Congratulations to the Sheridan High School Class of 2020 from everyone at the Hamilton County Reporter.

No pandemic can stop these Sheridan graduates

The REPORTER
Sheridan High School held its 132nd graduation ceremony on July 25 in the Sheridan High School gymnasium.

The class processed in a single-file line to "Fanfare and Processional" arranged by Ployhar, which was recorded over eLearning by the Sheridan High School Band under the direction of Mr. Patrick Cronin.

The limited crowd was welcomed by Class President Nick Roberts and Class Vice President Charlie Cronin. Speeches were given by Valedictorian Nick Roberts and Salutatorian Margaret Adams. The class chose as their class song "Five More Minutes" by Scotty McCreery, which was shared via a recording, since the band could not be present due to coronavirus restrictions. Class Sponsor Eric Smith read the name of each graduate so they could receive their diplomas from Principal Rick Davis, along with a congratulatory elbow bump by Board President Todd Roberts.

The class chose to honor Sgt. John Perrine as Outstanding Alumnus. Sgt. Perrine provided a laugh or two, along with advice for graduates and praise for his alma mater. Perrine, a 2000 Sheridan graduate, is the Public Information Officer for the Indiana State Police and resides in Sheridan with his wife and two sons.

The ceremony concluded with remarks by Superintendent Mary Roberson and a turning of tassels, led by class officers Nick Roberts, Charlie Cronin and Mia Brooks.

Noblesville residents Mark and Lisa Hall are passionate about their community. They also have a deep concern for food-challenged people in Hamilton County.

"Hamilton County is one of the most affluent counties in Indiana; however, we have people that don't know where their next meal will come from," said Mark Hall.

According to Hall, there are approximately 27,000 food-challenged people in the county.

The Halls' passion for the community and their concern for the hungry led them to the idea of outdoor free food pantries that are able to serve Hamilton County's hungry 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Hall said the idea came from a program conducted by a Nazarene church in Bullet County, Ky. He took the idea and gave it a local name: Feeding Families of Hamilton County. With the help of local businesses and community leaders, the Halls' passion is now

Food Pantry Locations

Currently eight food pantries that can hold approximately 2,000 meals are at the following locations:

Noblesville

- 4-H Fairgrounds (Just off Pleasant Street entrance on the north side)
- Chapel Church (8th and Walnut)
- American Eagle / Miller Auto (South of Carbone Street on Allisonville Road)
- Morse Beach (In front of the FOP Lodge)
- Noblesville School Administration Building, 18025 River Road
- Moose Lodge parking lot, 950 Field Drive (one block east of State Road 19)

Cicero

- Pizza House (Jackson Street)

Arcadia

- Hamilton Heights School Administration Building, 410 W. Main St.

serving Hamilton County residents.

Hall said there were many challenges in the beginning: "We had to get them built, placed and stocked." That's when Hall turned to Bill Keevern, an instructor for Associated Builders & Contractors Inc. and J.R. Gaylor, president of the organization.

Carmel residents express concerns over proposed gas station in Village of West Clay

By DEMIE JOHNSON
WISH-TV | wistv.com

A proposed gas station in the Village of West Clay neighborhood in Carmel is getting major pushback from people who live there. Neighbors said that kind of development just doesn't belong there.

The Carmel Board of Zoning Appeals received 151 letters on the proposal; only about 10 were in support. In the letters, some neighbors said they would move out of the village, while others were concerned a gas station would bring crime to the area.

Jackie Phillips said those issues are important, but they're on the bottom of her worry list.

"I think the general consensus that is home values, or crime ... that's the least of our worries. I think what we're worried about is what would happen from an environmental and health aspect," said Phillips.

Phillips is the woman behind the signs now in dozens of yards across the community. They read "No Gas Station." She also created a website to help educate her neighbors.

Many of her neighbors already shared similar feelings before she put the information online.

"I have a family member that recently got diagnosed with a very serious health condition and we live in close proximity to the proposed location and that's not ideal for what we're facing as a family," said Chris Wright.

"Should you be building a gas station next to an old person's home, should you be building it across from where people live? There's benzene that gets emitted through venting tubes," said Jeff Bladen.

