Sheridan Rotarians honor two Rotary Youth Leaders

Everyone has a story

The REPORTER

The Sheridan Rotarians entertained two very special young people on Tuesday evening: Nolan Miller and Allacyn Rogers. Both are juniors at Sheridan High School and were chosen by school administrators to enhance their leadership skills by attending the annual RYLA (Rotary Youth Leadership Awards) program at Camp Tecumseh in northern Indiana.

Rotary Youth Leadership Awards is a leadership program coordinated by Rotary Clubs around the globe. Each year, thousands of young people participate in this program. Young people ages 13 to 30 are sponsored by Rotary Clubs in their communities and attend this leadership program which is run by the home club's district committee. This is the seventh year Sheridan Rotary has sent students to the two-day event.

At the Rotary meeting on Tuesday, Nolan and Allacyn reported on their activities, including the friendships made, challenges overcome and leadership concepts learned. Sheridan's Rotarians could not Seek and ye shall find . . .

It takes time. The story is there. It is only when we take the time to find out what that story is, can we really know someone.

The more we know about someone the more we understand them. Why they are the way they are.

When we know their story we value them more. We get a peek inside not only their mind but their heart.

The higher my age becomes the more I seek to find the stories of the people ple in my life, not just friends, but those who are part of my community.

The server at the restaurant. The nurse at my mother's assisted living. The cashier at the drug store who always greets me with a smile.

I have learned to ask questions. How long have they been doing what they are doing? What is the best part about their job? Why did they decide to do what they are doing?

Over time, the questions

Rep. Todd Huston recognizes Hamilton County's top-placing We the People teams

The REPORTER

State Rep. Todd Huston (R-Fishers) honored local We the People teams on Tuesday at the Statehouse with a resolution recognizing their top-place finish in the 2018-2019 state competition.

In December, teams from Hamilton Southeastern High School and Fishers Junior High School won the We the People state championship in the high school and middle school competitions, respectively.

"We the People is a phenomenal program offering students a unique way to learn about the democratic process," Huston said. "These kids immerse themselves in complex civics debates and develop critical thinking skills that will serve them well in their academic career and beyond."

The We the People program was developed to teach students about the institutions of American constitutional democracy and enhance their understanding of the contemporary

More than 600 students from 14 high schools and

Both teams will travel to Virginia to represent Indiana nationally in the spring. The Fishers Junior High

Carmel announces summer paving projects

The REPORTER

The City of Carmel Street Department has issued a list of paving projects for the 2019 summer construction season. Proper street maintenance is important to keep drivers safe, reduce damage to vehicles on the road, to keep commerce flowing and help keep property values high.

Improvements to streets around the city have already begun. Many of the primary thoroughfares will be paved at night (between the hours of 6 p.m. and 6 a.m.) in order to be less disruptive for drivers. Streets within subdivisions will be paved during regular work hours.

"It is important to be reminded of the community's need for these projects in order to keep our infrastructure well maintained," said Mayor Jim Brainard. "The quality of our streets is one of the many factors that make Carmel such a wonderful place to live and work. It is vital to our small business community, which relies on a good roadway network to get products and customers to their places of business. Repairing and maintaining our streets not only reduces damage to vehicles, but also enhances property values and makes our community safer."

Click here to view a list of paving projects. The list is subject to change depending upon the results of the bid process, the price of oil and other variable factors. The total amount of roadways maintained by the Street Department is more than 460 miles.

Paving projects are necessary to maintain transportation safety. The Street Department completes an inspection to prioritize the order of street projects. The street crews appreciate the cooperation and patience of residents throughout the completion of the projects. The summer paving projects will only involve resurfacing of streets. Repairing streets with winter pothole damage is a continuous project of the Street Department.

