

Hamilton Heights Key Club celebrates caring as a way of life

A sense of security and control

The REPORTER

The first week of November is Key Club Week, and members of the Hamilton Heights High School's Key Club Chapter are taking this opportunity to share the many benefits of the service-oriented club. This year's theme is "Caring as a Way of Life."

Key Club is an international, student-led high school organization. Its members make the world a better place through service-oriented projects. In doing so, members grow as individuals and as leaders by answering the call to lead, summoning the courage to engage and develop the heart to serve. It is the largest high school service organization in the world and is a member of the Kiwanis International family.

Today, there are over 250,000 high school students involved in Key Clubs in 40 countries. Hamilton Heights Key Club was founded in 2007. It is under the leadership of Lillian Morris and Elisa Garcia and has 40 members. It is sponsored by the Cicero Kiwanis Club.

While this season of coronavirus has required a pause on some traditional projects, club members continue to forge ahead with a focus on what they can do instead of what they can't.

An important part of Key Club Week is creating awareness about the club, utilizing this opportunity to highlight projects, promote the club, and show the community what Key Club is all about – service.

"This is a good week to highlight the club, student members, and work in the community," said Morris, just into her first year as the club faculty advisor. "However, we work on service projects throughout the year. As members, students have the opportunity to give back to the school and community in many ways."

Morris may be biased, but she says there are so many benefits to being a part of a service-oriented club. The opportunity to develop servant leadership skills while benefiting others is a powerful motivator.

"Our members are learning amazing life skills while helping others along the way," Morris noted.

Morris recommends students get involved as freshmen to help build connections, philanthropy, and servant leadership throughout their high school years.

"Colleges and employers really take note of four-year members in this internationally-known organization," Morris said. "I encourage members to be involved in everything they find interest in and can fit in their schedule – even if it's only a 30-minute event, it's still benefiting others."

Brian Zachary is the president of Key Club this year. A senior, Zachary is a four-year member.

"I joined Key Club because I wanted to help people in my community and serve as a person that can help when needed," Zachary explained. "I was not in K-Kids or Builders Club because I was at a different school at that time. I think it's important to have a Key Club Chapter at Hamilton Heights because it helps the community and the people that serve in the chapter get a lot of satisfaction out of all the work and goodness that is achieved through serving the community. It also helps the kids at the high school become better people and feel empathy about the people that are not doing well in life situations. As the president, I want to accomplish more branching out to other students and clubs. For example, I am a vice president for Honors Society, and I want to bring what I do at the meetings there to this club. I want to help the community to the best of my ability and show

My sense of security relies on me being able to control what goes on in my world. Whoa Nellie, oh how the reins have clearly been grabbed away from me in 2020.

I've always liked things to make sense. I like things organized. I like things done a certain way. I like to write in ink in my planner. 2020 has grabbed away all those things.

I like the corners of my bed sheets tucked in like I was taught as a candy striper at Riverview Hospital. That was a few years ago, yet I still like knowing my corners are tucked a certain way. Chuck always leaves the corners for me to do when he makes the bed. He knows.

I want the corners of my life straight and tucked. I don't like them messed with.

I keep a planner on our kitchen table so I know what will happen on a certain day. I like the visual reminder. I hate when I have to mark out and mess up the look of my colored-coded days. 2020 has given every month the look of a test where the teacher marks what I did wrong on a test for which I never studied. So much wrongness. My planner looks ugly.

We have always gone to Florida every seven to eight weeks for about 10 days. We need our Florida family fix. Sadly, it had been seven months before we finally got on a plane last month and flew to visit them.

Noblesville Schools moving forward with diversity efforts with equity & inclusion coach

The REPORTER

Noblesville Schools announced Thursday a new equity and inclusion coach position, naming former White River Elementary educator Shelley Bethel to the role.

"Like our instructional coaches who 'coach' teachers on best practices for classroom learning, this coach position will support teachers and staff across the district in growing our diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI) efforts," Superintendent Dr. Beth Niedermeyer explained. "Shelley is a great choice to lead this effort for us as she's already been actively involved in our DEI initiatives and is a well-respected educator with strong relationships across the district."

