“Cheer for Pancakes” brings in over $4,300 for cancer patient . . .

The Westfield HS LEO Club broke its own record in raising money for Westfield alumna, teacher and coach Katlyn Stevenson as she battles cancer.

Westfield High School LEO Club's pancake breakfast sets record

The REPORTER

On Saturday, March 23, the Westfield High School LEO Club held its seventh annual pancake breakfast for charity. Each year the LEOs select a local organization or individual that will be recipient of the funds raised at the breakfast. This year's breakfast raised $4,357.09 – breaking the record of $4,100 set in 2017.

The LEO Club's recipient this year, Katlyn Stevenson, is a WHS alumna and is also the head cheerleading coach. Katlyn is battling Stage 3 adrenal cancer, a rare form of cancer that affects only about one in 1 million cancer patients.

Special thanks goes to the WHS baseball team for showing up, as a team, to support Stevenson. The LEOs also want to thank all the people who took time out of their Saturday morning to attend the breakfast, including Westfield Mayor Andy Cook and several Noblesville Lions Club members.

In the past, the LEOs have donated pancake breakfast proceeds to help pay for uninsured counseling costs for the first responders at the Sandy Hook Elementary School shootings, the Westfield Heart & Soul Free Clinic, Open Doors Food Pantry, “Elliott's Army” (a Westfield student fighting cancer), two young men from Westfield (one a senior at the high school and the other a student at Ball State at the time) who had recently lost their single-parent mother and another Westfield student battling a brain tumor who needed help with medical bills.

About the LEO Club

The LEO Club (Leadership. Experience. Opportunity) is an extension of the Lions Club International and is designed to help students gain experience as active participants in their community. According to Jeff Larrison of the Westfield Lions Club, “The LEO Club is helping meet all kinds of needs here in Westfield. Besides raising money for charities, the LEOs assist the Westfield Lions Club with our fundraisers and service work.

County's top Democrat calls for investigation

The REPORTER

Hamilton County Democratic Party Chairman Joe Weingarten on Thursday held a press conference outside Carmel City Hall. Weingarten is calling upon the Hamilton County Election Board to conduct an investigation into Carmel's mayoral election and alleged bribery claims.

"Today I am going to file a request with the Hamilton County Election Board to initiate an investigation into the possibility of a bribery or an extortion," said Weingarten.

"It's been alleged that Mayor Brainard's campaign offered a bribe to have his opponent Fred Glynn not run against him," said Weingarten.

Glynn is a current Hamilton County Councilman and is running against Carmel's longtime mayor, Jim Brainard.

At the press conference Weingarten said he would immediately be filing the proper paperwork with the Hamilton County Election

Hamilton County Clerk and Election Board Member Kathy Williams confirmed her office did receive Weingarten's request.

"We received it at 11:30 a.m. and copies have been forwarded to Election Board members and Hamilton County Attorney Mike Howard," Williams said.

Hamilton County's Election Board is comprised of two Republicans, Kathy Williams and Ray Adler, and one Democrat, Greg Purvis.

Williams told the Reporter the Election Board could review Weingarten's information at their next meeting on Friday, April 5.

School safety concerns will move polling sites

By FRED SWIFT
ReadTheReporter.com

Thousands of Fishers residents eligible to vote in the upcoming primary election will find their precinct polling locations have moved from past elections. The change in locations comes about because of school officials' concerns about safety. Apparently fearing a terrorist might enter the school during voting, Hamilton Southeastern has asked that no schools be used as polling sites.

Several hundred voters in Carmel and Westfield will also find their polling places changed for various reasons not related to the school safety concerns.

Countywide, 39,378 voters will find their Election Day voting place has changed, according to County Clerk Kathy Williams. She and her staff have been working on the changes since January.

Affected voters will be notified by mail of their

Zoning board denies controversial barn project

A controversial barn project in Hamilton County will not go forward.

The landowner said the barn would be part of his agricultural tech company but some neighbors are staunchly against it.

The Hamilton County Planning Commission gave the project a thumbs up in February. It was then passed to the Board of Zoning Appeals on Wednesday. After a vote, the project was rejected which puts property owner Terry Henderson at square one.

