the National Purple Heart Hall of Honor and other unique tributes.
"George and his fellow Patriot Project honorees represent the best of the best our country has to offer," said Richie Lay, a Purple Heart recipient and Chairman of the National Purple Heart Honor Mission. "America's Purple Heart veterans have given so much to defend freedom and that sacrifice must always be remembered. These brave men and women are true American heroes. We are privileged to be able to provide this unique salute to service for our Purple Heart heroes."
"Our Purple Heart recipients have made enormous sacrifices for America, and this is our opportunity to say 'thank you' on behalf of a grateful nation," said Col. Russ Vernon (NYARNG Ret.), the Executive Director for the National Purple Heart Honor Mission. "For some, this will be like the homecoming they never had. We received hundreds of nominations from across the country and we look forward to honoring George for his courage and service, both during combat operations and in the years since returning home."

meaning of commitment, discipline, sacrifice for others, teamwork, and pride in what you do."
Originally from Los Angeles, Calif., George Stavropoulos enlisted in the U.S. Navy, entering the service in July 1965. He was deployed to Vietnam where he was awarded four Purple Heats as a result of wounds he suffered. Stavropoulos was first wounded in April 1967 and suffered additional wounds in May 1967 as a result of a mortar attack. He suffered additional wounds, including a gunshot wound and shrapnel wounds, on July 2, 1967, during a large ambush at the beginning of Operation Buffalo.

Along with his Purple Heart with three bronze stars, HM2 Stavropoulos was awarded numerous medals and commendations during his service, including the Silver Star Medal, the Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal with device, the Good Conduct Medal, and more.
Married to his wife, Patricia, Stavropoulos continued serving his community as a member of law enforcement with the Newport Beach Police Department before becoming a DOJ investigator. When not serving his fellow veterans as a member of the Fishers Armed Services Commission, he enjoys golfing and watching football.

The National Purple Heart Hall of Honor is located just north of West Point, N.Y., near the site where General George Washington created the Badge of Military Merit in 1782 during the Revolutionary War. The Badge, a purple cloth cut in the shape of a heart, was the forerunner of today's Purple Heart medal. In addition to creation of the museum, the National Purple Heart Honor Mission was instrumental in the creation of the Purple Heart Forever stamp now issued by the U.S. Postal Service, and the organization was the driving force behind the nation's first official Purple Heart Commemorative Coin series, which was issued by the United States Mint in 2022.

This year's Patriot Project honorees include men and women Purple Heart recipients from World War II, the Vietnam War, Operations Iraqi Freedom and Enduring Freedom, and other conflicts, representing all branches of the service and ranging from 37- to 100-years-old.
Asked what he would want younger Americans to know about his service, HM2 Stavropoulos said, "My service taught me the

HISTORY

Then came marriage and eventually a baby. With the little one outgrowing an outfit soon after I put in the stitch, I learned to love sewing. After a file there was another baby and another. The sewing machine was used often. Sewing leaves a lot of bits and pieces of material. Indiana winters are cold; the growing family always seem to need more warm bedcovers. One solution was to piece comfort tops, buy cotton or wool batts and outing flannel. Then all three layers were knotted together to make warm covers.
One year when I was piecing a top, our young son wanted to piece a top. I gave him a small pile of cloth blocks I had cut, taught him how to sew them together by hand and he set to work. While I used a sewing machine, Raymond busily plied his needle and thread. Soon he was asking for more blocks. His work grew to an impressive size for a little boy, but as you may guess, the stitches were not very solid. There seem to be only one solution. "Raymond," I asked, "how big do you plan to make your comfort?" What a silly question!

He had already decided it should be big enough for his bed. When I explained that one that large needed sewing machine stitches, he was ready to tackle the learning process. I unthreaded the sewing machine, gave Raymond some lined paper and gave lesson number one. My pupil was an apt learner. Soon the needle holes stayed on the line, at least most of the time.
Time for lesson two: how to thread our sewing machine. We may have both been a little surprised at how quickly Raymond began sewing blocks together. "Mom, this is fun!"

Verna had music to practice, she was learning to cook and never seemed to be far from a book. However, she had quietly observed the sewing process and decided she'd like to join the fun. "Mom, I want to make a comfort for my bed."
So I sent her off to the scrap bag so we could cut more blocks. Sooner than you might think, both children had pieced comfort tops large enough for double beds.
Of course that meant the next project involved knotting two comforts. The three of us worked together on that. Only one more thing to finish. Neither of the children were big enough to handle stitching edges on the sewing machine, so I think I did that.