Bethel brings 22 years of experience in education and has served in various DEI capacities for Noblesville Schools, including as a DEI team leader, school culture chair, DEI professional development planner, curriculum reviewer, Noblesville Diversity Coalition member and more.

She also holds a bachelor's degree in Writing and African-American Studies from City College of New York, a master's degree in Educational Leadership from Troy State University (Georgia), and is in the process of pursuing a doctorate in Educational Leadership from the University of Phoenix.

"We're a diverse school community and are actively working to ensure all students and staff feel supported, respected and valued," Niedermeyer said. "While we're not there yet, this new role will position us to continue our strong growth in this important area."

Bethel will be responsible for collaborating across the district with school diversity teams, supporting DEI student leaders and groups, advancing DEI staff development, assisting with curriculum reviews, developing DEI-related data analysis and action plans, and supporting recruiting efforts.

Riverview Health gets five stars for knee replacement, spinal fusion procedures

The REPORTER

Riverview Health is five-star rated for total knee replacement and spinal fusion outcomes according to new research released by Healthgrades, a leading resource that helps consumers determine where to find the best care and the right doctor for them.

"Riverview Health is proud to have been distinguished as a top health system for knee replacements and spinal fusion, which is a testament to our hardworking orthopedic team," said Eric Marcotte, MD, Chief Medical Officer at Riverview

Health. "Orthopedic procedures, like knee replacements and spinal fusions, when recommended as the best course of action, can improve a patient's quality of life significantly. We're committed to providing high-quality specialty care patients can trust that's close to home. We recently expanded our Riverview Health Orthopedic & Sports Medicine team by bringing on Dr. Andrew Malin who is fellowship trained in the treatment of hip and knee arthritis."

Every year, Healthgrades evaluates hospital performance at nearly 4,500 hospitals nationwide for 32 of the most common inpatient procedures and conditions. This data is used to rate the clinical performance of each hospital that affects the overall health outcome of a patient.

"Hospital quality has never been more important, and consumers are becoming more aware of the importance of researching where they receive care before they visit a hospital for a specific procedure or condition," said Brad Bowman, MD, Chief

Health care workers 'exhausted' by surging COVID-19 cases, record hospitalizations

By JULIA DENG
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

Indiana hospital workers are "exhausted" and at risk of burnout while facing a surge of COVID-19 patients, state health officials said.

Hospital admissions in Indiana for confirmed or suspected COVID-19 cases are at their highest level since the start of the pandemic. The total number of confirmed cases in Indiana jumped more than 200 percent between Sept. 15 and Oct. 25.

The flood of new cases could eclipse Indiana's "first wave" of coronavirus and overwhelm fatigued frontline workers, public health experts warned.

Pandemic-related staffing challenges have already prompted some Indiana hospitals to delay elective surgical procedures, according to Dr. Kris Box, the state health commissioner.

"Perhaps the greatest strain right now is in our hospital workforce, which is in the ninth month of responding to this pandemic and facing the greatest patient load yet," Box said Wednesday during a virtual Statehouse briefing.

The Indiana Health Care Workforce Reserve receives approximately three to five requests every day from hospitals in need of staffing assistance, a new trend that concerned health officials.

requests were submitted by long-term care facilities.

Izzie van Zuylen, an Indianapolis resident whose aunt is a nurse, urged Hoosiers to honor frontline heroes by remaining vigilant and not succumbing to pandemic fatigue.

“I think for those health care workers still on the front lines, it’s really intense and people forget that,” she said. “It’s been really crazy for her, figuring out when she can see her kids.”

The Health Care Workforce Reserve is recruiting student and professional volunteers.

We wore a face mask and a face shield. We didn’t care how we looked. We just wanted to feel safe. Those things were our security. It was something we could control.

The truth is we can only control so much in our life. 2020 feels like we have handed over the remote to the evil guy in a horror movie. I never liked horror movies. I’m tired of hiding behind doors hoping the virus doesn’t find us.

We make plans and then at the last minute, we cancel them. Better safe than sorry. I’m so tired of having to think ... is this safe? I’m even more tired of canceling plans.

