

Noblesville mayor, Chamber honor Congresswoman Brooks for service

The REPORTER

Mayor Chris Jensen and the Noblesville Chamber of Commerce held an intimate, socially-distant breakfast at Matteo's Ristorante Italiano on Friday morning to honor former Congresswoman Susan Brooks and her eight years serving Indiana's Fifth District.

As part of the breakfast celebration, Jensen proclaimed it "Congresswoman Susan W. Brooks Day" in the City of Noblesville. Congresswoman Brooks' strong background in both the public and private sectors began in 1998 when she served as Deputy Mayor of Indianapolis.

In 2012, Brooks was elected to represent the Indiana Fifth District and served four two-year terms. Prior to her time in Washington, D.C., Brooks was appointed as the U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Indiana by President George W. Bush from 2001 to 2007.

"Congresswoman Brooks has seen Noblesville in our great days and some of our harder ones during her time in office," Jensen said. "We greatly appreciate her ef-and we are lucky to have her as a pillar in our community."

Jensen also had the honor of presenting Brooks with the Sagamore of the Wabash Award from Gov. Eric Holcomb. The award is one of the highest honors bestowed by the governor and is a personal tribute usually given to those who have rendered a distinguished service to the state or to the governor.

The Noblesville Chamber gave Brooks a "Piece of Noblesville" with a Star Brick with a plaque to thank her for her service to the community and its businesses.

"Over her eight years in Congress, Representative Brooks always made herself accessible to our community and always eager to have dialog about issues that impact Noblesville," said Noblesville Chamber of Commerce President Bob DuBois. "She has made a significant impact on the Noblesville community and we wanted to present her an iconic Noblesville Star Brick to symbolize how iconic her presence has been in our city."

Threat to Westfield H.S. originated outside of Indiana

The REPORTER

The Westfield Police Department, as a result of its continuing investigation, released additional information on Friday about the threat incident that happened at Westfield High School (WHS) on Monday, Jan. 25.

Preliminary investigation of the threat indicates it originated outside of Indiana. Further evidence shows similar calls were made from the same telephone number to governmental entities in other states, both before and after the WHS incident. In each case, no credible threat appears to have existed.

Extensive resources are dedicated to identifying and prosecuting those responsible for making this threat. Because this incident remains an active criminal investigation, there will be no additional comment at this time.

Empty Carmel neighborhood becomes training property for city's firefighters

By KATIE WISELY
WISH-TV | wish-tv.com

An old, empty neighborhood in Carmel is a new training ground for the city's fire department. It gives crews the chance to practice real-life scenarios.

Fire crews have more than 30 homes to use for training and every station can simulate different situations. It's vital training as each home has a different layout.

Firefighters worked as a team on Wednesday to rescue a victim, which was a 140-pound dummy, through a busted-out window on the second story of a now-vacant home. They also worked on different grab techniques to save a patient from the side of a home on the first floor. Crews are able to cut the roof, force doors open and put smoke in the homes – anything to mirror a real fire situation.

"We don't know how long we have them," Carmel Fire Department spokesperson Tim Griffin said. "A lot of times because it's dependent on the construction site, so the crews are coming out almost daily and utilizing these, whether they are just using them for station house and crews or large-scale company trainings that we are doing out here."

The Meridian suburban neighborhood was purchased by Meridian Development. The area is just north of the future Franciscan Health Orthopedic Center of Excellence, which is currently under construction. The exact plans as to what will replace the neighborhood are not clear.

Other law enforcement agencies like the Carmel Police Department and FBI have used the homes for practice.

HSE explores bringing high school students back in-person

By LARRY LANNAN
LarryInFishers.com

There was a spirited discussion Wednesday night among the members of the Hamilton Southeastern (HSE) school board, including the defeat of a motion to allow high school students the option of returning four days per week beginning Feb. 17. The vote was 5-2 with Suzanne Thomas and Brad Boyer the only yes votes.

Most board members opted to wait for data from a survey of high school students, plus more numbers would be available by the Feb. 10 board meeting on COVID positive tests and contact tracing, then a decision can be made by the board at that time. Contract tracing has resulted in more students being absent after exposure to someone testing positive. There continues to be some positive tests among school staff.

