Misery loves company

"Do not let the behavior of others destroy your inner peace." - Dalai Lama

Have you ever had certain people in your life that just seem to go out of their way to irritate you? Do you find that they provoke you to impatience and put you in a bad mood? Do they get under your skin like a splinter and just annoy the goodness right out of your day?

Well, I have a few of them. And no, they do not read my column.

I can't imagine the energy that some people put into their day to complicate the lives of others.

It's true what they say, misery loves company. Here are my thoughts ...

They can invite you into their misery but you don't have to accept the invitation.

You can smile and walk away from their cutting re-

If you stir manure, the stink will follow you.

Some of the happiest people I know have survived the attack of the harshest criticism. They have learned that the words may hurt but they don't have to carry and show the scars caused by them.

It's sad that some people carry so much bitterness that they feel the need to heap it upon others.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about.

But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.)

Prevail is strictly confidential, and since their core values include integrity and respect, they provide their services at no charge. Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

House supports Goodrich's How HSE Schools makes bill to boost state's workforce weather-related decisions

The REPORTER

The Indiana House of Representatives on Tuesday voted in favor of legislation to continue strengthening Indiana's workforce pipeline co-authored by State Rep. Chuck Goodrich (R-Noblesville).

Goodrich said House Bill 1002 would meet the changing needs of Indiana's employers by reallocating existing state funds to proven workforce programs so Hoosiers can increase their certifications, earn stackable credentials and secure higher-paying jobs in high-demand fields.

"A skilled workforce helps fuel Indiana's economy," Goodrich said. "As an employer, I understand the value of workforce training to companies large and small, and I know firsthand how skilling up can lead to a higher paying job in an in-demand field."

According to Goodrich, the legislation would also prioritize career and technical education and provide additional flexibility for schools to partner with employers to establish more work-based learning opportunities. To explore and learn more about opportunities after high school, Hoosier freshman and sophomores could enroll in a CTE or college preparatory course funded through career coaching grants.

"The Career Coaching Grant Fund Program would bring schools and companies together to educate students on various career opportunities available without a four-year college degree," Goodrich said. "Reaching the next generation earlier in their schooling would prepare them to learn valuable skills needed to be successful after graduation."

"There are five actors, but only four are seen on stage," Fesmire explained. "The fifth will only be seen on a television screen or heard with the psychiatrist."

Casting this play was a challenge for Fesmire, especially when it came to finding her leading lady.

"I had so many strong women show up," she said. "Trying to choose one was very difficult. I truly feel I could have cast this play with about four different women. Over $60M in unclaimed property Vendors wanted for returned to Hoosiers in 2018

Indiana Attorney General Curtis Hill returned $61.01 million in unclaimed property during 2018 – $2.1 million more than the amount returned in 2017.

"Our responsibility to collect, hold and disperse unclaimed property sets us apart from attorneys general across the rest of the United States," Hill said. "We take this role very seriously and work aggressively every single day to return unclaimed property to its claimed Property Division (UPD) rightful owners."

To reach owners of unclaimed property, the Office of the Attorney General uses mailings, social media, online and print advertisements, and local media coverage. Staff members crisscrossing the state in the Attorney General's Mobile Operations Center (MOC) also help constituents search for unclaimed money. During 2018, in fact, staff members with the MOC helped Hoosiers find $430,030 in unclaimed money on the Unclaimed Property Division's online database.

In the spring of 2018, the Unupgraded to a more streamlined claiming process to make the experience more efficient for claimants. Internally, the changes have enabled the claim review process to go paperless, allowing for a more fluid and Unclaimed property refers to any financial asset with no activity by its owner for an extended period of time. This includes unclaimed wages or commissions; savings and checking accounts; stock dividends; insurance proceeds; underlying shares; customer deposits or overpayments; certificates of deposit; credit balances; refunds;

The Hamilton Southeastern girls basketball team beat Carmel 47-34 on Saturday to win its first sectional championship since 2007. The Royals are now 23-1 and will play at the Kokomo regional next Saturday.