I’m sure more things will not go the way I planned. I’m sure the corners of my life will be untucked and not to my liking.

But ... I will continue to persevere. They say that what doesn’t kill you makes you stronger. Let’s just say 2020 has a lot of kryptonite.

My need for sanity has led me to turning off the rhetoric of the news and stop scrolling Facebook’s political jabs and memes. I must control what I allow to enter my thoughts and hold them hostage. Some days are easier than others. I feel like I am constantly kung fu fighting in my brain.

I’ve started watching Hallmark movies, especially the Christmas ones where the hope of all things Christmas warms my heart and gives me a sense of security. A secure feeling that eventually we will live happily ever after. Hey, a lady can dream, can’t she?

I read novels that take me to places where good guys win and bad guys get their comeuppance. I like it when the final chapter makes everything okay.

I don’t know when or how I will, again, feel secure, but in a year where Katie cannot bar the door, I have to have hope. Hope that all will someday be well, even though sense cannot be made from it.

I hope Nellie and Katie and I have things under control soon. I’m holding tight to the reins and the bar and to hope. We will get there ... I just hope it’s sooner than later.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault – it wasn’t something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don’t often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we’re breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.

Editor's Note: The Sheridan Student Column is brought to readers by Sheridan High School's 10th grade English class, taught by Abby Williams.

Every day, I wake up at 5:30 a.m. to get ready for school, although I hit the snooze button on my alarm at least two or three times. If I hadn't showered the night before, I would do that right after I pick out my clothes. Afterwards, I get dressed and put on some makeup so I don't look like a zombie. I always have coffee and a small breakfast, and then pack a lunch because school food is gross. My bus comes at 7:00 and then I'm on there for about half an hour, which leaves me another 30 minutes before my first class starts.

My first class is Accelerated English, and the attendance number is so large that half of us are in the library instead of the classroom every other day.

We do most of our work in the library, and then the next day our group will discuss in the classroom. Currently, we are reading Fahrenheit 451 by Ray Bradbury.

Next, I have Spanish 2. Since I'm aiming for an Academic Honors Diploma, I have to take three years of foreign language. We always do something different in that class, but it's mostly learning a new grammar rule or studying vocabulary.

Third period is one of my favorite classes. I didn't take a social studies class my freshman year, so this year I'm taking AP World History. I was always a fan of history in middle school, so taking an advanced history class in high school has been really interesting. It's pretty challenging, but I'm learning a lot of new things.

After that, everyone has a study period. I usually do my Algebra 2 homework during this time. It's also a good snack break. Fifth period I have Chemistry. This class made me realize that I am not a scientist. Right after that I have lunch, and then Algebra 2. In this class, I get to solve equations to find out what letters stand for ... in math. Who came up with that, anyway?

My last two periods are the best to end the day.

I have Chamber Choir, which is basically just an advanced choir. It's a small class, and I absolutely love my teacher. It's really just a safe, judgement-free zone. Lastly, I have Sculpture and Ceramics. It's fun, but unfortunately a lot of students don't take art seriously like they would any other class.

Sometimes I have to work after school, so if that's the case I will just get ready to go. I'll work from around 5:00 to 9:30. If I don't work, I'll do my homework or just relax, unless I need to do some chores around the house. I scroll on my phone a lot, if I'm being completely honest. I make sure to talk to my parents, and help with making and cleaning up dinner as well. I always call my boyfriend before bed, and I'm tired enough to usually sleep before 11 p.m.

Tax planning for 2020 has more complexity than ever

As we enter the last two months of 2020, we all realize that this has been a year like no other – from almost every perspective. It is imperative to take a look at your tax plan for 2020.

Many businesses have applied for and received the Payroll Protection Plan (PPP) during 2020. If you meet certain requirements on the use of these funds, the loan is forgiven and is non-taxable income to the business owner; however, those expenses paid with the PPP proceeds are currently NON-DEDUCTIBLE EXPENSES for tax purposes when the loan is forgiven. This will increase the business owner's taxable income when the loan is formally forgiven.