Noblesville Lions recently hosted its annual Dodgeball Tourney in the Ivy Tech gym. The Lions Club extends its thanks to all the teams, sponsors and those that attended the event. The Club also thanks member Dave Marsh, the Chairman of the event, for all his hard work. Proceeds from the event will go to supporting KidSight, training of Leader Dogs for the blind, and other children's causes. KidSight is an eye screening event in schools, sponsored by the Lions, to detect early eye problems in children. (Above) During the tournament, the club hosted a 50/50 drawing. Carmel Clay Parks & Recreation announces internal promotions

Mehl

Carmel Clay Parks & Recreation (CCPR) named Eric Mehl recreation and facilities director. Mehl has worked with CCPR for nine years and most recently served as the Monon Community Center (MCC) assistant director.

"Eric is a great fit for this leadership role," said CCPR Director Michael Klitzing. "He is so passionate about CCPR and that has driven him to accomplish so much already in his previous roles – we are all eager to see what great things he will do as recreation and facilities director."

As recreation and facilities director, Mehl's responsibilities include logistics and operations throughout the park system. He oversees all facilities including the Monon Community Center, The Waterpark, pavilions and shelters, and splash pads as well as membership and all of the department's recreation programming and group fitness classes.

Mehl said he looks forward to engaging CCPR teams to work together on department-wide projects like expanding nature programming and bettering member and guest experiences.

Mehl, a Certified Park and Recreation Professional (CPRP), has extensive park and recreation leadership experience. In his previous roles, Mehl launched the Sea Dragons swim team, contributed to bringing the FlowRider® to CCPR and building its programming, and had a key role in the design for the activity pool play structure currently in The Waterpark.

"I'm very excited about the opportunities I'll have in this new role," Mehl said. "I'm looking forward to making an impact not only in this organization, but also in the community through the projects we take on. We have a great team in place and I can't wait to see what we accomplish together."

Mehl studied fine arts at The Ohio State University. He is an American Red Cross certified lifeguard instructor trainer and water safety instructor trainer, as well as a National Recreation and Parks Association Aquatic Facility Operator Instructor.

Three other staff members were also promoted within the Recreation and Facilities Division this year. Certified Park and Recreation Professional Matt Whirley was promoted to recreation services manager – programming. Certified Park and Recreation Professional Mike Normand was promoted to recreation services manager – member services. Sean Robert was promoted to recreation services assistant manager – aquatics/operations.

not only give insight into who they are but why they are the way they are. The questions become more about them as a person rather than what they do.

People are not all about their profession. They are about the way they were raised. They are about the obstacles they have overcome. They are about the soft places where they have been hurt. They are about hurt, abandonment, abuse, challenges and their village.

No one gets through this life without being knocked down or left alone.

I love asking people, "What would you be doing if you were not doing what you are doing?" I get a lot of funny looks when I ask that question. I love hearing their answers. They lead to more questions.

I do ask a lot of strange questions. I find the stories that people have are often fascinating.

One of my favorite questions is, "If there was a movie made about your life, who would play you, and why?" I love listening to the responses. For me, Diane Keaton. I think she has this quirky way about her. I like quirky.

People often put up a crusty appearance when they have had a deep hurt. I often wonder, when someone seems a bit ouchy, what has happened to them. We don't know the damage to their heart. We don't know what is going on in their journey. We can only know, they are hurting.

Hurting people hurt others. We sometimes just enter their day at the wrong time. We can exchange nastiness for nastiness or we can acknowledge that they are having a bad day and tell them simply, "Wow, life is hard and some days are more difficult than others." I love the looks I get when I say that phrase.

Sometimes, they realize that they are spewing their nastiness and change their attitude. Sometimes, well, they don't give a horse's patootie and we need to acknowledge them for what they are, a product of their environment or just the south end of a donkey. I try my best, as difficult as it may be, to treat everyone the way I want to be treated.

There is a new TV show that premiered this past Tuesday called "The Village." I am already hooked. You see, it's based on the stories of all the residents in an apartment building and how their lives intertwine and how they take care of one another, even when they, themselves need care.

What I have found is that some of the happiest people have the saddest stories. It seems that they have found a new appreciation for life after recovery or survival of what could have destroyed them.

They say that what doesn't kill you makes you stronger. While that is true, there is more truth to be found, if we seek and find the story.