Henderson is the president of Achieva, an agricultural technical company and communications business. He said the barn would be used for training sessions and community events. Henderson did admit private functions like weddings could potentially take place.

Neighbor Ben Cox said the land is not zoned for commercial develop-new voting location. That notification process comes at a price; the mailings and the time involved by election workers amount to thousands of dollars. The post cards being used and postage amounts to $15,700.

State law provides that public buildings can be used as polling places if needed. Several schools in Hamilton County have been used for many years, but two years ago school officials began voicing safety concerns, Carmel Clay Schools were the first to announce they no longer wanted voting in their buildings.

County officials, apparently not wanting to debate the matter, agreed to move all voting to new locations at Monday's County Commissioners meeting. The changes in Fishers were approved without comment.

Williams said yesterday that she may need better locations for the 2020 general election, and asked that if any organization has a building with substantial parking space, she would like to hear from such a group. And, as is customary, workers for Election Day duty at the polls are being sought.

As the May 7 primary election nears, satellite early voting centers will be opening in the last two weeks before the election. These centers will again be located at Westfield City Hall, Fishers City Hall and the Carmel Public Library. Hours for voting may be found on the Hamilton County website under current election information.

ment. News 8 asked Hamilton County Planning Commissioner Mark Heirbrandt about the property. He said the project fits within the requirements.

"I think this truly comes down to not understanding that this is going to be an agricultural training barn," Henderson said.

"This business is actually a sales and marketing business," Cox said. "It has agricultural clients and that's a big difference.

The barn would have been built just off 276th Street in rural northern Hamilton County. Neighbors displayed their opinion by placing signs of disapproval along the side of the road.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Prevail is strictly confidential, and since their core values include integrity and respect, they provide their services at no charge. Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County. – Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

You can drop off items at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, located at 14701 Tom Wood Way. You can also donate directly to Prevail of Central Indiana by visiting Prevailinc.org.

Thanks for making The Reporter “Hamilton County’s Hometown Newspaper”

She was there

I met her in August of 1988 in McNutt Quad at Indiana University Bloomington. At first, Stacey was just an acquaintance – a friend of a friend. My friend April was actually closer to her than I was for a while. But Stacey gradually became a part of our circle during those first tumultuous months of college. I remember being drawn to her laughter and blue eyes.

Little did I know that this girl from The Region would eventually become my best friend.

She was there a few years later when my ex-boyfriend became overly emotional and showed up on her doorstep trying to find me. Stacey and I attended The Nutcracker Ballet that evening, one of my annual IU traditions, and I had no clue who had been at her apartment ready to turn my life upside down.

And even though she knew he wasn't right for me, she was there when I married my first husband a year after graduation. Stacey gently tried to tell me to reconsider, but we all know how blind love is. And she kindly didn't say, "I told you so" when I found the courage to leave him three years later.

When I did find the right man and had children in my early 30s, Stacey was there with a listening ear, good advice and patience, as she already had a preschooler and toddler. She had been around the parenting block a couple of times.

Through the wonders of online chatting, email and texting, Stacey and I began to communicate with each other almost every day. She soon became my "rock" in life.

So it was no surprise that she was there during one of the toughest days of my life in November 2016. That was the day I had to tell my mother she had to give up her house, her vehicle and essentially all she was familiar with and move to an assisted living facility.

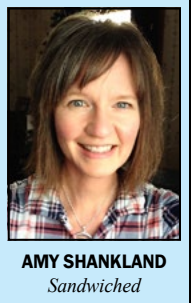

I had told my husband to stay in Noblesville that week, as it was Thanksgiving break, to be with our sons. My sister Vicky lives in Florida and my brother Mark and his wife were down here searching for a good facility for Mom. Mom lived in Mishawaka at the time, which is 2 and 1/2 hours from here.

"You shouldn't be alone during all of this," Stacey said. "I'm coming over."

On that Black Friday, when most people are normally shopping, decorating or just relaxing with their families, Stacey drove the hour and 15 minutes over to Mishawaka to sit by my side. Her presence was such a comfort as I talked with Mom, Vicky and Mark via conference call about what we would have to do. She made a hellish day more bearable and I'll always be grateful.