The presidential election has many of our clients asking about changes in the tax law. One thing is for sure, taxes are at the lowest that we will see for the foreseeable future. Our national debt has tripled due to the pandemic. Should you accelerate income? Should you defer expenses? There is no set answer and decisions must be made on a case by case basis.

When it comes to income taxes, the best surprise is no surprise. Tax planning is even more important this year. We are here to help!

Key Club helps bring more awareness of the needs in our community. It is my hope that through my involvement I can encourage others to give of their time. I hope to get more people involved with Key Club. With more people, more things can be done."

Morris' twin brother, Joseph, agrees. A third-year member of Hamilton Heights Key Club, he too is serving as an officer (Secretary/Treasurer).

"Through Key Club, I can help others and it makes me feel good to work in my community to help others," Joseph Morris said. "I think it's important to have a Key Club Chapter so that students can have the opportunity to help in their community. It helps us know where the needs are and how we can help. This week in Indiana's history ...

1888 – Charles Edward Henry began production at the Opalescent Glass Works in Kokomo. It was one of many glass operations which resulted from the "Gas Boom" in Indiana in the late 19th century. Early clients included Louis Comfort Tiffany. Still in business, the company is known for high-quality hand-mixed sheet glass and art glass.

1913 – Felrath Hines was born in Indianapolis. He graduated from Crispus Attucks High School and attended classes at the John Herron Art Institute. He went on to become a successful abstract painter and the first African American chief conservator for the Smithsonian Institution's National Portrait Gallery. His work is on exhibit in museums around the world.

1916 – Dedication ceremonies were held for the new Carnegie Library in Winamac. Through the efforts of the local women's club and other interested citizens, a building lot was obtained and an application made to Andrew Carnegie. A grant of $10,000 built the sturdy, brick neo-classical style building which, with upgrades and additions, continues to serve the readers of Pulaski County.

1925 – In a courtroom in Noblesville, D. C. Stephenson, Grand Dragon of the Indiana Ku Klux Klan, was found guilty of second-degree murder. His trial and conviction revealed a series of sordid crimes and corruption which ruined the reputation of the Klan and severely weakened its influence in state government.

1933 – On Veterans' Day, Governor Paul V. McNutt led dedication ceremonies for the Indiana World War Memorial. A solemn crowd of thousands braved the chill November winds to commemorate the signing of the Armistice 15 years earlier which had ended World War I. The building had been under construction for six years, with the cornerstone installed in 1927 by General John "Black Jack" Pershing.

1945 – Terre Haute businessman Tony Hulman purchased the Indianapolis Motor Speedway for $750,000. He bought the property from famous pilot and race driver Eddie Rickenbacker. The track had been closed during the duration of World War II. The 320 acres were covered with weeds and many of the structures had deteriorated. However, the track was renovated enough to conduct the 500-Mile Race the following May.

Centier Bank named top bank to work for by American Banker

Submitted

Michael E. Schrage, CEO and Chairman of Centier Bank, has announced that Centier Bank has been recognized as the top-ranked "Best Bank to Work For" in the state of Indiana by American Banker. For each of the past eight years, Centier Bank has placed alongside financial institutions across the country on the nationwide list.

Centier Bank also ranked 11th out of 85 banks in the U.S. The nationally-renowned American Banker publication creates the list based on extensive employee surveys and reviews employer benefits and policies. The publication also evaluates a company's volunteering and charitable contributions, as well as leadership philosophy, recruitment, and diversity – among other areas – as determining factors.

In 2020, a new area of workplace efforts American Banker considered was banks' responses to the COVID-19 pandemic.

"Among other efforts, Centier Bank established a parent resource network over the summer in response to challenges many employees faced while adjusting to pandemic life. Managed by human resources and hosted on the companywide intranet, the network gives employees a forum to request or offer help with navigating the sudden loss of childcare and classroom learning," the publication stated.

Chrisanne Christ, Senior Partner in Human Resource Development at Centier Bank, said this year posed unforeseen challenges across the country, the banking industry, and certainly at home at Centier Bank. The abrupt onset of pandemic life, Christ said, brought Centier Bank's associates closer together than ever before.