They both took their comforts along when they got married. Check those edges, if you wish.
That was so much fun they both wanted to piece something the next winter. They also wanted to make Christmas gifts for Grandma and Grandpa Adler. The chair covers they made turned out to be an ideal solution. Those chair covers were used until they became quite shabby.
As Raymond grew, he had more outdoor chores and didn't sew much more. Verna kept at it and became quite proficient in making dresses, suits or whatever struck her fancy.
What about third baby? Did she ever decide to piece a comfort? Be patient. I'll try to answer that – sometime.

Fishers-based Round Room surprises seven nonprofits with $1.7 million in grants

The REPORTER

Round Room, one of the nation's largest Verizon Authorized Retailers based in Fishers, held a sales rally for wireless retailer TCC Monday through Wednesday at The Westin Indianapolis, bringing hundreds of TCC employees and guests to Indianapolis.

However, the most exciting part of the event took place on Tuesday evening when Round Room Gives presented surprise "Mega Grant" donations to seven local nonprofits, ranging from a youth development organization to domestic violence housing, that totaled

- $1.7 million.
- The seven nonprofits are:
- DREAM Alive
 - 100 Black Men of Indianapolis
 - 91 Place
 - Ben's Ranch Foundation
 - Coburn Place
 - Cocktails & Caregivers
 - Trinity Haven

Representatives from each local nonprofit were on-site to receive the donations, but each nonprofit assumed that only one organization would receive a $100,000 grant from Round Room Gives. Everyone was overjoyed when they learned that each received $100,000 plus a $60,000 transportation allowance, which they can use to purchase vehicles or on additional transportation needs.

DREAM Alive was also chosen as the grand prize winner, receiving an additional check for $580,000. Learn more about each nonprofit at tccrocks.com/100000-mega-grant.

 2. Approximately half the county, 128,000 acres, is still comprised of farmland or non-developed rural area.
 3. Norman Levinson, who adopted the name Norman Norell, was born in Noblesville in 1900. He was a New York clothing designer, especially for women, for nearly half a century.
 4. Bethlehem was the original name for Carmel when it was platted in 1837, and changed to Carmel when a post office was established there.
 5. Another woman, Susan Brooks, represented the county in Congress prior to Victoria Spartz.
 6. Although generally assumed that U.S. 40 crosses the middle of the state, 116th Street is actually the dividing line between northern and southern Indiana.
 7. The 1925 murder trial of D.C. Stephenson, head of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana, took place in Hamilton County. Stephenson famously said, “I am the law in Indiana.” The guilty verdict brought the demise of the Klan in Indiana and had national implications since Stephenson had hopes of taking over the national Klan.
 8. The Indianapolis area temple of the Church of Christ of Latter-day Saints is located at 116th Street and Spring Mill Road, serving about 46,000 Mormons in the state.
 9. Presidents Harry Truman and Teddy Roosevelt made campaign re-election appearances in Noblesville. Five others visited the county when running for office: Donald Trump, Barack Obama, Franklin Roosevelt, William McKinley, and Benjamin Harrison.
 10. Westfield was a center of activity on the Underground Railroad. Several Quaker families sheltered slaves making their way to freedom in Canada. The route of the central Underground operated through Clay, Washington, and Adams townships in the decades before the Civil War.

Even Klingenstein is unable to be grumpy about this show

It is hard to believe that it's been 30 years since the film version of Grumpy Old Men made its debut. The story of two aging neighbors vying for the attention of their attractive new neighbor starred Jack Lemmon, Walter Matthau, and Ann-Margret.

Grumpy Old Men: The Musical came into being when actor Jeff Gardner was looking for an established property to transform into a Broadway show. Securing rights from Warner Brothers, his team brought about the musical which opened in the U.S. in 2018 in Ogunquit, Maine. The result was a well-developed, tuneful, and laugh-filled romp, equal parts witty and sympathetic. With positive critical attention, the show opened in Southern California the following year.

Beef and Boards' production (sharply directed by Curt Wollan, and smoothly choreographed by Sally Scharbrough) reunites B&B favorites Eddie Curry, Jeff Stockberger, and Sarah Hund for the latest of their array of shows together. Curry and Stockberger have frequently worked together onstage since college days, and their inspired comfort-level shows in their tight interactions here. Though much of the crossplay is insult hurling, with some of the best put-down lines you may ever hear, these roles also take them to softer characterizations which are very well set down.