Administrators said, so far, substitute teachers have mostly covered classrooms where the teacher must be absent.

Superintendent Allen

Bourff said the e-learning Fridays have been working well, with adjustments being made by the teaching and administrative staff as needed.

The board voted unanimously to support the teachers' associations in Hamilton County that have each written letters to the governor asking that teachers be prioritized for COVID vaccinations. The board authorized Dr. Bourff to write a letter supporting the teachers' associations, with input from board members.

To the left, a blue balloon is tied to a string that reads 'Thank you to all of our loyal customers for over 10 years!'. On the right, the Bragg Insurance Agency logo is displayed, featuring a blue triangle and a red balloon with the word 'BRAGG' in white. Below the logo, two headshots of agents are shown: a man in a suit and a woman in a white blouse. At the bottom, the words 'Home', 'Auto', 'Business', and 'Life' are listed in blue text, indicating the types of insurance services offered.

Ivy Tech names Dr. Stacy Atkinson as Hamilton County campus chancellor

The REPORTER

Ivy Tech Community College has named Dr. Stacy Atkinson as chancellor for the new Hamilton County campus, effective March 1.

The College recently announced its Hamilton County location in Noblesville would become its 19th full-service campus with expanded programming to meet the needs of Hamilton County students, employers, and the community. Hamilton County is the state's fourth-largest and fastest-growing county, with Ivy Tech enrollment at the location already exceeding that of several full-service campuses.

"Hamilton County has a tremendous amount of opportunity for partnerships in the name of the current and future workforce," Atkinson said. "Starting up a new campus speaks to my skills and tremendous passion for the organization and its mission. I am truly humbled to be leading the efforts and am enthusiastic for the success of Hamilton County."

Atkinson currently serves as chancellor of the Richmond campus and Connorsville site. In 2017, she moved from the executive director of Strategic Initiatives role with Systems Office to serve as vice chancellor of Academic Affairs at the Richmond campus. In 2019, she served as interim chancellor and was later named as chancellor after a national search.

At the beginning of Atkinson's time at the Richmond campus, an opportunity to serve the cadets at the Hoosier Youth Challenge Academy (HYCA) was presented. She was key in forming the partnership that allowed for an Ivy Tech instructor to teach courses at the HYCA site to the cadets so they could earn college credit for their future.

During her time as Chancellor, Atkinson understood the needs of the local community and worked to develop strong relationships with four-year partners. Most notably, she was instrumental in developing an articulation agreement with Earlham College, which allows Ivy Tech students who have earned an associate degree in biology, chemistry, computer science, business administration, psychology, or human services to transfer to Earlham as juniors knowing every credit they have taken will count toward their degree requirements.

Additionally, most recently, Atkinson along with the help of the Ivy Tech Richmond Foundation launched a fully-equipped wellness center on the campus for faculty and staff usage and hopefully later, the students.

Atkinson started her time at Ivy Tech in January 2015. She has served in various roles at the College including early childhood adjunct instructor for the Muncie campus (prior to joining Ivy Tech full-time) and senior instructional designer with the Center for Instructional Technology. She is a certified SIMPLEX Creative Problem Solving trainer, facilitator, and coach. As part of her work when serving as the executive director of Strategic Initiatives, Atkinson was heavily involved in the development of Ivy Tech's strategic plan in 2017.

“Dr. Atkinson brings the skill of an experienced chancellor, as well as an energy, innovative spirit, and leadership to establish the academic and workforce programs which will meet the needs of Hamilton County students, employers, and communities,” said Ivy Tech President Sue Ellspermann. “Further, Dr. Atkinson will engage as a CEO and academic leader to ensure speed and agility in all of our partnerships and endeavors.”