I thought about all of this last Saturday as Stacey and I enjoyed lunch with my mother and husband. Mom's memory isn't the best. When she first heard Stacey was coming, Mom said, "I don't remember her." But after seeing and talking with her, she smiled and whispered to me, "Yes, I remember Stacey now."

Of course you did, Mom. Because, as always, she was there.

Corbett's fifth principle: Improving infrastructure

Submitted

Mike Corbett has five key principles driving his campaign for mayor. For the past four weeks, he's been taking a deep dive into each of the five principles.

In the first four he explained what improved transparency looks like, how historic preservation can be an economic development strategy, how City Hall is letting down the Noblesville taxpayer and why it's important to build a values-based community.

The fifth and final principle is to work with a sense of urgency on infrastructure development, maintenance and improvement to regain the progress that's been lost over the past decade.

Infrastructure means lots of things, everything from sewer lines to Wi-Fi, roads to schools; but in general it's the environment created by our government with our taxes for the benefit of the public. A solid infrastructure is an important economic development tool: Good infrastructure attracts people and people attract businesses.

We've made progress over the past few years on repaving our alleys and city streets. We're in the process of upgrading our sewer system and our utilities are generally reliable. But if we're going to compete for people and businesses, we can't just maintain the status quo, we have to be forward-thinking and ambitious.

Here are four areas where we can improve:

Transportation

For the past 75 years, virtually all of our transportation infrastructure has been focused on cars, but people want transportation diversity these days and our transportation infrastructure must reflect those values. Neighborhoods should be walkable as well as drivable. They should be connected by more than just streets, and our streets need to accommodate more than just cars. Trails should be more than just recreational; they should connect neighborhoods to stores, churches and schools.

Government must work harder and smarter to promote transportation diversity, which will lead to a healthier community and less traffic congestion as the city continues to grow.

Parks

We have wonderful parks in Noblesville, but we only have six of them. Now is the time to explore new opportunities, especially in Wayne Township and along Stony Creek, much of which has yet to be developed. Green space and recreation are important amenities but they're very difficult to develop after the fact.

Many of the world's finest cities are developed around the backbone of a park system. We should be able to do the same.

Downtown

It's been called Noblesville's Crown Jewel. Our downtown is distinctive because of its historic nature, walkability and authenticity, yet we invest surprisingly little in it beyond basic maintenance. The trash fee was passed several years ago with a promise that a portion of it would go toward improving downtown, yet we've seen very little progress on that beyond a study.

It's time to fulfill that promise and start investing in this unique asset that distinguishes Noblesville from surrounding communities.

Gateways

We've been talking about improving the entrances to our city for years, yet we never seem to actually do it. Gateways are an important aspect of placemaking. Our entrances are our "front doors," they should be more attractive and give people the feeling they are entering a special place. Like these other infrastructure projects, it's a matter of setting priorities. Gateways don't need to be expensive, they just need some attention.

HSE Schools CFO Mike Reuter announces retirement

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

When Mike Reuter started his new job as Chief Financial Officer (CFO) with Hamilton Southeastern Schools in 1994, the local school corporation was a fraction of what it is today. Mike Reuter has been the man guiding Hamilton Southeastern (HSE) Schools through a thicket of state funding formula complexity, managing the growing schools system's finances.

The HSE School District is now the fourth largest in the state and Mike Reuter was along for the long ride of all that student expansion.

HSE Schools Superintendent Allen Bourff announced at Wednesday night's school board meeting that Mike Reuter plans to retire at the end of calendar year 2019.

Mike Reuter was all smiles when his impending retirement was publicly announced at the school board meeting Wednesday.

Mike told LarryInFishers after the meeting he plans to expand his already busy operation of being a consultant to a variety of government entities on financial matters. He has done tax revenue analysis and projections for the City of Fishers.

Worrell issues second response to Carmel resident Mike Shaver

Dear Editor:

The following is an email response sent from Carmel City Council President Jeff Worrell to Carmel resident Mike Shaver.

Dear Mr. Shaver,

I have received your second email regarding the matter of Developer Guarantees for City Center. Thank you for your kind words.

Your second complaint references page B-19 of the documents. (Click here to view that document.) As I read that very document, I reach the same conclusion as my first response to you. The Developer is paying the bonds as required by the contract. B-19 clearly shows interest for 2018 and 2019 is capitalized and no debt service is due until January of 2020.