The gas station would be built on Harleston Street. The proposal will be heard at Carmel's next Board of Zoning Appeals meeting on Aug. 24.

CPD releases updates on Monday's shooting

The REPORTER
Investigators with the Carmel Police Department (CPD) have determined the three individuals involved in the July 27 shooting were arguing inside a residence in the 14300 block of Riverrock Court.

A 911 call was made during this argument expressing concern that the suspect, Julio Cesar Virula, 26, was armed with a gun and threatening suicide. The argument continued as the subjects went outside the residence.

While on the 911 call, dispatchers heard gunshots and quickly relayed this information to responding officers. The first victim, Taylor Cox, 28, girlfriend of the suspect, was found in the 14300 block of Riverrock Court with multiple gunshot wounds. Cox was deceased.

The second victim, a 66-year-old woman, was located a short distance north of the initial call location, also with multiple gunshot wounds. She was transported to a local hospital and later released.

Dispatchers received several 911 calls from other residents in the area. As these calls came in, dispatchers were able to provide responding officers with a location of the suspect. Once an officer located the suspect in the 5300 block of Rippling Brook Way, the suspect raised a gun towards the officer. That officer fired multiple shots with his patrol rifle at the suspect in an attempt to protect himself and any other potential victims. The suspect died at the scene.

The suspect was in possession of a handgun at the

Sheriff welcomes the public's comment on CALEA reaccreditation

The REPORTER
As part of the ongoing process to maintain the elite status of a CALEA-accredited law enforcement agency, the Hamilton County Sheriff's Office (HCSO) is scheduled for a virtual site assessment from a team of assessors as part of a program to achieve accreditation by verifying that the agency meets professional standards.

Administered by the Commission for Law Enforcement Agencies, Inc. (CALEA), the accreditation program requires agencies to comply with state-of-the-art standards in four basic areas: Policy and procedures, administration, operations, and support services.

As part of the onsite assessment, department employees and members of the community are invited to offer comments at a virtual public information session at 1 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 10.

This session will be conducted virtually through a zoom meeting (Meeting ID: 911 5636 8827; Passcode: 3gkgtK; accessible at tinyurl.com/yymgc6l2).

Department employees and the public are also invited to offer comments by calling (317) 776-8070 from 9 to 11 a.m. on Monday, Aug. 10. Comments will be accepted via voicemail to the CALEA assessor.

Telephone comments as well as appearances at the virtual public information session are limited to 10 minutes and must address the HCSO's ability to comply with CALEA's standards. A copy of those standards may be viewed at the Hamilton County Sheriff's Office. Call Amy Summerfield, Accreditation Manager or Deputy Ryan McClain, Public Information Officer at (317) 773-1872 for more information.

NPD, Coroner's Office conduct death investigation

The REPORTER
The Noblesville Police Department and the Hamilton County Coroner's Office conducted a death investigation early Friday morning after a woman exited a moving vehicle from a backseat passenger window while the vehicle was traveling north on State Road 37.

The department said officers were called to the 14300 block of northbound State Road 37 just after 2 a.m. for a medical emergency.

After arriving at the scene, police officers learned that a woman, Alyssa Elliot, 35, was in the backseat of a 2019 F-250, driven by her fiancé Sean Scheldt, 43, when for an unknown reason, she exited the truck through the backseat passenger window.

During her exit from the moving truck, Elliot sustained significant injuries and later died at the scene.

Police say a juvenile was sitting in the front seat of the vehicle at the time of the incident.

Scheldt told police that prior to Elliot's exit from the moving truck he had picked her up from Eddy's Sports Pub in Noblesville and was completely unaware of Elliot's intentions.

The incident remains an ongoing investigation.

students. “I thought that would be a great community service project that my students could do that would utilize the skills they have learned in the classroom,” said Keevern.

Materials to build the food pantries were provided by TechTrades, Talent-Logistix and PinPoint Resources.

After the pantries were constructed, State Representative and CEO of Gaylord Electric Chuck Goodrich and employees of Gaylord Electric picked them up, painted, and delivered the first pantries to their locations.

“We weren’t prepared to launch so quickly, but with the looming crisis with COVID, we needed to get the pantries out for a number of reasons,” Hall said.

