National Guard called up to give pandemic help to long-term care facilities

WISH-TV | wishtv.com
Gov. Eric Holcomb in Wednesday's coronavirus briefing announced new steps to support and protect people in long-term care facilities during the coronavirus pandemic. One of the ways he'll do that is with the help of the Indiana National Guard.

Photo provided

Holcomb said, "Over the next couple weeks, we'll take additional steps to directly support and further partner with these facilities, starting with utilizing members of the Indiana National Guard who will work side by side staff members and help them with screening employees and data entry, and testing and infection control practices and so much more, so that the facility staff members can rightly focus on what they do best, and that's caring directly for the residents." Holcomb says they'll start these extra measures with facilities that have had registered outbreaks. But by "outbreak," he means just a single case. Indiana has more than 500 nursing homes and, eventually, all will get some help. "The pandemic has taken a toll as I just mentioned on all of us. It's taken a real toll on the residents and the staff and their families," Holcomb said.

Indiana stays at Stage 5 of reopening as COVID cases rise

By DAVID WILLIAMS
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

Indiana's positive coronavirus cases are rising. "Stopping the spread is more important than ever, as our case counts increase," said Dr. Lindsay Weaver, Indiana's Department of Health Chief Medical Officer. "This past week has seen the highest case numbers that Indiana has recorded during this pandemic, and our health care system is reflecting that increase." Gov. Eric Holcomb on Wednesday gave an update on how Indiana is in a holding pattern.

Don't leave home without them (reading glasses)

Back in the 70s and 80s, American Express liked to remind us to "don't leave home without it" — their credit card, that is. As a middle-aged woman, I've changed this saying to "don't leave home without THEM." I'm talking about reading glasses!

I began wearing regular glasses when I was nine and my eyesight steadily worsened. At one point, I was concerned at how quickly my glasses turned into Coke bottles! You've heard all the jokes about using glasses with thick lenses to burn ants? Yep, that's the kind I had and have to this day (but I don't use them to harm insects). Thankfully I got contact lenses my senior year in high school and my prescription leveled off. Soon I only needed my glasses for a few minutes before bedtime. Then I entered my 40s and quickly began to understand why my dad grumbled so much about the small print on bottles, labels, etc. I watched my husband John try out bifocal contacts as well as having one prescription in one eye for reading/nearness and the other for long distance. He quickly gave up and switched to bifocal glasses.

I am NOT going back to wearing thick ugly (in my case) glasses again. And I sure as heck won't wear the funky contacts. Just thinking about it makes me dizzy.

Nope, I've been using reading glasses along with my contacts for about five years now and am just fine, thank you very much. Like a lot of middle-agers, I have pairs in the house and one in my purse at all times.

I know some people don't like the hassle of reading glasses, but I actually enjoy them! First of all, they remind me of my dad. I loved seeing him wear reading glasses to read the newspaper every evening or work at his desk. They made him

Noblesville Parks begins indoor pickleball open play gym hours

The REPORTER

The Noblesville Parks and Recreation Department has begun pickleball drop-in gym hours for the fall and winter at The Recreation Annex at Ivy Tech Community College, 300 N. 17th St. As the weather begins to change, drop-in pickleball offers a fun way for the community to play. Pickleball drop-in hours are available daily from 8 a.m. to noon with extended hours until 3 p.m. on Sundays. The gym will be closed on government holidays. "We are delighted to offer more hours for this very popular activity," said Angela Staggs, recreation program coordinator at The Recreation Annex. "Pickleball is a sport that can be enjoyed by people of all ages and skill levels."

