Noblesville gets jazzy & wins state competition

The Noblesville High School Jazz 1 Band took the top spot at the Indiana State School Music Association state competition last Friday. They also swept the categories of Best Trumpet, Best Trumpet section and Best Trombone. The band is led by Bethany Robinson, who was recently named Indiana High School Music Educator of the Year.

Come to the altar

There my burdened soul found liberty.

No, it wasn't at Calvary, but it was at the altar of a small country church. My friend, Georgia Marshall, the preacher's wife, had invited me to speak to the women of the church. Before I spoke, we were given time to pray. As the women scattered to various pews in the sanctuary to spend time with God, I made my way to the altar ... to leave my burdens with the Lord.

As I knelt to pray, I was reminded that I was raised to believe the altar was a sacred place. A place where I could have a little talk with my heavenly father.

I whisper, "Lord, life is hard. So many are hurting. I'm one of them." I hear the words in my heart, "Do you trust me with your doubts?" The tears find their way to my eyes and leak down my cheeks.

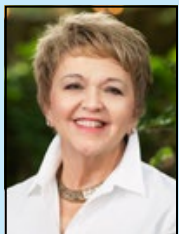

I had faith but I also had doubts. Doubts that I would live long enough to see some hurts ever be healed. Doubts that some things would ever change. Doubts that God would intervene in situations over which I had no control. Doubts hovered over my circumstances. They clouded my hope.

I needed to catch a glimpse of hope. It was then I saw, in my mind, a picture of Jesus hanging on the cross. It was for my doubts that he hung on the cross and died.

It was at that altar I was given new insight. My focus turned from my doubts and found its way to the man who gave his life so that I could live and live life abundantly. My hope was in the man that hung on the cross. It was that hope that allowed my heart to find joy. Because of the cross. Because of the man that hung there. Because that man died for my sins and ... he died for my doubts.

But – and oh, how I love the word BUT – Christ arose from the grave! Oh, the joy

Fishers scout makes life a little greener

By STU CLAMPITT
news@readthereporter.com

Trenton Qualls from Scout Troop 199 in Fishers recently planted 100 trees in the Fishers AgriPark for his Eagle Scout project. Qualls also chose to plant four American plum trees in memory of Scout Ezra Wellington and Assistant Scoutmaster Matt Lackner, both of whom passed in 2022.

Scoutmaster Bryan Spellman told The Reporter a scout needs to do the project by himself to complete the Eagle rank. It is an opportunity to show leadership and give back to the community.

Qualls spent time researching the project, meeting with Fishers AgriPark officials to see what they had available, and calling folks in other communities who had done similar projects. He also sourced all 104 trees through donations and fundraising and organized volunteers who helped when it came time to plant the trees.

Spellman told The Reporter this project will be a benefit to the city of Fishers for many years to come. Once they reach a certain point of maturity, the trees can be moved and used throughout the city for landscaping and other beautification projects. The city can then replant in the bed-in area that Qualls prepared so more trees will be grown on the same land for decades.

Maurice Qualls, Trenton's father, told The Reporter, "We are very proud of Trenton! He had a range of projects of varying difficulty to choose from and he chose one that was meaningful to him and to others despite the difficulty."

Carmel Clay Parks & Rec to rededicate River Heritage Park for Disability Awareness Month

The REPORTER

A rededication ceremony will be held from 5 to 6 p.m. on Monday, March 27 at River Heritage Park, 11813 River Road, Carmel, to celebrate the newly reimagined park. Carmel Clay Parks & Recreation (CCPR) will commemorate the park's focus on inclusive and accessible play during Disability Awareness Month.

The rededication will include brief remarks from community leaders and a ribbon-cutting ceremony. An American Sign Language interpreter will be present, and the event will be live streamed on the CCPR Facebook page (Facebook.com/carmelclay-parks).

Attendees will have an opportunity to tour the park's innovative features, including new playgrounds for everyone, accessible trails, White River overlooks, and an updated shelter.

In June 2001, River Heritage Park was dedicated as "Everyone's Playground," where children of all abilities could play. This park sparked CCPR's focus on making accessible play the standard for all parks. Universal Design, which ensures spaces are intentionally designed for accessibility and used to the greatest extent possible by all people, is now a guiding force for all CCPR projects. When the River Heritage Park was reimagined in 2022, CCPR renewed the park's focus on accessible play.

WYAP offers $9K in scholarships

The REPORTER

The Westfield Youth Assistance Program (WYAP) will offer four $1,000 scholarships and one $5,002 scholarship to graduating seniors or adults up to 25 years old who are continuing their education. This is the first year WYAP is offering scholarships.

You can find more information at youthassistance.org/wyapscholarships.

In honor of former WYAP Early Intervention Advocate Christine Brown, who passed away in August 2022, her family, the WYAP board of directors, and generous donors have established the Christine D. Brown Memorial Scholarship with one $5,002 scholarship.

The second application offers up to four $1,000 scholarships and is available to current or past participants of WYAP.

The application deadline for both scholarships is Saturday, April 15. Recipients will be notified by May 1 and invited to attend the WYAP Youth Recognition Breakfast from 7 to 9 a.m. on Wednesday, May 10, at IMMI.

2K people reconnect with farming at Hamilton County Ag Day

The REPORTER

Hamilton County just celebrated its 37th Ag Day. A total of 2,000 second graders, parents, and teachers visited 10 educational displays including agricultural products and live animals March 7 to 9 at the Hamilton County 4-H Fairgrounds in Noblesville.

Displays included information on corn, soybeans, wheat, beekeeping, soil and water conservation, drones in agriculture, and more. Animal production and animal by-products were explained with the use of beef, goats, horses, llamas, poultry, rabbits, sheep, and swine. More than 100 volunteers helped make presentations to the students and got them involved in hands-on activities.

The Agriculture Council of America will host National Ag Day on Tuesday, March 21. This will mark the 50th anniversary of National Ag Day. The theme for National Ag Day 2023 is "Growing a Climate for Tomorrow." This is a nationwide effort to tell the true story of American agriculture and remind citizens that agriculture is a part of everyone. Many agricultural associations, corporations, students, and government organizations involved in agriculture are expected to participate.

Local 4416 & Noblesville Fire honored for bravery

The REPORTER

Hamilton County Professional Fire Fighters Local 4416 and the Noblesville Fire Department together held the 11th annual Awards and Recognition Banquet on March 11. Fire fighters were recognized for acts of courage, bravery, and exemplary performance over the last year.

Local 4416 President Jim Butts welcomed members, guests, and dignitaries in attendance, and Noblesville District Vice President John Huseman served as the event's master of ceremonies. Indianapolis Fire Department Battalion Chief Patrick Harper served as the guest speaker. Thanks went out to Noblesville Mayor Chris Jensen, Noblesville Public Safety Director Chad Knecht, Noblesville Deputy Mayor Matt Light, and Noblesville City Council members Aaron Smith, Darren Patterson, and Greg O'Connor for attending the awards banquet.

Noblesville Fire Chief Matt Mitchell concluded the event by thanking members of the fire department for their hard work, commitment, and dedication to the department's mission.

"We truly appreciate our relationship with L4416," Chief Mitchell said. "They do a great job hosting this event where we have the opportunity to show honor to our outstanding members."

Congratulations to these fire fighters recognized by their peers for outstanding service in 2022:

- Fire Fighter of the year and Excellence in Training: Lars Werner
- Officer of the Year: Luke Turner
- EMS Provider of the Year: Dennis Parker
- Kenneth L. Gilliam Leadership Award: Tanner Howard
- Meritorious Service: Matt Miller, Dennis Parker, Nate Smith, Kevin Livingston, Josh Gates

The 11th annual NFD Awards and Recognition Banquet was sponsored by ProTeam Tactical Performance, Noblesville Common Council, Riverview Health, Hoosier Fire Equipment Inc., Hare Truck Center, and PennCare.

that was found on that third day. Forever there would be hope. Hope for every doubt. Hope for every fear. Hope for every heartache.

All those Bible verses I learned as a child were brought to that altar. They were promises upon which I had built my faith and my life. They weren't just memorized in my head but also in my heart.

It was at that altar I was reminded of who God had been in my life. He had shown up in the midst of my doubts before. The doubts I had that afternoon were left there.

There will be more tears. There will be more doubts. But the altar will always be there. It may not be the altar in that little country church, but whenever I spend time with God, I come to the altar. Whether it be at my kitchen table while I drink my coffee, in my car while I take a drive, or on a walk along the river that winds its way through my hometown, God will be waiting for me to bring my hurts, my doubts, and my hopes to Him.

I just need to find my way to the altar.

My mother would sing, "Just a little talk with Jesus makes it right." I miss that alto voice. I miss her wisdom. Oh, what a legacy she left. I watched her, many a time, leave her tears at the altar. I think she left her doubts there, too. She would sing, "Take your burdens to the Lord and leave them there." Leave them there.

What I need to tell you is that my mother attended that same little country church in the early 1950s. Her tears were left on that altar. She prayed for a child at that altar.

And now, some 70 years later, that answer to her prayers was praying at that altar. Oh, Victory Chapel Church, thank you for having an altar where a hurting soul can bring her burdens to the Lord and ... leave them there.

Eleven from Westfield Fire help deliver baby on U.S. 31

The REPORTER

Eleven paramedics and Emergency Medical Technicians with the Westfield Fire Department (WFD) were honored last Tuesday after helping a family deliver their newborn baby.

On Feb. 15, paramedics and EMS personnel with WFD were called to childbirth in a car on U.S. 31 at 10:55 p.m. Upon arrival, it was determined that the baby's birth was imminent.

"We were driving from our home in Kokomo to an Indianapolis birth center when my wife Rebecca went into labor," Jared Simoneaux said. The couple quickly called the birth center, which told them to pull their vehicle over and immediately call 9-1-1. "Everyone remained calm, and we got the help we needed. The Westfield Fire Department did a great job," Jared said.

Rep. Spartz: Farmers raising concerns about inflation & food security

The REPORTER

Last week, Rep. Victoria Spartz (R-Ind.-05) toured all six counties in Indiana's Fifth Congressional District meeting with Delaware, Grant, Hamilton, Howard, Madison, and Tipton county farmers as part of her 2023 Farm Bill listening tour. Every five years, Congress votes to reauthorize the Farm Bill.

The following are some of the key concerns raised during the tour:

- Inflation, lack of energy policies, and high input cost

- Revised definition of “the Waters of the United States” by the Biden Administration

- Unreasonable obstacles to repair equipment imposed by manufacturers

- Infringements on private property rights

- Weak foreign policies and lack of enforcement of trade agreements with Mexico and Brazil

ICPYAS to welcome Sherrie Allsup to ‘Rise Up For Kids’ Breakfast in Carmel

The REPORTER

The Indiana Center for Prevention of Youth Abuse and Suicide (ICPYAS) will welcome Sherrie Allsup as the keynote speaker for the Rise Up For Kids Breakfast. Allsup is a childhood sexual abuse survivor and founder of Courage Starts With You.

Allsup

The breakfast will take place from 7:30 to 9 a.m. on April 27 at the Ritz Charles, 12156 N. Meridian St., Carmel.

“We are thrilled to have Sherrie joining us this year,” said Maggie Owens, Director of Education and Community Relations at ICPYAS. “She is coming to us from Corpus Christi, Texas, and I think everyone is excited to hear her story of hope.”

ICPYAS invites everyone to this educational breakfast. This event supports the organization’s youth abuse and suicide programs in central Indiana, as well as provide an opportunity to network and hear more about how ICPYAS’ programs impact the community.

“We have our breakfast annually in April because it is Child Abuse Prevention Awareness month,” Owens said, “and by educating others on prevention education and the positive outcomes it has on a community is so rewarding.”

