of 16, unless special arrangements are made.
- No visitors except immediate family, partner or significant other.

As Riverview Health works to provide a safe environment for patients and staff, administrators apologize for any inconvenience this visitation restriction may cause. Riverview Health will continue to monitor conditions and remove the restrictions as soon as it is safe to do so.

her leg. Mom would be setting off metal detectors in airports and other locations for the rest of her life.

With my heart thumping, Mom and I made the decision for her to undergo the surgery. I took a seat in the waiting room and updated everyone via text and phone.

Mom was 80 at the time. This wasn't minor surgery. I remember biting the back of my index finger often, a "stress" habit of mine, as I sat alone in that hospital, I prayed while I waited for what seemed like an eternity to hear how things went.

Finally, the doctor came out and told me that Mom did well, but would face a long road of recovery in rehabilitation. Still, she was okay. I was so relieved. I updated everyone again, gave Mom a kiss after she woke up, then drove to her house to spend the night and finally check on her dog.

As I struggled to sleep that night, it hit me that, in a weird way, God had just given me my chance to be courageous. And He would continue to give me more chances in the months and years ahead as I officially became a member of the sandwich generation.

I may not have to go into a burning building, but in a way, I'm helping to "save" someone every day – my precious mom. I'm grateful for this chance to be courageous in a unique and special way.

Noblesville GOP meets mayoral maybes

The Noblesville GOP Club held a meet and greet Wednesday evening at Scotty’s Brewhouse, 14741 Hazel Dell Crossing, Noblesville. The guest speakers were Noblesville mayoral candidates (from left) Mike Corbett, Julia Church Kozicki and Chris Jensen. The club thanks them for their sponsorship and looks forward to hearing more in the weeks to come. Answers to attendees’ questions will be posted on the Noblesville GOP Club Facebook page.

Mayoral candidate calls for standard in evaluating tax incentives

Dear Editor,

I have read with interest the letters recently published regarding the use of tax abatements to encourage economic development.

As Councilmen O’Connor and Peterson elaborated, new or expanding businesses may ultimately increase the tax base and those business owners have developed an expectation of support for their projects. There are certainly circumstances when the use of tax abatements or tax increment financing (TIF) are appropriate.

The question that must be decided by an administration and/or a city council considering the request for such support is what are the benefits to the city in increased jobs, increased tax base, or in addressing a need identified before the request was made. Those potential benefits must be weighed against the lost taxes to the city in the short term, and in the case of TIF, the negative impact of other taxing entities (the schools, the library, etc.) over decades.

Again, there are certainly occasions when the potential benefits outweigh the negative impacts, but it shouldn’t happen every time.

I appreciate that the requests are available for public review on the city website. What mechanism is the city using to track the measurable benefits? The loss of tax revenue through abatements and TIF has led to the trash fee for city residents and the need for additional referendum dollars for our schools.

As a school board member for the last 12 years, I am unaware of any occasion when the schools were afforded an opportunity to provide input on potential abatements prior to their passage by the city. A school board member has a non-voting seat on the redevelopment commission to address potential TIF projects, but again, no vote.

Regardless, although there have been a number of recent projects which have received some form of benefit from our city administration and council, to date our taxes have gone up and our trash service is no longer included in those taxes but is now paid by a separate fee.

As Noblesville prepares for its bicentennial, it is critical that we approach economic development opportunities with intentional focus and with a transparent methodology for evaluating when stimulus in the form of tax abatement or TIF support is appropriate.

If elected mayor, I will engage the community in creating the standards to evaluate when and where tax incentives (through TIF or abatement) are appropriate.

Julia Church Kozicki
Republican Candidate for Mayor of Noblesville

Fishers City Councilors Cecilia Coble, David George both file for re-election

The REPORTER

Cecilia Coble, Fishers City Councilor At-Large, announced on Wednesday that she has filed for re-election to the seat she has served in since Fishers became a city in 2015.