For those not familiar with the sport, pickleball is a game for all ages and skill levels. It is played with a paddle and plastic ball, and combines many elements of tennis, badminton and ping-pong. The rules are simple and the game is easy for beginners to learn, but can develop into a fast-paced,

Local nonprofit, school leaders both support delay in preschool registration

By LARRY LANNAN

COVID-19 has impacted all of us in so many ways it cannot be counted accurately. Now, a local group is calling for a delay in the registration cycle for part-day and school year preschool registration for the 2021-2022 school year. The Early Learning Alliance Network (ELAN) released a statement in support of a local working group of early childhood leaders collaboratively making the decision to delay. A work group of preschool leaders convened a discussion about the registration timeline for part day/school year programs during the first weeks of October. Historically, preschool registration for the estimated 16,000 young children in Hamilton County begins in the fall. Registration for part-day/school year programs has intense activity over the winter months ultimately expecting all families to register in January for the next academic year. "This year, given the COVID-19 pandemic and

Carmel Symphony Orchestra's 'Pledge 45' campaign getting a boost from 'Mr. Basketball' Dave Shepherd

The REPORTER

Who better than "Mr. Basketball" Dave Shepherd understands the concept of teamwork to win the big game? The Carmel native and 1970 graduate of Carmel High School was one of the best players to ever play basketball in Indiana, and he took that winning attitude to become a successful local businessman. Now, Shepherd has taken on a new challenge as Honorary Chairman of the Carmel Symphony Orchestra's (CSO) new 2020-2021 fund-raising campaign — PLEDGE 45: Funding a Future Together. "I have always been known as an athlete and not necessarily as a man of the arts, but I do believe passionately that the arts are very important to our community, especially in Carmel," said Shepherd, who plans to make the first donation to this campaign out of his own pocket, then encourage others to do the same. The new CSO campaign comes at a time when the non-profit arts organization, a resident company at the Center for the Performing Arts, is struggling due to the COVID-19 cancellation of its season this year. The 'PLEDGE 45' brand pays tribute to this being the CSO's 45th season, a testament to its longtime service to the arts in Carmel.

Disrupt the situation: Interrupt the situation by asking for directions or a similar question. This allows the person time to leave the situation. 2.) Don't act alone: Ask others around you to help. The more people that get involved, the less likely the incident will continue. 3.) look handsome.

Second, they’re NOT the Coke bottles I grew up wearing. They come in so many cute styles and colors! I consider them to be part of my personal fashion statement.

Third, they’re cheap and available everywhere. I’ve not actually lost or broken a pair yet, but if I do, it’ll be nice to know I haven’t thrown hundreds of dollars out the window.

The only problem is the rare situation where I don’t have a pair with me. But to solve this issue (pre-COVID) it never takes me long to find someone nearby who can loan me a pair! In fact, during our monthly get-togethers with friends, it’s not uncommon to see at least half of us wearing our reading glasses as we peruse menus.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn’t something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don’t often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we’re breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

Carmel firefighters distributing free masks, hand sanitizer this morning at Lowes

The REPORTER

The Carmel Fire Department has scheduled another COVID-19 information booth to hand out information on virus prevention and safety and answer questions from the public. Firefighters will offer free bottles of hand sanitizer and disposable face masks while supplies last. The type of masks being distributed are similar to what you would find in a doctor’s office waiting room.

CFD will be at Lowes, 14598 Lowes Way, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. today. The booth will be set up east of the main entrance.

During the event, representatives from CFD will wear masks and keep to physical distancing guidelines to avoid possible spread of the virus. The event is open to the public and visitors should also wear masks and maintain proper distance from others as they approach the booth.

The goal of this booth is to provide the community with COVID-19 information, including handouts showing the City of Carmel and Carmel Fire Department “Best Practices” for dealing with the virus.

Boost

“I am just here to help any way that I can ... and I can tell you that without raising additional capital, without donations from our citizens, the CSO might still survive, but it certainly will not thrive,” Shepherd said. “And Carmel has never been known as a community where ‘being average’ is OK. We have always strived to be the best and do the best at everything that we do. That is what I want ... what we should all want from our Carmel Symphony Orchestra.”

Selected in 1970 as Mr. Basketball, Shepherd played for his father Bill Shepherd at Carmel High School and scored 2,226 points in a three-year career. That put him as 10th on the all-time state scoring list, and he still holds the IHSAA state championship game record of 40 points. Shepherd never lost a home game on the Carmel court, posting 50 consecutive victories. He averaged 26 points per game as a freshman at Indiana University before transferring to the University of Mississippi, where he was chosen as the team’s MVP in 1975.