There is so much to be discovered when we share our story with those whom we share our community. Some of the most comforting words are, "I've been there."

We all benefit when we take the time to seek and find. Perhaps we all need to take the time to ask a few questions and maybe we will find that we all have a story that needs to be told.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Prevail is strictly confidential, and since their core values include integrity and respect, they provide their services at no charge. Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County. – Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

You can drop off items at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, located at 14701 Tom Wood Way. You can also donate directly to Prevail of Central Indiana by visiting Prevailinc.org.

Indiana Artisan store returns to Carmel May 1

The REPORTER

Indiana Artisan has announced that it will open a new store on May 1, just in time for Mother's Day. The store will be located at 20 Range Line Road, only a few short steps north of Main Street in the Carmel Arts & Design District.

It will bring back all the functional and decorative art, small-batch foods, and special events that you enjoyed when Indiana Artisan was next to Joe's Butcher Shop.

Indiana Artisan is so looking forward to welcoming everyone to the new store that it will offer a Welcome Back gift to all former customers that visit in the first month.

The new space, which is currently the home of the Hoosier Salon, is in a meticulously restored building that is believed to have been built in the Roaring '20s. It will give the business more room to grow the amount of exceptional work made in Indiana. A gallery within the store will feature a different solo artist each month. You'll be able to meet each one during Meet Me On Main, the second Saturday gallery walks. Indiana Artisans will be invited to hold classes and special presentations in the store.

Indiana Artisan will continue to take part in the wide range of special events in the Arts District. In addition to meeting the artists who have solo exhibits in gallery, we'll bring back one of customers' favorite programs during the gallery walks – artist demonstrations. On May 11, potter Steven Skinner from New Carlisle will be doing slabwork in the store.

In the near future, Indiana Artisan will offer space in the store for nonprofits and community groups to hold small meetings or their own classes.

The store will be open 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday, Tuesday and Wednesday; 11 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Thursday through Saturday, with Monday hours by chance or appointment.

Carmel artists' work to be showcased at the Statehouse

The REPORTER

Artwork by two Carmel artists will soon be displayed at the Statehouse, according to State Reps. Donna Schaibley (R-Carmel) and Jerry Torr (R-Carmel).

Jody Bruns and Aren Straiger were selected to have their artwork decorate the Statehouse as part of Lt. Gov. Suzanne Crouch's Hoosier Women Artists initiative.

"These artists are two great examples of the talent found across our community," Schaibley said. "Their creations represent the Hoosier experience, and having them displayed in the Statehouse is a great way to bring a piece of home to the capitol."

"Supporting the arts fosters creativity and innovation in many aspects of life," Torr said. "Programs like the Hoosier Women Artists initiative not only bring people together, but also create opportunities to learn new skills and share stories. Congratulations to both of these artists."

Bruns' work, titled "On a Winter's Day," is a wood-cut reduction print and will be displayed in the lieutenant governor's office.

"I think it's really an honor they're supporting women artists and celebrating women's art in the state of Indiana," Bruns said. "So the fact that it will get to hang here and so many people will get to see it will maybe inspire them to do their own artwork."

Straiger's piece, titled "Winged Woman," is a linoleum-cut reduction print and will hang in Secretary of State Connie Lawson's office.

"Just to be represented among this talented group of women is a huge honor," Straiger said.

They and other artists were honored at a Statehouse ceremony as part of Women's History Month.

Sports at a big school vs. a small school

Editor's Note: The Sheridan Student Column is brought to readers by Sheridan High School's 10th grade English class, taught by Abby Williams.

