New program at Hamilton County Jail teaches women sewing & business skills

Conquering UTIs

The REPORTER

Kaitlin Vanderpool walked into the Hamilton County Jail a newly convicted felon. She walked out an entrepreneur. The 36-year-old Noblesville resident is part of a new program led by Butler professor Kristi Mitchell called the Launch HOPE Foundation.

“We’re trying to transform lives and help women from marginalized communities find hope through the power of entrepreneurship,” Mitchell said. “HOPE stands for Hope, Opportunity, Prosperity, and Entrepreneurship.”

Vanderpool was sentenced to three months in jail in June following a third DUI (driving under the influence) conviction. A former newspaper reporter, and later a veterinarian tech, Vanderpool slowly sunk into the depths of alcohol following a divorce.

“Addiction doesn’t discriminate,” Vanderpool said. “I have been struggling with addiction for half my life. I know now that I cannot have a relationship with alcohol. This is the first time I feel like I have control over it. This program saved my life. I have a plan and I’m ready to go.”

The daughter of a seamstress, Vanderpool’s mom taught her how to sew. Through the Launch HOPE program, she was allowed to sew while also taking entrepreneurship classes at the jail twice a week. She is now preparing to launch her own handmade apparel boutique called Kiki’s Collections with the help of a team of business students from Butler University’s Lacy School of Business.

“My students have helped Kaitlin conduct research, vet her business concept, develop a business model, setup an online storefront and go to market,” Mitchell added. “All the things she couldn’t do by herself while incarcerated. Kaitlin is now learning how to become an entrepreneur, including financial management, operations, growth strategies, networking, and the value of a growth mindset.”

Vanderpool and her new company will be supported by the Launch HOPE Foundation Business Accelerator program for the next five years. Her online store, Kiki’s Collections, launched on the Etsy platform Wednesday night. It will sell hand-sewn baby bibs, burp clothes, receiving blankets, and headbands as well as bandanas, bowties, and accessories for dogs. For now, she and her mom will do all the sewing, but eventually a Launch HOPE Industrial Center in Indianapolis will pro-

“I always knew I ultimately wanted to be my own boss,” Vanderpool admitted.

Hamilton County prepares to roll out vaccinations for kids ages 5-11

By CAMILA FERNANDEZ

People in the United States ages 5 to 11 could soon be eligible to get COVID-19 shots.

The White House on Wednesday outlined its plans to vaccinate millions of children even before Pfizer receives full approval.

The Hamilton County Health Department says it’s already started preparations.

However, the Biden administration says it’s awaiting the U.S. Food and Drug Administration and the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention to approve the shots before announcing a timeline to start rolling out the vaccines. The Biden adminis-six-year-old son vaccinated. She says it can mean a matter of life and death. “Yes to vaccination, yes to my children’s health, yes to me being able to enjoy them for a much longer time,” Rangel said.

The Carmel resident says she’s reached out to her physician and a pharmacist to learn more about the vaccines.

Carmel ranked No. 1 Safest Midsize City in America

The REPORTER

The City of Carmel has been ranked the No. 1 Safest Midsize City in America by online business research and reporting site, AdvisorSmith, a New York-based financial services company, which established its ranking on a variety of factors using federal crime data.

Carmel was the only city in Indiana to make the list. Of the top 10 midsize cities, five were in California and two were in Texas. Indiana, North Carolina and New Jersey each had one city.

The study was conducted based upon data provided by the Federal Bureau of Investigation’s Crime Reporting Data Set. Carmel earned the number one spot due to its low incidence of violent and property crimes – only 2.1 per thousand people for violent crimes and 5.9 per thousand for property crimes per year of publication.

“We work hard to make sure our police department is provided with the tools it needs to keep our community safe,” said Mayor Jim Brainard. “We know that safe neighborhoods is always among the top five reasons people choose to live and remain in Carmel and ensuring that comfort level is part of our overall economic development and quality of life strategy.”

According to the researchers, for consumers and businesses alike, crime and a lack of safety in a neighborhood can exact a significant toll on daily lives. For the consumer, this can equate to decreases in home values, increases in insurance costs, and more. For businesses, crimes such as shoplifting, robbery, vandalism, theft, and fraud, end up costing U.S. businesses billions of dollars each year. As crime rates increase, so do costs for insurance coverage, including commercial property, commercial crime, and cyber insurance.