Shepherd founded Shepherd Insurance in 1977 to provide personal insurance and top-notch service to friends and neighbors. Almost four decades later, his agency has grown to include employee benefits and financial products. Dave still oversees company operations but gives credit for the agency’s continued success to the amazing team that has been built at Shepherd.

Clearly, Shepherd grew up in a family that treasured competitive sports and says they didn’t have much time for the arts. Back in those days, going to see a symphony or a play meant making the long drive to downtown Indianapolis or Butler University’s campus. But as he settled into his career in insurance, his tastes began to change. He, like many, admits: “As I got older, I began to have deeper appreciation for the arts.”

Shepherd gives credit to Mayor Jim Brainard for having the vision to build the Palladium, where the CSO performs most of its shows, and for making the arts an important part of the community. “Of course, we have great schools and great sports programs; we have great neighborhoods and excellent police and fire protection. The arts ... well, they are like the icing on the cake,” Shepherd said. “It is so important for us to support the CSO and to teach our children, our younger generation, about the role the arts can and should play in our lives. I think this is vitally important for Carmel.”

While Shepherd acknowledged that the Symphony does get support from some corporate sponsors and the City of Carmel, it is simply not enough. Especially this year.

“It really does take donations from me and you, from the entire community, to keep talented professionals like Janna Hymes and Jeanelle Adamak ... to keep them here so that we can build on something for the future,” Shepherd concluded.

Ready to make a pledge?

If you would like to become a Pledge 45 donor, you can join as either a Pledge Patron or a Pledge Partner.

To become a Pledge Patron, individuals can make a monthly donation of $45, or a lump sum of $540. To join as a Pledge Partner, corporate sponsors can make a monthly donation of $450, or a lump sum of $5400.

All Pledge 45 contributors will be posted on the CSO website and via social media. Each donor will also receive an official CSO/Pledge 45 campaign logo that can be prominently posted on their organization’s website and/or in their email signature.

all of its implications for those in the child care and early education community, the leaders in a local working group of early childhood leaders have developed a new approach to registration and a final recommendation for 2021-2022 part-day/school year preschool registration,” ELAN Founder Dr. Jody Britten said.

The working group has officially made the recommendation to move preschool registration for part-day/school year programs to March 2021. This recommendation ultimately means that registration for the public/new families will open at preschool programs on Monday, March 15 at the earliest.

“As an organization that is fully committed to children, their families, and our early childhood program leaders and staff in our community, we 100 percent support this move and applaud the working group for taking this step forward,” Dr. Britten said. “For years families have asked why we register so early, this year more than ever we need to reconsider practices and think critically about what can help our early childhood leaders, children, and families during these unprecedented times.”

The working group shared the potential benefits for children, families and preschool providers. Among others, the working group highlighted, that a change in registration timeline:

- Allows children more time to learn and develop before placement decisions are made
- Reduces demand on preschool administrators and office staff during the fall and holiday time period
- Minimizes contact with those outside the program during the on-going COVID-19 pandemic
- Provides more time to evaluate and respond to the ongoing pandemic, possible school closures, and any additional national, state and local guidance
- Allows family/teacher conferences to occur closer to registration
- Aligns more closely with public school Early Childhood evaluations and placement recommendations

• Defers the financial impact of registration fees on families until after the holidays

“Based on the collaboration of the preschool leaders and the many potential benefits, we encourage area preschools to adopt the recommendation and operationalize a revised registration timeline and process for the 2021-2022 school year,” Sara Mills Henderson said. “The Early Learning Alliance Network fully supports the recommendation and registration move to March. Families should plan for later registration and notification.”

Parents should look for upcoming news from local preschools and watch the #MoveToMarch hashtag on social media.

“This is really an important opportunity for our community, and has the potential to really help so many families,” ELAN Disabilities Advocate Angela Loser said. “We encourage all families to take this extra time to learn about available programs and take the time to truly consider the best possible placement for their children in the year ahead.”