Coble serves as Chair of the Fishers Advisory Committee on Disability where she championed efforts to raise awareness and open opportunities in the business community for individuals with disabilities. Those efforts helped lead to Fishers receiving the 2017 Champions of Inclusion Award by the Indiana Governor's Council for People with Disabilities. Coble also co-chaired the Parks & Open Space Task Force for the development of the 2040 Parks Master Plan and City of Fishers Comprehensive Plan.

"I'm proud of what Fishers has accomplished in the last five years," said Coble. "Not only have we continued to build Fishers through sound economic development, top-notch parks and recreation opportunities, and fiscal responsibility that is second to none, but we have also led to bring awareness and inclusion, creating a better quality of life for all our residents. I look forward to continuing our momentum of creating a strong sense of place in Fishers by prioritizing fiscal responsibility, public safety, and the efficient and effective delivery of city services."

As a daughter of a retired FBI Special Agent, Cecilia is an advocate for law enforcement. She is also a founding member of the Fifty Club of Fishers, which provides supplemental life insurance and disability benefits to Fishers firefighters and police officers who are injured or killed in the line of duty.

Coble was recently appointed to the newly formed Fishers Arts & Culture Commission, serves on the boards of the Bev Hartig Huntington's Disease Foundation and the Giving Hope Foundation, and is an Associate Member of the Christamore House Guild.

Coble received her B.A. from the University of Arizona and she holds a J.D. from the Indiana University Robert H. McKinney School of Law in Indianapolis. After law school, she worked as a Government Relations Representative for Bank One Consumer Lending Group and as a Project/Account Manager for Pangea Lingua Translations & Communications in Indianapolis.

She and her husband Mike have been married for 25 years. They have two teenage daughters, Alexa and Crysta, who has autism and cognitive delays.

The REPORTER

Fishers City Councilor David George filed paperwork to seek re-election on Wednesday to continue representing Fishers' Southwest district.

As a 16-year member of the Fishers City Council, George has helped guide the growth, economic development and strong financial position the city is in. Fishers was recently recognized as a AAA bond rated city, one of only a few cities in the state with that distinction.

In his last four years on the council, George shepherded an unprecedented amount of investment into the community. He helped shape the city through the downtown redevelopment plan and creation of the Nickel Plate District. He is currently a member of the Fishers Chamber of Commerce, and as councilor, has helped negotiate multiple public-private partnerships within the city.

"Fishers has seen incredible growth and success in recent years, and I'm excited to build on that momentum by continuing to make Fishers a great place to live, work and raise a family," George said. "I am committed to maintaining responsible, transparent and conservative government while also delivering top notch city services, improving the city's infrastructure and continuing to pursue economic development opportunities for Fishers."

Looking forward, George's top priorities include promoting local entrepreneurship and fostering innovation, as well as investing more in city infrastructure. Entrepreneurial initiatives include further development of Launch Fishers, the Internet of Things (IoT) Lab, and the new Makerspace at 106th Street and Interstate 69. George's focus on increasing investment in infrastructure is aimed at improving neighborhood streets, curbs and sidewalks.

George is Vice President of Development at CRG Residential and is a member of both the Metropolitan Indianapolis Board of Realtors and the American Society of Civil Engineers. He has lived in southwest Fishers for 23 years.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Then came also publicans to be baptized, and said unto him, Master, what shall we do? And he said unto them, Exact no more than that which is appointed you. And the soldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, And what shall we do? And he said unto them, Do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely; and be content with your wages. And as the people were in expectation, and all men mused in their hearts of John, whether he were the Christ, or not; John answered, saying unto them all, I indeed baptize you with water; but one mightier than I cometh, the latchet of whose shoes I am not worthy to unloose: he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and with fire: Whose fan is in his hand, and he will thoroughly purge his floor; and will gather the wheat into his garner; but the chaff he will burn with fire unquenchable. And many other things in his exhortation preached he unto the people.