The table you included is inaccurate based on when taxes are paid in relation to what period they are for. The actual table is shown above.

As I pointed out in my previous response to you, the PIATT (Payments In Addition To Taxes) have been properly made.

In addition, the legal documents binding this contract are prepared by reputable area law firms. Based on our last two interactions, I will continue to argue that we are providing proper oversight, payments are accurately being made and most importantly, the Carmel taxpayer has not been harmed.

Noblesville reader endorses “citizen’s candidate” Mike Corbett for mayor

Dear Editor:

I am elated that Noblesville is getting another opportunity to make the right choice on May 7 by voting Mike Corbett for Mayor of Noblesville.

In the late 1980s to 1990s, I helped my former spouse build a successful, national, service business. Based in Carmel, the company grew to a multi-million dollar business that employed at least 50 and upwards of 300 employees during peak market conditions, none of which was done on the taxpayer's back. I personally experienced that it is possible to achieve success, create jobs and spur local economic growth without using taxpayer money. Somewhere along the road, business owners and common council members have forgotten that where there is potential for great reward, there is risk.

The past few years, I’ve read about how Noblesville government grants many businesses multi-year tax incentive programs and other corporate welfare perks. Our government has taken on the responsibility of subsidizing private business venture risk using our tax dollars. The local headlines cite "economic growth" and new jobs; however, they never publish reports of how other businesses and citizens will lose future income to taxes because of another business’s current tax breaks and freebies. The fact that our schools have to routinely extract more and more money from our citizens seems to contradict that Noblesville is reaping the benefits of a growing economy.

The status quo will not change until Noblesville's taxpayers wake up, pay attention and vote for change. Breaking the cycle and bringing about change often means voting against the candidate that is endorsed by local government employees, and for someone who is not part of the establishment and wants to represent YOU, the taxpayer!

I am voting for Mike because he is the citizen’s candidate. He is the only candidate who has repeatedly and publicly spoken out for Noblesville’s taxpayers, and against irresponsible corporate welfare activity. Mike has spoken out about other decisions that have been made, such as the train, which oppose the desires and best interests of a large number of our citizens. Noblesville needs a Mayor who wants everyone to succeed, not just favored businesses and contractors that will bring forth future political donations.

Mike seeks to remove the roadblocks that are preventing commercial development. He wants to attract companies that want to be good corporate citizens, provide full-time living wages and benefits to our citizens, and are anxious to give back to our community as they prosper and expand. Mike knows that as Noblesville’s Mayor, he must work hard to make sure our schools receive sufficient and regular tax funding by increasing the tax base. He knows our schools, educators, families with children, retirees and citizens on fixed income deserve this. Mike understands that retirees are great citizens who add diversity, wisdom, volunteerism and who financially support and subsidize our school corporation. With the median age of approximately 33 years in Noblesville, Mike knows we can't afford to lose them.

While the other candidates seek to meet with citizens prior to the election to hear our issues, Mike Corbett has been meeting and corresponding with us for the past decade. Mike knows the issues Noblesville is facing and he is ready to serve our citizens.

The days of seeing less fortunate citizens work two or three part time, low paying jobs just to be able to survive needs to end. In a community as blessed as ours, we can do better. Some candidates promote workforce development as a goal for our city. The fact that eight out of 10 of my experienced and skilled adult family members that live in Noblesville have to commute to another city to earn a living wage, and that my husband with four years of experience as a Navy Machinery Repairman and 26 years of machining experience can't seem to land an interview in Noblesville tells me that we have not made enough progress in creating good paying jobs, despite the fact that as a Noblesville business owner and taxpayer, I've paid hundreds of thousands in taxes to create them. The workforce is here, but we don't have the jobs.

Raised and mentored by a father who was a great man, President and CEO of a large corporation and champion of employee development and community goodwill, I've been genetically blessed with an ability to see the big picture. I can see that Noblesville needs change. I hope Noblesville's citizens open their eyes, do their homework and make the right choice on May 7 by voting for the citizen’s candidate – Mike Corbett for Mayor of Noblesville.