Henry John "Hank" Arszman III June 19, 1946 – October 17, 2020

Henry John "Hank" Arszman III, passed away unexpectedly at his home on Saturday evening, October 17, 2020, following an extended illness. Born in Indianapolis on June 19, 1946, he was the son of the late Henry John Arszman II and Mary Rita (Mitchell) Arszman.

He was a 1964 graduate of Cathedral High School and later attended Indiana University Business School in Indianapolis.

Hank had a drive and a work ethic that made him successful in many endeavors. He spent his younger years working for his father and uncle at Arszman Markets on the south side of Indianapolis and learned early on what it takes to run a family business. Using those lessons, Hank put his business knowhow to work within his own company, Hank's Building Services, Inc., for over 30 years.

Hank never did anything halfway. Whenever he found something he was passionate about he went "all in." The Hamilton County 4-H and Westfield Parks are the first two organizations to make that list. For more than 30 years, he devoted his time and experience to serving on the 4-H building and grounds committee. Quite a few of the buildings and improvements that we enjoy today were spearheaded on Hank's watch, helping to make sure Hamilton County had, and would continue to have, a fairgrounds to be proud of. As for the Parks Department, in addition to serving on the Westfield Parks Board for 10 years, he was instrumental in the development of McGregor Park. Many of the improvements that have made McGregor a destination for runners and walkers were crafted during his tenure. He was also the parks "unofficial" grounds keeper for many years.

Hank's love for animals was treated with the same zeal as everything else in his life. He was a member of the Hoosier Kennel Club since 1976, serving as their President for many years. He was also acting Secretary for 15 years, and agility chairman for many years. He was a member and past president of the White River Golden Retriever Club. He loved showing his Golden Retrievers and actively competing for several years, until he made the switch to showing horses. It was around that time that he joined the Hamilton County Horseman's Club. He served as their president for several years.

Hank was passionate about many things in his life, but none more than his family. He was the very definition of a family man. He took great pride in his family, and made it a point to always follow whatever activities his children and grandchild were involved in.

Hank is survived by the love of his life, his wife Michelle (Klein) Arszman. She and Hank were married on October 14, 1973, and they made their life on their family farm in Jolietville, where Hank had his hand on the design and build of each building on the property. Also surviving are his daughters, Erin J. Dean (Jerry), Sheridan, and Megan L. Arszman-Weisbrodt (Matt), Westfield; granddaughter, Aubrey Weisbrodt; sister, Kathleen J. Elmore (Tim), Indianapolis; and many nieces and nephews. Hank will be greatly missed by Leah, his golden retriever, and by his cat, Ruger.

He was preceded in death by his parents.

Public visitation will be held from 4 to 8 p.m. on Monday evening, October 26, 2020, at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan. A private family funeral will be held for Hank. Reverend Rocky Kirk will be officiating.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions any be presented to the Hamilton County Humane Society.

Martha Louise Cooper May 20, 1954 – October 18, 2020

Martha Louise Cooper, 66, passed away at her home in Sheridan surrounded by her loving family on Sunday morning, October 18, 2020, after a long and courageous battle with metastatic melanoma. Born in Huntington, W.V., on May 20, 1954, she was the daughter of the late Willard "Bud" Garrett and Celia Arbutice (Gilkerson) Manning.

She was a 1972 graduate of Holly High School in Holly, Mich., and attended Ivy Tech and Indiana University at Kokomo.

For 36 years, Martha worked for St. Vincent Hospitals, starting in medical records and quickly moved into a financial counselor position with the opening of the Carmel Hospital in the 1980s, a job that she was thoroughly devoted to before taking her retirement on June 30, 2020.

She attended Radiant Christian Church.

Martha was a hard worker and very dedicated to her career, but never lost sight of the need to relax and take care of herself. Some days she would take it easy and spend the afternoon working a puzzle, and other times she would find the nearest Legion Hall and take on all challengers at BINGO. Put a marker in her hand and a table full of cards in front of her, and it was on. Working in a hospital setting for all of those years, you would have thought she would have been vaccinated for most things that ail you, but somehow she managed to catch the travel bug and the shopping bug at the same time. Infected with both for many years, she loved hitting the open road in search new destinations and the shops that could be found along the way. Branson and Pigeon Forge were a couple of her favorite haunts, but when the holidays rolled around, Frankenmuth, Mich., was her spot for all things Christmas.