Visit High Frequency Arts today in Fishers

The REPORTER

High Frequency Arts (HFA), a space designed to ignite creativity and its linkage to art, has launched of a contemporary art gallery, consulting services, and event and meeting venue. Located in the Downtown Nickel Plate District of Fishers, HFA opened its doors to the public last month, and an open house celebration is taking place from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. today.

"Nickel Plate Arts is very excited to welcome High Frequency Arts to the Fishers community. This gallery will be a vital addition to the city's recently designated Cultural District and fills an important gap for artists and art patrons alike," said Alithir McGill, Executive Director of Nickel Plate Arts. "I am personally excited about the philosophy and dedication to helping artists grow and prosper as entrepreneurs."

HFA can assist with everything from gallery floor sales to sourcing and procuring artworks, art project management and for those who prefer to temporarily lease or rotate an art subscription program. The gallery layout itself is versatile and high-tech, able to host pop-up events and creative programming for the public to experience and those interested in igniting creativity and being infused around art, private meeting and event space.

"I'm an entrepreneur at heart and blessed to have career experiences centered around operations and leading people and culture-centric strategy, but over the last few years, I began exploring my personal interest more by immersing myself in art, it led me to a deeper cognitive understanding of the power, influence and higher frequency it can ignite within us," said Jill Lehman, Owner of High Frequency Arts. "The objective of HFA is to be a conduit, bringing together artist with art lovers as well as the art novice in a space and with services that are engaging, inspiring and innovative. If we do this right we help invigorate interest in art, our clients find art that they love, ignite inner creativity, tune-up spaces and support art careers."

HFA partners include local and nationally based artists, entrepreneurs, community art councils, chefs, sommeliers, authors, professional speakers and coaches, training organizations, event planners and interior designers to bring together a variety of upcoming programs and events at the Fishers gallery.

To learn more about High Frequency Arts or to see a schedule of events please visit highfrequencyarts.com.

Girls basketball

Busy 'Blazers roll past Beech Grove

By RICHIE HALL

CARMEL - It's been a busy new year for the University girls basketball team.

The Trailblazers have played four games in the past eight days, including back-to-back games Wednesday and Thursday. While University's players may be tired, they are still winning; the 'Blazers took care of Beech Grove 66-41 Thursday at the U Center.

University, ranked No. 3 in Class 1A, never trailed in the game, although it needed about a quarter and a half before it was able to get a comfortable margin against the Hornets. The Trailblazers made their first serious run late in the first period, scoring seven straight points to go up 14-6. Jenna Blakley hit a 3 as part of the run, and she was just getting warmed up.

The 'Blazers started the second quarter with another 7-0 run (including another Blakley 3), which gave them a 21-8 lead. Beech Grove cut it to 21-13, but Haley Tomlinson came into the game and nailed back-to-back 3s, getting University back up 27-13.

"That's what she does," said Trailblazers coach Justin Blanding. "She just brings that spark any time she's called on. She embraces that role, so when we put her in, we know she's going to make a shot. She's going to find a way to score. She just has a knack for scoring, so we knew she would do that."

Blakley threw in two more 3s during the quarter, and University went into halftime with a 39-21 lead. That became a 56-31 lead after three periods; Lily Snyder added six points in the third quarter, while Jhordan McGuire made back-to-back layins. All this was happening while the 'Blazers were contending with a tough pressure from the Hornets.

"I think we handled it well," said Blanding. "That comes with experience. We got seven seniors, so they've experienced a lot. They were used to seeing that kind of pressure. They handled it pretty well."

University sailed through the fourth quarter, at point leading 64-36. Blakley said Blanding. "That's been their thing. They share the ball well. They like to play for each other, so that's a good thing."

The Trailblazers are 17-1 for the season. Their next game is Saturday at Greenwood Christian, in the Pioneer Conference championship game. Tipoff is 2:30 p.m.