Prior to relocating to Hamilton County where she and her family reside, Atkinson served as program chair for the Early Care and Education program at the Technical College of the Lowcountry in South Carolina, after being honorably discharged from the United States Marine Corps. During her time in the Marine Corps, she served as an Avionics Technician and worked on the F/A 18A fighter jet during both Operation Iraqi Freedom and Enduring Freedom. Between the Marine Corps and moving to higher education, she spent time in an elementary school classroom where she was a second-grade teacher at Shell Point Elementary in Beaufort, S.C.

As a service to the profession of Early Childhood, Atkinson serves on the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC) Commission on Accreditation of Higher Education programs. As a native Spanish speaker and English language learner, her passion for children and their literacy is an important component of her work with AMIGOS Latino Centers, PHASE Foundation and Girls, Inc. Additional boards she currently serves on include the Wayne County Chamber of Commerce and the Reid Health Community Benefit Council. In 2020, she was named one of the Indiana Business Journal's Forty Under 40, which recognizes leadership talent in Indiana.

Atkinson earned a Bachelor of Science in Professional Aeronautics from Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University in 2008, a Master of Arts degree in Elementary and Early Childhood Education from the University of South Carolina in 2010, and a Master of Arts in Curriculum and Instruction from Lesley University in 2012. She earned her PhD in Adult Learning and Development from Lesley University in 2016. She is the proud wife to Keith, whom she met in the Marine Corps, and mom to Kelsey, 11, and Jordan, 7.

friends who indicate that they just don't bother trying to do much activity any more due to the fact that they cannot move the way they used to; flexibility and strength have waned. And YES, certainly our ability to move and stay strong does change as we age. Noted in the quote above, the important thing is that we do not STOP. If we do so, our muscles begin to atrophy, our joints become stiff and immovable, and our organs become more sluggish and prone to disease.

We are all hopeful about the vaccine and getting on the other side of this terrible pandemic. And yes, I plan to continue wearing the mask even after the vaccine until it is contained.

Let's also get there in the best shape we can. Of course, many of us have indulged in goodies and food items that are not best included in a healthy eating plan, and like me many of us are just not as active as we usually have been in the past. So, let's get going, no matter how slowly we go. The important thing is that we do not STOP.

Along with that, let's not stop working on our "mind fitness" by challenging ourselves to improve our minds through reading, playing games, and I might suggest writing as well. Publishing a book about my beloved dog, Sweetie, was a challenging and very rewarding experience. Write about what you know, what you love, or what you feel will be helpful for other people to learn and you will reap the benefits of a stronger and more flexible mind to go along with your stronger and more flexible body!

The important thing – don't give up because our world has changed and placed obstacles where we

But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County. (Nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children.) Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. Investing in young Hoosiers' futures

As college costs continue to rise, more and more parents are choosing to use Indiana CollegeChoice 529 Savings Plans to help their child get the skills they need for the workforce while taking on less student loan debt.

This long-term savings plan has traditionally been used to pay for college and technical schools, and Hoosier families can now use these savings for qualified apprenticeship programs. This additional flexibility in how Hoosiers can spend their CollegeChoice 529 savings has the potential to reach more students than ever before to ensure they have an opportunity to follow a career path that best suits their talents.

As of Dec. 31, 2020, over 64,000 Hoosiers in House District 32 put away more than $1.1 billion into their children's College Choice 529 Savings Plans. Statewide, that figure is upwards of $6 billion. This is billions of dollars that young Hoosiers will not have to borrow to pay for their education or qualified training costs.

Many students often feel the pressure to use those dollars saved to pursue a traditional four-year degree even if it may not be the best educational path for them. A recent change in the federal statute will now deem apprenticeship programs registered by the Secretary of Labor as acceptable expenses with this long-term savings plan.

This comes at a time when Indiana is working to skill up its workforce and fill thousands of unfilled, high-paying positions across the state. Many of these jobs are in skilled trades, which may require an applicant to undergo apprenticeship training. Including these programs as qualified costs creates an incentive for students to take on opportunities in a wide range of fields.

It is clear Hoosiers are working hard to prepare their children to get the education and skills they need to join a global workforce. With qualified apprenticeship programs added to the list of acceptable educational expenses for the CollegeChoice 529

Savings Plan, parents can continue saving, knowing a wide range of educational paths are available for their child. If you have any input regarding this long-term savings program, feel free to contact my office at (317) 232-9863 or H32@iga.in.gov.