Curry's John Gustafson ranges nicely as he faces changes and opportunities in his life. I have said it before, I always learn something about acting watching

KEN KLINGENSTEIN
A Seat on the Aisle

Curry's work and his ease of portrayal is a wonder to observe. As neighbor Max Goldman, Stockberger makes the most of his clowning skills – give that man a prop to play with and the results are most often hilarity – but he also shows a more touching side we don't often see in his performances – set forth in his lamenting solo number “Family or Friend.”

Sarah Hund joins in the fun as comely new neighbor, Ariel Truax. Ms. Hund takes the role to its proper level, attracting the attention of the old gents without overplaying the part. I have, in the past, named her as the most talented person I know, and she did not lose any ground in that title. All three main roles are so well cast – I believe the familiarity these three have for each other paid dividends. It's a lot of fun to watch them work together.

The script offers many good supporting roles, and the cast comes through with very high marks. Jacob Butler as Max's son Jacob and Logan Hill as John's daughter Melanie provide a solid sub-plot as they both trouble about what to do with their lives. Butler and Ms. Hill are excellent vocalists, and both show their skills in several numbers. B&B Chief Douglas E. Stark brings just the right portrayal as raunchy Grandpa Gustafson. His delivery is pitch perfect for the crotch-centric curmudgeon's humorous observations and advice. (This show does carry a PG-13 label, by the way.)

Devan Mathias is divine as IRS agent Sandra Snyder. She plays the role to the hilt, raising her comedic talents to new heights I haven't seen from her before. Ty Stover is delightful as bait-shop owner Chuck Barrels, while Karen Pappas plays cousin/newcomer Punky Barrels with apt guilelessness. Jaddy Ciucci offers accident-prone Harry the mail carrier with underplayed aplomb.

Every single cast member is vocally gifted and the precise work of Musical Director Terry Woods is present in the finely tuned songs and choruses. Likewise, costume design by Kathy Henry and wigs by Andrew Elliot add polish to the proceedings.

The set design by Michael Layton fills the bill. As the program for this show noted: “The curtain is going down on an era, as Michael Layton, our scenic designer of over 40 years, is retiring.”

Mr. Layton has shown his tremendous talents repeatedly (designing 330 sets in his run with the theatre company) by transforming B&B's limited stage space into designs for productions large and small. His genius and innovative efforts always added much to the workings. Happy retirement to a true artist!

Bottom line: Grumpy Old Men – The Musical is a surprisingly satisfying stage show. Filled with humor and covering an engaging storyline portrayed by a very skilled company of performers, B&B's entertaining production has something for everyone. It's a complete success in my eyes.

Report: Hoosier obesity costs state $2B annually

By PHIL SANCHEZ
WISH-TV | wishtv.com

A new report, Obesity’s Impact on Indiana’s Economy and Labor Force, was released this month by GlobalData and found that obesity reduces economic activity in Indiana by $9.3 billion and leads to a 2 percent reduction in the state’s gross domestic product.

About one-third of Hoosier adults are considered obese, and another third are overweight.

The report shows that the obesity of Indiana employers and state policymakers results in an over $2 billion impact when factoring in higher healthcare costs, absenteeism, and disability costs to employers.

Reduced workforce participation rates continue to be a problem in Indiana and obesity impacts that as well. Nearly 70,000 fewer obese adults are currently part of the workforce, GlobalData’s research shows.

Obesity also has a nearly $1 billion negative impact on the state’s budget, including increased Medicaid and public health costs.

“State policymakers and employers play a crucial role in addressing obesity by implementing effective policies and programs that prioritize access to evidence-based treatment plans and resources,” the report reads. “Taking a comprehensive approach to obesity prevention and treatment is key to improving population health and reducing healthcare costs linked to obesity-related conditions ...

By working together, these stakeholders can make a significant impact in addressing the obesity epidemic and fostering a healthier future for their communities and the state’s workforce.”

The report suggests that if adults under 65 lose 5 to 25 percent of their body weight over a 10-year span, it has the potential to save $8 billion in related medical costs.

Franciscan Health Indianapolis verified as Level III Trauma Center

The REPORTER

Franciscan Health Indianapolis has been verified as a Level III Trauma Center by the American College of Surgeons (ACS) Committee on Trauma (COT). This achievement recognizes the trauma center's dedication to providing optimal care for injured patients.

Hospital President and CEO Lori Price said, "Franciscan Health Indianapolis is committed to providing exceptional care in all areas, and our verification as a Level III center affirms that commitment."