Are you interested in attending this free breakfast or sponsoring the event? Contact Maggie Owens at maggie@indianaprevention.org. You can register by going to tinyurl.com/RiseUpForKids2023. While there is no cost to attend, but registration is required.

Student Impact of Westfield’s Black Tie Bingo raises over $62K

The REPORTER

Student Impact of Westfield announced March 13 that the second annual Black Tie Bingo fundraiser raised over $62,000 at the event on March 3. This is almost $15,000 more than last year’s inaugural event.

The night included a silent auction, 10 rounds of bingo, and a game of heads and tails. Nearly 185 people were in attendance for an evening of dinner, dancing, and gambling for Student Impact.

“We are thrilled with the community support surrounding our Black Tie Bingo event,” said Danyeale Easterhaus, Executive Director of Student Impact. It’s moving to have the opportunity to bring the community together to support the kids in our community and have such an amazing turnout.”

Black Tie Bingo will continue to be an annual event with proceeds going directly to Student Impact operations. Beginning in May, Student Impact will begin construction on a $500,000 expansion project on the organization’s existing property. Construction is scheduled to be completed by Sept. 1. If you’d like to donate to the project expansion, visit TheRockWestfield.org.

AG DAY

Obviously, food and fiber don’t simply arrive at the grocery or clothing stores or magically appear on your dinner table or in your closet. Everyone relies on agriculture for the necessities of life. From beef and pork to cotton and corn, agriculture is working harder than ever to meet the needs of Americans and others around the world. Each American farmer feeds more than 165 people, a big increase from 25 people in the 1960s. As the world population soars, there is an even greater demand for the food and fiber produced in the United States.

“Since many Hamilton County residents are now three or more generations removed from the farm, Ag Day provides students with a close up, hands-on exposure to agriculture that they would not have otherwise had the opportunity to experience,” Program Assistant Lisa Hanni said.

North Adams Homemakers Club visits Sheridan Museum

By STEVE MARTIN
Hamilton County Historical Society

Every county in Indiana has a Purdue Extension Office, and one of the mandates of the Extension Offices is that of encouraging the formation and life of clubs for the homemakers in each county. Clubs are encouraged to meet monthly and provide educational programs, promote community service projects, and provide a platform for social interaction among members.

Here in Hamilton County, the Purdue Extension Service is headed by Susan Peterson, and the homemakers clubs work primarily with Bernie Huber. Adams Township is blessed to be the home of the North Adams Club, and on March 10 they met at the Sheridan Historical Society Museum. The guest speaker for this particular meeting was none other than the ever-popular Dr. David Mundy, the Superintendent of Sheridan Community Schools.

Founded on the passage

of the national Smith-Lever Act in 1914, nationwide extension services were created in each county to provide education to individuals and communities via portals like local clubs and, of course, through 4-H participation. In Indiana, Extension Services bring university information to the local level – both in person and online – to help people strengthen relationships, eat smart, improve health, and achieve financial wellness.

The local North Adams Club was founded in 1938 and is part and parcel of that original effort as set forth in the Smith-Lever Act. It is a tribute to the strong support of the Hamilton County Extension Service and the strong perseverance of spirit from the local members still fulfills its original mandate.

The Sheridan Historical Society was pleased to welcome the North Adams Club to the Museum for the meeting. The Museum has space for meetings, including limited kitchen space, and we welcome groups who need a location for a meeting. If you would like further information about our facility, please call us at (317) 758-5054, or come by the Museum and talk with us. We are located at 315 S. Main St. in beautiful uptown Sheridan, just on the country side of Hamilton County. We are open on Tuesday and Friday afternoons from 1 to 4 p.m., and on the second and fourth Saturday afternoons of each month from 1 to 4 p.m.

Steve Martin serves as the Vice President of the Sheridan Historical Society. He can be reached at shmartin1@comcast.net.

The Pursuit Institute adds deputy director

The REPORTER

Kurt Cantlon recently joined The Pursuit Institute as deputy director.

The Pursuit Institute is currently a program of Invest Hamilton County (Hamilton County Economic Development Corporation). Cantlon brings a level of experience to The Pursuit Institute that will further enable innovation and collaboration to drive career and technical education in Hamilton County. He will work directly with school districts to ensure alignment of educational pathways while guiding and supporting the expansion of CTE for students across the entire county.

Before joining The Pursuit Institute, Cantlon worked in Career and Technical Education as the Director for Wildcat Creek Career Cooperative. Over the course of his career, he has worked with youth from all different situations and backgrounds throughout central Indiana. He started his career as a probation officer and worked in mental health before becoming a school counselor. He has worked in education for the past 14 years as a counselor and administrator.

“I am thrilled to return to work with the youth of Hamilton County, a place that I grew up and continue to raise my family,” Cantlon said. “Career and Technical

Education has become a true passion of mine in my years as a school counselor or leading a Career and Technical Education District in another part of the state. Carrie Lively has done an amazing job getting The Pursuit Institute off the ground and ready to serve students. I am excited to join her to continue to innovate and build Career and Technical Education for the benefit of the students and employers of Hamilton County.”

Cantlon has worked to expand programming options for students, build partnerships with industry, and provide students opportunities to gain hands-on experiences in career fields of interest. He has worked both as a counselor and administrator with students to encourage being intentional and active participants in planning for their future through the courses and experiences that they select.

Cantlon is a graduate of Westfield High School and lives in Hamilton County with his wife and two sons. He received his undergraduate degree from Hanover College. He holds a master’s degree in counseling and counselor education from IUPUI, and he completed his Administration License coursework through Purdue University.

The Atlanta Spring Market was a packed house on Saturday, March 11 at Earthly Endearments, 155 W. Main St., Atlanta. There were 17 vendors, including The Reporter’s own Janet Hart Leonard. A train full of market fans made the trip from Noblesville, adding to the already massive success of the event.

Event organizer Carrie Feltner told The Reporter it only took one month to get everything in place for the market because they have held similar events three other times. If you didn’t make this one, have no fear, there are more markets to come.

“We are doing another on April 22 for the Bicentennial, and we are planning a Christmas market,” Feltner said.

The Nickel Plate Express held a special ride for nearly 100 passengers to travel from Hobbs Station to Atlanta for the market. Executive Director Emily Reynolds told The Reporter that ride sold out too fast for it to even be posted on the Nickel Plate Express website.

“We put up a Facebook post about the ride in January and we were fully booked in just a few hours,” Reynolds said. “That speaks so highly of how much people love both Earthly Endearments and the town of Atlanta. The support for the ride to the spring market was overwhelming and heartwarming.”

Passengers on that ride enjoyed a wine tasting from Mallow Run Winery while in transit. They then disembarked to enjoy the market, and many took the opportunity to visit one of the large est model train layouts in the continental United States at Mr. Muffin’s, 165 E. Main St., Atlanta.

Feltner, along with Earthly Endearments owners Shannon and Steve Plumer told The Reporter they were very grateful for the special Nickel Plate trip to Atlanta on Saturday, saying they absolutely love the train and how great it has been for their business and Atlanta.

“We are super appreciative to have the train back in Atlanta and have people supporting us,” Shannon Plumer said.

Gaylor Electric’s Jared Foster named ABC 2023 National Craft Professional of the Year

The REPORTER

Gaylor Electric announced last Thursday that employee Jared Foster, senior general superintendent, was named Associated Builders and Contractors’ (ABC) 2023 Craft Professional of the Year. Foster was honored the day before at the ABC Convention 2023 in Orlando, Fla.

“Jared Foster embodies and upholds every value that is defined in the Merit-Shop Philosophy of the Associated Builders and Contractors (ABC),” Gaylor Electric President & CEO Chuck Goodrich said.

“In his nomination, Jared was described as embodying and upholding ‘every value that is defined in the merit shop philosophy of ABC, proving time and time again that one truly dedicated and inspiring leader can help shape the future of the electrical trade,” said 2023 National Chair of the ABC Board of Directors Milton Graugnard, executive vice president, Cajun Industries LLC, Baton Rouge, La. “On and off the jobsite, Jared is a construction industry leader, excelling in total human health, quality, innovation, and attitude. With more than 17 years of experience in the construction industry, Jared exemplifies the best of the best among his colleagues, who are building their local community stronger through the electrical trade.”

In his current role at Gaylor, Foster ensures that every project is completed with the highest quality of craft work – on schedule and with safety as the highest priority. Senior general superintendents must possess leadership abilities in project controls, including safety compliance, schedule, materials management, labor projection and jobsite personnel mentorship.

Moving up the ranks from a helper, Foster is now a journey-level electrician, the highest-ranking field title in the industry, all while being under the age of 40.

“I deeply believe in helping people reach their potential,” Foster said. “This award means everything to me. It shows my daughters the ‘why’ behind the work I do. This award represents the countless craft professionals who help mentor me. My hope is to inspire a new generation of craft professionals who will take pride in working with their hands and building America.”

As Craft Professional of the Year, Foster received a $10,000 cash prize. Co-sponsors of Craft Professional of the Year are the National Center for Construction Education and Research, the training, assessment, certification and career development standard for the construction industry, and Tradesmen International, North America’s premier craft professional staffing resource. Foster will also be profiled in the June issue of Construction Executive magazine.

Westfield Mother-Son & Daddy-Daughter dances will be “Out of this World”

The REPORTER

Westfield Welcome announces the return of the Mother-Son Dance and Daddy-Daughter Dance presented by Wittler Orthodontics. These dances, which have become an annual tradition for many families, will occur at The Bridgewater Club on Saturday, April 29.

This year’s dance theme is “Out of this World.” The dances include a professional DJ, tasty snacks, themed crafts, and activities on the lawn. There will also be the chance to take portraits with a professional photographer to capture the memories. The event’s highlight is the Mom dance-off and the Daddy dance-off, which awards the respective winner a one-of-a-kind trophy.

“It’s such a special event; we love seeing all the families that come out, and the memories made,” Westfield Welcome Director Kayla Arnold said. “We welcome families to join regardless of traditional event names.”

The Mother-Son dance takes place from 2 to 4 p.m., and the Daddy-Daughter dance will have an afternoon session from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. and an evening session from 7 to 9 p.m.

Tickets are $15 per person, and each person attending will need a ticket. The event is recommended for ages 3 to 10; however, all ages are welcome.

Tickets go on sale at 10 a.m. this morning, March 15. There are limited tickets available, and each session typically sells out. To purchase tickets, visit westfield-welcome.ticketleap.com.

Fishers Century Club makes $20,000 giving milestone

The REPORTER

The Fishers Century Club has announced that it has surpassed $20,000 in donations to other local charities in less than two years since its formation.

The group, which started in June 2021, is made up of a collection of men from the Fishers area who meet quarterly and each pledge to give $100 to a selected charity that is presented by other members at the meetings.

Previous winners of the group members’ quarterly 501(c)(3) donations include Juvenile Justice Mentoring, Helping Challenged Children, A Kid Again, The Cooper House, Kammy’s Kause,

M.A.S.H. Ministries, and HSE Young Life. The donations have ranged from $2,100 to $4,400 depending on the quarterly meeting attendance. Meetings are typically held on a Tuesday in March, June, September, and December.

The Fishers Century Club’s next meeting will be held at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, March 21 at the auditorium at Launch Fishers. Complimentary beverages are provided for attendees.

Jon Kirschner named February Husky Hero

The REPORTER
Jon Kirschner, who teaches health at Hamilton Heights High School, has been named the Husky Hero for February.

Kirschner, who is also Head Strength and Conditioning Coach, Head Football Coach, and Junior Government Sponsor, does a good job of connecting with students and motivating them to be their best. He goes out of his way to provide training to ALL athletes, and the results are impressive.