Defense leads Royals to long-awaited championship

By RICHIE HALL

FISHERS - Defense wins championships, and Hamilton Southeastern's defense brought it a long, long awaited girls basketball sectional championship on Saturday night.

The Class 4A No. 1 Royals won their first sectional since 2007 (and fourth overall) by beating Carmel 47-34 in front of a large and screaming crowd at the Southeastern gym. With the victory, the Royals earned a trip to play in the Kokomo regional next Saturday.

It's worth the wait of one more week for a process that began last summer.

"We started back in June," said Southeastern coach Chris Huppenthal. "I told our kids, we weren't going to win a sectional championship in February, we were going to win it starting right now. And from Day 1 in June, when we got together in the sectional champion coming into the game, we told our kids in the locker room before we came out that we had a passion and we had a commitment to come out here to play with some fire, to play with some enthusiasm. That's what our kids did. Played with a lot of energy."

That energy and passion began spilling out with under two minutes left in the game, when the Royals players realized that they were going to win.

"It just means everything," said senior Malea Jackson. "This is what we've been working towards since the end of last season. This is our one goal that we've been going for. It's just a great feeling, I can't even put it into words. We've become such a best feeling in the world."

Carmel was the three-time defending without a fight. They kept it close with the Royals in the first quarter, which ended with a layin by senior Reagan Hune and Carmel leading 10-8. Junior Sydney Parrish scored six of HSE's points.

Southeastern started the second period with an 8-0 run, and it would never trail again. Jackson hit a 3-pointer, then senior Amaya Hamilton added five more points, a layin and a 3. Senior Macy Berglund ended the run with a pair of free throws, but that was followed by another Royals run: Junior Jackie Maulucci made a 3-pointer and a free throw, and Jackson threw in another 3 to put Southeastern up 23-12.

Baskets by sophomore Bridget Dunn and family and to win this together, it's just the Hune cut the Royals' lead to 23-16 by halftime. The third quarter was a defensive affair, with Southeastern scoring five points and Carmel four. Jackson hit a 3 and Parrish made a jumper, while Berglund hit two free throws and Hune made a lavin.

"That's the only thing we work on in practice: Defense, defense, defense. Defense wins championships. We get offense based on the defense," said Jackson.

A putback by Hamilton began the fourth quarter, and that pushed the Royals' lead to 30-20. Carmel made one last stand, with Dunn draining a 3 and Hune scoring again, cutting the HSE lead to 30-25. But Southeastern made yet another 7-0 run to jump ahead 37-25; Parrish added another five

Two more Hune baskets got Carmel within 37-29, but the Royals would finish the game out from the free throw line, going 10 of 12 from the line in the final two and a half minutes.

Parrish scored 16 points, with Jackson adding 13, including three 3-pointers. Parrish had a fine defensive game with nine rebounds and two blocked shots. Hamilton had five rebounds. Tayah Irvin had another solid defensive game.

Hune scored 14 points for Carmel, which finished its season 14-11. Hune and Mackenzie Wood both pulled four rebounds.

"They played so hard," said Greyhounds coach Erin Trimpe. "We had a game plan and in the first half, we really fought summer, these kids had a goal to focus. And so the Greyhounds weren't going down defensively. We executed it. But Hamilton Southeastern, they're so good. They're so solid in their sets and what they're running. They didn't panic when we got a couple stops. You have to give them a lot of credit for the way they handled themselves

> The Royals will play the winner of the DeKalb sectional in the first semi-final at Kokomo next Saturday morning. The DeKalb championship will be decided on Monday between Fort Wayne Northrop and Fort Wayne Carroll. Homestead and Zionsville will play in the second semi-final, each team having won their respective sectional on Saturday.

> Southeastern is 23-1 for the season, the most wins for the Royals since 2007.

Millers get solid victory over Mount Vernon to a tremendous start."

NOBLESVILLE - There were three third. ingredients to Noblesville's 48-38 victory over Mount Vernon on Saturday afternoon.