Verified trauma centers must meet the essential criteria that ensure trauma care capability and institutional performance, as outlined by the American College of Surgeons' Committee on Trauma in its current Resources for Optimal Care of the Injured Patient manual.

"Indiana is expanding trauma care throughout the state, so this is a public health initiative," said

Christy Claborn, trauma program manager at Franciscan Health Indianapolis. "We want to make sure we're taking care of the whole patient, not just in time of illness, but in time of injury as well. That's part of our core Franciscan mission and values."

Franciscan Health Indianapolis applied to the state in February 2020 as the COVID-19 pandemic was just beginning. In May 2020, the state named the hospital a provisional Level III trauma center as it went through the ACS verification process.

"Over the past three years, we have been working to build our trauma center," Claborn said. "Level IIIs are able to care for the majority of injured patients. We provide rapid access to surgeons, to the OR, and have trauma-trained physicians and nurses on staff. Our commitment to improving injured patient care keeps patients closer to home."

The ACS Committee on Trauma's verification program does not designate trauma centers. Rather, the program provides confirmation though verification that a trauma center has demonstrated its commitment to providing the highest quality trauma care for all injured patients.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

The angel of the Lord found Hagar near a spring in the desert; it was the spring that is beside the road to Shur. And he said, "Hagar, slave of Sarai, where have you come from, and where are you going?"

"I'm running away from my mistress Sarai," she answered.

Then the angel of the Lord told her, "Go back to your mistress and submit to her." The angel added, "I will increase your descendants so much that they will be too numerous to count."

The angel of the Lord also said to her:

"You are now pregnant and you will give birth to a son. You shall name him Ishmael, for the Lord has heard of your misery. He will be a wild donkey of a man; his hand will be against everyone and everyone's hand against him, and he will live in hostility toward all his brothers."

He was born on October 18, 1962, in Vincennes, Ind., to Jack and Alice Mae (Yagle) Pearson. He was educated in Hamilton Heights Schools and also by his father. His father was the owner of Pearson Electric Company in Arcadia, and Ed, as he was fondly known, learned the trade of electrician and working with his father. Ed also repaired lawn mowers.

His family related that Ed always liked to be busy and that resulted in him helping others. Leisure time would find him fishing, watching football games, Westerns, and Perry Mason movies, and discussing politics with others.

He is survived by his mother, Alice Mae Pearson of Arcadia; his daughter, Heather Marie Ramer of Kokomo; sisters, Anita Anderson of Tipton and Jan Phillips of Deming, Ind.; grandchildren, Dylan, Kaitlyn, and Emily; and great-grandchildren, Cyrus and Amelia.

His father, Jack Pearson, and his brother, Douglas Pearson, preceded him in death.

Memorial services will be held at 7 p.m. on Friday, September 1, 2023, at Hartley Funeral Home Cicero Chapel, 209 W. Jackson St., Cicero. A time of visitation will be from 5 p.m. until time of the services. You may send condolences at hartleyfuneralhomes.com.

Shamrocks win Brittany Kelly Invitational, Brown gets second straight medalist award

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

CARMEL – An amazing week for the Westfield girls golf team continued on Wednesday.

The Shamrocks won the Brittany Kelly Invitational, which took place at Woodland Country Club in Carmel. Westfield won the tournament with a team score of 314 for its second straight victory. The Shamrocks also were first at Monday's Hoosier Crossroads Conference tournament.

The invitational honored Brittany Kelly, a true Hamilton County legend in golf who passed away from cancer in 2021. Kelly was a star at Hamilton Southeastern and Ball State University, and won several professional honors as well, including the 2019 Indiana PGA Women's Player of the Year.

That same year, Kelly played in the inaugural Women's PGA Cup, helping Team USA to victory in that event. Even while battling cancer, Kelly continued to play at a high level: She was the runner-up in the 2020 Indiana PGA Women's Open.

Brown wins again
Westfield was once again led by senior Samantha Brown, who picked up her second consecutive medalist award on Wednesday. Brown carded a 72 for first place. This came on the heels of her 66 at Bear Slide to win the HCC meet.

"It's been fun," said Brown. "It's been really fun. I'm just happy to be out here."

Last Saturday at the Hall of Fame tournament at The Legends, Brown made a hole in one on the fourth hole of the Road 9 course. Brown said she felt like she was hitting the ball thin during the first few holes, so she felt like she "needed to get something going."

"So, I just kept holding out, like, I know something good will come soon," said Brown. "I should just keep playing golf."