“Being selected as a Husky hero is very humbling and I feel very honored,” Kirschner said. “It is the kind of award that as a teacher means the most! Within the realm of strength and conditioning I work with a good majority of our student-athletes on a daily basis. My class allows for me to see growth of my students as they progress in their athletic development whether it be executing a squat pattern with greater range of motion or achieve a new personal record on a max out day. Getting to see the hard work students put in the weight room pay off on the fields, courts, mats, pools, and track is the most motivating and reward part of my job. Strength and conditioning extends well beyond the scope of just ‘lifting weights,’ whether it is approaching adversity from a different mindset, leadership, time management, etc., these are the things that keep me going, keep me motivated!”

Diane Handy said Kirschner cares for all students and it shows in how involved he is in the classroom, on the field, and in the community.

“This person is a Husky Hero for several reasons,” Handy said. “I think that he gets swept under the rug a lot of times for what he does for our athletes and even non-athletic students ... You’ll see him at almost every home sporting event with his family supporting the kids. I’ve never seen a teacher this invested before. Not only is he invested in their strength training and sports ... but he also goes on a deeper level with the kids to learn about their personal life and what’s going on with them to help them overcome obstacles they may be facing that day, week, or even year.”

Keilah King said her daughter injured her finger in Mr. Kirschner’s APC class.

“He personally called that night on his own time to ask how she was doing,” King said. “I was truly touched and felt I knew my daughter was being well cared for when not in my presence.”

“The award will be a daily reminder of my ‘WHY’ in why I do what I do every day,” Kirschner noted.

Need companionship as an empty nester? Pets may be the answer

I’ve read that one great way to deal with the loneliness some people feel as an empty nester is to adopt a pet. My husband John and I already have that covered – we’ve had all kinds of pets ever since we first got together over 25 years ago.

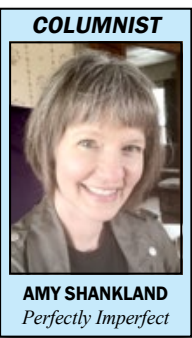

My past columns have described these critters, who have ranged from cats and dogs to a fish, lizard, rat, and guinea pig. We’re now down to “just” three dogs and one cat.

Believe me, I didn’t originally want that many animals in our house. We inherited my mom’s dog, a Cairn Terrier named Rex, five years ago when he got kicked out of her facility. With my sons in college now, all four animals have truly become my babies.

Two of the dogs, Rex and our Cockapoo Terrier Loki, fall into the elderly (or, as I teasingly call them, geriatric) category. Rex has a heart issue and battles arthritis in his back legs.

Loki has suffered from what I call “doggy dementia” over the past year. She’s 15 ½, while Rex is supposedly 12, but we’re not 100 percent certain about that. Our cat is the young one at age 8.

Loki now exhibits some odd behavior, such as pacing, crying and whining excessively at mealtime, and sitting in her dog bed staring at the wall. In fact, we call the last action “Loki time out” because it looks like we sent her there as some sort of punishment. I used to be able to walk all three dogs together but started to notice that our still-lively dog, Elli (who really IS 12) was kind of dragging the others along. Now I have to walk Elli separately from Rex and Loki. So, I go from speed walking her solo to practically crawling around the block with the other two.

AMY SHANKLAND

Last week I left Elli in the backyard and asked my son Jacob to let her back in once I had walked out the front door with Rex and Loki. I didn’t want Elli to see me walking the others, because she gets upset and wonders why she’s left out. Jacob, who was home from Ball State on spring break, thought it was cute that I was protecting Elli’s feelings.

These are the crazy things you have to do with geriatric dogs in the house ... or the things I feel like I have to do. What can I say, all our animals make John and me happy and we love them to pieces.

I think they’ve helped keep us occupied since they boys went off to college, especially in the evenings when things quiet down and we’re done working. If you’re battling loneliness as an empty nester, I highly recommend a pet ... or two ... or four if you’re crazy like us.

Here’s the scoop on dirt

As a young boy, I loved to dig in the dirt.

I wanted to see how deep I could dig, and I wanted to dig a foxhole for our ‘neighborhood’ military battles. I also had a couple holes under our raised porch where I stored my treasures and ran my toy trucks.

Perhaps I had been influenced by my father. He told me the story of going back to the woods and cutting several large beams from the trees and transporting them to the house. He then obtained several railroad tracks and created a framework to lift our house. Grandpa Adler was a contractor and I’m sure he helped with supervision.

Once the house was in the air, as the story went, he used his small Ferguson tractor and a slip scoop to dig out a basement. Apparently, the block mason failed to show, so dad laid the concrete block walls for the basement and poured a concrete floor. A shallow trench around the outside edge of the inside floor drained any water to a sump pump hole. The house was then returned to the new foundation and a stairway was built to the basement.

The basement held the family’s canned goods and a 50-gallon wooden barrel used age apple cider into vinegar. Dad said I watched the operation as a young boy, but I was too young to remember what actually took place. It was not until he was in his 90s that he added the new fact that 20 of the neighbors came to help. It was actually their shoveling that loaded the dirt onto the scoop. I had always thought the scoop was used and only dad and grandpa were there. “Barn raising” was common back then when the neighbors pitched in to help one another on many of the tasks that needed done.

RAY ADLER

When I was older, Dad gave me the digging “cure.” We routinely bought two-week-old dairy calves from a neighbor. Dad didn’t have a truck, so he just brought them home in the trunk of the car. We then bottle-fed them until they were old enough to eat hay and a chop mixture. When they first arrived, they were fixed so we could raise steers for the beef market. Apparently one very large Brown Swiss steer was not appropriately fixed and happened to breed several of the Herford cows on the farm.

When calving time came, the calves were too large for a normal delivery, and despite our help in the delivery, they died in the process. By law, dead animals are required to be burned, buried, or rendered.

You guessed it; I got the job to bury the dead calves. It only took two calves for me to get the cure.

Fieldhouse is taking shape at Sheridan Community Schools

The Sheridan Student Column is brought to readers by Sheridan High School’s 10th grade English class, taught by Abby Williams.

After years of planning, followed by breaking ground last summer, the fieldhouse at Sheridan Community Schools is starting to take shape. Over the last few months, the students have watched the bleachers at Bud Wright Stadium come down and the steel beams of new construction going up.

COLUMNIST
CHARLES MERRIMAN
Sheridan High School Student

According to the Lebanon Reporter, the new 32,000 square-foot facility will be home to two new gyms, two classrooms, a weight room, and fitness center. There will also be locker rooms that will be used for physical education classes, as well as by the football team. A concession area will also be included.

In previous articles it has been stated that the fieldhouse is just the first phase of the expansion at Sheridan.

Moving forward, the school plans to have all athletic facilities and teams back on campus. It is intended to also provide more space for our fine arts department.

As the Sheridan community continues to grow, we will need additional space. The space provided by the fieldhouse, as well as the space that will be freed up in the high school and middle school, will be vital. With new housing additions being built both in town and in nearby rural areas, the student population will be steadily increasing in the coming years. Furthermore, the number of students isn’t predicted to slow down any time soon.

As a student athlete, I’m looking forward to the changes the fieldhouse will bring. The new facilities will be an improvement for the growth of Sheridan athletes and their recovery. The new weight room and other facilities are a very exciting prospect for someone who utilizes them often. With the expansion and additions in both athletics and fine arts, I believe that the updates and changes to our facilities will create new opportunities for all current and future students at Sheridan Community Schools, athlete or not.

Construction project budgets dominate Council’s conversation

March madness is upon us but has already hit the Hamilton County Council in the tune of major project discussions. Our March meeting came early, and three key issues dominated the conversation.

First, there was a request by Hamilton County Tourism (HCT) to approve improvements to the County-owned building where they reside. Prior to COVID-19, HCT was contemplating the idea of selling the property and moving into a new facility. This renovation will be half the cost of a new building and be 100 percent financed out of HCT revenues with no impact on the County. This was an easy decision and we approved it 7-0.

The next two items involved a couple of highway projects that have been impacted by construction price escalation and work force shortages.

The Bell Ford bridge project bid above an allowable margin to award, and the highway department was seeking an additional $3 million to cover the updated budget before rebidding. The request was split in half and directed through Cumulative Capital Development (CCD) Highway and Motor Vehicle Highway (MVH). This project is scheduled to be rebid on March 15 by INDOT.

The other highway project

COLUMNIST
KEN ALEXANDER

of note was the 146th Street and Allisonville Road intersection which was bid in February but exceeded our budget. It was still within the allowable limits award, but Council needed to pledge additional funds to support the project. This request was for an additional $10 million from the Major Bridge Fund. Both items passed 7-0 but were discussed in great length and were a focus of both our Council Finance Committee and Highway Committee. Neither project has an immediate impact on our fiscal plan but does impact our ability to handle overruns on future projects.

It was important to be brief with a review of major Council meeting items because I want to use the lion’s share of this article to review our Council work session that we had prior to the regular March meeting. A work session is a public meeting that allows for more dialogue and discussion amongst the Council members. We had four topics on the agenda: the ratification of the Council Rules, a presentation by the Hamilton County 4-H Council regarding Phase 1 of the fairgrounds, a discussion of the 146th Street and Allisonville Road intersection bid results, and a review of items the Council would like to address during March 13 joint meeting of Commissioners and Council.

The Council rules discussion was procedural and does not need a great deal of recap. It is taking our processes and putting them on paper to better communicate how we do business.

The second item on the agenda was a presentation of the Hamilton County fairgrounds Phase 1. If you remember, back in September, the County Council presented an idea to relocate the fairgrounds and fund the development through a series of bonds tied to the tax increment that would be generated by the redevelopment of the existing fairgrounds. Ultimately, the Commissioners wanted to keep the fairgrounds at their current spot and sought $15 million from the Council with the direction that all other funding gaps had to be financed in an alternative way. The presentation we received asked for an additional $11 million to build out Phase 1. No decision was made and the only concern I had was in regard to members of a team responding to the fairgrounds RFP being a part of this presentation, which may create a conflict. I was told that this was a review of work already under contract and had no bearing on the future development RFP even though the ask was to fund that project.

The last item on the work session agenda was items for review at the joint meeting. Given the nature of the asks being made by the Commissioners to fund projects, our desire was to create a better tool for managing the financial impacts, commitments and future risks associated with our projects. As the fiduciary entity, our responsibility is to provide financial oversight and maintain strategies that support our County departments and statutory responsibilities. This is a task we take considerable pride in managing and may be the primary reason we have a AAA bond rating with the S&P, the only county in the state with that designation. The work session concluded, and I will share information regarding the discussions and decisions from the joint meeting in a separate column in the near future.

If the items mentioned above are of interest, please reach out to me or any member of the County Council. As always, I am thankful that the Hamilton County Reporter for publishing my Council updates and a special thanks to you, the readers and residents of Hamilton County, for reading it and being engaged in the discussion. Our county is better because of you. I welcome your questions at ken.alexander@hamilton-county.in.gov.

Women, take special care of your health

“Sometimes it’s hard to be a woman ...” – Tammy Wynette

I will abstain from adding the rest of the lyrics to “Stand By Your Man,” and not that I am a big Tammy fan, but these lyrics came to me as I was recalling that 1) it IS Women’s History Month and 2) women often are overlooked by the health care industry in diagnosing and treating their health issues. Primarily this occurs with women let’s say 60 plus for a reference point.

Personally, I have experienced that gender bias does indeed occur in health care. Additionally, for both women and men there is, in my opinion, an age bias as well. That’s another column! So, if you are a “woman of a certain age” you may be very aware of that which I write.

COLUMNIST
SHARON McMAHON
Be Well

One in five women say they have felt that a health care provider has ignored or dismissed their symptoms, and 17 percent say they feel they have been treated differently because of their gender – compared with 6 percent of men, respectively. Studies show that women’s perceptions of gender bias are correct. Compared with male patients, women who present with the same condition may not receive the same evidence-based care. In several cases, such as cardiac care and pain management, women may get different treatment, leading to poorer outcomes.¹

As March is Women’s

History Month, I believe this topic is one in which everyone should be interested. If you are a woman, have a mother, sister, spouse, daughter, or female friend, you should be aware that the health care provided for these women may not be the optimum situation and should be monitored and researched. Advocacy is paramount for everyone who is in the midst of a health care issue or crisis.