As much as she enjoyed her shopping, there was nothing more important to Martha than her family. Martha is survived by her son, Bryan David Roudebush, Sheridan; nieces, Dana Vanderkleed (Mike), Sheridan, and Heidi Peyton (Joe), Westfield; nephew, Jeremiah Davis, Anderson; sister, Sandra Lee Davis (David), Sheridan; and her feline BFF, Alley.

She was preceded in death by her parents; infant twins, Sherrie and Carrie; her nephew, Justin Davis; and by her husband, Terry Lynn Cooper, on April 9, 1986. She and Terry were married on June 30, 1984.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. on Friday, October 23, 2020 at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan, with visitation from noon until the time of service.

Burial will follow at Spencer Cemetery in Sheridan. Pastor Jim Kyle will be officiating. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be presented to the American Cancer Society.

He graduated from Butler with a B.A. degree in History/Political Science in 1973. In 1975, Wayne married Betty Jean Jones. After graduating with honors from Indiana University School of Law in 1977, Wayne opened a private practice in Zionsville, but soon thereafter joined the Boone County Prosecutor's Office. Wayne eventually became Chief Deputy Prosecutor for Hamilton County. In 1997, Wayne won the election as Hamilton County Judge for Superior Court No. 5 and was re-elected until his retirement in 2018. As a judge, Wayne was committed to justice and was instrumental in Stakeholders of Hamilton County's Criminal Justice system adopting evidence-based decision making. He was also the driving force in implementing the Pretrial Release Program which successfully allowed for low risk offenders to be released without bail.

Wayne's passion for coaching, mentorship, and his three daughters led him to co-found the girls division of the Fishers Youth Soccer League. He coached his daughters in both soccer and basketball through their careers. He continued coaching girls basketball throughout his life which kept him connected to the community and allowed him to touch the hearts and lives of countless people where he never missed an opportunity to give encouragement.

Wayne was an explorer. He loved discovering new parts of his community on daily walks, hiking adventures through National and State parks including the Appalachian Trail, biking with his family and friends, white water kayaking, and many memorable canoe trips. He also enjoyed connecting the past with the present, never missing the opportunity to visit museums, battlefields or historical markers.

He will be missed by many, but especially his family; wife, Betty Jean Sturtevant; daughters, Allison Sturtevant and husband Ammon Fillmore with granddaughters, Adeline and Ainsley; Darby Sturtevant Hunter and husband Sam Hunter with granddaughters Coralyn and Mirielle; daughter, Lauren Sturtevant and fiancée Justeen Koehler; as well as his brother, George Sturtevant and wife CJ Sturtevant.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations go to supporting the local community, either through the Mudsock Youth Athletics paypal.com/paypalme/myathletics (please add a note stating the gift is in memory of Wayne) or Simon Cancer Society at cancer.iu.edu/giving (please specify "Lung Cancer Research Fund").

In an effort to protect family, friends and the community he loved against COVID-19, the remembrance and celebration of Wayne's life will be postponed. Details will be provided as they become available. In the meantime, please leave online condolences and share memories at obituaries.neptunesociety.com/obituaries/9825385.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

And the Jews also assented, saying that these things were so. Then Paul, after that the governor had beckoned unto him to speak, answered, Forasmuch as I know that thou hast been of many years a judge unto this nation, I do the more cheerfully answer for myself: Because that thou mayest understand, that there are yet but twelve days since I went up to Jerusalem for to worship. And they neither found me in the temple disputing with any man, neither raising up the people, neither in the synagogues, nor in the city: Neither can they prove the things whereof they now accuse me. But this I confess unto thee, that after the way which they call heresy, so worship I the God of my fathers, believing all things which are written in the law and in the prophets: And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust. And herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offence toward God, and toward men.