Noblesville resident promoted to vice president for regulatory affairs, policy for Indiana at Duke Energy

The REPORTER

Duke Energy has promoted Kelley Karn to the newly-created office of vice president for regulatory affairs and policy for Indiana.

Since 2006, Karn served as the utility's lead regulatory attorney in Indiana and has led legal and regulatory initiatives with state and federal regulators. She was promoted to deputy general counsel in 2008.

In her new role, Kelley will be responsible for relationships and advocacy with stakeholder groups and key state executive agencies including the Indiana Utility Regulatory Commission, the Office of Utility Consumer Counselor, the Indiana Department of Environmental Management, as well as the governor's office. She will also fill policy committee needs for the company at the Indiana Chamber of Commerce, Indiana Manufacturers Association and the Indiana Energy Association.

Additionally, Karn will provide leadership and strategic direction for the development and coordination of comprehensive energy policy strategies for Duke Energy Indiana.

"There is no one better qualified to fill this new position than Kelley," said Stan Pinegar, Duke Energy state president for Indiana. "While serving as lead regulatory attorney, Kelley and her team have worked hard to create long-lasting stakeholder relationships that have resulted in constructive regulatory and legal outcomes. She will play a large role in moving the company forward in this period of rapid change in our industry."

Karn earned her bachelor's degree in government, international relations and public policy from the University of Notre Dame, graduating cum laude. Her juris doctor degree is from the Indiana University School of Law - Indianapolis, where she graduated summa cum laude. She is admitted to the Indiana Bar. Karn and her husband, Ron, have three sons and live in Noblesville.

The company also announced that Beth Heneghan, who is associate general counsel, will move up to take Karn's role as deputy general counsel and lead regulatory attorney in Indiana.

Heneghan has been legal counsel for Duke Energy focusing on Indiana regulatory work since 2008, and was promoted to her current role as Associate General Counsel in 2012. She has been instrumental in many key regulatory outcomes for Duke Energy Indiana, including her work with both the Edwardsport IGCC plant as well as coal ash basin closures. With her depth of experience, she is well positioned to lead the Indiana regulatory legal team.

Heneghan and her husband, Mike, live in Indianapolis with their five children.

Mic Mead responds to young Republican on climate change

Dear Editor:

I am responding to Kenzie Binford of the College Republicans at IU.

I am also a dedicated Republican and environmentalist who has read the reports of peer-reviewed researchers for decades. I have a science degree from Purdue.

You referred to Senator Braun. I have met him, listen to him and like him very much. But he is a very bright and successful businessman – not a scientist.

I sincerely hope you have studied the causes of climate cycles that have gone on for four-and-a-half billion years. I am proud of you for your effort, but you have been duped and used by the political left.

Many have confused climate cycles with weather. I'll try to be brief with my facts:

1) CO2 does NOT cause warming. NO PEER-REVIEWED RESEARCHER HAS BEEN ABLE TO PROVE OTHERWISE. In fact, it is fertilizer that has greatly increased crop production the world over, helping many third world countries.

2) Climate cycles are primarily caused by the sun's 12+/- year cycles of sun spots (cooling) and the solar flares (warming).

3) Millions of tons of ice have been added to Antarctica in recent years, causing it to break off its shelf and be mistaken for melting.

4) The oceans are not rising – no islands have been flooded. Miami Beach is sinking a bit because it was built on a marsh.

5) Greenland was lush green farmland when the Vikings settled it a few hundred years ago. They left or died from the cold a few hundred years later. Its glaciers are again increasing, as are Iceland's.

6) There are more polar bears than ever previously reported.

7) Generating electricity with wind is expensive. The wind generators break down, are made in China and kill great piles of birds.

8) Solar panels also are made in China, are short-lived and, like wind generators, more expensive, subject to the sunshine, therefore requiring storage facilities or gas backups. Private solar systems where power breakdowns are frequent are probably very helpful.

9) Adding ethanol to gasoline may help the farmers. But the process uses more energy than it produces.