If you feel like your physician isn’t giving you adequate time or answers, seek a second opinion or ask them to refer you to a specialist. If you disagree with your physician, say so. Keep a log or journal and share your concerns to see if the two of you can brainstorm options. You know your body best; if something bothers you speak up for yourself and share everything with a close family member. This would certainly apply to anyone, but in particular women should not be reticent about speaking up to find answers to their questions.

As women we spend a lot of mental, emotional, and physical energy caring for others, which includes our pets (guilty here!) but remember in order to do so we must take care of ourselves and get the best health care and support possible. Stand up, speak up, and be heard!

Remembering Paul Ash 10 years later: Pearl of Great Price

Renewed focus on civics & math

Paul Michael Ash made me cry.

This was way before he died 10 years ago (March 28, 2013), back when I barely knew the man. It was during a Spoken Word event.

I loved Paul's music at Spoken

Word. One night I handed him lyrics I wrote 30 years prior, hoping he would put music to it. I didn't expect Paul to reciprocate. Paul Ash only did Paul Ash songs, of which there are likely hundreds. Let's just say my hope-lights were on low beam.

T w o months later, Paul, taking the S p o k e n

Word spotlight, began playing a lovely melody on his 12-string guitar. Then he sang, "There's a fog out on the water, spotlight shining through the haze..."

It was my song, "The River."

For the following four minutes, I listened, stunned, as Paul cloaked my seemingly ancient, bare, stark words with his 12 strings and heartfelt voice, the magical merger of our creative minds meeting for the first time. It was a packed house and there was an elongated hush at the end of the song before the applause. I nodded at him, my hands in prayer form, my eyes wet, my breath gone. He knew he hit the mark and had made a new friend for life.

Has there ever been a greater gift given to me?

Not long after, I talked to Paul at a gathering for some type of astronomical phenomenon happening in the evening sky over Ferdinand, Ind. It was the first time he and I really talked outside of Spoken Word nights – well, he did most of the talking. The topic was cancer, his

He said he was winning the battle. He billed himself as an oncologic marvel. He looked well. He seemed well.

Paul was a positive man. The meteors did whatever they were supposed to do that night over our heads – they flashed, they fell – but it was all lost on me because of the mortal things being shared with me on Earth.

Paul was brilliant. He spoke over my head that night. He got philosophical and metaphysical, losing me completely. The meteors flashed, they fell. Observers around us shouted an occasional, "There... There... Way up over there." Paul spoke, he flashed. He stood on solid ground. He was beating his cancer. He was not a man at his dreadful end. He spoke as a man at the beginning of something good. He was meteoric.

When I formed Will Read and Sing For Food, a benefit show originally meant to raise money for the local food bank, he was my first choice as full-time guitarist. I heard, though, he had hit another rough patch health-wise, so I sought others for the role. I didn't bring it up to him, didn't want to bother him. I was worried he wouldn't be able to follow through on the commitment to these benefit shows I was engineering.

He got better and joined us as a guest singer-songwriter, instantly becoming a full-timer. Again, he outpaced his disease. Paul brought a much-needed musical energy to our show. He hit those six acoustic guitar strings three times louder than anyone else. Finally, our audience had reason to tap their feet. He carried his voice to greater distances than other singers. He was our flash of brilliance.

Paul's appearances in Will Read and Sing For Food became spotty – but not the quality of his performances. There was always a spot for him if he had the energy, even if just for one song.

Paul secretly wrote a note and left it in my bathroom sink during his last rehearsal with us: "In the last six months, I can count on one hand the times that were joyous and happy events with music. The majority of the times were around your kitchen table. We may be gathered together to help the less fortunate, but what I get is – to steal a damn good phrase – a pearl of great price. The wit, charm, intelligence, and humor is a banquet that I could not resist, will not resist, and I shall be a part of this as long as I can crawl through your door and put earworms into your brain. When the time comes that you see that I take more away from this group than I give, please kick me out, for the goal is more than one person – it's feeding families."

We liked to believe Paul when he said he was getting better, though his appearance at times made it easy to doubt. During his second-to-last rehearsal with us, Paul arrived at my house, assisted by his wife, Miriam, and a walker. He was in a wheelchair for his final rehearsal and show. While he waited for his turn to play, he seemed a million medicated miles away, but when the guitar was placed in his arms, he lit up, sang his songs loud and proud, a man on fire flashing through our lives.

His final words to me after that final show: "Savor this one."

He flashed a pained smile. We wheeled him into the venue's elevator; the door closed; the arrow pointed downward. We watched him fall to earth.

There was a lot on the agenda in this month's work session for the Noblesville School Board.

The Noblesville school leadership team updated the board on topics that included SMART goals, winter NWEA growth and achievement, reduction in the number of standards by the Indiana Department of Education, as well as program updates on math, literacy, social studies, and science.

Then the chief financial officer gave a business update and outlined the current Project Lead The Way construction plan, as well as showing an alternate plan for expansion to Noblesville High School. I will discuss my thoughts on a couple of the above-mentioned agenda items in a future column, but for now, I will speak in more detail about the upcoming civics class and the math curriculum.

Civics education is back thanks to a bill authored by Representative Tony Cook in 2021. Civics is to be taught in the second semester of sixth grade beginning this year. The Indiana Department of Education has developed the standards for the course, and they are extensive.

Elements for discussion lead the student to understand the difference between Direct Democracy, Representative Democracy, and a previous version of a Bill of Rights. The students will then focus on the ideas of constitutional government, in particular our federal and state constitutions. The function of government will be studied as well as the rights and duties of citizens in society.

This is a welcome and long-needed return to the education of our kids. As a naturalized citizen, the study of civics has been of keen interest to me. Our children must learn what makes our form of government work and how they can participate in it.

Now on to math. Noblesville Schools is in the process of reviewing options for the new Math Program. The program levels are divided between K-5 and 6-Algebra II.

There were four options given for curricular material for the program levels. Parents were emailed a survey to fill out which included links to the curricular materials. The options given were Bridges in Mathematics from The Learning Center, Eureka Math Squared from Great Minds, Everyday Mathematics from McGraw Hill, and Reveal Mathematics from McGraw Hill.

I hope that the options for the math curriculum were given thorough scrutiny. My hope is based on two crucial thoughts on the importance of a sound math education.

First, a good understanding of math principles is required for almost everything we do and use daily. Whether it be in finance, manufacturing, engineering, insurance, and yes, teaching, there are few areas where a good understanding of math is not used.

Second, math is universal. My belief in this comes from personal experience. As an immigrant who came here in third grade, I did not do well in English whether that was reading or writing. What I did do well in was math. Mathematics is the same whether you learn it in the U.S. or Cuba, the country of my birth. The same holds for whether you learn math in Europe, Asia, or anywhere else.

If just for those two reasons alone, math should be taught in its purest form. Other subject areas can be open to discussion and interpretation, but mathematics is objective. Let's hope that the survey results indicate Noblesville parents chose a new math program that contains objective exercises and examples free from bias and ideology.

Don't miss Civic Theatre's "enjoyable entertainment" by Agatha Christie

Ken Ludwig's 2017 stage adaptation of Agatha Christie's much-produced (with film, radio, and television versions) sleuth-story finds its way to the Studio Theatre stage at the Center for the Performing Arts in Carmel. Produced by Booth Tarkington Civic Theatre, the production is ably directed by John Michael Goodson.

Many of us have seen one version or another on the Hercule Poirot mystery, which takes place on the luxurious Orient Express train line between Istanbul and Calais. The stage version requires, among other facets, a very special set design which includes several different cars on the train, and this is neatly accomplished by the imaginative crafting of Ryan Koharchik.

Veteran actor Eric Reiberg takes the role of Poirot and does an admirable job with the famous detective, managing the part with a good command of the stage and the story arc. Working alongside Rex Wolfley as Monsieur Bouc, the head of the train company, the two men do a fine job setting up all the complications therein.

Passengers (and thus suspects) are played by a talented group of actors. From the outgoing Mrs. Helen Hubbard (offered by Sherra Lasley), to the thuggish Samuel Ratchett (a quiet-speaking Lee Russell), Ms. Christie's cast of characters make for a rather interesting set of portrayals for a cast to tackle.

Standouts include Ms. Lasley's high-octane depiction which offers the most fun moments, Clay Mabbitt's intense Col. Arbutnot, Susan Hill's royal Princess Dragomiroff, and Evangeline Bouw's lovely Countess Andrenyl. Lauren Frank (as Mary Debenham), Luke Faser (Hector McQueen), Ronald May (conductor Michel) and Alexis Koshenina (Greta Ohlsson) all make solid contributions as pieces of the mystery puzzle.

Well-costumed by Adrienne Conces, the entire cast looks great as they unfurl the tale of vengeful murder. This is a piece-by-piece mystery story and the company does a great job keeping things orderly in their story-telling.

Bottom line: Civic's production of Murder on the Orient Express is an enjoyable entertainment, filled with plenty of good moments that please the audience, although I feel that the show I attended had a rather slowish pace mixed with an uneven tempo. This likely was the product of it being the final show of an extra-long week, what with final rehearsals and a full weekend of shows.

Noblesville OKs plan to establish Advisory Council on Disabilities

The REPORTER

Mayor Chris Jensen presented a resolution at last Wednesday's Common Council meeting establishing the City of Noblesville Advisory Council on Disabilities.

The advisory council's aim is to increase overall community awareness of challenges faced by persons with disabilities and opportunities for support by more effectively mobilizing persons and institutions who are involved with education, outreach, support, and advocacy on behalf of persons with disabilities.

"When we look at census data for Noblesville, we see that we have around 8 percent of our residents that have one or more disabilities," Mayor Jensen said. "We saw a need to increase overall community awareness of challenges faced by persons with disabilities and opportunities for support."

An initial area of focus for the advisory council will be scheduling listening sessions with nonprofit organizations and area residents who are living with a disability or who support a person with a disability to learn more about what the community is doing well, where it can improve and identify resource gaps and considerations.

Jensen added, "By creating a dedicated entity to mobilize the community around our mission, we envision a more inclusive, supportive, and vibrant future in our city."

Jensen

The advisory council will develop a website to provide resources, referral, and community event information of relevance. The council will also highlight ongoing efforts and initiatives within the city through Janus Developmental Services, Same As U, Noble of Indiana, and other organizations, as well as accessibility in relation to community facilities and autism awareness training by first responders.

"The Noblesville Common Council is pleased to partner with the administration and community stakeholders to accommodate, lift up, and promote the engagement of persons with disabilities," Common Council President Aaron Smith said. "We are happy to be working together so that everyone in Noblesville has the opportunity to thrive."

Further, the advisory council will explore development of an Ally Toolkit using best practices and material implemented in other communities. The council will work to develop plans for longer term areas of focus and collaboration.

Joyce Jean (McGee) Kirkpatrick

May 17, 1945 – March 12, 2023

Our family's loving matriarch, Joyce Jean (McGee) Kirkpatrick, gained her true angel wings on March 12, 2023. She spent her last hours surrounded by her whole family whom she loved tremendously.

Joyce's life would seem too short to many, but those of us who were blessed to be touched by her love understand that her existence and the imprint she left on our hearts exceed the quantity of time that she stayed here with us.

Joyce was born to Johnnie and Eileen McGee on May 17, 1945, in Noblesville, and is joining them in the Kingdom of Heaven. She is survived by her younger siblings, and best friends, Diane Geren, Vickie Densham, and Gary McGee. Joyce married and is survived by her husband, John Kirkpatrick, May 22, 1976.

