Grand Park, IUPUI to lead study on COVID-19 impact on youth sports

The REPORTER
 On Friday, Westfield Mayor Andy Cook, Grand Park Director William Knox and leaders from the IUPUI Sports Innovation Institute launched a nationwide study to look at the impact and perceptions of the COVID-19 crisis on youth sports. Specifically, the study will gauge user perceptions of satisfaction and safety at youth sports facilities. The data will be important for venues, event organizers and sports organizations to evaluate facility and procedural modifications over the next 12 to 18 months.

"We know that one of the biggest challenges to reactivating youth sports in the wake of this pandemic is getting families comfortable with the 'next' normal," said Cook. "This research will allow us to hear what families, athletes, coaches and event organizers are thinking and expecting as they return to youth sports. I believe it will validate the lengths we are going to create a safe environment at Grand Park and give other facilities similar data to make decisions." "The results of the study will help event organizers and sports facilities prioritize adaptations and understand the sentiment of guests given the COVID-19 pandemic," said Dr. David Pierce, Director of the IUPUI Sports Innovation Institute. "This research will be imperative as we look to safely return to play at Grand Park and other sports facilities in Indiana and beyond," said Knox. "Venue owners and sports organizations need to know what I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn’t something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don’t often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we’re breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

Carmel voter makes four-fold endorsement

Dear Editor:

Elections are quickly approaching and again this year our local elections are very important to all of us in Hamilton County. Having lived in Hamilton County for over 40 years it has been wonderful to watch our county grow to what it is today. I sincerely hope you vote on June 2 and I would ask you to consider voting for these strong leaders:

John Ditslear, County Council. I have known John since he was serving on the Noblesville School Board when I served on the Carmel Clay School Board. While we were opponents on the playing field, we worked together to provide the best education to our students. John continued his great leadership serving the citizens of Noblesville as their mayor and now is running for county council.

Sue Maki, County Council. I have also known Sue for years with her leadership in the Hamilton County Leadership Academy and several Green/Sustainability Initiatives. Sue serves the citizens of Carmel in the Utilities Dept. and would be another great county councilor. Remember we have three at-large county councilor seats, so you can vote for three.

Steve Dillinger, County Commissioner. Can you imagine in the year 2020 146th Street still a one-lane road? Steve has proven over the years to be an excellent visionary for Hamilton County with not only 146th Street but many, many other county improvements over the years. As with John and Sue I have known Steve for many, many years and know he is a proven leader.

Scott Baldwin, Indiana Senate District 20. Scott's 25-year experience as a marine and police officer in itself makes him a great person to consider supporting for the Indiana Senate. Scott also is a successful business leader who will represent Hamilton County in the Indiana Senate.

Please vote June 2 and please join me in voting for John, Sue, Steve and Scott. I am confident they will be wonderful leaders for Hamilton County

Fishers man thankful for coverage provided by his Medicare Advantage plan

Dear Editor,

For the past two years, I've depended on my Medicare Advantage program for my health care needs. Regardless of the health issue at hand, my Medicare Advantage plan has kept me covered at an affordable rate, which for many seniors who live on limited budgets, is very important.

Though leaving the house has been challenge for many seniors because of the COVID-19 crisis, Medicare Advantage programs are working to ensure that seniors can still see their doctors through virtual care. The plans are even offering prescription delivery services, so seniors don't have to leave the house to pick up their medications. Additionally, the program is covering the cost of testing related to COVID-19, and many plans are also covering the cost of treatment as well, offering immense value to those whose health has been compromised by coronavirus.

Senator Todd Young recognizes the value that the Medicare Advantage program offers the more than 444,000 Hoosiers who utilize the program for their health care needs, and I am grateful for his support. All members of Congress should support health care options that offer seniors great care at low out-of-pocket costs.

Carmel voter: Lyneen Burrow will put citizens’ interests first

Dear Editor,

I have been fortunate to know Lyneen Burrow for over 45 years – we graduated from Westfield High School in 1976.

I couldn’t think of a person that would be more suitable to represent the citizens of Hamilton County than Lyneen, who has been a lifelong resident here. Having worked with her on multiple projects, I know that she has a caring heart with a mindset to get things done from start to finish, whether personally or professionally.

As a Hamilton County Councilor, I know that as our voice, Lyneen will put the best interest of the citizens first, while also being dutifully responsible with the funds that are entrusted to the County Council on our behalf.

Please join me casting your vote for Lyneen Burrow on June 2.

Ken Alexander supports Jeff Hern for re-election to County Council

Dear Editor,

I am writing in support of the re-election of my close colleague and friend, Jeff Hern. Serving on the Hamilton County Council with Jeff has been a great experience in which I have seen him demonstrate true leadership. Jeff is always available to help residents at any time, in any way possible. He sees the people of Hamilton County like a second family and strives to lead it with a servant’s heart.

In that same sense, Jeff has always made the safety of Hamilton County residents a top priority as a councilman. In addition to Jeff’s work on the Hamilton County Council, he serves on the Hamilton County Sheriff’s Committee, the Hamilton County Emergency Management Committee, and the County Fire Chief Committee. He believes that through personally working with these individuals that have dedicated their lives to public safety, their collective collaboration will continue to ensure successful outcomes – and a safer Hamilton County.

I believe that Hamilton County is better due to the work that Jeff Hern has accomplished and am excited to see what the future holds with Jeff’s continued leadership. Because of his commitment to the community and passion for service, Jeff Hern will be receiving my vote for Hamilton County Council on June 2. I urge you to vote to re-elect him as well.

And they said unto her, Thou art mad. But she constantly affirmed that it was even so. Then said they, It is his angel. But Peter continued knocking: and when they had opened the door, and saw him, they were astonished. Gus Etchison commits to Western Michigan

Hamilton Heights star Gus Etchison announced on Friday that he has committed to play basketball at Western Michigan University.