In this study, AdvisorSmith used the most recently available data from the FBI, released in September 2021, which includes crimes committed during the calendar year 2020. Crimes considered in this report include violent crimes such as robbery, assault, rape, and murder, as well as property crimes including burglary, larceny, and motor vehicle theft. From that research, they created a proprietary crime score, which weights different types of crimes based upon the severity of the crime, with violent crimes weighted more highly.

Cities were divided into categories based on their population and towns with populations under 10,000 were excluded. Cities with populations of less than 100,000 were labeled as small cities, while cities with populations of 100,000 to 300,000 were considered midsize cities. Any cities with populations over 300,000 were labeled large cities. This study included 2,837 small cities, 219 midsize cities and 59 large cities, for a total of 3,115 cities.

It’s been a while since I’ve discussed one of the topics in life that people usually don’t talk about – menopause. It’s a valid thing to bring up for many of us in the sandwich generation, as the typical caregiver is a woman in her late 40s. Most women start to notice perimenopause symptoms at this stage of life. Perimenopause is what we experience in the years leading up to menopause.

As I’ve shared before, I’m definitely in this rather insane stage of life. I say insane because the symptoms are all over the place. They include loss of sleep, night sweats/hot flashes, dizziness, heart palpitations, and many other “fun” things – and yes, I’m dripping with sarcasm.

I’ve recently battled a more serious menopause issue – constant urinary tract infections (UTIs). I went to the ER with one of them last summer. And another even popped up on my birthday (of all days!) last August.

After my ER experience, I said “Enough!” and began some research. I had talked to doctors – like you should do, dear readers, if you are battling frequent UTIs – and gotten the usual advice about drinking lots of water, increasing probiotics, etc. Nothing was helping me.

Working to fix parking problems near Carmel schools

Last month, there was an issue brought to my attention by some concerned residents regarding student drop-off, pick-up, and parking causing problems in some of our neighborhoods surrounding Carmel’s schools. I met on site over several days and several locations, and witnessed the issues that they were bringing up first-hand.

With the school bus driver shortage this year, Carmel Schools implemented a policy where families who live within one mile of their school would not receive bus service. This has led to a large increase in the amount of traffic at the start and end of the school day. The problem has been especially bad around Carmel High School, where some parents have chosen to utilize local neighborhoods adjacent to the school instead of at the designated drop-off/pick-up area at CHS Athletic Complex.

After witnessing the congestion on our residential streets, access challenges for delivery and emergency vehicles, and pedestrian safety issues, I met with representatives from Carmel Clay Schools, the Carmel Police Department, and staff to see if there was something the City Council could do to help alleviate these issues.

Go Purple with Prevail!

Have you ever noticed that there tends to be many observers during an accident but very few stepping in to help? This strange phenomenon is known as the Bystander Effect. Simply put, it states that the chances of a witness intervening during a rape or domestic violence incident greatly decreases if there are other witnesses present. Oftentimes, witnesses believe that, “It’s not my problem” or, “Someone else will help.”

UTIs

I shared in a column that I was going to try products from a company called Uqora. I was impressed because the founder had suffered from numerous UTIs herself. Even though I wasn’t thrilled about taking another supplement, I was tired of the pain and trips to the doctor. One of my Facebook friends saw that column last summer and told me she’d had great luck with their Control product. I ordered it immediately.

Before starting Control, I noticed that my bladder felt inflamed and irritated even when it wasn’t infected. After about five days, that feeling finally went away, and I’ve been UTI free ever since.

While that issue is gone, my battles with sleep have slowly returned. I’ve discovered that some menopause products can stop working over time, and that’s been the case with what I was taking for sleep problems. I’m not wide-awake all night like I was in 2020 (thank the Lord) but I find myself waking up often.

When we’re in the sandwich generation, we need our sleep! We must have our energy to juggle the demands of family, elderly parents, work, home, etc. It’s also important for our overall health.

So I’m back to trying new things and hope to write a column shortly about my success with a better product to help with sleep! In the meantime, I’m thrilled to finally be UTI-free.