Joyce retired from her many years working for the Department of Education in 2001 to start her most important and joyful years of caring for her grandchildren. The "Best Grandma in the world," spoken by many, was so patient, loving, caring, selfless, and compassionate, helping to raise three daughters, eight grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren. She maintained an unwavering faith in God as part of the Nazarene Church in Noblesville for 40 years.

Joyce is survived by daughters, Kristina (Brett) Bowman, Erika (Chris) Thomas, and Leslie (JJ) Harris; grandchildren, Kayla (Casey Hunter) Bowman, Tyler (Adeline Agee) Harris, Kendal Bowman, Gage Bowman, Brayden Harris, Elijah Thomas, Allie Harris, and Oliver Thomas; and great-grandchildren, Aria Hunter and Farrah Hunter.

"See, I am sending an angel ahead of you to guard you along the way and to bring you to the place I have prepared." – Exodus 23:20

Visitation and services were held on Friday, March 17, 2023, at Randall & Roberts Funeral Center, 1685 Westfield Road, Noblesville.

Mary Louise Petruzelli-Gal

September 2, 1939 – March 10, 2023

Mary Louise Petruzelli-Gal, 83, Carmel, passed away on March 10, 2023, at Hooverwood Living in Indianapolis. She was born on September 2, 1939, in Gary, Ind., to James Patrick and Lillian Bernice (Moore) Muldoon.

Her young years were lived in Gary with her parents. She attended Gary schools and graduated from Edison High School in East Gary, Ind., with the Class of 1957.

She had worked as a bookkeeper for various companies.

Mary was an active member of the Cicero Seventh Day Adventist Church where she served as a greeter and also enjoyed working at the Church's thrift retail store. She loved to read, study the Bible, and share her faith with others.

Mary loved her family and friends and always wanted to host a gathering. She made sure everyone felt welcome. Her family described her as the sweetest, kindest, caring person and was always there to help them. She took pride in the smallest items and made everything special! She encouraged her family to dream and work to achieve their dreams.

She married Alexander Dennis Gal on February 21, 1998. He preceded her in death January 31, 2022. In addition to her husband, she was also preceded in death by her parents and a brother; William Lee Muldoon.

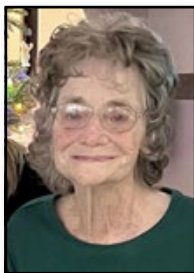

Surviving her is a son, Mark Anthony Petruzelli of Peach Tree, Ga.; daughter, Deanna Louise Petruzelli of Carmel; sister, Patti Roman of Ocala, Fla.; and brother, James E. Muldoon of Ormond Beach, Fla.; plus five grandchildren.

Visitation and funeral services were held on Monday, March 20, 2023, at Cicero Seventh Day Adventist Church, 24445 State Road 19, Cicero. Burial will take place at a later date at Marion National Cemetery.

Steve Fox April 3, 1957 – March 14, 2023

Steve Fox, 65, Noblesville, passed away on Tuesday, March 14, 2023, at his home. He was born on April 3, 1957, to Kenneth and June (Bowen) Fox in Atlanta, Ind.

Steve was born in 1957 to June Fox Tyner and the late Kenneth Fox. Steve was one of seven children, growing up on the family farm in Atlanta.

Steve met the love of his life Ronda and married her in 1975 in Arcadia. They were blessed with a daughter, Angela (Orton), the next year. Steve did factory work and also worked at Agratech Seed Corn and Pioneer Hybrid. In 2001, he started his own business, Fox's Carpentry and Woodworking, and enjoyed success as a sought-after handyman. In later years Steve worked as a manager at Northwind Electrical until his retirement in 2019. In his spare time, Steve could be found in the garage tinkering on his latest projects or fixing his truck (again).

Steve was most proud as a dad and grandfather. Better known as Pap, he could be seen on the sidelines of soccer gamers or helping around the house. Pap never learned to say no to his grandkids and loved every moment spent with them. Steve and Ronda loved their time with family at their cabin near Patoka Lake, with countless hours spent on the water and exploring southern Indiana with and without the kids and grandkids. During Angela's illness Steve was there every day with loving support.

Steve was loved by everyone he encountered and would give you the shirt off his back if you asked. Memories will be cherished by friends and family, of whom Steve was fiercely loyal.

He is survived by his wife, Ronda (Thatcher) Fox; son, Bryan Orton and grandchildren, Evan and Ellie of Fishers; mother, June Fox-Tyner; brothers, Ken Fox and Gary Fox; sisters, Donnetta (Terry) Williams, Joann Fox, and Cindy Bruntes; mother-in-law, Aggie Thatcher; sisters-in-law, Neila Teal and Carolyn Friend; and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his daughter, Angela Anne Orton; and father, Kenneth Fox.

A celebration of life will be held from noon to 3 p.m. on Saturday, March 25, 2023, at the Hampton Inn, 11575 Commercial Drive, Fishers.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to Hamilton County 4-H, 2003 Pleasant St., Noblesville, IN 46060; or Colorectal Cancer Alliance, 1025 Vermont Ave. NW, Suite 1066, Washington, DC 20005 (ccalliance.org).

Don Roark July 6, 1955 – March 2, 2023

Don Roark, 67, Cicero, died March 2, 2023, at his residence. He was born in Pineville, Ky., on July 6, 1955, to Earl and Pauline (Wilson) Roark.

Don was a chef, where he cooked at several different restaurants over time. He had lived in the central Indiana towns of Indianapolis, Cicero, Arcadia, Atlanta, and Tipton. Don was an avid Indianapolis Colts fan, enjoying his Sunday afternoon watching the game. He also traveled to the casino in his spare time to try his luck. Music was a past time that interested Don. He enjoyed listening to the new and old songs alike.

Survivors include his children, Veronica Immel and spouse Don Cutshaw, Donald Hart, Jamie Fulk, and Rachel Hartley. Don has eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren, and was very close to his surviving brother, Jim Roark.

Don was preceded in death by his parents; a granddaughter, Addison Hart; and siblings, Brenda Roark and Roy Roark.

A memorial service will be held at 7 p.m. on Thursday, March 23 at Young-Nichols Funeral Home with the Rev. Jody Brown presiding. The family will receive friends at the funeral home from 5 p.m. until service time on that Thursday.

Burial will be at Oaklawn Memorial Gardens in Fishers at 11:30 a.m. on Friday, March 24.

Memorial donations may be made through the funeral home to assist the family with a monument purchase.

Mary Jane Fox July 5, 1933 – March 10, 2023

Mary Jane Fox, 89, Noblesville, passed away on Friday, March 10, 2023, at Riverwalk Village in Noblesville. She was born on July 5, 1933, to Arthur and Helen (Smith) Brooks in Wabash, Ind.

After staying home to raise her children, Mary worked for the IU School of Dentistry and then American National Bank. After retiring, she enjoyed life and taking care of her husband.

Mary was a member of Our Lady of Grace Catholic Church and had a very strong devoted faith. She loved to read, especially her Bible. Mary enjoyed being outside, gardening and growing things, riding bicycles, and taking walks in Forest Park and Potter's Bridge. Most of all, her family was the center of her life, and she loved her grandchildren.

Mary is survived by her children, Pamela (Jeff) Sherrill, George Fox, Samuel (Sheri) Fox, Teresa Marie (Jeff) Headrick, Margaret (Fred) Gildersleeve, Richard (Vickie) Fox, Joseph (Kiersten) Newby, and Sarah Fox; brother, Dave (Karen) Brooks; 19 grandchildren; and 14 great-grandchildren.

In addition to her parents, she was preceded in death by her husband, Richard Fox; brother, Tony Brooks; and her sister, Jo Mountain.

Visitation and services were held on Thursday, March 16, 2023, at Our Lady of Grace Catholic Church, 9900 E. 191st St., Noblesville. Burial was at Crownland Cemetery in Noblesville.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to Alzheimer's Association, 8430 W. Bryn Mawr Ave., Suite 800, Chicago, IL 60631 (alz.org/indiana).

Muriel Lynn Wilson October 23, 1949 – March 12, 2023

Muriel Lynn Wilson, 73, Cicero, passed away on March 12, 2023, at Harbour Manor Living in Noblesville. She was born October 23, 1949, in Benton Harbor, Mich., to Phillip and Carol (Bujack) Hopkins.

She attended school at Andrews Academy in Berrien Springs, Mich., then furthered her education at Andrews University where she earned her Registered Nursing Degree. A few years later she became a Nurse Practitioner. In that capacity she accepted a position with the Barry-Easton County Health Department as their Women's Health Nurse Practitioner.

Muriel also believed in holistic health care where she could make a difference in people's lives. She enjoyed walking and hiking and just being outdoors. She also enjoyed playing the piano, reading, studying her Bible, and sharing her faith.

She married James Robert Wilson on October 15, 1972, and they were blessed with three children, Katrina Wright-Rayhill of Sturgis, Mich., Cherry Bayley of St. Joseph, Mich., and Lisa Barnwell of Mackinac, Island, Mich.; brothers, Jim Hopkins and Mike Hopkins; sisters, Holly Roy and Linda Vanveldhuizen; and four grandchildren, Gavin, Carter, Seth, and Chance.

She was preceded in death by her parents.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. on Sunday, March 26, 2023, at Cicero Seventh Day Adventist Church, 24445 State Road 19, Cicero. Memorial contributions may be made to Adventist Foreign Missions, P.O. Box 286, Berrien Springs, MI 49103.

Hartley Funeral Home is entrusted with Mrs. Wilson's care. You may send condolences at hartleyfuneralhomes.com.

The land of misfit plants

MEGAN RATHZ

When Nature Speaks

I had a short list of items that I needed to pick up at the supermarket. I told myself I was going to get in and out, not pass go or collect $200, and make it a quick trip. I was absolutely not going to look at superfluous items that I did not need. If it wasn't on my list, I was not going to even break my stride up and down the aisles. We had already done our big grocery run for that week, and there were just a few items I needed to pick up to fill in the gaps for our lunches.

I had bananas down on my list. I knew that as I approached the produce area that there would be my favorite section, well, besides the wine, the beautiful flower section. So many colors and sweet aromas every time I walked past. I tried to not even let my eyes stray. I was there for a purpose and flowers were not on my list. After all, I had a fresh bouquet on my counter at home. I did not need anything that was not on my list. I just needed to keep my head down and grab my bananas.

I was doing pretty well until somehow my eyes didn't look at the main display of flowers. They went right to the land of misfits. You know the area I am talking about. The land where the florists at the local supermarkets dump flowers and forget about them. This is the area where the misfits go to die; the dreaded discount rack. Sure, these bouquets and plants may not be in their prime, but it doesn't mean they deserve to be forgotten or just left to die. I cannot be the only person that humanizes my plants.

It wasn't that I was deviating from my list. I felt like I was at a shelter and seeing something that still had life in it needing a home. I mean a perfectly healthy philodendron plant for $1.99 that simply needed to be watered and a few leaves clipped! Healthy bouquets that still had buds marked down as low as 99 cents. Are you kidding me? I felt like they needed me. In fact, these plants and flowers were lucky that I happened upon them that day because God knows what would have happened to them.

Photos provided by Megan Rathz
(Top) A total of $3.96 was spent on these bouquets, all of which were found in the land of misfits at the local supermarket. (Above) My personal table of misfits.

So maybe I did not need them, but they needed me. Yes, that is what I'll tell myself. I was quite frankly appalled (and thrilled) at the prices some of these perfectly healthy plants were going for. I was offended for them. They just needed a little nip and tuck here and there; some of them really only needed a little under eye cream and some mascara.

We've all seen the discount plants that really should be put out of their misery and probably the most humane thing would be to euthanize them. Sometimes it's best to just do it quickly and not have them suffer, but this was not the case with this lot of misfits. They just had not quite found their lunch table and niche, but still had a lot left to offer and would make for a nice friend.