“It was pretty clear that God orchestrated getting the pantries out earlier.”

According to Hall the first pantries were only stocked with Gatorade and popcorn. The program has now grown to a total of eight fully-stocked pantries in Noblesville, Cicero and Arcadia. One recent pantry was placed on the grounds of the Hamilton Heights School Administration building.

“We are so grateful for our partnership with Hamilton Heights School Corporation, Ms. Davis, Dr. Arrowood, and the entire school board in bringing a Feeding Families Hamilton County pantry to Arcadia,” Hall said. “These are great people that demonstrate serving neighbors every day.”

Goodrich has challenged the community to get involved and donate to help feed the hungry.

“When you go to your local grocery, pick up a few items and on your way home, stop by and put them on the shelf of one of the pantries,” Goodrich said.

“We are so grateful for all the contributions and the community coming together to stock the pantries,” concluded Hall.

Feeding Families of Hamilton County operates under the principals of take what you need, give what you can, and neighbors helping neighbors.

Non-perishable donations can be placed in the food pantries, or you can contact Mark and Lisa Hall through their Feeding Families Hamilton County Facebook page. You can also call (317) 626-3707.

Advocating for Victims of Crime and Abuse

www.prevailinc.com

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn’t something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don’t often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we’re breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

– Mike Bragg, GM of Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville

To help Hamilton County families affected by domestic violence and sexual abuse, you can donate the following items:

- Art supplies (for children to journal and express their emotions)
- Bottled water (8 oz. bottles, preferably)
- Individually packaged snacks
- Gas cards (many women have no access to funds after fleeing their abuser)

Drop off items at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, 14701 Tom Wood Way.

Becoming your best in the worst of times

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times ..."

— Charles Dickens, A Tale of Two Cities, 1859

I probably could not have selected a more iconic (and notably ironic) quote than this one — and if you have not read A Tale of Two Cities, I strongly encourage you to do so — which I am taking out of the original context to relate it to my topic today.

Although I am writing about a fitness topic, "the best and worst of times" certainly does resonate with us for many reasons. Like most of you, it seems we are in the worst of times! My hope is that we can glean some aspects of this pandemic as positive, such as a renewed appreciation for our health, our families, our health care workers, and our faith.

Let's examine the "best of times" as it relates to our nutrition and fitness issues of today.

Never in human history have we had the access as we do today to detailed anatomical information and what constitutes good nutrition, healthy lifestyles, and a sound physical body. Granted, in my opinion, there is just a bit too much "expertise" out there which is misleading or in some cases, blatantly untrue. Sifting through all of this "expertise" can be difficult and exasperating to most of us. Nevertheless, it is a positive opportunity for us to learn more about what constitutes the best for our bodies, given the proper direction and assistance.

And as we proceed to the "worst of times" we are faced with a plethora of vendors very willing to sell you their latest "miracle" product, diet aids, and lose-30 pounds-in 10 days-without-working-out fad. That is one reason why it is important to rely on those who have the background in research and study of diet and nutrition as well as proper fitness methods. Incorrect information from those who have not adequately studied nutrition nor been certified to teach fitness can be detrimental and at best sabotage or at worst harm the individual. Please remember that, currently, herbal supplements are not FDA-regulated, so use caution.

SHARON McMAHON

So, this brings up a host of questions: Do I need vitamin and mineral supplements? If I do, where do I purchase those — does it make a difference? What about herbal remedies? How can I learn more about organic foods — and are they always the best choice? What types of pesticides are used on my produce? Do the meat and poultry items I consume have antibiotic residue in them? Are harmful dyes added to my snack foods? What kind of fitness program works best for me? Do have flexibility and balance challenges? Do I need more muscle mass? What kind of aerobic conditioning is best for my age and current health status? Do I have conditions which may warrant specialized fitness programs, such as arthritis or previous head or neck injuries? There are many questions and concerns which should be addressed before making your final decisions on your diet and fitness regimens.

As one who has been trained and certified as a nutrition and wellness coach, personal trainer, yoga instructor, flexibility and balance progression specialist with over 20 years of experience my recommendation is — do your homework!

This begins with always talking first with your personal physician, no exceptions here! After you get the green light, talk with friends or family to see if they have professional referrals. Check out your local health food store to see if they work with anyone they might recommend.