Acts 24:9-16 (KJV)

Volleyball regional preview

Royals get re-match with Spartans

Hamilton Southeastern's Emily Weber leads the Royals volleyball team in assists this season with 397. Southeastern plays Homestead Saturday morning in the semi-finals of the Class 4A Noblesville regional.

The first semi-final of Saturday's Noblesville volleyball regional will be a re-match of last year's second semi-final match.

Hamilton Southeastern will take on Homestead in the 10 a.m. match at The Mill. This year's second semi-final will see McCutcheon face off against Fort Wayne Carroll, and will start around noon. The winners advance to the 7 p.m. championship.

The Royals made quick work of the Spartans last season, winning in straight sets. This year's version of the Homestead squad is 18-11 and has many seniors and juniors, and the upperclassmen lead most of the different statistical categories.

"We have watched film," said Southeastern coach Jason Young. "They are a veteran-led team. They have the experience from last year to draw on. They are a good defensive team."

Senior Anna Moster is the hitting leader for Homestead, with 232 kills for the season. She is followed by senior Samantha Flores, who has 122 kills. Sophomore Haley Bidenbach tops the assists list with 431, followed by junior Grace Stedje with 266.

The Spartans have been a strong serving team, with three players delivering at least 30 aces for the season. Junior Lea Mummert has hit 37 aces, followed by sophomore Ellie Spang with 33 and senior Mikayla Kelly with 30. Kelly also leads the defense with 321 digs, while Mummert has made 34 blocks to lead in that category.

Homestead qualified for the regional by sweeping through the Fort Wayne South Side sectional without dropping a set. The Spartans cruised past Columbia City 25-14, 25-20, 25-17; host South Side 25-12, 25-8, 25-8 and New Haven 25-11, 25-17, 25-10. Homestead thus defended its championship and won the sixth volleyball sectional in program history.

Southeastern, which is 24-0 for the season, also defended its sectional title last week. The host Royals beat Westfield 25-22, 25-16, 25-21 in the semi-finals, then toughed out a win over district rival Fishers in four sets, 25-15, 30-32, 25-11, 25-12. They were victories over high-level teams and evidence of the tough schedule Southeastern plays during the season.

"The schedule is by design," said Young. "We typically have the most difficult schedule in the state. This year due to COVID we lost several high-profile matches. These matches help prepare us for the post season. We are comfortable being uncomfortable. Playing better teams makes you better."

The Royals have a good mix of experience and newcomers to the team. One of those is freshman Lauren Harden, who leads the hitting with 254 kills. Senior Delaney Garner is next in line with 233 kills.

The two are also on top of the service ace list. Garner has 34 aces to her credit this season, while Harden has hit 30 aces. Junior Emily Weber has dished out 397 assists for the year, followed by senior Olivia Phillips with 327.

"The team is really doing a great job of welcoming all of the new players," said Young. "We had a bit of turnover from last year's team. It has been wonderful to see the upperclassmen take the younger kids under their wing. The hope is that you learn and teach the younger players how to do the things necessary to make this a yearly opportunity."

Senior Carly Mills, committed to Indiana University, is the defensive leader with 378 digs, averaging 17.2 digs per match. Junior Lovie Wallace has been a force at the net with 68 season blocks, followed by Garner with 63 blocks.

Five non-championship things to watch at Firestone Grand Prix of St. Petersburg

After 1,800 laps over the course of 13 races, the 2020 NTT INDYCAR SERIES championship comes down to a battle between Scott Dixon and Josef Newgarden.

The two championship protagonists will be the center of this weekend's Firestone Grand Prix of St. Petersburg, but there are other stories to watch heading into the season finale on the streets of St. Petersburg, Florida.

Here are five non-championship things to watch for this weekend.

POWER & GLORY

When it comes to the streets of St. Petersburg, no team is better than Team Penske.

The team has nine wins and nine poles at the 1.8-mile temporary street course and boasts one of the circuit's most successful drivers – Will Power, who has two wins and eight of the poles in the No. 12 Verizon Team Penske Chevrolet.