PARKING

From those conversations, I’ve sponsored an ordinance that will:

- Require vehicles servicing local schools to use parking facilities and follow established school student pickup routes and locations.
- Establish local streets around all Carmel schools that will be designated as no parking during school hours. Permits will be available to ensure residents aren’t negatively impacted.
- At CHS, local streets will not allow standing, stopping, or parking vehicles to discourage student pickup in neighborhoods.

The access to and enjoyment of a resident’s home is something that we can all agree is important not only individually, but as a community. And the safety of students and motorists around our schools must always be a top priority. My goal with this ordinance is to ensure both.

“Launch HOPE gave me the time and the resources I needed to make that happen, but it’s not over when I ‘graduate’ from the program. This program offered me a lifeline that I might not have gotten somewhere else. I want to be that for someone else. I want to serve as a mentor for those who come behind me.”

The Hamilton County Jail currently has nine women enrolled in the Launch HOPE program, with an additional 10 women on a wait list. They are learning basic sewing construction skills to create marketable products. So far, they have sewn dog beds for local animal shelters, holiday stockings for U.S. Army troops, and quilts for patients at Seton Hospital, a long-term acute care hospital.

“We’re thrilled to be the pilot for this program,” said jail commander Captain Josh Carey. “Launch HOPE is a unique and incredible way to equip and empower these ladies to start careers and businesses they are passionate about. The hope is that these skills and concepts will allow them to support themselves and their families upon reentry into their communities.”

The Launch HOPE Foundation currently operates entrepreneurship centers in the Hamilton County Jail and the Phalen Leadership Academy on the east side of Indianapolis. Three new entrepreneurship centers are planned in the coming months to support more budding entrepreneurs that want to transform their lives. # VACCINES

“I really believe that until we can get this second part going there really isn’t going to be an advancement to be able to have the confidence to be able to continue to live life to our fullest capacity,” Rangel said.

Christian Walker, preparedness coordinator for the Noblesville-based Hamilton County Health Department, says he’s looking forward to getting his five-year-old son and seven-year-old son their shots. He says the health department is also waiting for CDC guidance before rolling out a date to vaccinate children between 5 and 11. However, for now, they’re looking at using the county’s fairgrounds for the vaccinations. It’s already open for vaccinations and booster shots for people who qualify.

About his children getting vaccinated, Walker said, “It allows them the extra level of safety to go to school and have interactions with their friends, to be able to play indoor sports, and things like that.”

Fishers-based Hamilton South-eastern Schools says it’s encouraging anyone who’s eligible to get vaccinated, and that vaccination reduces the quarantine period for students.

Rep. Spartz submits comment on proposed federal asylum rule

Submitted Congresswoman Victoria Spartz (R-Ind.) and her House colleagues submitted comment on the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) and Department of Justice (DOJ) proposed rule on asylum.

The proposed rule would make it easier for illegal immigrants to be released into the U.S. through categorical parole, disregard mandatory bars for asylum, and remove adversarial proceedings before an immigration judge from the adjudication of asylum applications.

Congress gave the DHS Secretary limited authority to grant parole to aliens on a case-by-case basis for urgent humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit. Contrary to this statutory requirement – and in violation of the separation of powers – the DHS-DOJ proposed rule drastically expands the agency’s authority to grant parole, which will undoubtedly result in aliens being paroled into the U.S. based on detention capacity instead of an individualized determination.

“The disregard of the rule of law and lack of border enforcement by the Biden Administration have led to an all-out crisis on our southern border,” Rep. Spartz said. “This proposed rule will not only make matters worse, but it also violates the separation of powers and will fully misinterpret statute. Any material changes to immigration law should be done only by the legislative branch.”

As a member of the House Judiciary Committee’s Immigration Subcommittee, Rep. Spartz is working with her colleagues to enact meaningful reforms to the country’s immigration system, including the asylum process.

Letter to the Editor

Rev. Powell: U.S. no longer needs Vatican ambassador

Dear Editor:

On Friday, Oct. 8, President Biden appointed a member of my own party, Senator Joe Donnelly, as Ambassador to the Holy See.

As a 2020 Democratic Congressional primary candidate and a 62-year-old Lutheran pastor who at 17 years old was a novice Catholic monk, college seminarian prior to my appointment to the North American College at the Vatican to continue priestly studies, I have a little insight into this matter which escapes most folks.