Big schools and small schools, as you know, have their differences. Big schools have a lot more talent and normally have extremely good athletes, while small schools may not, and generally, their athletes play multiple sports. Bigger schools normally have more people who play in travel or AAU leagues, and their students normally have the money to have other coaches and trainers outside of school to help them. With this being said, small schools generally have the short end of the stick. Bigger schools have a much wider range of students to choose from when it comes to athletes; because of this they generally have better athletes and teams. This is also because they have more student-athletes playing in travel leagues or AAU. Smaller schools also run into the issue of their athletes playing multiple sports during the school year, so when it comes to the sport for that season, they haven't practiced or focused on it in a year. Bigger schools generally have more money to spend on coaches and equipment. This helps to better their teams in ways smaller schools can't. They can bring in big-time coaches and trainers to help provide more success with their teams and athletes. Also, with there being so many more students, there are more people who have more money. This means that those who do have more money can personally be going to private coaches who are helping them get better. They could be going to other coaches on the daily and getting better and better. Smaller schools tend to not have as much money, and they can't have more than a few coaches on staff for each sport, while bigger schools can have nearly five or six for small sports and 10 plus for sports like football. For example, a small school's baseball team typically has two coaches, a head coach and an assistant. However, a larger school may have multiple coaches for a baseball team, such as a hitting coach, fielding coach, pitching coach, catching coach, etc. They also have fewer people to choose from which leaves fewer people with as much money as those at the larger schools. This makes a big difference because they might not have as many talented kids to choose from to make their team really good. From playing at a smaller school and playing travel ball myself, I see a bunch of this. Playing softball for seven years and travel ball for six and a half, I've seen the difference between small and big school sports.

ADDYSON REAM
Sheridan High School Student

For example, this high school softball season, we have five girls who've played travel. If you were to go to Westfield, Noblesville, or Carmel, you would have most of the girls on the team playing travel. At Sheridan, there are only a total of 18 girls who play, so there aren't as many girls we can choose from; however, at a bigger school, you have more like 30 to 40 girls trying out. Most girls on varsity at these schools play travel and they have really competitive teams, but here only a few of our players practice with private coaches. I myself practice outside of practice and am lucky to have the money to do this, while others do not. At bigger schools, most of their varsity girls do have the money to do this and will. With this being said, this gives a little inside look to what I have experienced. Playing travel ball gives me the advantage to know more girls and recognize when they play both and have the money to do this with. With all of this being said, small schools generally have the short end of the stick. Smaller schools don't have as much money to spend on athletics, like coaches and equipment. They don't have as big of a student body, so they have fewer athletes to choose from for athletics. And with them having a lower student body number, they have fewer athletes who play travel or AAU or have the extra money to spend on outside coaches to help them get better.

Where did the first fire truck in the state begin service?

The REPORTER

This coming week in Indiana's history ...

1899 – Dorothy Stratton was born in Missouri. After earning her PhD, she moved to Indiana to serve as the first full-time Dean of Women at Purdue University. During World War II, she became the first female officer in the United States Coast Guard. In 2010, the Coast Guard Cutter Stratton was christened by First Lady Michelle Obama, who called Stratton "one of the most extraordinary women to serve our nation in uniform." Dorothy Stratton died in West Lafayette at the age of 107.

1912 – In South Bend, the first "automobile fire apparatus" was put into service at the Central Fire Station. It made its first run on April 2 with I. W. Sibel as driver. Sibel was one of the 66 firemen with the department.

1913 – Incredibly heavy rain led to massive flooding in several states, including Indiana, where towns along the White, Wabash and Ohio Rivers were devastated. Large areas of Indianapolis were under water. Governor Samuel Ralston ordered the National Guard to help with the crisis.

1916 – The cornerstone was laid for the new Indianapolis Public Library to be built on St. Clair Street on land donated by Hoosier Poet James Whitcomb Riley. Schools were dismissed so that pupils could attend the ceremony, which included a talk by author Meredith Nicholson. Music was provided by a chorus of 1,000 children.

1929 – The Marmon Company of Indianapolis introduced the "Roosevelt," the first automobile with a "straight-8" engine to be sold for under $1,000. Customers were already placing orders for the new model, named for former President Teddy Roosevelt. The Marmon factory was going strong, producing more than 200 cars a day.

1984 – Fourteen tractor-trailer trucks departed Owings Mills, Md., in the middle of the night as the Colts NFL team moved to a new home in Indianapolis.