First, take one solid first half of play that saw the Millers make effective scoring runs to get some separation over the Marauders. Then add a third quarter of Noblesville keeping its composure when Mount Vernon made its run, and top it off with a fourth quarter of solid free-throw shooting.

Mix together in The Mill for 32 minutes, and you come out with a win.

"That's the game in a nutshell," said Millers coach Brian McCauley. "We got off saw Noblesville trail 7-6 midway through the first quarter, the Millers made a quick 6-0 run to take the lead and hold it for the duration of the game. Xavier Hines scored the first four points in that run, then Alex Hancock's layin made it 12-7.

The Marauders' Jacob Frank interrupted the run with a 3-pointer, but Hancock scored again at the end of the quarter to give Noblesville a 14-10 lead. That basket also started a 7-0 run; Zack Johnson scored three points, with Eagan Keever-Hill making a putback in between.

Jordan Schmidt later hit a 3-pointer, and Hancock continued his strong first-half play with another basket. That gave Noblesville a 24-12 lead. The first half ended with the Millers up 26-17; Hines added a rebound

"Xavier Hines was really good today defensively," said McCauley. rebounded well. He had some big rebounds for us." Hines totaled six rebounds for the Millers.

The Marauders went on their own 7-0 run that began at the end of the first half and continued into the third quarter. Peyton Meadors made back-to-back layins at the start of the period to get MV within 26-21. Meadors then made a three-point play to get his team within 30-27 with 2:04 left in the

But that would be as close as Mount Vernon would get. Neither team scored for the remainder of the quarter, and the Millers set the tone for the fourth period early when Johnson made two free throws just nine seconds into the quarter.

Noblesville made 14 of 15 foul shots in the fourth period: Johnson, Schmidt and Keever-Hill all went 4-for-4, while Alex Hunt was 2-for-3. Hunt also had an important basket with around two minutes left in the game to put Noblesville up 38-29, effectively sealing the win.

"Our entire team played well," said After some initial back and forth that McCauley. "We took care of the ball extremely well. We had five turnovers. We really knocked down our free throws."

Johnson led Noblesville's scoring with 15 points. Keever-Hill and Schmidt both added eight points.

"Zack was consistent throughout the game," said McCauley. "Eagan made his free throws. Jordan Schmidt made his free throws late and handled the ball well."

Noblesville is 9-8 and continues its homestand on Friday with a Hoosier Crossroads Conference game against Brownsburg.

Girls swimming and diving sectionals

Carmel, Fishers win team trophies, many county swimmers qualify for state

The girls swimming and diving sectional finals took place on Saturday, the second step of the IHSAA post-season.

A good number of Hamilton County swimmers took the step from sectionals to state, qualifying a total of 54 swim to next week's big meet at the IU Natatorium. The state preliminaries are Friday night, with the finals the following day.

At the Carmel sectional, the host Greyhounds put themselves in excellent position to contend for a 33rd straight state championship. Carmel won the sectional title (a state record 37th) with 561 points, plus qualified 24 swimmers for state and won 11 of the 12 events.

Kelly Pash was a double winner for the Greyhounds, taking the individual medley and butterfly races in state cut times. Other Carmel winners, all making state cuts as well, were Kendra Bowen in the 200 freestyle, Colleen Duffy in the 50 free, Gretchen Lueking in the 100 free, Ashlyn Underhill in the 500 free and Madelyn Christman in the backstroke. Freshman Darci Commons won the diving and advances to Tuesday's diving regional at Hamilton Southeastern.

The 'Hounds also swept all three relays, again beating the state cut in each event. Christman, Pash, Meredith Berglund and Duffy won the medley relay; Grace Pangburn, Avery Williams, Rachel Young and Lueking paced the 200 free relay; and Sarah Myung, Underhill, Berglund and Bowen were first in the 400 free relay.

Winners automatically advance to state regardless of time, followed by any swimmer that matches or beats the state cut time in her event. Carmel had 14 additional qualifiers by time: Underhill and Lueking in the 200 free, Christman in the IM, Williams and Pangburn in the 50 free, Berglund in the butterfly, Williams in the 100 free, Bowen and Morgan Croaning in the 500 free, Taylor Conley and Duffy in the backstroke, and MacKenna Lieske, Maggie Love and Sarah Jarding in the breaststroke.