10) Our efforts to clean up pollution has greatly cleaned the air. The Paris Accords will send our millions of dollars to China to clean their air, but they do not use it there – theirs is the most polluted air in the world.

11) We and ALL PLANTS AND ANIMALS ARE MADE OF CARBON. We depend on carbon.

12) The fires in Australia and in the U.S. have had great publicity this year, but actually we have had fewer forest fires in recent years than previously. The seriousness was caused by lack of management that reduces fuel. Fortunately, the U.S. Forest Service is planning on removing millions of dead trees this summer against the wishes of radical environmentalists.

13) Hurricanes and tornadoes are more damaging because we are doing more building in their paths. Their frequency and intensity are less than in over 100 years.

14) The Atlantic is actually in a third year of one of its cooling cycles.

Be careful, Kenzie Binford of Carmel – you have really been duped by the left's political propaganda.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

Who then is the one who condemns? No one. Christ Jesus who died—more than that, who was raised to life—is at the right hand of God and is also interceding for us. Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? Shall trouble or hardship or persecution or famine or nakedness or danger or sword? As it is written: “For your sake we face death all day long; we are considered as sheep to be slaughtered.” No, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us. For I am convinced that neither death nor life, neither angels nor demons, neither the present nor the future, nor any powers, neither height nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Royals win all-county game over Millers

By RICHIE HALL

FISHERS - Hamilton Southeastern picked up its third win in seven days on Friday, beating Noblesville 76-66 in an all-county and Hoosier Crossroads Conference game at the Royals' gym.

The game was a hard-fought contest and was close in the first half. Southeastern had two big runs in that half, one towards the end of each quarter. The first-period run allowed the Royals to get in front, and the second-period run gave HSE the separation it needed to get its lead into double digits by halftime, and the Royals stayed comfortably in front for the second half.

The Millers scored the first basket of the game, a 3-pointer by Noah Harris. Southeastern scored the next five points, breaking the ice with a layin by Alex Totton, then Vinny Buccilla's 3 put the Royals ahead 5-3.

Noblesville answered with back-to-back triples by E.J. Smith and Luke Almodovar, giving it a 9-5 advantage. But Southeastern was in control for the remainder of the first quarter, scoring 10 straight points to lead 15-9 by the period's end. Totton scored on back-to-back 3s to get the Royals ahead for good.

The two teams played even for the first part of the second quarter. David Lloyd hit consecutive baskets for the Millers, and Almodovar made another 3. Meanwhile, Southeastern got baskets from Jason Stutz and Sam Jacobs, while Buccilla and John McCall each converted three-point plays for the Royals.

Smith drained a 3 to keep Noblesville within 25-22 midway through the period. That's when HSE began an 11-0 run, started by a 3-pointer from McCall. He would score seven points in the run, which ended with McCall making two free throws. The Royals led 36-23 at halftime.

"At the end of the first quarter and second quarter, we were able to continue to do the things that we talked about and get that little separation and have a little cushion," said Southeastern coach Brian Satterfield. During halftime, the Royals talked about making sure they sustained that advantage.

"And I thought we had a good start to the second half as well," said Satterfield.

Southeastern kept its lead at 10 points or more for all but a few seconds of the second half. In the third quarter, a Buccilla triple put the Royals up 43-28. Buccilla scored nine points in the period, including a 3-pointer to end the third that put Southeastern up 55-36.

"They're the most physical team, toughest team, in terms of making those winning plays since probably Carmel," said Noblesville coach John Peckinpugh. "And we talked about it all week.

If we can win the toughness battle against these guys, getting to the floor first for the loose ball, coming up with the big rebounds, doing those things that really they excel in, we would have a chance to win. We just didn't do it enough."

McCall opened the fourth quarter with a layin and the Royals had their largest lead of the game at 57-36. Noblesville began to make a run, starting with an early 6-0 stretch. Lloyd scored three of those points on 3-of-4 foul shooting.