I have always had a softness and fondness for people that help the vulnerable and most innocent. I have a soft spot for second chances. I know plants are not human beings, but I think that like a lot of people, they deserve a second chance and not to be thrown away.

Nature is speaking to us. It is affording us the opportunity to provide second chances to unassuming misfits. Are you listening?

Trouble in paradise

The Guerin Catholic student section was fired up for the Golden Eagles' semi-state appearance last Saturday. The students are shown here during Guerin Catholic's semi-final victory over Beech Grove.

The NASCAR Cup series race at Phoenix International Raceway this past weekend can only be described as trouble. Few left Phoenix happy, and the few who did found trouble nipping at their heels.

By now, most of you know that William Byron captured his sixth career NASCAR cup victory and his second in as many weeks. However, his victory was largely overshadowed by other significant on the off-track events.

Probably the biggest story of the weekend was the confiscation of the hood louvers from all four Hendrick Motorsports cars during the Friday inspection at Phoenix. The hood louvers are a "single-sourced" part of the NextGen Car. Under the new rules, single-sourced parts may not be altered or manipulated by the teams without approval from NASCAR. This rule is strict, and NASCAR has implemented severe penalties for teams that have violated it in the past, including RFK Racing last season. As we found out on Wednesday, NASCAR is unwavering on this rule and Hendrick Motorsports has been hit with the most substantial penalty in recent memory.

Because of its manipulation of the hood louvers on its cars, each Hendrick Motorsports team was assessed a L2-level penalty. The penalty includes a fine of $100,000 and a four-race suspension for each crew chief, as well as a loss of 100 owner points for each team and 100 driver points for each driver. Additionally, each driver will lose 10 playoff points.

To put this penalty in perspective, Hendrick Motorsport driver Alex Bowman, who left Phoenix as the regular season points leader and is the only driver to finish every race this year in the top 10, was dropped to 23rd in points. William Bryon, who already has two wins on the season, was dropped to 29th in points.

Likely, the greatest impact of the Hendrick penalty will not be felt until the playoffs. Since the new playoff system was introduced, regular season playoff points have been a premium in advancing drivers to the final rounds of the playoff. Last year, Chase Elliott had to rely on the playoff points he accumulated in the regular season to reach the final round of the playoffs. The 10 playoff points William Byron gained for winning the last two races are now gone. Kyle Larson and Alex Bowman have negative playoff points as they had 1 and 0 playoff points, respectively, prior to the penalty. Given how tight the championship battle has been over the last few years, this may have the result of eliminating one or more of the Hendrick drivers from the later rounds of the playoffs.

Checkers to Wreckers

Guerin Catholic heading to state

By RICHARD TORRES
For The Reporter

SEYMOUR – All it took was one possession.

Once the Guerin Catholic Golden Eagles proved they owned the boards with five straight offensive rebounds to open the Class 3A Seymour Semistate 4 championship against Scottsburg last Saturday, they knew what was possible.

Thirty minutes later, they proved it by toppling the Warriors in convincing fashion 56-40 for the program's third semi-state title in history and their first trip to the IHSAA state finals since 2015.

The Golden Eagles will play NorthWood in the 3A state championship, which tips off at 6 p.m. this Saturday at Gainbridge Fieldhouse.

"I know that was an empty possession for us as far as points go, but I think that set the tone as well," Guerin Catholic coach Bobby Allen said. "Our guys were active after that. Five rebounds on our first possession was incredible. We didn't get the shot to fall, but man, those boys knew they could hang with that very good Scottsburg team because of that first possession."

The 11th-ranked Warriors (22-6) kept pace to tie the game 3-3 early in the first quarter, but the 12th-ranked Golden Eagles were ready to breakthrough after falling to Silver Creek, 54-46, in the semi-state finals two years ago.

A 7-0 run to end the first quarter put Guerin Catholic (20-8) in front 15-5 before an 18-4 run to open the second quarter led to an eventual 24-point advantage that shell-shocked the Warriors, which trailed 33-11 by halftime.

Scottsburg had won their first regional title in 23 years last weekend, but a first-ever semi-state title and state appearance became improbable, as Golden Eagles junior Robert Sorensen scored 14 points in the first half and finished with a game-high 25 on 7 of 11 shooting and five 3-pointers.

Golden Eagles defeat Beech Grove in second semifinal

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

SEYMOUR – Guerin Catholic earned a spot in the Seymour semi-state championship game by playing big against the defending Class 3A state champions.

The Golden Eagles beat Beech Grove 58-46 in the second semifinal last Saturday. Guerin Catholic got out of a tight first-quarter battle with the Hornets to take a seven-point halftime lead, then played solid defense in the third period to pull away.

It was balance and big men that won the game for the Golden Eagles. Guerin's two leading scorers both stand 6-foot-7: Sophomore Bryson Cardinal scored 15 points and Dylan Murans added 12 points. Murans missed GC's regional game with an injury, but was back in full force at Seymour.

Cardinal said that Murans makes a "huge impact, because not only does he bring so much length and height, we get more rebounds, better defense. It just brings a different energy to the team."

Seven different players scored for the Golden Eagles in the game, with five of them putting in points during that close first quarter. With Beech Grove leading 9-6, Cardinal made a 3-pointer to the game, then gave Guerin the lead on a putback. Lucas Parker drained a 3 to put GC ahead 14-9.

The Hornets made two quick triples, from Cameron Brown and Rylan Horen, to surge back ahead 15-14. Ty Sanders moved the Golden Eagles back in front with two free throws, and the period ended with Guerin Catholic up 16-15.

The Golden Eagles never trailed in the other three quarters. A quick 6-0 run pushed Guerin Catholic in front 24-17. Murans started the stretch with a dunk, Cardinal added a free throw, then Murans threw in a 3.

"We don't want our guys to pass up shots, but we also want them to create for each other," said GC coach Bobby Allen. "We want to be a team that shares the ball, has multiple threats, and we have that right now. I think it's exciting for those guys to understand that we don't need one guy trying to go do it on their own."

Parker drained a 3 for the final basket of the first half, and GC led 27-20. The Golden Eagles took further control of the game with a 14-4 run that put them up 38-24 with a minute to go in the third quarter. Murans took over with five points during the first two minutes of the period, then Cardinal gave Guerin Catholic its biggest lead with a three-point play.

Parker again stepped up in the last seconds of the quarter, making a triple at the buzzer. The Golden Eagles led 43-29 going into the fourth, and never let the lead drop below nine points during that period.

"I was proud of our defense," said Allen. "Ty Sanders came in, was incredible on the ball, and then Lucas Parker hitting that 3 at the buzzer at the end of the third was just huge momentum for us."

The 6-foot-4 Parker joined Guerin's other two big men in double figures, with 11 points. Robert Sorensen had eight points, Jack Cherry scored five, Kamea Chandler added four and Ty Sanders contributed three points.

Cardinal led the rebounds with eight, followed by Sorensen with six and Chandler with five. Sanders had two blocked shots.

Cherry dished out five assists. He was a freshman on Guerin Catholic's semi-state qualifying team two years ago.

"He's the one guy on our team that's been here before," said Allen. "He's been in this gym. He's been in this situation. We want the ball in his hands. He's making incredible decisions for us. He's just out there simply leading this team with his voice, with his energy."

With dominance of Hendrick, I expect each of the Hendrick drivers to win a race and advance to the playoffs. Now, however, they will be unable to rely on regular season playoff points to propel them through the elimination rounds.

It is important to note that Chase Elliott, who is currently out due to injury, will not be affected by the penalties. It is also important to point out that Kaulig and its driver, Justin Haley, had their hood louvers confiscated and face the same penalty as Hendrick.

As for the on-track trouble, Denny Hamlin and Ross Chastain were at it again. This time, on the final lap of the race, Hamlin drove Chastain into the fence, and then, after the duo fell through the field, hit him multiple times on the back straightaway and into turn 3.

The Noblesville West Middle School wrestling team dominated the Hamilton County Middle School Tournament, which took place March 11 at Westfield Middle School. The West Millers scored 391 team points and had 15 wrestlers make the championship match, with nine of them winning.

MILLERS MAKE HISTORY

Noblesville West Middle School wrestlers win Hamilton County Middle School Tournament for first time ever

The REPORTER

The Noblesville West Middle School wrestling team made history on March 11 by winning the Hamilton County Middle School Tournament for the first time ever.

The tournament took place at Westfield Middle School. The West Millers ran away with the team standings, scoring 391 points, over 100 points more than runner-up Fishers. The Tigers totaled 285 points, giving them second place by a large margin as well.

Noblesville West had wrestlers make the championship match in 15 of the 22 weight classes, with nine of them winning. Henry Antrobus was the first NWMS champion with a victory at 70 pounds, getting a pin 26 seconds into the final. Antrobus is unbeaten for the season at 23-0.

The West Millers ran off three wins in a row minutes later, with Zach Nekolite claiming the 90-pound title, Blake Weimer winning at 95 pounds by fall, then Brody Weimer took the 100-pound championship.

Isaac Suddarth was first at 113 pounds. Andrew Aviles won at 132 pounds by fall, as did the West Millers’ Aidan Kincaide at 152 pounds. Dom Swigart toughed out a decision win at 170, and Cole Hanson won at 245 by pin.

Fishers had four individual champions. Frank Fessenden was the first one, getting a pin for a victory at 106 pounds. Goyo Mireles was the 120-pound winner, Mason Cantwell won by fall for the 182-pound title and Angadbir Chauhan got an 8-7 decision to take the 220-pound championship.

Westfield placed third as a team, scoring 186.5 points. Connor Maddox earned a championship for the Shamrocks, winning at 80 pounds. Maddox is unbeaten for the season at 20-0.

Hamilton Heights and Noblesville East tied for fourth place, with each team scoring 185 points. The Huskies had three champions, starting with 75-pounder Dorian Minix. Finn Bowman won by fall for the 85-pound title, then Makx Torres finished the meet by claiming the 285-pound championship with a pin.

The East Millers had two winners. Luke Hargis won the 160-pound title by fall, then Cael Metzler was the 195-pound champion; he is 25-0 for the season.

Hamilton Southeastern placed sixth as a team with 164 points. The Royals had two champions, starting with Max Inman, the winner at 126 pounds. Inman is 19-0 for the year. Aiden Blackmore was the 138-pound champion.

Clay had one individual champion: Jaxen Timmons was the 145-pound winner; he is 16-0 for the season.

A full list of top six place winners is listed below.

Team scores: Noblesville West 391, Fishers 285, Westfield 186.5, Hamilton Heights 185, Noblesville East 185, Hamilton Southeastern 164, Creekside 144.5, Fall Creek 130, Clay 101, Carmel 53, Riverside 13.

Southeastern boys beat Guerin Catholic, Carmel girls take down Brebeuf Jesuit

The REPORTER

The Hamilton Southeastern boys lacrosse team won an all-county match with Guerin Catholic last Wednesday.

The defending Class 2A state champion Royals won 15-0 over last year’s 1A runner-up. Southeastern’s Colin Krekeler got the shutout as goalkeeper. Nick Weber collected seven ground balls for the Royals, with Dillon O’Rourke, Teddy Johnson and Brody Carlson each picking up three ground balls. Weber and Gavin Wright combined for 13-3 on face-offs.

Max Kemp put in six goals to lead Southeastern’s offense and also dished out two assists. David Gould scored three goals, and Gavin Berry had two goals and two assists.

The Carmel girls lacrosse team sailed past Brebeuf Jesuit 14-2 last Thursday.

The Greyhounds led 11-0 at halftime. Tori Tomalia scored five goals and also had five draw controls. Breckin Hare added three goals and an assist, with Avery Goehl and Anna Dumke both putting in two goals.

Pey Henney and Olivia Slowey completed the scoring with one goal each. Sophie Mock handed out three assists. Elle Tomalia picked up three ground balls and forced two turnovers.

Carmel hosts Guerin Catholic on Tuesday in a re-match of last year’s Class 2A state championship game.