Sincerely,
Annette Davis

The days of seeing less fortunate citizens work two or three part time, low paying jobs just to be able to survive needs to end. In a community as blessed as ours, we can do better. Some candidates promote workforce development as a goal for our city. The fact that eight out of 10 of my experienced and skilled adult family members that live in Noblesville have to commute to another city to earn a living wage, and that my husband with four years of experience as a Navy Machinery Repairman and 26 years of machining experience can't seem to land an interview in Noblesville tells me that we have not made enough progress in creating good paying jobs, despite the fact that as a Noblesville business owner and taxpayer, I've paid hundreds of thousands in taxes to create them. The workforce is here, but we don't have the jobs.

Raised and mentored by a father who was a great man, President and CEO of a large corporation and champion of employee development and community goodwill, I've been genetically blessed with an ability to see the big picture. I can see that Noblesville needs change. I hope Noblesville's citizens open their eyes, do their homework and make the right choice on May 7 by voting for the citizen’s candidate – Mike Corbett for Mayor of Noblesville.

Sincerely,
Annette Davis

bringing about change often means voting against the candidate that is endorsed by local government employees, and for someone who is not part of the establishment and wants to represent YOU, the taxpayer!

I am voting for Mike because he is the citizen’s candidate. He is the only candidate who has repeatedly and publicly spoken out for Noblesville’s taxpayers, and against irresponsible corporate welfare activity. Mike has spoken out about other decisions that have been made, such as the train, which oppose the desires and best interests of a large number of our citizens. Noblesville needs a Mayor who wants everyone to succeed, not just favored businesses and contractors that will bring forth future political donations.

Mike seeks to remove the roadblocks that are preventing commercial development. He wants to attract companies that want to be good corporate citizens, provide full-time living wages and benefits to our citizens, and are anxious to give back to our community as they prosper and expand. Mike knows that as Noblesville’s Mayor, he must work hard to make sure our schools receive sufficient and regular tax funding by increasing the tax base. He knows our schools, educators, families with children, retirees and citizens on fixed income deserve this. Mike understands that retirees are great citizens who add diversity, wisdom, volunteerism and who financially support and subsidize our school corporation. With the median age of approximately 33 years in Noblesville, Mike knows we can't afford to lose them.

While the other candidates seek to meet with citizens prior to the election to hear our issues, Mike Corbett has been meeting and corresponding with us for the past decade. Mike knows the issues Noblesville is facing and he is ready to serve our citizens.

The days of seeing less fortunate citizens work two or three part time, low paying jobs just to be able to survive needs to end. In a community as blessed as ours, we can do better. Some candidates promote workforce development as a goal for our city. The fact that eight out of 10 of my experienced and skilled adult family members that live in Noblesville have to commute to another city to earn a living wage, and that my husband with four years of experience as a Navy Machinery Repairman and 26 years of machining experience can't seem to land an interview in Noblesville tells me that we have not made enough progress in creating good paying jobs, despite the fact that as a Noblesville business owner and taxpayer, I've paid hundreds of thousands in taxes to create them. TODAY’S BIBLE READING

And it came to pass, as he spake these things, a certain woman of the company lifted up her voice, and said unto him, Blessed is the womb that bare thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked. But he said, Yea rather, blessed are they that hear the word of God, and keep it. And when the people were gathered thick together, he began to say, This is an evil generation: they seek a sign; and there shall no sign be given it, but the sign of Jonas the prophet. For as Jonas was a sign unto the Ninevites, so shall also the Son of man be to this generation. The queen of the south shall rise up in the judgment with the men of this generation, and condemn them: for she came from the utmost parts of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and, behold, a greater than Solomon is here. The men of Nineve shall rise up in the judgment with this generation, and shall condemn it: for they repented at the preaching of Jonas; and, behold, a greater than Jonas is here. No man, when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a secret place, neither under a bushel, but on a candlestick, that they which come in may see the light. The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, thy whole body also is full of light; but when thine eye is evil, thy body also is full of darkness. Take heed therefore that the light which is in thee be not darkness. If thy whole body therefore be full of light, having no part dark, the whole shall be full of light, as when the bright shining of a candle doth give thee light.

Southeastern hits big, opens with HCC victory

The first game of the season for the Hamilton Southeastern baseball team was a big one: Brownsburg.