Indiana Paralegal Association to celebrate 40th anniversary

The REPORTER

The Indiana Paralegal Association celebrates its 40th Anniversary this year and will be recognized for this accomplishment by the Indiana Senate at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April 2 in a ceremony to take place in the Senate Chamber. All members and well-wishers are welcome to attend. Gallery seating is limited, so early arrival is recommended.

The Indianapolis Paralegal Association was formed June 25, 1979, in response to the growing need for an organized professional association for paralegals, and became the Indiana Paralegal Association in 1983. The IPA has grown from an organization consisting of a small handful of pioneer members to the successful collaboration of several hundred paralegals that it is today. The IPA is dedicated to the professional development and education of its members and the establishment of ethics and professional standards for all paralegals in the State of Indiana.

The association will officially celebrate its 40th Anniversary with a CLE event to take place on Oct. 5, 2019. In the true IPA tradition, eight CLE presentations will be offered, intermingled with a celebratory luncheon. For additional information about this celebratory event, please visit indianaparalegals.org or email info@indianaparalegals.org.

AG Curtis Hill calls for protection of state lotteries

The REPORTER

Indiana Attorney General Curtis Hill joined a group of 24 other attorneys general in expressing concern over a sweeping legal opinion that may negatively impact state-run and multi-state lotteries, including Mega Millions and Powerball.

The letter, sent late Thursday to U.S. Attorney General William Barr and Deputy Attorney General Rod Rosenstein, argues the federal government's new legal opinion could reach beyond the realms of sports gambling and into areas traditionally controlled by the states, potentially jeopardizing in-state lotteries.

State-run and multi-state lotteries are a major source of revenue that represents billions of dollars in state funding used for vital state services. Losing these programs would negatively affect education initiatives, services for seniors and infrastructure projects.

"Whatever one's opinions about legalized gambling," Hill said, "we all can agree on the need for consistent and sensible rules governing states' participation in lotteries. Indiana relies on lottery proceeds to fund multiple worthwhile programs, and we rely on financial projections from past fiscal years when budgeting for the future. Our office works daily to protect the interest of Hoosiers, and that's what we're doing yet again in this instance."

The bipartisan letter contends the new opinion could call into question interstate transmissions related to all bets or wagers, even where fully authorized under relevant state law. That reality, combined with the increasingly interstate nature of internet and cellular transmissions, may mean conduct that was long understood to be legal now invites exposure to severe criminal penalties.

The new interpretation reversed the U.S. Department of Justice's prior, 2011 legal opinion, which prohibited only interstate transmission of information regarding sporting events or contests.

The coalition's letter seeks a meeting with Attorney General Barr and Deputy Attorney General Rosenstein. It also asks for an extension of Rosenstein's initial 90-day compliance window for an additional 90 days, until or beyond Aug. 13.

An extension would provide time for states to meet with the Justice Department and their vendors to enhance each state's ability to safeguard state services and its citizens.

Indiana joined 23 other states and the District of Columbia in the letter to U.S. Attorney General Barr and Deputy Attorney General Rosenstein.

Tips for conserving water at home

The REPORTER

Indiana American Water partnered with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to promote Fix a Leak Week, which ran from March 18 to 24. The national campaign, part of the EPA's WaterSense program, raises awareness about small leaks and other water waste that might be occurring within homes. Across the U.S., EPA estimates that U.S. households waste more than 1 trillion gallons of water due to leaks and that the average household could cut 10 percent off their water bill by spending a couple of hours every few months checking for and repairing these leaks.

As a Fix a Leak Week partner, Indiana American Water is offering advice to reduce the amount of water lost to household leaks.

"Even the smallest leaks can waste thousands of gallons per year, resulting in a large impact on your water bill," said Indiana American Water President Deborah Dewey. "A shower head losing 10 drips per minute ends up wasting 500 gallons of water in the course of a year. You could run 60 loads of dishes through the dishwasher with that amount of water."

On an institutional level, Indiana American Water is committed to fixing leaks by replacing or upgrading water infrastructure in order to provide clean, safe, reliable water to customers, and has invested more than $220 million in infrastructure improvements statewide over the past two years.