I lived at the Vatican during the 1980-81 academic year. At that time, America did not have a Vatican ambassador with all its associated costs for building and staff. From the Embassy, it takes eight minutes by car to get to the North American College where I lived or to where the Pope lives, the Apostolic Palace. The U.S. Embassy to Italy and the U.S. Embassy to the Holy See are a four-minute walk from each other – a one-minute car drive if security is an issue.

While Senator Donnelly is a member of my party, that is not a reason to carry on a needless taxpayer expense. The embassy was started in 1984 by the Reagan Administration to have more immediate communication to then Polish native Pope John Paul II when Poland was amid a crisis with the Communist Polish government controlled by the politburo in Moscow.

With the Soviet threat in Europe over and with Pope Francis’ cooperation with the Chinese Communist Party, which is America’s and the Free World’s greatest threat, it would be logical and prudent to send a message to the Bishop of Rome. In my view, it is about time to close the Apostolic Nunciature to the United States. For far too long priest personnel files have been transferred from American dioceses to the Vatican Embassy so investigations of clergy sex abuse were thwarted because of diplomatic immunity. Being a survivor of Clergy Sex Abuse, I know something about that issue too.

The solution is simple: Let the U.S. Embassy to Italy handle matters with the Vatican. I urge the entire United States Senate to vote NO to Senator Donnelly’s appointment to the Holy See. President Biden could appoint Mr. Donnelly to be U.S. Ambassador to Italy, which is vacant, and save the taxpayer some money and still have the former Indiana senator in Rome. On that appointment, I would urge the senators to vote YES.

Senators Young, Stabenow reintroduce bipartisan legislation to address social determinants of health

The REPORTER

U.S. Senators Todd Young (R-Ind.) and Debbie Stabenow (D-Mich.) have reintroduced bipartisan legislation that would empower states and local governments to improve health outcomes by addressing the economic and social conditions in which people live, learn, work, and play.

The Social Determinants Accelerator Act would establish a federal interagency council to better leverage existing programs and address the barriers to coordination between health and social services programs. The bill would also help states and localities develop innovative strategies to address social determinants in their communities.

“A person’s health should not be dependent on where they live or the economic challenges they face,” Sen. Young said. “If we attack the challenges, such as reliable transportation and affordable housing, that negatively impact the health and well-being of our most vulnerable citizens, we can make our citizens healthier.”

Social determinants of health are the economic and social conditions that affect an individual’s health and well-being, such as access to reliable transportation and stable housing. Addressing these factors can have a meaningful impact on the prevention and management of chronic diseases in all communities.

The Social Determinants Accelerator Act aims to address the social determinants of health by providing grants for state, local and tribal governments to develop strategies that target social determinants negatively impacting the country’s most vulnerable populations. The legislation also establishes a federal interagency council to help grantees identify federal authorities, opportunities and strategies to tackle these challenges.

TODAY’S BIBLE READING

It is for freedom that Christ has set us free. Stand firm, then, and do not let yourselves be burdened again by a yoke of slavery.

Mark my words! I, Paul, tell you that if you let yourselves be circumcised, Christ will be of no value to you at all. Again I declare to every man who lets himself be circumcised that he is obligated to obey the whole law. You who are trying to be justified by the law have been alienated from Christ; you have fallen away from grace. For through the Spirit we eagerly await by faith the righteousness for which we hope. For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision nor uncircumcision has any value. The only thing that counts is faith expressing itself through love.

You were running a good race. Who cut in on you to keep you from obeying the truth? That kind of persuasion does not come from the one who calls you. “A little yeast works through the whole batch of dough.” I am confident in the Lord that you will take no other view. The one who is throwing you into confusion, whoever that may be, will have to pay the penalty. Brothers and sisters, if I am still preaching circumcision, why am I still being persecuted? In that case the offense of the cross has been abolished. As for those agitators, I wish they would go the whole way and emasculate themselves!

Galatians 5:1-12 (NIV)

James Dale “Jim” Kellam

April 12, 1949 – October 17, 2021

James Dale “Jim” Kellam, 72, passed away at his home in Sheridan surrounded by his loving family on Sunday evening, October 17, 2021. Born on April 12, 1949 in Lebanon, Ind., he was the son of the late Carl M. “Todd” and Thelma Louise (Harrison) Kellam.