PUSHIN’

The Golden Eagles defense proved stifling, once again, holding the Warriors to five points in the first quarter and six in the second.

“It was almost perfect,” Sorensen remarked on the first half. “We just shut them down on defense, and our defense created buckets on offense. That shut everything down for them in the first half. Then, it was just maintaining that lead in the second half.

“As a team, we played great, and that’s why we just won.”

While Sorensen had the most points, the team continued to operate unselfishly, feeding whomever has the shooter’s touch or an open opportunity.

The team’s philosophy has resulted in six straight double-digit wins this post-season and eight consecutive since losing to 4A New Palestine, 67-64, on Feb. 7.

“As a coach, you always talk about wanting to play your best basketball at the right time. We came into the tournament with eight losses, but we won our last four games,” Allen said. “We have guys that are simply excelling in their role right now.

“The effort we had in the first half tonight was absolutely incredible after a tough one this morning. It felt like everyone was on tonight, and it was just meant to be.”

Everyone contributed by executing the game plan.

Sophomore Bryson Cardinal had eight points, three blocked shots and 10 of the team’s 26 rebounds. Jack Cherry, who started in 2021 during the semi-state loss, finished with seven points and three assists.

Kamea Chandler added nine points, four rebounds, three assists and two steals. Dylan Murans had five points, and the Golden Eagles shot 45 percent from the floor while holding the Warriors to 14 rebounds.

“(State) is another game to do what we do, and we’re playing like state champions right now, so we just have to keep on building on this,” Sorensen said.

A team built to win, the key ingredient is composure, which continues to elevate at each level for the Golden Eagles.

After knocking off the defending state champion Beech Grove Hornets in the semi-state semifinal round Saturday afternoon, they contended with a loud Scottsburg crowd that traveled 25 miles to support their best team since the 21-5 group in 2004-05.

Scottsburg beat No. 6 North Daviess 47-45 in the first semifinal game, but they couldn’t match the intensity of the Golden Eagles, which led the game by as many as 24 points twice.

“We also limited them to one shot, which helped our transition game go. Everything just went right for us tonight,” Allen said. “The first half was very good. Obviously, it gave us great momentum for the second half, but we talked about in the locker room, we wanted to play the second half as 0-0. We came out and responded. They hit a couple big shots, and we thought they were threatening a little bit, but our guys bared down and did what they had to do.”

By the end, they simply needed to collect the hardware and celebrate with the student section, which stormed the court and swarmed the players before the nets were ceremoniously cut down.

“It’s literally a dream come true. The moment I started playing basketball, I always dreamed of playing in Gainbridge, and every single day I worked hard to achieve that goal,” Chandler said. “I always say everything happens for a reason, and I always knew I was supposed to be here. I just worked hard every day, and it’s truly a dream come true for me and everyone on this team.”

Now, the Golden Eagles just need to finish the job.

“We’re going to enjoy this one this week. We are going to prepare like crazy for next Saturday,” Allen said. “I am so proud of the entire program. At the end of the day, it’s a credit to our guys. That they lock in each and every game, and again, these guys just work so hard. They deserve every second of this. I love it. I absolutely love it.”

It's a new track record!

Hamilton County teams run the show at HCC meet

The REPORTER

If the performances at the Hoosier Crossroads Conference indoor track and field are any indication, this season could be a good one for the HCC teams.

The Noblesville girls claimed the team championship at the meet, which took place March 10 at DePauw University. The Millers won four events, including a new meet record for the 4x800 relay. The team finished the race in a time of 9 minutes, 33.36 seconds. Noblesville also got victories in the high jump from Malina Miller and the 4x400 relay.

Hamilton Southeastern placed third with 90 points, behind runner-up Brownsburg's 104 points. The Royals were led by Elizabeth Butler, who set a new record in the 3200 run by clocking in at 10:47.03. Makenzie Loftin claimed the 60 hurdles.

Fishers placed fourth with 74 points. Maya Taylor was a winner in the 60 dash. Westfield had one event winner: The Shamrocks finished first in the distance medley relay.

In the boys meet, the Tigers scored the most team points among county schools with 65 points, placing them third. Robert Seay was a winner in the 60 dash.

Westfield placed fourth by scoring 64 points. The Shamrocks had two runner-up finishes: Robert Campbell took second in the high jump, as did Westfield's 4x400 relay. The Shamrocks' 4x800 relay squad placed third, but finished under the old meet record.

Noblesville had two event winners, starting with Will Johnston. He won the pole vault with a best leap of 14 feet, 3 inches, a new meet record. Caden Click was first in the 3200 run. Hamilton Southeastern's Lamine Sall won the long jump.

Two Royals earn their spots on Indiana Girls' All-Stars team

The REPORTER

Hamilton Southeastern seniors Olivia Brown and Riley Makalusky are among the 12 players that have been selected to join IndyStar Indiana Miss Basketball Laila Hull of Zionsville for the 2023 IndyStar Indiana Girls' All-Stars, All-Stars game director Mike Broughton announced last Tuesday.

Those chosen to the team will play three games in June -- one exhibition game against the Indiana Junior All-Stars as well as home-and-home contests against the Kentucky All-Stars.

Hull's selection as Miss Basketball was announced Monday. The other players completing the 2023 Indiana Girls' All-Stars, listed alphabetically, are Ashlynn Brooke of Pioneer, Cristen Carter of Ben Davis, Asia Donald of Hobart, Layla Gold of Cathedral, RaShunda Jones of South Bend Washington, McKenna Layden of Northwestern, Karsyn Norman of Bedford North Lawrence, Amiyah Reynolds of South Bend Washington, Saige Stahl of Columbus East and Amber Tretter of Forest Park.

Reynolds is injured and is not expected to play in the games.

The 2023 All-Stars include five players who have been a part of six state championship teams (Tretter with two; Brooke, Jones, Norman and Reynolds with one each), two IHSAA Mental Attitude Award winners (Norman and Tretter), five players who were named IBCA first-team Academic All-State (Carter, Hull, Layden, Norman and Tretter) and one player who was named IBCA honorable mention Academic All-State (Makalusky).

Kristi Ulrich of Penn has been named the head coach of the 2023 All-Stars. She will be assisted by Bryan Graham of Triton Central and Bob Lapadot of Garrett. Ulrich is 312-50 in 14 seasons at Penn, including the 2016 Class 4A state championship. Graham is 299-65 in 15 seasons at Triton Central. Lapadot is 193-91 in 12 seasons at Garrett.

The Junior-Senior exhibition game is set for June 7 at a site to be announced. The first game against Kentucky will be June 9 at the Owensboro Sportscenter in Owensboro, Ky. The final game against Kentucky will be June 10 at Gainbridge Fieldhouse in Indianapolis.

All three dates will be doubleheaders with the IndyStar Indiana Boys' All-Stars, whose roster will be announced later. The roster for the Indiana girls' Junior All-Stars were announced March 8. The roster for the Indiana boys' Junior All-Stars will be announced later.

The Indiana Junior All-Stars will play two girl-boy doubleheaders this year -- June 4 against the Kentucky Junior All-Stars at Jeffersonville High School and June 7 against the Indiana seniors at a site to be announced.

The Indiana All-Stars program was founded in 1939 when the Indiana Boys All-Stars played the state champion Frankfort Hot Dogs. The series with Kentucky began in 1940, and the girls' portion of the All-Stars was added in 1976. The Junior All-Stars, boys and girls, were added in 1996. The All-Star senior girls have played Kentucky every year since 1976, except 2020 because of the COVID-19 pandemic. The All-Star senior boys have played Kentucky in all but three years since 1940 -- 1943 (World War II), 1944 (World War II) and 2020

Hamilton Southeastern seniors Olivia Brown (left) and Riley Makalusky were named selected to the 2023 IndyStar Indiana Girls All-Stars last Tuesday. Makalusky averaged 19.9 points per game for the Royals, while Brown scored 6.9 points, handed out 7.5 assists and collected 5.0 rebounds per game.

(COVID-19 pandemic).

The Indiana Senior girls lead 52-40 in their series with Kentucky. The Indiana Senior girls lead 41-10 in games against the Indiana Junior girls. The Indiana Junior girls lead 10-1 in their series with Kentucky. The Indiana Senior boys lead 103-44 in their series with Kentucky. The Indiana Senior boys lead 41-10 in games against the Indiana Junior boys. The Indiana Junior boys lead 7-4 in their series with Kentucky.

The June 10 date also will include the inaugural IndyStar Indiana All-Star "Futures Games." The Futures Games will be a girls-boys doubleheader at Gainbridge Fieldhouse with Indiana-only squads of juniors, sophomores and freshmen in a North vs. South format. The girls' Futures Games lineups were announced on Feb. 16. The boys' Futures Games lineups will be announced later.

The Indiana portion of the All-Star Games is organized and produced by the Indiana Basketball Coaches Association. The Indianapolis Star, with its IndyStar brand, is a title sponsor.

Miss Basketball is selected through a balloting process of coaches and media overseen by game organizers from the IBCA. The remainder of the team is finalized by Broughton after observing numerous games and events throughout the season, conferring with coaches, school officials and media across the state. Broughton also reviews votes submitted by coaches and media who each could recommend up to 10 players.

Those chosen as 2023 IndyStar Indiana Girls' All-Stars are listed below alphabetically. Hull will wear the traditional No. 1 as Miss Basketball. All other jersey numbers will be assigned later.

Three county football players selected for 57th North/South All Star Classic

The REPORTER

Three football players with Hamilton County connections have been selected to play in the 57th annual Murat Shrine North/South Football All Star Classic.

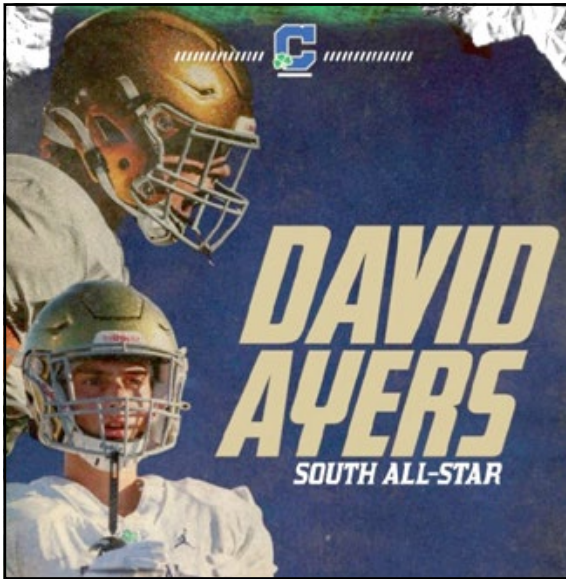

The game takes place on July 14 at Decatur Central High School and is the culmination of the Indiana Football Coaches Association's All-Star week. All three local players will play for the South team.

Hamilton Southeastern cornerback Peyton Daniels and Noblesville outside linebacker Trey Speek will play on defense. Daniels helped the Royals to a regional championship and an undefeated Hoosier Crossroads Conference season, while Speek was part of a Millers squad that reached the sectional championship game. Daniels has committed to play football at Butler University, while Speek is committed to the University of Findlay.

Cathedral wide receiver David Ayers will play on offense for the South team. Ayers, a Fishers resident, was part of the Irish's Class 6A regional championship team. He is committed to Butler University on a baseball scholarship.

Information about the IFCA's All-Star Week can be found at ifca.net/north-south-all-star-game.

Hamilton Heights' Kendall Moe reigned in two different weight classes at the Indiana State Wrestling Association Women's Folkstyle State Finals, which took place the weekend of March 11 and 12 at Warren Central High School. Moe won the 16U 106-pound weight class and the USA Junior 100-pound division.

Two Hamilton Heights wrestlers take state titles

The REPORTER

Hamilton Heights' Kendall Moe is making it a habit of winning a trophy every weekend.