Indiana American Water has produced a helpful infographic and a downloadable leak detection kit to assist customers in locating and fixing common, and some not so common, indoor and outdoor water leaks.

"For the customers we serve in Indiana, more than three billion gallons of water are being lost to leaks annually," Dewey continued. "Fortunately, most common leaks can be easily corrected by maintaining and repairing fixtures and appliances on a regular basis."

Indiana American Water conducts ongoing customer education about wise water use to help preserve water supplies and recommends using the following tips to address costly household leaks:

- Assess your water usage during a colder month. If a family of four uses more than 12,000 gallons during this month, there is at least one – or more likely several – serious leaks.
- While not using any water, check your water meter before and after a two-hour period. If the meter registers any changes during this time, you most likely have a leak.
- Regularly check your faucets and pipes for leaks. As least once a season – and especially after extreme temperature changes – check faucet gaskets and pipe fittings for surface leaks, indicated by water on the exterior of the pipes. If you find a leak, have it fixed as soon as possible.
- Reduce faucet leaks by checking faucet washers and gaskets for wear and replace them, or, if necessary, replace the faucet with a WaterSense-labeled model.
- Place a drop of food coloring in your toilet tank and see if the water in the bowl changes colors within 10 minutes. If so, you have a leak. Leaky toilets are most often the result of a worn toilet flapper. Replacing the rubber flapper is a quick fix that could save a home up to 200 gallons of water per day.

• For a leaky garden hose, replace the nylon or rubber hose washer and ensure a tight connection to the spigot using pipe tape and a wrench.

• Check your garden and lawn irrigation system for leaks, or hire a certified WaterSense expert to check it for you.

• If you notice a soft, wet spot on your lawn or hear water running outside the house, the service line to your house may be leaking.

• Consider installing water and energy-efficient appliances. The EPA reports that certified Energy Star washing machines use up to 35 percent less water per load. Water-saving shower heads, toilets and faucet aerators also help cut your water usage.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And it came to pass, that, as he was praying in a certain place, when he ceased, one of his disciples said unto him, Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples. And he said unto them, When ye pray, say, Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so in earth. Give us day by day our daily bread. And forgive us our sins; for we also forgive every one that is indebted to us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil. And he said unto them, Which of you shall have a friend, and shall go unto him at midnight, and say unto him, Friend, lend me three loaves; For a friend of mine in his journey is come to me, and I have nothing to set before him? And he from within shall answer and say, Trouble me not: the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give thee. I say unto you, Though he will not rise and give him, because he is his friend, yet because of his importunity he will rise and give him as many as he needeth. And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened. If a son shall ask bread of any of you that is a father, will he give him a stone? or if he ask a fish, will he for a fish give him a serpent? Or if he shall ask an egg, will he offer him a scorpion? If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children: how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him? And he was casting out a devil, and it was dumb. And it came to pass, when the devil was gone out, the dumb spake; and the people wondered.

Carmel wins 4A boys basketball state championship

'Hounds hold off Giants for "special" win

By RICHIE HALL

INDIANAPOLIS - Carmel boys basketball coach Ryan Osborn was wearing a blue ribbon and had just taken a picture with his state champion team when he said this: "It's special. Carmel is special."

It was indeed a special Saturday night for the Greyhounds. Carmel had to battle from start to finish before finally getting past Metropolitan Conference rival Ben Davis 60-55 to win the Class 4A boys basketball state championship in front of a packed Bankers Life Fieldhouse. The 'Hounds finished their season at 26-1 and claimed the big trophy after being denied it last year.

Saturday night's victory marked the fourth state championship for Carmel in boys basketball, making it only the eighth school in IHSAA history to win so many titles. The Greyhounds also won state in 1977, 2012 and 2013.

"Carmel is special," said Osborn, who was an assistant coach for the Greyhounds' 2012 and 2013 state championship and took his team to state in his first year as head coach last season. "Across the board. Our administration, the support, the community. And it's hard to describe. It's great kids, great families, people that work hard. It's a great place to be and I feel very fortunate to be a part of it. And the winning helps, too."