"We're looking forward to it," said Blanding. "Greenwood Christian, they always play us tough. They're well-coached. They were here tonight. We'll be ready. The kids are a little tired from playing a back-to-back and then we're in our January term. It's just one of those things, but we'll be ready."

Carmel overwhelms Kokomo

Carmel overwhelmed Kokomo 79-21 in a Thursday make-up game at the Eric Clark Activity Center.

The game was originally scheduled for Dec. 27, but was postponed after the explosion at the high school. The Greyhounds controlled the game from the beginning, leading 24-8 after the first quarter and 48-16 at halftime.

All 13 players that got into the game for Carmel scored. Macy Berglund led the way with 12 points, followed by 11 for Bridget Dunn and 10 for Reagan Hune. Riley Pennington and Hune both pulled five rebounds. The 'Hounds totaled 30 steals, with Hune getting six, and Dunn and Wood each making four.

Carmel is 9-9 and will host Fishers on Thursday.

‘Hawks edged by Knights, will compete at Tri-Central Saturday

Sheridan hosted Lafayette Central Catholic for its Senior Night meet Thursday at Hobbs Memorial Hall. The meet came down to the last match of the night, and the Knights won it in a major decision, giving them the meet 37-33. Despite the tough loss, Blackhawks coach Steve Leonard said his team wrestled well, and also "had some nice matches from some underclassmen." Noah Ehrie won the 126-pound match by fall, and Axel Aleman won a tense 138-pound bout by a 10-8 decision. Corbin Went, Kaden Harrold, Ben Woodward and Alden Hamersley all received forfeit wins.

Sheridan will compete at the Tri-Central Duals on Saturday, then wrestler in the Hoosier Heartland Conference meet next Saturday, Jan. 19. "Hopefully we'll go into conference and sectionals and do what we can," said Leonard.

Royals sweep North Central on Senior Night

The Hamilton Southeastern swim teams swept North Central Thursday in their Senior Night meet.

The Royals girls team won 118-67. Abby Harter was victorious in the 200 freestyle and butterfly, while Molly Pedersen won the 50 free and backstroke. Sarah Ballard finished first in diving. Olivia Harter led a 1-2-3 sweep in the individual medley, with Ellie Pedersen second and Molly Robinson third. Southeastern also won the medley and 400 free relays.

The 12 seniors honored were Courtney Broyles, Maggie Guindon, Sophia Kegley, Callie Legere, Anna MacLafferty, Laura MacLafferty, Katie Mueller, Hannah Pugh, Caitlyn Russell, Ashley Sinicropi, Halli Siwik and Olivia Vicory.

The Royals boys team won 132-53. DJ Rogers was a double winner in the 200 free and breaststroke. Also winning were Keegan Streett in the IM, Nathan Barr in diving, Thomas Reising in the butterfly, Evan Sellers in the 100 free, Connor Harrison in the 500 free, Blake Ratliff in the backstroke and all three relays.

Southeastern honored seniors Nathan Barr, Nick Bostock, Jacob Fierce, Matteo Fontanin, Collin Matasovsky, Ryan McNarney, Jannes Petersen, Blake Ratliff and Ben Rewers at the meet.

The Royals will swim at Zionsville on Tuesday in its regular-season finale.

Millers swept by Zionsville, will host Brownsburg Saturday

The Noblesville swim teams were swept by Zionsville in a dual meet on Thursday at the Millers' pool.

Both teams mixed up their lineups to test events for meets later in the season.

The girls fell 109-74, with Sammy Huff winning the 50 freestyle, Caitlin Marshall placing first in the breaststroke and Noblesville taking the medley and 200 free relays. The boys lost 116-70; Cameron Kramer was a double winner in the 200 and 100 freestyles. Jared Newman was first in diving and Jack Wolfred won the breaststroke.

The Millers will host Brownsburg at 10 a.m. on Saturday.