Noblesville finished second in the team standings with 366 points. The Millers had the lone victory by a non-Carmel school: Sophomore Sammy Huff paced the breaststroke, winning the event in 1:03.86, two seconds faster than the state cut time.

The Millers also qualified two relays for state by cut times: Jordan Cooley, Huff, Caitlin Marshall and Abby Harvey reached the standard in the medley relay; while Marshall, Gillian Cripe, Sophie Resner and Huff beat the cut in the 400 free relay. In addition, a handful of swims were fast enough to possibly earn a callback, meaning it is fast enough to fill a field of 32 in the Westfield placed third as a team, scoring 348 points. The Shamrocks had three state qualifiers: Katherine Hand earned a state cut in the IM, as did Erin Verbrugge in the backstroke and the 400 free relay team of Hand, Kerry Effinger, Macy Hoaglan and Verbrugge. In addition, Taylor Jackson finished fourth in diving and earned a spot in the Tuesday regional.

Hamilton Heights finished fourth with 190 points, while Guerin Catholic was fifth with 133.5 points. Both schools advanced a diver to the regional: The Golden Eagles' Emma Abdalla placed second and the Huskies' Bailey Haworth was third.

Fishers won the championship at its own sectional, holding off rival Hamilton Southeastern by the score of 537-502. This marks the fifth sectional title for the Tigers, and its first since 2017.

Fishers won seven events and qualified 15 swims to the state meet. Hannah Pratt was a double winner for the Tigers, taking the 200 and 100 freestyles in state cut times. Other individual winners for Fishers were Alexandra Stein in the 50 free, Kara Robeson in the butterfly and Samantha Hietpas in the 500 free.

The Tigers won two relays as well. Stein, Kalliopi Agapios, Ellen Fero and Pratt teamed up to take the 200 free relay, and Fishers finished the meet with Fero, Stein, Abigail Jahns and Pratt winning the 400 free

The Tigers had eight additional swims qualify by time. The medley relay team of Agapios, Lydia Reade, Nicole Rueff and Fero made the state cut, as Lydia Reade and Corinne Yorkman both qualified in the IM, as did Morgan Booth and Jahns in the 500 free and Reade in the breaststroke. Fero also made the cut in the 50 free, and she did so in the consolation heat of that event, winning that race in 24.07 seconds. Fero received ninth place for scoring purposes, but she is headed to state regardless. Morgan Casey finished second in the diving and will compete in the Tuesday regional.

Fishers coach Joe Keller said that the focus for his team was on progress, and not

'Today is about celebrating our progress and they did a great job in that and gave us a reason to celebrate," said Keller.

The Royals had three event winners. Sarah Ballard took the diving with a score of 465.40 points and will be one of three Southeastern divers at the regional. Halli Siwik finished in third place and Ashley Sinicropi was fourth.

In the pool, the Royals got a win from the medley relay team of Abigail Harter, Molly Robinson, Hannah Pugh and Brianna Saple. Harter also won the backstroke, finishing nearly two seconds faster than the state cut time.

Molly Pedersen qualified for state with cut times in four events. Individually, she qualified in the 200 and 100 freestyles, then joined Southeastern's other two state-qualifying relays, joining Pugh, Ellie Pedersen and Saple in the 200 free relay and Ellie Pedersen, Saple and Harter in the 400 free relay. Pugh also qualified in the butterfly and Robinson qualified in the breaststroke. Several times were also fast enough to potentially earn callbacks as well.

The Pacers snapped a four-game losing streak Saturday night by knocking off the Heat in Miami, 95-88.

"The guys worked hard," Pacers head coach Nate McMillan said. "I thought tonight was a better rhythm. They were able to finish this game and played like a team."

The Pacers came out firing in the third, starting the quarter with a 10-0 run to lead 63-54 and force a Miami timeout. After, they