The latest success for Moe came at the Indiana State Wrestling Association Women's Folkstyle State Finals, which took place the weekend of March 11 and 12 at Warren Central High School. Moe represented Contenders Wrestling Academy at the meet, and she won two titles, first in the 16U 106-pound weight class, then in the USA Junior 100-pound division.

In the 16U class, Moe won her first two matches with first-period falls to reach the final, then beat Olivia Crull of Northeastern Wrestling Club in a 13-2 major decision for the championship. In the USA Junior division, Moe received a first-round bye, got a 7-0 decision victory in the semi-finals, then beat Madison Mikels of Elite Athletic Club with a first-round pin.

Moe was coming off a national title at the which took place the weekend of March 4 and 5 at the Folkstyle Nationals in Tulsa, Okla. Moe won the 94-pound division.

Noblesville also had a wrestler compete in the USA Junior division. Kyra Tomlinson reached the championship match at 132 pounds with a second-period fall in the semi-finals, but was beaten in the championship by Phoebe Dowty of Indiana Creek Wrestling Club in a 9-3 decision.

Cain wins at 160

The ISWA men's Folkstyle State Finals took place at Warren Central the weekend of March 11 and 12 as well, and another Heights wrestler was a winner.

Michael Cain competed in the USA Junior 160-pound class and won six matches to claim the championship. Cain got three pins on his way to the semi-finals, also winning one match by a 12-2 major decision. He edged out

- HSE Wrestling Club had four place winners in the meet. Drake Goldsberry (8U 43 pounds), Charles Haider (12U 70 pounds) and Nolan Culp (14U 77 pounds) all placed sixth, while Tyler Jackson (USA Junior 113) finished seventh.
- Westfield Wrestling Club got two wrestlers on the podium. Zeke Temples was fifth in the 10U 140-pound class, while Porter Temples took seventh in the 16U 126-pound division.

Indiana-Illinois duals

Two Huskies wrestlers, and their coach, were part of the Illinois/Indiana Classic Duals, which took place March 12 at Notre Dame High School in Niles, Ill.

Heights coach Gary Myers was the coach of the Indiana girls team, and Zoe Pugh was one of the wrestlers. Pugh was part of Indiana's 68-21 dual victory, winning her 120-pound match with a third-period pin over Monica Griffin.

Fettig competed for the Indiana boys at 152 pounds. He dropped a close 7-5 decision against Marco Spinazzola, a three-time Illinois state champion.

On his Monday podcast, Hamlin admitted that the incident was not unintentional, stating, "Alright, I'm probably running sixth or seventh, I'm about to get passed by everyone behind me on fresh tires. I'm about to finish in the mid-teens. I said, 'You're [Chastain] coming with me buddy.'"

This incident marks a new chapter in the Denny-Ross saga that began last year at Gateway Speedway when Chastain got into the left-rear of Hamlin, sending him into the wall. Although Hamlin claims that the feud is now over, the move cost him $50,000, 25 driver points, and a potential top-10 finish. The move Hamlin, who is typically calculated and deliberate, pulled appeared imprecise and clunky as it ruined an otherwise solid performance. Many commentators have reacted negatively to Hamlin's move as it ultimately cost him and his team nearly 40 driver points (when you add the positions lost to the points penalty).

This weekend, NASCAR heads to Atlanta Motor Speedway for 1.5-mile pack racing, and Formula 1 is at the super-fast street-circuit in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia.

STATE OF INDIANA) IN THE HAMILTON SUPERIOR COURT 1
) SS:
COUNTY OF HAMILTON) CAUSE NO.: 29D01-2302-AD-000282
IN THE MATTER OF THE ADOPTION OF) NISHA PHAKDEE, MINOR)
NOTICE OF ADOPTION
Shabeh Abdulla is notified that a petition for adoption of Nisha Phakdee was filed in the office of the clerk of Hamilton Superior Court 1, 1 Hamilton County Square, Noblesville, Indiana 46060. The petition for adoption alleges that the consent to adoption of Shabeh Abdulla is not required because he has abandoned the child, failed to maintain communication with the child, and failed to support the child.
If Shabeh Abdulla desires to contest the adoption of the child he must file a motion to contest the adoption in accordance with IC 31-19-10-1 in the above-named court not later than thirty (30) days after the date of service of this notice.
If Shabeh Abdulla does not file a motion to contest the adoption within thirty (30) days after service of this notice the above-named court will hear and determine the petition for adoption. The consent to adoption of Shabeh Abdulla will be irrevocably implied and Shabeh Abdulla will lose the right to contest either the adoption or the validity of his implied consent to the adoption. No oral statement made to Shabeh Abdulla relieves him of his obligations under this notice.
This notice complies with IC 31-19-4.5-3 but does not exhaustively set forth a person's legal obligations under the Indiana adoption statutes. A person being served with this notice should consult the Indiana adoption statutes.

) SS:
COUNTY OF HAMILTON) CAUSE NO.: 29D01-2302-AD-000282
IN THE MATTER OF THE ADOPTION OF) NISHA PHAKDEE, MINOR)
NOTICE TO NAMED FATHER
Shabeh Abdulla, the putative father of the child born to Sirinat Phakdee, or the person who claims to be the father of the child born to Sirinat Phakdee on January 16, 2011, is notified that a Petition for Adoption of the child was filed in the Office of the Clerk of the Hamilton County Superior Court, 1 Hamilton County Square, Noblesville, Indiana 46060.
If Shabeh Abdulla or any other putative father seeks to contest the adoption of the child, the unnamed putative father must file a motion to contest the Adoption in accordance with I.C. 31-1910-1 in the above-named Court within thirty (30) days after the date of service of this Notice. This Notice may be served by publication.
If Shabeh Abdulla or any other putative father does not file a motion to contest the Adoption within thirty (30) days after service of this Notice the above-named Court will hear and determine the Petition for Adoption. The putative father's Consent is irrevocably implied and the putative father loses the right to contest the adoption or the validity of the putative father's implied consent to the adoption. The putative father loses the right to establish paternity of the child under I.C. 31-14.
Nothing Sirinat Phakdee or anyone else says to the putative father of the child relieves the putative father of his obligations under this notice.
Under Indiana law, a putative father is a person who is named as or claims that he may be the father of a child born out of wedlock but who has not yet been legally proven to be the child's father.
This Notice complies with I.C. 31-19-4-4, but does not exhaustively set forth the unnamed putative father's legal obligations under the Indiana adoption statutes. A person being served with this Notice should consult the Indiana adoption statutes.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
HAMILTON COUNTY, INDIANA PUBLIC HEARING ON A PRELIMINARY RECOMMENDATION TO AWARD PUBLIC-PRIVATE AGREEMENT/ SCOPING AGREEMENT PURSUANT TO INDIANA CODE 5-23-5-9
This notice is to inform the general public of a public hearing that will be held by the Hamilton County Board of Commissioners (the "Commissioners") on March 27, 2023 at 1:00 p.m. (the "Public Hearing") at the Hamilton County Courthouse, 1 N. 8th St., Noblesville IN 46060. On January 30, 2023, the Commissioners of Hamilton County, Indiana (the "County") published a notice, in accordance with IC 5-3-1, of the request for proposals/qualifications (the "RFPQ") for a Public-Private Agreement (as defined in IC 5-23-2) related to constructing, operating, transferring, and developing of a new public safety accessibility point, emergency management center, and childcare facility (the "Project") pursuant to Indiana Code 5-23. The purpose of the Public Hearing is to hear the preliminary recommendation of the County's BOT-Evaluation Committee's (the "Committee") to the Commissioners to award a public-private agreement/scoping agreement (collectively, the "Agreement") to an offeror that is proposing to design, construct, operate and transfer the Project to the County pursuant to Indiana Code 5-23.
Based upon the Committee's preliminary recommendation, the Commissioners, or their designated representatives, intend to negotiate with the offeror recommended by the Committee and may, subject to completion of all requirements required under Indiana Code 5-23, eventually enter into an Agreement with the offeror recommended by the Committee to design, create the appropriate masterplans, construct, and provide other professional services with respect to the Project. The Commissioners intend to pursue, negotiate, and finalize a guaranteed maximum price with the recommended offeror.
The Committee has made a preliminary recommendation to award the Agreement to BW Development (the "Developer"). The Developer scored the highest amongst the other offerors responding to the RFPQ and the Committee placed a heavy emphasis on the Developer's experience with similar projects. The Committee will provide a more in-depth explanation of the basis upon which the preliminary recommendation is being made at the Public Hearing. All of the proposals received for the Project and an explanation of the basis upon which the preliminary recommendation is being made are available for public inspection and copying in the Hamilton County Auditor's Office (acting on behalf of the Commissioners) during regular business hours. The Hamilton County Auditor's Office is located at 33 N. 9th St., #L21, Noblesville, IN 46060. The Commissioners phone number is: (317) 776-9719. At the Public Hearing, the Commissioners will allow the public to be heard on the Committee's preliminary recommendation.

Boys volleyball: Carmel takes two victories, Millers fall

The REPORTER

The Carmel boys volleyball team won two matches last week.

The Greyhounds swept Cathedral last Wednesday 25-14, 25-15, 25-12. Esiah Lynch hit four kills, Luca Anderson put down three kills and Nicholas Wold had two. Lynch made three blocks and Anderson had one, while Wold dished out four assists.

Carmel won a four-set match over Park Tudor last Thursday, using consistent defense to pick up a 25-18, 25-14, 29-27, 25-22 victory. Lynch had 13 kills, followed by Aidan Thomas with eight, and Jaxon Lyon and Anderson with five each. Thomas also had three aces and one dig.

The Greyhounds opened their season March 11 by hosting their own Invitational, where they finished 3-1 for the event. Carmel swept Southport 25-21, 25-20 and Lafayette Jefferson 25-22, 25-17, then came back to beat Bishop Chatard 19-25, 26-24, 15-12. The 'Hounds then fell to Brebeuf Jesuit 25-22, 25-15.

Carmel is 4-2 and plays Wednesday at Franklin Community.

Noblesville opened its season last Tuesday against Brebeuf Jesuit, and fell to the Braves 25-10, 25-20, 25-17.

Senior Austin Shaw served nine points and dished out six assists. Senior Ethan Barrow had five blocks and two kills, and counted two aces among his four service points.

Noblesville hosted North Central last Wednesday, but the Panthers swept the Millers in all three matches.

Noblesville's varsity team lost 25-19, 25-22, 25-14 in a hard-fought match. Senior Dylan Blackwell led the team with five kills, four service points (including three aces), and six digs, while sophomore Gael Esqueda added eight service points and six digs. Senior Koy Hendrich contributed four kills and senior Ethan Barrow had two blocks.

In the junior varsity matches, Noblesville JV Black also fell in three sets, 24-25, 25-23, 15-7. Sophomore Brian Bzdyl led the team with six kills, three blocks, and two service points, while Anas Sakkah had four service aces and nine service points overall, as well as three kills and one block. Sophomore setter Ben Sandahl had 10 assists, two blocks, and three points.

The Millers' JV Gold team opened its season with a loss to North Central, 15-25, 25-10, 15-10. Setter Elijah Reynolds led the team with nine service points, including a run of eight consecutive points to close the first set, while Eli Chevillet and Eli McNamara each posted five points.

I was born and raised right here in Noblesville. I grew up in a home without domestic violence or assault - it wasn't something I saw, or even heard about. But when I was introduced to Prevail of Central Indiana, I was shocked by the number of individuals who are affected by domestic violence. In 2018 alone, Prevail helped more than 4,000 clients in Hamilton County (nearly 80 percent of clients are women and children). Domestic violence and abuse are hard topics to discuss, so you don't often hear about them. But at Tom Wood Volkswagen in Noblesville, we're breaking the taboo and raising awareness for Prevail, an organization that helps families in Hamilton County.