"We made a commitment early on to show compassion and strength in supporting our associates with their unique needs around a crisis; they need to know their bank family stands with them no matter what," Christ explained. "We knew that family needs would come first, and flexibility would be essential. Our associates need to have job security and reassurance that we will be there with them, and sometimes all it takes is a manager asking 'How can I help support you right now?'"

Schrage said the bank's 125th anniversary year didn't exactly turn out to be the celebration he had in mind, but it has made evident the immense amount of strength, determination, and camaraderie Centier Bank associates possess for one another, for clients, and the organization as a whole.

"To know that this recognition is in large part due to feedback from our associates means everything," Schrage said. "We are working toward brighter days ahead – together – and are ecstatic to celebrate this recognition with gratitude."

Centier Bank, which recently surpassed the $5.3 billion assets milestone, was one of the largest banks on the list, with only two other Indiana-based banks being named. The distinction follows similar workplace accolades from Forbes, the Indiana Chamber of Commerce, and The Times of Northwest Indiana, to name a few.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

For these causes the Jews caught me in the temple, and went about to kill me.

The DNR gift pack saves you up to $31 over buying the items individually.

A gift pack is a gift the recipient can use the whole year, whether that person enjoys camping or sleeping in the comfort of one of seven Indiana State Park Inns.

The $99 gift pack includes a 2021 resident annual entrance permit, a one-year subscription to Outdoor Indiana magazine and calendar, and one of two $65 gift card options. One gift card option can be used at the campgrounds – another gift card option, for those who like to enjoy nature from the indoors, is a $65 State Park Inns gift card. You also have the option of upgrading either of those gift cards to $100 by paying $35 more. Various pack types are available.

Orders ship within three to five business days. Orders received by Dec. 6 will ship by Dec. 14. The offer is available through Dec. 31. Packs can be purchased online only at shopINstateparks.com.

Indiana has 32 state parks and reservoirs throughout the state. The entrance permit grants gate entrance for all of 2021 for all state park properties beginning Jan. 1.

The Inns gift card can be used at any of seven state park lodging facilities, as well as at the award-winning Pete Dye-designed golf course at Fort Harrison State Park in Indianapolis. The card can also be used for lodging, meals in the dining rooms, or gift purchases.

The camping gift card can be used toward the rental of cabins (excluding inns-operated cabins), campsites, cottages, group camps, recreation buildings, rent-a-camp cabins, shelters, youth and rally camps at all state park and reservoir properties. It can also be used at a handful of DNR Division of Forestry properties, including Deam Lake State Recreation Area (SRA), Greene-Sullivan State Forest, and Starve Hollow SRA.

The camping gift card may also be used to purchase daily entrance, lake permits, horse tags, and any other items sold by park-operated gates, stores and gift shops. The camping gift card cannot be used at any privately operated concessions, camp stores, marinas or saddle barns.

Outdoor Indiana is a bi-monthly magazine that brings you the best of the state's outdoors in 48 pages of full color. The normal subscription rate is $15 per year. Learn more about the magazine at outdoorindiana.org.

Greyhounds overwhelm Homestead

By RICHIE HALL

CARMEL - Carmel became the latest girls basketball team to score an impressive season-opening victory Saturday afternoon at the Eric Clark Activity Center.

The Greyhounds, ranked No. 5 in the Class 4A pre-season poll, overwhelmed 4A No. 2 Homestead 66-32. Carmel broke out of a tight first quarter to completely take over the game, with its two recent Division I signees leading the way.

The ‘Hounds trailed 9-7 early in the first period. The Spartans’ Allison Stephens was dominating early, scoring eight of those Homestead points. Kate Clarke was doing her part to keep Carmel close, though, as she had five points in the quarter.

“Our first two possessions, we started with two turnovers and anytime you do that, it puts you in a bad position,” said Greyhounds coach Erin Trimpe. “And Homestead really capitalized on them, hit two 3s right in a row and put us in a position where we had to make a little comeback.”

That little comeback grew into a big Carmel run. Hannah Lach got the ‘Hounds in front 10-9 with a 3-pointer, and that was the start of a 20-0 run that lasted well into the second quarter. Five different players contributed, including Riley Pennington, who scored the final three points of the first period, which ended with Carmel up 15-9.