Do your research when it comes to fitness centers — whether locally or corporately owned. Inquire about the training and credentials of their trainers. Interview the person(s) with whom you are considering working on your nutrition and/or fitness goals. Does the person hold credentials/training from a recognized and accredited organization such as ACE (American Council on Exercise) AFPA (American Fitness Professionals Association) or ISSA (International Sports Science Association)? You hire professionals to repair your car, to assist you in planning your financial future, to buy and sell homes, and in many other areas — do at least as much for your physical well-being. After all, we are talking about your irreplaceable body here!

Now, back to "It was the best of times, it was the worst of times..." As you probably know, that is only the beginning of the first paragraph of an amazing novel by an amazing author. What does A Tale of Two Cities have to do with my topic this week? Well, nothing specifically, but please if you have not read this classic novel, I encourage you to do so. And if you have, you might consider reading it again.

I hope you make this season of your life the "best of times" through the challenge of a pandemic that may change the way we live for some time to come.

TODAY’S BIBLE READING

Neither is worshipped with men’s hands, as though he needed any thing, seeing he giveth to all life, and breath, and all things; And hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation; That they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him, and find him, though he be not far from every one of us: For in him we live, and move, and have our being; as certain also of your own poets have said, For we are also his offspring. Forasmuch then as we are the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and man’s device.

Fishers Arts Council celebrating work of James Anderson this month

The REPORTER

The Fishers Arts Council will celebrate the Art of James Anderson: Vacations and Abstracts for its August exhibit in The Art Gallery at Fishers City Hall. The exhibit opens today and runs through Aug. 29. A free, public reception for Anderson will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 7 at The Art Gallery at City Hall.

Anderson says he has always enjoyed capturing photos and creating art from his youth. He received a prestigious L. S. Ayres Gold Key for one of his watercolor cityscape works in high school.

“I never understood what was so special about that one watercolor until nearly 50 years later when I saw a Matisse exhibit at the Indianapolis Museum of Art,” he said. “That one work I created was very Matisse-like.”

During a physical for college, Anderson discovered that he was red-green-brown shade colorblind.

“It is not that I don’t see those colors, but I have trouble distinguishing between them in certain lighting situations,” he said. “I always wondered why it was difficult for me to blend colors to achieve a desired color when painting with acrylics. Therefore, my wife has become my color advisor.”

James set aside his artistic talents to follow a career as a programmer analyst/network engineer/business analyst/systems test engineer/systems trainer/systems support engineer in Information Technology. Then, “shortly before retirement, God opened my eyes again to those dormant artistic talents as He showed me what I missed during my IT career. He brought artist friends back into my life who urged me to display the scenes I captured for others to view as well.”

Buffalo Creek flows beside his home.

“In the spring of 2013, God reminded me that the middle portion of the bank was overgrown,” he said. “I agreed and began ‘trimming’ the overgrowth.”

After four and a half hours of trimming, James saw an amazing view into the middle of the creek with scenes he had missed for 34 years.

“While He has taken me to cityscapes, landscapes, quiet nature scenes, flowers, people, and animals everywhere, my favorite creation of His are the natural abstracts I find in Buffalo Creek,” he said.

Over the years, Anderson has varied his cameras, but always uses the same lens makers: Sony and Zeiss. He feels they provide the finest optics. Currently, his camera is a Sony a7R IV. He says its wide variety of capabilities fit his needs well from macro to zoomed telephoto. However, he says, it is the Sony FE70300G/OSS optics that put the icing on each shot.

“Now I use all the gifts God gave me from the creativeness of high school art, to the logic of IT, combined with the eyes of age and memories to capture scenes that I hope others enjoy as much as I enjoy them,” he said. “He has given me a portfolio of over 4,200 photos.”

Anderson’s artwork will also be accessible on the Fishers Arts Council website as part of the virtual gallery.

University switches some sports to intramurals

University High School announced on Friday that its soccer, volleyball and cross country teams will be competing in an intramural season for the 2020 school year.

In a statement, UHS athletic director John Walls said that those sports will have an eight-week season with regular practices and events that "will be structured like typical high school athletic competitions," but all competitors will be Trailblazers athletes. They will not play against other schools.