The Royals hosted the Bulldogs at Ken Seitz Field with new coach Jeremy Sassanella, and Southeastern gave him a 1-0 record by pounding Brownsburg 12-2 in six innings.

HSE got off to a shaky start, giving up two runs in the top of the second. But the Royals lit up the field for six runs in the bottom of that inning, and cruised to a convincing Hoosier Crossroads Conference win.

Brayton Harrison led off the second inning with a double, and was sent home when Greyson Droste hit his own double. After absorbing a strikeout, the Royals put six consecutive men on base: Caden Ruhnow was hit by a pitch, Jake Stout singled in Droste, Jordan Millikan's base hit got Ruhnow home, Matthew Buckingham doubled in Stout and Millikan, Anthony Eggers got on with a base hit, and Cole DeWael singled home Buckingham.

"I was watching the kids," said Sassanella, who had been coaching at Brebeuf Jesuit the past four years (one as assistant, three as head coach) before coming to HSE. "I was anxious. That certainly wasn't the start that we wanted, but I was watching the kids' reaction to it. I didn't say a whole lot to them."

"This was all on the kids. They settled in and just focused offensively on having good at-bats, and we just chipped away. The floodgates opened up a little bit, fortunately, as the game went on."

Southeastern's small ball game opened the flood gates, and the Royals kept the storm going with big hits in the later innings. Millikan provided a big one in the bottom of the third with a two-run home run. Cam Bolling also scored, he was pinch running for Jack DeWolf, who got on with a base hit.

HSE added three more runs in the fifth inning. DeWolf doubled on to base, with Tyler Rhoades coming in to pinch run. Rhoades would run home soon thereafter; Stout smacked his second RBI single of the game. Buckingham sent Stout home with a two-run homer to center field.

"I was really proud of our kids," said

Reporter photos by Richie Hall

Jordan Millikan (10) is congratulated by his Hamilton Southeastern baseball teammates after hitting a home run in the third inning during the Royals' season-opener with Brownsburg Thursday at Ken Seitz Field. Southeastern won the game 12-2.

Sassanella. "I thought, we're always preaching sportsmanship and driving it home, and I was really proud of where our kids directed their energy tonight and it was really good to see."

It only took two at bats for the Royals to finish the game in the sixth inning. Pinch hitter Matt Iacobucci cranked a double into right field on the first pitch. That brought up Jake Huston, and his left field single got Iacobucci home.

If you were keeping score at home, that was five doubles for Southeastern in its first game of the season. More numbers: Buckingham drove in four runs while Millikan batted in three.

Michael Dillon got the pitching win, spending five innings on the mound. He struck out four batters and allowed four hits. Dillon Gray threw a perfect sixth inning in relief.

The Royals will play at Brownsburg tonight to complete the HCC series, then return to Ken Seitz Field on Saturday for a 1 p.m. doubleheader with McCutcheon.

‘Rocks complete sweep of Flashes

Westfield completed a Hoosier Crossroads Conference series sweep of Franklin Central on Thursday, beating the Flashes 11-7 in an away game.

The Shamrocks scored twice in the first inning and never trailed in the game. Austin Wessel stole one to get Westfield's first run, then Tyler Smitherman batted in Bryce Dorton. The 'Rocks then added two more runs in the second, with Eli Patchett and Luke Hutson getting home after Payton Tamm reached on error.

Franklin Central got on the board with two runs in the second inning, but Westfield answered with a run in the fifth, when Kyle Pepiot scored after Hutson reached on error. The Shamrocks got three more runs in the fourth; Dorton scored on a bases-loaded walk, Patchett singled Jack Lawrence, and Smitherman scored on error.

Zach Collins got an RBI single in the fifth inning, sending Wessel home and giving Westfield a 9-3 lead. The Flashes made things interesting by scoring four runs in the sixth, but the Shamrocks stopped any comeback with two runs in the seventh. Collins cracked a double to left field to score Trey Anderson and Dorton.

Collins finished the game 3-for-5 with three RBIs, while Dorton totaled three runs. Wessel stole three bases. Tamm got the pitching win, going five innings while allowing only three hits.

Westfield is 2-0 in the conference and 2-1 overall. The Shamrocks will be off for Spring Break and return to action April 9 at Mount Vernon.