The Greyhounds would jump ahead 27-9 by the time the run was finished. Clarke had five points during that time, Dunn made a pair of baskets, Evan Spidel made a pair of free throws, and Lach ended the run where it began, with a 3-pointer.

Trimpe was proud of the fact that her team regrouped after the Spartans made their initial run.

“They didn’t let it frazzle them,” said Trimpe. “I think that speaks to the experience that we’re bringing back this year. They started taking care of the ball. They executed their offenses really well. When you do that and you can have girls on the

'Blazers beat Golden Eagles in all-county game

University improved its record to 2-0 Saturday with a 37-27 win over county opponent Guerin Catholic at the U Center.

The Class 2A No. 5 Trailblazers led 13-7 after the first quarter. The Golden Eagles, who were playing their first game of the season, cut that advantage slightly, to 20-16 by halftime. University led 27-21 after three quarters, but Guerin got to within 30-27 with under three minutes remaining.

The 'Blazers finished the game strong, though, scoring the contest's last seven points. Kamryn Washington hit a 3-pointer, Jordan Patterson scored off a steal, and Kelsey DuBois made a layin. All three players are sophomores; Patterson and DuBois played varsity for University last season as freshmen.

"They're learning, they're doing a good job," said Trailblazers coach Justin Blanding. "We're just trying to make sure that we're giving them all the information and putting them in situations where they have to lead."

University's defense did not allow the Golden Eagles to score more than nine points in a quarter. In both of its games this season, University has kept their opponents under 30 points.

"We spend a majority of our practice time on defense because we don't have the scoring power we've had in the past," said Trailblazers coach Justin Blanding. "Defense is going to win games, and as long as we guard, we'll be in the conversation to win."

DuBois finished with a double-double of 17 points and 13 rebounds. University totaled 40 rebounds, with Payton Seay and Patterson both collecting eight and Hinds pulling seven. Hinds also had five assists and two blocked shots, while DuBois made four steals and had two blocks.

Kathryn Loso led Guerin Catholic with nine points, while Delaney Klee and Olivia Labus both had five.

"Effort is always there for us," said GC coach Marc Quaranta. "It's kind of our identity. We're going to get after it offensively or defensively, we're going to really just work as hard as we can."

University hosts Danville on Wednesday, while the Golden Eagles play next Saturday at Greenfield-Central.

floor leading you the way that we have, Kate and Bridget especially, really good things are going to happen."

Carmel's lead continued to grow as the game progressed. The 'Hounds led 33-15 at halftime; Spidel scored five points of a 6-0 run that took up the waning minutes of the half. Carmel then used a 17-0 run to bridge the third and fourth quarters; Lach scored seven points, with her, Clarke and Dunn all making a 3-pointer during that time.

All three of those players wound up in double figures. Dunn scored 19 points and also pulled five rebounds. Dunn also had four assists and three blocked shots. Clarke added 16 points, while Lach scored 13 and came close to a double-double with nine rebounds. All three players made three 3-pointers. Lach and Emily Roper both handed out four assists.

This was the first game Dunn and Clarke played as Division I commits. Dunn, a senior, is headed to Kent State University.

"It was definitely a difficult decision," said Dunn. "It took a long time. First of all, I was lucky enough to be able to go out and visit before everything locked down, so that was definitely a plus for me, being able to see all the schools that I was interested in."

When Dunn got to Kent State, she said she "just clicked really well with the coaching staff and the girls that I got to meet and go out to eat with and just hang out with them. It just felt like the right decision for me."

Clarke, a junior, has committed to the University of Michigan, becoming the second Carmel player to join the Wolverines in recent years. Amy Dilk, the 2018 Miss Basketball, is about to begin her junior year at Michigan.

"The recruiting process was a little different with COVID for me," said Clarke. "But I had already visited Michigan, so that helped a lot. I'm just super comfortable with the coaching staff and the girls that I've met. I'm just super excited."

The Greyhounds next play Thursday at Heritage Christian.