University's girls golf and boys tennis teams will continue to compete in their normal schedules, against other schools.

Semi-final field set for Western Amateur

In the marquee quarterfinal match at the 118th Western Amateur on Friday, Ricky Castillo, of Yorba Linda, Calif., outlasted Andy Ogletree, of Little Rock, Miss., in 20 holes at Crooked Stick Golf Club.

Castillo, a sophomore at Florida and the second-ranked player in the World Amateur Golf Rankings, qualified for the semifinals for the second year in a row.

He led 2 up after a birdie at the 14th, but Ogletree had birdies on Nos. 15 and 18 to send the match into extra holes. Ogletree, the ninth-ranked player in the world and the defending U.S. Amateur champion, kept his hopes alive by making a par on No. 17 after hitting his tee ball into the water hazard.

After each player parred No. 1, Castillo closed out Ogletree, who was a senior at Georgia Tech this past season, with a par. Castillo carded five birdies and an eagle, while Ogletree finished with four birdies and an eagle.

“Andy is such a good player, and it was a great match,” Castillo said. “It was back and forth. You had to hit good shots and make birdies to win holes.”

In the morning round, Castillo beat Harrison Ott, of Brookfield, Wis., 2 and 1. Castillo tied the match with a birdie at No. 14 and then eagled the par-5 15th. He took a 2-up lead with par at No. 16.

“It was a long day, but it was a fun day,” Castillo said.

George Duangmanee, of Fairfax, Va., a freshman at Virginia, pulled off the biggest surprise of the day by defeating Davis Thompson, of Saint Simons Island, Ga. Thompson, a senior at Georgia and the fourth-ranked player in the world, was the medalist last year.

Trailing 5 down through six, Duangmanee, the 208th-ranked player, won seven of the last 12 holes to defeat Thompson in 19.

“Honestly, I was almost ready to go home because he was playing insane golf,” Duangmanee said. “But I stayed patient and waited for my opportunities to come, and I capitalized on them.”

Duangmanee will play Pierceson Coody, of Plano, Texas, in Saturday’s semifinals. Coody, a sophomore at Texas, beat Connor Creasy, of Abingdon, Va., 5 and 4 in the quarters. Rasmus Neergaard-Petersen, of Copenhagen, Denmark, and a junior at Oklahoma State, earned a date with Castillo in the semis after defeating Austin Hitt, of Longwood, Fla., 2 and 1.

The semifinals will start at 7:30 a.m. on Saturday, with the championship match scheduled for Saturday afternoon. The winner will hoist the George R. Thorne Trophy.

“That win gave me a lot of confidence going into (Saturday), but I have to be patient and worry only about myself,” Duangmanee said.

Added Castillo, “Hopefully, I am able to win it this year, but there’s a lot of golf left. If I keep playing solid, I know I have a chance. I’m excited.”

Fever fall to Dallas, Allemand posts record night

In just her third WNBA game, Julie Allemand solidified her name in the Indiana Fever record book. The rookie guard from Belgium tied a franchise record for most assists in a regular season game with 11 in the 76-73 loss against the Dallas Wings.

The Fever (1-2) held a 14-point lead in the third quarter, but 19 points and 10 assists in the second half from rookie forward Satou Sabally helped the Wings snap a four-game losing streak against Indiana. Sabally finished with a game-high 23 points and 17 rebounds.

Indiana’s bench aided as much as possible in the first of two matchups this season with Dallas. Stephanie Mavunga tied a career-high 10 points and set a new personal best with eight rebounds in just under 15 minutes of action. Kennedy Burke, who was acquired last season after being waived by Dallas, ended her night with seven points and a career-best six rebounds.

More Fever players moved up the record book on Friday night. In the first half, Natalie Achonwa snagged four rebounds to become the fifth-leading rebounder in franchise history. Achonwa left the game in the second quarter due to a right hamstring injury and did not return to the game.

Tiffany Mitchell started where she left off on Wednesday night scoring the first six points of the game for the Fever. Mitchell’s 11 points against Dallas moved her to ninth on the franchise scoring list with 1,247 career points in a Fever jersey.