The winning was fun, but it certainly wasn't easy. Although Carmel never trailed and the game was only tied once (2-2 in the first quarter), the Giants gave the Greyhounds a difficult battle for the entire game. Carmel never led by more than nine points, and Ben Davis answered every run that the 'Hounds made.

"They were tough in the first game and they were even tougher this game," said Carmel senior Luke Heady. "And they battled us through it all."

The Greyhounds made their first big run of the game during the latter minutes of the first quarter, scoring seven unanswered points to go up 15-6. Senior John Michael Mulloy started the run with a dunk, then senior Andrew Owens nailed a 3-pointer. Freshman Pete Suder hit a floater to put Carmel up by nine, and the 'Hounds eventually ended the first period ahead 17-11.

All over but the shouting: Carmel's Luke Heady (11) and Karsten Windlan (background) start to celebrate as the Greyhounds get closer to their fourth boys basketball state championship. Carmel beat Ben Davis 60-55 to win the Class 4A state title Saturday at Bankers Life Fieldhouse.

Suder scored on a tip back to give the 'Hounds another nine-point lead at 21-12. But that's when Ben Davis made its first big run, scoring seven straight points of their own. Dawand Jones, a 6-9 center headed to Ohio State on a football scholarship, made layins that sandwiched a 3-pointer from Kai Hickman-Steinman.

After a timeout, Mulloy made a quick layin to get Carmel back up by four, but Hickman-Steinman's basket cut it to 23-21. That would be the story of the second period, which finished with four straight free throws by BD's Jalen Windham, keeping the Giants within 31-30 at halftime.

Mulloy opened the second half with a basket, which Windham answered with a layin. Now leading 33-32, Carmel went on another 7-0 run. Suder scored on a layin, then made a steal, sent the ball to Karsten Windlan, who drained a 3-pointer. Suder put in another basket to get the 'Hounds up 40-32.

The Carmel boys basketball team toughed out a win over Ben Davis 60-55 to claim the Class 4A state championship on Saturday. This is the fourth win in program history for the Greyhounds, following state titles in 1977, 2012 and 2013.

ABOVE: Carmel's John Michael Mulloy won the Arthur L. Trester Mental Attitude Award. Mulloy will play for Butler University next year.

and especially in the tournament," said Heady. "He's going to be really, really, really special."

"Man, he was unbelievable," said Osborn. "Everywhere. Made big plays and has fun doing it. He's fun to watch, fun to coach. Enjoy coaching him for another three years. He's a heck of a kid, too."

The Giants scored the last five points of the third quarter. Jaylen Jennings converted a three-point play with 2:43 to go, then Jones made an off-balance basket at the buzzer, keeping Ben Davis with 40-37.

Owens started the fourth period with back-to-back scores, pushing Carmel ahead 44-37. The Giants cut that lead to 44-43 with a 6-0 run, starting with four more free throws with Windham, then Jones scored again. But Carmel always made the big basket when it needed to: Owens nailed a 3 to get Carmel up by four.

The 'Hounds called timeout with 2:03 left, leading 48-45, then went on a 6-0 run to lead 54-45. Suder hit a layin, then Heady and Windlan each hit a pair of foul shots. The Giants ramped up their defense during the last minute of the game, but Carmel held tough, making 4 of 6 foul shots in the final 23.2 seconds to ice the game.

"A lot of credit to the seniors," said Osborn. "They're grounded, they're humble, they're hard workers, they're together. Everything that we try to embody in Carmel basketball is what the senior class gave us this year. To finish it like this, as a coach, makes me so happy for them. More than anything, we want them to experience it and enjoy it."

Suder, the freshman, led the Greyhounds scoring with 14 points. Mulloy was next with 13, followed by Windlan with 11 and Owens with 10. All seven players that took to the court for Carmel scored, with Heady adding seven points. Robert Fry and Ben Frische came off the bench to score three and two points respectively.