Dalton Retzner had a good fourth quarter for HSE, scoring six points. A McCall layin got the Royals back up 67-49. The Millers then went on a 15-5 run to briefly cut the Royals' lead to 72-64; Josh Durham, Almodovar and Lloyd all hit 3's during the run, with Lloyd's triple getting Noblesville within eight with under a minute to go. But Stutz and Totton both hit a pair of free throws during that final minute to keep Southeastern at a solid distance.

Satterfield gave the Millers credit after the game.

"They didn't quit, they kept fighting," said Satterfield. "Made a little run at us. We got to shore some things up from what they did to us. But the thing is, our guys keep battling, they keep competing. We had good balance tonight, four guys in double figures. That's the positive we're going to keep trying to build on."

McCall led the way with 21 points and 11 rebounds, his first double-double of the season. Buccilla added 17 points, including three 3s, while Totton and Retzner both scored 12. Retzner also pulled five rebounds. The Royals had 21 assists as a team, with Buccilla dishing out seven, Stutz handing out five and McCall handing out four. Buccilla and Mohammed Awad both had four rebounds.

"That's the one thing about Mo," said Satterfield. "Things don't show up on the stat sheet, but what we love about him is when he gets out there and he hustles and competes and just seems to get his hands on everything. We just love the energy that he always brings."

Lloyd was Noblesville's high scorer with 17 points, followed by Smith with 15 and Almodovar with 13, including three 3s. Harris and Preston Roberts both scored nine points.

Lloyd collected six rebounds and Harris had five, with Smith dishing out five assists.

"We're at a point where we're playing better basketball than we were in November and December," said Peckinpugh. "But we have to figure out how to get to that next level. And I think we're right there on the verge of doing it. But they've got to buy in and believe in what it takes and how you have to practice every day and what that looks like. And we'll get there. It's a long season, still, if we stay healthy, knock on wood. I thought we fought. We just didn't come up with those toughness plays tonight that we needed to win the game."

The Millers are 1-4 in HCC play and 8-6 overall. Noblesville is scheduled to play at Guerin Catholic tonight.

The Royals improved to 3-2 in the conference and are also 8-6 overall. Their next game is another HCC contest, as Southeastern hosts Franklin Central on Thursday.

"We're definitely moving in the right direction," said Satterfield. "Are there still things that we still need to improve on? Definitely. But we still got another month before tournament time and hopefully we can continue to work on those things."

Hamilton Heights made a big comeback in the fourth quarter against rival Tipton on Friday, and that sent the Huskies to a 73-65 victory in a key Hoosier Conference East Division game at the Blue Devils' gym.

Heights led 18-13 after the first quarter and 34-30 at halftime. Tipton took over in the third period, scoring 23 points to lead the Huskies 53-48 by the end of the quarter. But it was all Heights in the fourth, as it outscored the Blue Devils 25-12 to earn its fourth consecutive win.

Gus Etchison scored 22 points, one of three Huskies players in double figures. Isaac Wilson contributed 15 points and led the rebounds with five. Luke Carroll added 10 points and Noah Linville dished out five assists.

With the victory, Heights is 2-0 in the division, presently sharing the lead with Western and Lewis Cass. The Huskies will host both those teams in the coming days, taking on Western on Feb. 6 and Cass on Feb. 9. Heights is 9-2 overall and next plays Thursday at Frankton.

Tigers finish regular season with HCC win

Fishers completed its regular and Hoosier Crossroads Conference season on Friday, coming back to beat Franklin Central 63-54 at the Tiger Den.

The Class 4A No. 7 Tigers trailed the Flashes 18-11 after the first quarter, but came blasting back in the second period, scoring 25 points to take a 36-28 half-time lead. Seven different Fishers players scored during that quarter, led by Olivia Smith's six points.

Pacers fall just short against Hornets

By WHEAT HOTCHKISS

The Pacers beat the Hornets on Wednesday night in Charlotte, but repeating the feat proved to be more difficult.

Indiana (11-8) mounted a charge in the fourth quarter on Friday night in Charlotte, but ultimately came up just short in a 108-105 loss to the Hornets (8-11). The Pacers have now split each of the three two-game series they have played against the same opponent so far in the regular season.