Etchison made the announcement on his Twitter account in the form of a minute-long video. He began by thanking his family, coaches and teammates, then revealed that he had chosen Western Michigan.

"After a long talk with my family and God, I'd like to continue my father's legacy at Western Michigan University," said Etchison. "I'm honored to become a Bronco."

Etchison was Hamilton County's leading scorer in the 2019-20 season, averaging 24.9 points per game for his junior year. He had solid numbers across the board, with 5.0 rebounds, 3.7 assists and 1.6 steals per contest. Etchison scored 41 points in the Huskies' season-opening game, an overtime win against Lebanon, then set a new Heights school record on Dec. 11 by scoring 56 points in the Huskies' game with Mount Vernon.

Western Michigan is located in Kalamazoo, and plays in the Mid-American Conference (MAC). The Broncos are coming off a 13-19 season with a relatively young team; only two seniors were on the roster this past season. Western Michigan will have a new coach this coming season: Clayton Bates was hired in March after several years as a Broncos assistant coach.

A first step to re-open Grand Park . . .

Westfield Family Play scheduled to begin on Tuesday, May 26

By RICHIE HALL

The closing down of Indiana due to the COVID-19 pandemic has resulted in some unusual sights around the state this spring.

Probably the most unusual of all would be that of Grand Park in Westfield sitting empty. The facility normally has an event going on every day, whether it be small youth baseball and softball games to massive soccer tournaments with teams from across the country.

But there is a small step about to be taken. Grand Park and the City of Westfield have set up Westfield Family Play, which Grand Park Director William Knox said will be an opportunity "to give Westfield residents a chance to stretch their legs" and benefit from the campus.

The first Westfield Family Play is scheduled for Tuesday, May 26, and then will take place every Tuesday and Thursday for the next few weeks. The Family Play times are from noon to 7 p.m. Times and dates are always subject to change, so Westfield residents are encouraged to check often. Information is available at grandpark.org/family, and on the City of Westfield and Grand Park social media accounts.

Indianapolis Indians await word on 2020 season

By CHARLIE CLIFFORD WISH-TV

Indianapolis Indians Manager Brian Esposito is sitting around in May for the first time in two decades — and he is not alone.

“There is no question, you see it on social media, comments on talk shows, they (fans) want it back badly,” Indians radio broadcaster Howard Kellman said. “(It shows) what baseball means to people here in this city, in this state, and this country.”

As we wait for the baseball world to return, put yourself in the shoes of Howard Kellman, the voice of the Indians for more than four decades, who waits with as much anticipation as anyone in the games for baseball’s return.

“We all get butterflies on opening day,” Kellman said. “It is part of it, it will be a wonderful feeling of having those butterflies again. I really have not thought about what I will say, but boy do I look forward to saying something.”

From the skipper to the legend behind the mic, an emotional return home is out there somewhere.

“Just to have some normality and to see the gates at Victory Field open up, and to see fans and teams on the field. I think that is the most important thing at this point,” Esposito said.

A day at the ballpark: We need it more than ever.

WESTFIELD

FOLLOWING GUIDELINES

While Grand Park is ready to re-open — and people are just as ready to return — there will obviously be social distancing and other guidelines in effect.

There will be limits to field access, and that will be on a first-come, first-serve basis. On-site registration is available and it will be hands-free. The Grand Park website said that families must check in at Lot C to allow the facility to track the number on on-site visitors and make sure that families are indeed practicing social distancing.

“They won’t come in contact with other families,” said Knox. He said there will be designated areas in the park where families come in one way and go out another way so they won’t intermingle with other families.

Restrooms and concession stands will be closed, so families should bring their own water and snacks. They should also bring their own equipment as well, such as balls, Frisbees and kites.

“We will not have any actual equipment out for families,” said Knox. “We want to be very cautious about them having touch points when they’re on campus.”

Also, equipment would have to be sanitized after each use, which is something the facility wants to avoid.

Westfield Family Play is part of a plan to re-open the campus “slowly and safely,” said Vicki Duncan Gardner, Communications Director of the City of Westfield. Knox said that in accordance with Indiana Governor Eric Holcomb’s plan to re-open the state, Grand Park is looking at launching small activities and practices again on Sunday, May 24, with actual leagues beginning play on June 14.

Grand Park plans to start its leagues with modified tournaments on June 14, but using current guidelines in place. Fields will also be sanitized on a weekly basis.

May 23 and 24 are the scheduled dates when the state will move into Stage 3 of the Governor’s five-stage plan to re-open Indiana. The state is currently in Stage 2, which limits social gatherings to 25 people or fewer. Phase 3 will move that number up to 100 people or fewer.

“We’re going to evaluate those as we get close to the date, because we want to maximize the opportunities for our families,” said Knox. “We’re going to do it smart.” Again, families are advised to check the Grand Park website as those tentative re-opening dates get closer.

Once the calendar gets to June 14, Grand Park plans to start its leagues with modified tournaments, but again using the current guidelines in place. In addition, Knox said that the campus will be employing all of its sanitation practices. Fields will be sanitized on a weekly basis.

“That process was more monthly in the past,” said Knox. “All the touch points, we will be wiping them down post events. We’ve got kick plates on the bathroom doors. We’re looking long-term to automate a lot of our facilities in our restrooms as well.”

Spectators will be asked to do their past as well, with Grand Park encouraging all campus visitors to follow whatever guidelines their sport is recommending. The staff at Grand Park will be wearing masks and gloves at all times.

“We’re going to encourage spectators to do the same, but that’ll be at their discretion,” said Knox.

As always, be sure to check the Grand Park website for the most up-to-date information.