You can see video of the hole in one here.

"You can see in the video I was kind of worried," said Brown. "I thought the shot was over the green. And it lands a few yards long, and then it just spun back into the hole, and Coach (Josh) Bryant and I were like 'Oh, no way!' That's awesome."

Kelsey Haverluck finished third individually with a 76, while Addi Kooi also scored a 76.

Carmel also had a consistent day, placing second with a 319. Claire Swathwood led the Greyhounds with a 77, followed by a 78 for Michaela Headlee and a 79 for Sophie Mock.

Zionsville placed third with a 322; Amaya Wade was the individual runner-up with a 75. Noblesville finished fourth with a 79; Josie Kelley was the Millers' low woman with a 79. Hamilton Southeastern scored a 336, with Ella Bui leading the Royals with a 78.

Ali Scott and Sarah Rigg both scored 87s for Guerin Catholic, while Kate Jansen led Fishers with a 90.

Complete scores are listed below:

Team scores: Westfield 314, Carmel 319, Zionsville 322, Noblesville 325, Hamilton Southeastern 336, Guerin Catholic 371, Fishers 401.

Football: a sneak peek at Week 3 in Hamilton County

By CRAIG ADKINS
For The Reporter

Carmel
The Class 6A AP #11 'Hounds (1-1) host yet another power from outside of Indiana this week. Detroit Martin Luther King (0-1) comes into this matchup ranked 12th overall in the state of Michigan and No. 2 in Division 3.
Carmel lost to Christian Brothers (Mo.) 55-28 at home a week ago, while the Crusaders lost their season opener at home last week to St. Xavier (Cincinnati), 44-8.

Fishers
The 6A No. 6 Tigers have gotten off to the hottest offensive start in the state so far. Outscoring their opponents by a total of 84-0 in their first two games, the Tigers shut out North Central in the season opener at home 44-0 and blanked Pike on the road 40-0 last week.
Fishers gets a big road test to open Hoosier Crossroads Conference play when it heads to Noblesville to open league play.

Guerin Catholic
The 3A No. 2 Golden Eagles are off to a 2-0 start with wins over two teams from the Lafayette area. Following an 18-10 road win to open the season, Guerin Catholic dominated 2A No. 6 Lafayette Central Catholic at home, 27-3.
This week, the Golden Eagles will face another tough road challenge when they head just into Marion County to battle with 2A No. 9 Heritage Christian (2-0).
Hamilton Heights
The Huskies (2-0) find themselves ranked No. 16 in the 3A AP poll this week. Victories at home over Lapel (26-14) and North Montgomery (28-16) have Heights hungry for their first 3-0 start since 2016.
Class 2A No. 6 Lafayette Central Catholic comes to Arcadia as the two meet up in an east vs. west non-league Hoosier Conference game. The Knights lost a big game last week at Guerin Catholic, 27-3.

Hamilton Southeastern
The 6A No. 3 Royals (2-0) made a statement last week in their road victory at North Central. They worked quickly and got up 21-0 and didn't look back.
HSE held off 6A No. 9 Carroll to open the season, 28-14. Friday night, the Royals will look to stay undefeated in their first HCC game, welcoming Avon (0-2) to town.
Noblesville
The Millers (2-0) come in at No. 10 in the 6A poll. After opening the season with a 48-30 win over Mt. Vernon (Fortville) at Lucas Oil Stadium, Noblesville recorded their first shutout since 2020, blanking visiting Homestead 42-0.

Noblesville will attempt to start the season with three consecutive wins, something it has not done since 1998. The Millers host Fishers this week to open the HCC portion of their schedule.
Sheridan
The 1A No. 9 Blackhaws evened their record at 1-1 with a 35-12 win at home over North Miami last Friday. The win over the Warriors hopefully has Sheridan geared up for another win.

Sheridan heads a little north to Sharpsville to face Tri-Central (1-1) in its Hoosier Heartland Conference opener. The Trojans got their first win last week at Wes-Del, 26-6.

The Shamrocks (2-0) moved up in both the AP and IFCA poll and are now 6A No. 5. Westfield had a solid opening win two weeks ago at home over New Palestine (34-14). Last week became a game of who could stop the other, last. Westfield outlasted Lawrence Central in a high-scoring thriller, topping the Bears on their home field, 59-58 in OT.

Westfield is another team that is aiming for a 3-0 start, which it hasn't done since 2019. The 'Rocks start HCC play on the road at Zionsville (2-0). The Eagles have wins over Pike and at Lebanon.