Jim was a 1967 graduate of Sheridan High School and earned an Associate’s Degree in Electronics from Ivy Tech. His attention to detail and strong work ethic served him well as a project manager with AT&T. He retired in 2017 after 22 years of dedicated service.

Jim proudly served his country in the National Guard. Never one to let grass grow under his feet, Jim seemed as busy on days off as he was on his days on. He loved being out on the water. For years he kept a houseboat down at Dale Hollow Lake; he always looked forward to visiting and getting in some good fishing. He also loved to ski, and he played golf whenever he had the opportunity. Jim also enjoyed traveling; St. Thomas, St. Martin, Puerto Rico, Arizona, and Gatlinburg were a few of his favorite destinations. No trip was complete without a little antiquing.

Jim loved the Colts, even during the lean years, and was an avid NASCAR fan. Jeff Gordon was his driver; when Jeff retired, Jim seemed to lose interest in the activity. As with most people who grew up around Sheridan, Jim was a huge Blackhawks fan and supporter.

Jim also had a passion for cars. His pride and joy was a ‘54 Ford that he lovingly and painstakingly restored. There would always be a soft spot in his heart for that old Ford, but his Corvette – that is what captured his soul. He was a member of Corvette Indy. He loved going to car shows and never tired of talking about his hobby. Later in life Jim found the perfect job: He became a driver for Mecum Auction Company. It was a perfect fit.

Jim led a very active life, but there was nothing like spending some quality time with his family, and that included his Great Danes. He loved following his kids’ activities and was thrilled to get to do it all over again as a grandparent.

Jim is survived by his loving wife, Pamala “Pam” (Mynatt) Kellam. She and Jim were married on August 13, 1983. He is also survived by his sons, Brett Allen Kellam (Tera) of Tampa, Fla., and Todd Dean Melahn (Valerie) of Sheridan; daughter, Cary Lois Marlow (Brandon) of Sheridan; five grandchildren, Hallee Kellam, Taylor Melahn, Shawn Cox, Shane Cox, and Savannah Cox; brothers, Joe L. Kellam of Sheridan, and twin brother (of which Jim was the oldest), Jerry C. Kellam (Jeannie) of Bloomington; sister, Benita J. Watkins of Noblesville; his Great Danes, Remington and Blue; and his granddog, Stella.

He was preceded in death by his parents; brother-in-law, Keith Watkins; and his sister-in-law, Jane Kellam.

Visitation will be held from 4 to 8 p.m. on Thursday, October 21, 2021 at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan. Jim will be laid to rest during a private graveside service at Crown View Cemetery in Sheridan. Pastor V.J. Stover will be officiating.

Girls basketball begins week of Nov. 1

Gymnasiums across Indiana have been busy with the sounds of basketball this week, as high school girls teams began their practices.

The first official IHSAA games can take place the week of Nov. 1, although all nine Hamilton County teams will be participating at scrimmages next week. Three schools will begin their regular seasons on Tuesday, Nov. 2, all of them playing at home.

Hamilton Southeastern hosts Columbus North for its opener, with varsity tipoff at 7:30 p.m. Longtime boys basketball coach Brian Satterfield will be making his debut as the girls coach with this game. Meanwhile, defending regional champion University welcomes Shorthridge to the U Center, while Westfield will take on North Central at The Rock.

Noblesville begins its season Thursday, Nov. 4, as the defending Sectional 8 champion Millers play at Lawrence North. Then on Friday, Nov. 5, Hamilton Heights, another defending sectional champion, will host Danville to begin its season.

Three more schools begin their seasons on Saturday, Nov. 6. Carmel will take a trip to Homestead for an afternoon game, Fishers will host its annual Fishers Shootout (with Southeastern also playing there) and Guerin Catholic hosts University in the first all-county game of the season.

Sheridan opens its season on Friday, Nov. 12, hosting Carroll in a Hoosier Heartland Conference game.

The 2021-22 girls basketball schedule now follows. Scrimmages are listed first by day, followed by an alphabetical listing of schedules from each school's athletic website.