Once the game was over, Carmel received another honor: Mulloy won the Arthur L. Trester Mental Attitude Award for 4A boys basketball. Mulloy, the son of Chris and Stacy Mulloy, was a three-year starter for the Greyhounds and is headed to Butler University to play basketball and study Business Management/Communications.

Mulloy was honored to participate in two state championship games.

"It's an honor to be a part of it," said Mulloy. "I love Carmel."

"So deserving," said Osborn. "Couldn't be a better kid." In fact, the coach believes another Mulloy deserving of another big honor: Mr. Basketball.

"And why not?" said Osborn. "We could sell our season on getting the ball to John Michael and he would have the numbers. But we don't. John Michael committed to winning. He was in back to back state championships, leads a team through two tournament runs, plays in the state championship game his junior and senior year, because he doesn't care about the numbers. He wants to win. In my opinion, he's just as much of a Mr. Basketball as there is anybody in the state."

Carmel boys win Large School team title, Millers' Tyler sets girls high jump record

The Carmel boys track and field team won the Large School championship at the Hoosier State Relays, which took place Saturday at Indiana University.

The Greyhounds scored 40 points, with Ben Davis the runner-up by scoring 35 points. Carmel won the 4x400 relay and placed second in the 4x800 relay; relays count double at this meet. Jakob Pearson placed seventh in the pole vault, and an eighth-place finish in the 4x200 relay rounded out the Greyhounds' scoring.

Westfield finished in eighth place with 21 points. Cooper Boehm took fourth in the 60 hurdles, with the Shamrocks also getting fifth-place finishes from the 4x800 and 4x200 relays.

Fishers took 10th place by scoring 19 points. Hayden Tobias won the shot put, with Anthony Campbell taking sixth in the long jump and Ethan Meyer finishing eighth in the 3200 run.

Hamilton Southeastern's Noah Malone won the 60 dash, accounting for all 10 of the Royals' points and their 22nd place finish.

In the girls meet, Southeastern placed second with 52 points. Kennedy Drish won the pole vault, with Lulu Black finishing second in the 3200 run. The Royals' 4x400 relay took second and the 4x200 relay was third.

Fishers and Noblesville tied for 12th place with 18 points each. The Millers' Shelby Tyler set a new meet record in the high jump at 6 feet and 1/4 inch. Tigers freshman Ella Scally finished third in the long jump.

Carmel scored 14 points to place 15th as a team. The Greyhounds' 4x800 relay led the way with a fourth-place finish.

In the small school division, Guerin Catholic and Hamilton Heights' girls teams tied for fourth place with 34 points each. The Golden Eagles had runner-up finishes from its 4x800 and distance medley relay teams. The Huskies had three relays place in the top five: Their 4x800 and 4x400 teams took fourth and the 4x200 relay was fifth.

Sheridan's Becca Merritt finished fourth in the shot put, scoring five points for the Blackhawks and placing them 28th as a team.

In the boys meet, Guerin Catholic finished in eighth place with 28 points. The

Noblesville Youth Baseball Opening Day Ceremony is April 12

Noblesville Youth Baseball has announced the details of its 2019 Opening Day Ceremony, which takes place Friday, April 12 at the Noblesville Youth Baseball Field of Dreams facility at Hazel Dell Elementary School, 3025 Westfield Road.

The facility will open at 5 p.m., with the ceremony to begin at 6 p.m. The ceremony and festivities will end at approximately 8:30 p.m.

The Indiana National Guard will arrive in a Blackhawk helicopter and land at the facility at 6:50 p.m. Approximately 10 troops will exit the helicopter and deliver the American Flag and first pitch baseball. The helicopter will orbit over the facility while the National Anthem is played by the Noblesville High School band. The helicopter will land again at 7 p.m. where visitors can meet with the National Guard representatives and tour the helicopter.

There will be music, bounce houses, face painting and other festivities for the kids. The Noblesville Parks Department will host an MLB Pitch, Hit and Run Competition after the ceremony ends.