Power is motivated to end his season on a high note and finish third in the championship ahead of young stars Colton Herta and Pato O'Ward.

“We’ve been out of contention for the championship for a few races now, so we are fully focused on just getting more race wins,” Power said. “St. Pete is such a technical street course, so it can be really fun to race.”

TURN 1 IS POPPIN'

If you're looking to overtake in the NTT INDYCAR SERIES, the first turn of the 1.8-mile street circuit at St. Petersburg is one of the corners you're looking forward to driving.

The corner, which turns right off the long and wide Albert Whitted Airport runway, leads into a tight section of downtown St. Petersburg streets. It has been the location of more than 500 on-track passes in the history of the Firestone Grand Prix of St. Petersburg, but it's also a place where attempts to pass have gone wrong and ended potential winning days.

“St. Pete has been recognized so well for the season opener for a long time, so it feels a little different when you realized that it will be our last race of the season,” said two-time Indianapolis 500 winner Takuma Sato. “Nevertheless, St. Pete has been one of the greatest tracks and we all love it, so I am very happy to go back there. Needless to say, but we are so much looking forward to this challenging street race. Yes, it will add an element of unpredictability as it's the nature of the street course race, but that's all good for the show.”

Will Power has two wins at St. Petersburg and is motivated to end the 2020 INDYCAR season on a high note with a third-place finish in the championship standings.

R IS FOR ROOKIE (AND RINUS)

Ed Carpenter Racing's Rinus VeeKay has all but locked up the NTT INDYCAR SERIES Rookie of the Year Award.

The 20-year-old Dutchman only needs to start the Firestone Grand Prix of St. Petersburg to claim the rookie title over Alex Palou of Dale Coyne Racing with Team Goh and Oliver Askew of Arrow McLaren SP.

“It will be so nice to come back to St. Petersburg,” VeeKay said. “We are finally returning after being there earlier this year, but we were not able to race. Hopefully, I can secure my Rookie of the Year title; it will be a very nice achievement. I am really looking forward to the race. First street course race of the season as the last race, that's very cool.”

MCLAUGHLIN'S DEBUT

Virgin Australia Supercars champion Scott McLaughlin will make his highly anticipated NTT INDYCAR SERIES debut at St. Petersburg as he weighs his options for the next stage of his racing career.

The New Zealand native, who wrapped up his third straight title for DJR Team Penske in the Australian touring car series, impressed in three pre-season tests with Team Penske's INDYCAR squad, including finishing in the top three at the series Open Test at Circuit of the Americas.

“I'm super pumped to finally get a crack at my first INDYCAR race,” McLaughlin said. “Feels like it's been years since I was part of spring training, but due to COVID-19, we had to hold off. But hey, sometimes the best things are definitely worth the wait. It's a dream come true to be running an INDYCAR race for Team Penske and Roger (Penske), especially coming off of such a successful Supercars season.”

“I've been trying to get to know my team as well as possible virtually for a few months now, so it's been great being able to see everyone in person and work with them. I spent some time last week running in the simulator as much as I could and spent some time at the race shop, as well, to prepare for this weekend. It was a quick turnaround from Bathurst since I flew to Charlotte immediately after, so I've definitely been moving at a fast but really exciting pace just to get to this weekend. The Shell V-Power Nitro+ Chevy team is such a talented group, so I feel like I'm going to be a quick study and learn a lot really fast.”

ENDING THE YEAR ON A HIGH

Of the seven drivers who won races in 2019, only Alexander Rossi hasn't visited Victory Lane in 2020, meaning the Andretti Autosport driver will have to win at St. Petersburg to extend his streak of seasons with at least one win to five years.

Rossi has history on his side.

In his four previous starts at St. Petersburg, Rossi has an average finish of 7.75 and led laps in the last two races, where he finished third and fifth, respectively.

“I am so thankful that we get to have this event as our season finale, and hopefully we can continue our run of podiums to finish out the year,” said Rossi, who has finished on the podium in the last four consecutive races. “If all the stars align, I know we can get a win before it's all said and done.”