The Hornets led 92-82 early in the fourth before Domantas Sabonis and the Pacers made their run. The All-Star big man scored six points during a 9-0 Indiana run to make it a one-point game with eight minutes remaining.

Malcolm Brogdon's 3-pointer with 5:27 left tied the game at 94. The two teams then traded buckets twice before Myles Turner's turnaround hook on the right baseline gave the Blue & Gold a 100-98 lead with 3:06 remaining.

Cody Zeller's layup with 2:07 to play knotted the score once again. Brogdon missed a point-blank layup on the other end before another Zeller basket put the hosts up two with 1:46 remaining.

Jeremy Lamb hit a 3-pointer 15 seconds later to put the Pacers back in front, but Terry Rozier answered with a three of his own after an offensive rebound and kick-out from Graham with 1:10 to play. Zeller blocked Lamb on the other end and then Graham drained another triple to make it a five-point game with 52.6 seconds left.

A layup by Brogdon cut the deficit to three with 41.5 seconds remaining. Indiana's defense forced a Gordon Hayward turnover on the other end, giving the Blue & Gold the ball back with 20.4 seconds remaining.

Zeller fouled Justin Holiday on a closeout in the left corner with 8.7 seconds to go, but the Pacers weren't yet in the bonus. Head coach Nate Bjorkgren then called a timeout to try to draw up a look for a game-tying three.

Brogdon inbounded to Sabonis who handed the ball back to him. Brogdon had a clean look, but missed long and the ball went out of bounds off Indiana to seal the victory for Charlotte.

Sabonis led the visitors with 22 points, 11 rebounds, and six assists in the loss. Brogdon added 21 points, four rebounds, and eight assists, while Turner tallied 20 points on 9-of-14 shooting, eight rebounds, and two blocks.

"We didn't get as many stops as we would have liked to all game long," Turner said. "I think we kind of started off in the first half not really establishing our defense. Rebounding hurt us, too. It seemed like every single time we missed a rebound, they hit a three. Those are big plays."

The first quarter on Friday featured two ties and seven lead changes. The Pacers hit four early 3-pointers and led 24-19 before Charlotte closed the opening frame with a 13-4 run to take a 32-28 advantage into the second quarter.

Hot shooting helped the Hornets extend their lead in the ensuing quarter. Charlotte made six threes — two apiece by Rozier and Graham — in the first nine minutes of the frame to open up a 62-48 lead.

The Blue & Gold mounted a charge before halftime, closing the second quarter with a 12-2 run, capped by Edmond Sumner's corner three just before the intermission trimmed the deficit to 64-60.

The Hornets quickly pushed the margin back to double digits, however. PJ Washington made a pair of 3-pointers as Charlotte opened the second half with eight unanswered points.

The Pacers lost sharpshooter Doug McDermott midway through the third quarter after he collided with Zeller on a baseline drive and bruised his lower back. McDermott had previously gone to the locker room in the second quarter with a right thumb contusion but returned to the court to start the second half.

Indiana failed to cut into Charlotte's lead over the course of the third quarter and headed to the final frame trailing, 89-80.

"We've got to finish our positions out a little better," Bjorkgren said. "Guys are fighting, they're flying, they're scrambling around. That was the difference tonight. We needed a couple bounces to go our way there over the final two and a half, three minutes."

Lamb finished with 12 points, five rebounds, two blocks, and two steals for the Pacers. McDermott joined him in double figures despite his early exit, registering 11 points on 5-of-7 shooting and six rebounds in 17 minutes of action.

Rozier and Washington shared high scorer honors for Charlotte with 19 points each. Rozier went 5-for-8 from 3-point range, while Washington went 7-for-8 from the field and pulled down nine rebounds.

LaMelo Ball had 16 points, six rebounds, and seven assists off the bench for the Hornets. Graham added 14 points and 10 assists, while Zeller (12 points and six rebounds) and Hayward (11 points, eight rebounds, six assists, and two blocks) also finished in double figures.

The Pacers return home for their next two games, including a big one on Sunday night against Philadelphia, who currently owns the best record in the Eastern Conference.
