

Seven students up for Hamilton County Youth Service Award

Overall winner will receive $1,000 scholarship

The REPORTER

The 31st annual Hamilton County Youth Service Awards ceremony will take place at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, May 28 at the Government & Judicial Center in Noblesville.

The ceremony is sponsored by the Hamilton County Commissioners and the Hamilton County Council on Alcohol and Other Drugs (HCCOAD) as part of its ongoing effort to recognize outstanding service by youth in our community.

HCCOAD Executive Director Monica Greer expressed profound pride in the dedication of the applicants.

“We are deeply inspired by the commitment of these young individuals to lead drug-free lives while actively shaping positive change in our community,” she said.

This year's nominees showcase a stellar lineup of young achievers. Among the outstanding nominees are Sydney Schultz representing Carmel High School, Drew Wheeler from Fishers High School, Andrew Morrison from Hamilton Heights High School, Gloria Lane from Hamilton Southeastern High School, Maya Narsinghani from Noblesville High School, Gage West from Sheridan High School, and Keegan Connor from Westfield High School.

The selection process is overseen by a dedicated committee of employees. While one exceptional individual will be honored with the prestigious $1,000 scholarship, every finalist will receive a $300 scholarship in recognition of their exemplary service.

Finally, I’m a rule-breaker

I’ve always been a rule follower. Last Friday, I was challenged to obey a pretty ludicrous rule.

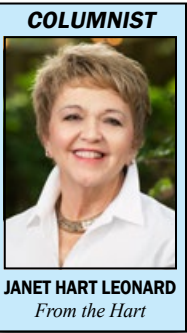

I dropped my phone, and the bottom right corner of the screen shattered. It seemed to have caused a concussion in my phone’s brain. Bright strobe-like lights flashed at the bottom of my screen. I headed to the big store where I purchased it. I knew I had included the Technology Protection Package in my purchase. Ugh ... they only repair iPhones, not Androids.

I was directed to another store, 11 miles away, that involved navigating two road closures and way too much traffic.

After waiting 15 minutes, I was greeted by a young man working the repair desk alone. The very polite man looked at my phone with a broken brain and gave me my choice of installing a new screen or getting a new/reconditioned phone. The cost for either choice was $99. It’s the deductible for having the protection plan. (Of course, there is a deductible.)

I hate getting a new phone. I paid the $99, and then he began to work on his computer to see if they had the screen. Good news ... they did. Bad news ... they didn’t have the repair kit to install the screen.

No, Westfield, You Can’t Take It With You

Nicole Amsler is a playwright, an occasional actress, and in recent years also a director. Most of her work directing has been with Hyperion Players, but this week she’s bringing her experience and enthusiasm to Westfield for a classic play set in 1938.

Main Street Productions (MSP) is staging You Can’t Take It With You from May 30 through June 9 at Basile Westfield Playhouse, 220 N. Union St.

“It’s about the young couple falling in love and dealing with their families,” Amsler said. “The Vanderhoffs family is very eccentric. Grandpa has shunned any kind of traditional work and they all just kind of do what they want.”

According to Amsler, the story hinges around Alice, a secretary who has fallen in love with her boss. She brings him home to her quirky family and is planning to have her future in-laws, the Kirby family, come over for dinner.

“She was trying to make them look very normal and sedate and remove the printing presses and the xylophones and the snakes and all this kind of stuff,” Amsler said. “Then the Kirbys show up on the wrong night and everything goes wrong.”

Amsler said she chose this play because she loves the quirkiness of the Vanderhoffs family and she was looking forward to directing a large cast on a stage as big as the one at Basile Westfield Playhouse.

“Nobody wants to see me on stage,” Amsler told The Reporter. “I’m much better backstage bossing people around. I liked this show – unwisely – for how big it was, because there’s such a big stage for Westfield and I could accommodate a cast of 19. I’m used to four or six, so I did like that. I’m now kind of regretting that. That’s a lot of people to get on the stage. And when I had to climb the 18-foot ladder to wallpaper my stage, I really regretted making an 18-foot-tall set. But Westfield is a fantastic place for that.”

For all that, Amsler told The Reporter she has a great cast that has come together not only for the show itself, but also to pitch in for the tall and busy-looking set. Actors have, at Amsler’s request, been bringing in pieces to add to the Vanderhoffs’ eccentric home.

“The set is fantastic,” Amsler said. “It’s huge – 18 feet tall – but because they’re so chaotic, every single wall is covered with something. I think we have 400 props and art pieces on the wall. Because I have a cast of 19, I told them all to bring me something fascinating and interesting to put on the wall. We have swords. We have flags. We have school pictures of a cast member’s grandmother graduating from high school. We have a jackalope. We have peacock fans. We have music. We have an original 1938 poster with Burns and Allen. So

Robinson’s road is paved in black & gold

Noblesville High School Jazz Band Director Bethany Robinson is moving on, but she’ll still wear black and gold.

Robinson has been appointed to lead the jazz program at Purdue University where she will hold the title of Clinical Assistant Professor of Bands, beginning her appointment on July 1, 2024.

Robinson told The Reporter she applied for the position at Purdue as a way to find out what the procedure would be like when she was ready to move on in another decade, not really believing she’d be selected.

“I absolutely love what I’m doing and where I’m doing it,” Robinson said. “Everything at Noblesville has been so wonderful. I knew that the director from Purdue was retiring. I had seen some advertisements about that and heard from some mutual friends. When Mo Trout did retire, there was a press release that went out to the jazz organization that I’m the past president of, the Indiana Jazz Educators Association.”

There was also an email from the vice president of communications that went out to every jazz director in Indiana, which Robinson said she thought

Hamilton County steps up to help one of its own

The REPORTER

Once again, the fine people of Hamilton County have proven why this is a great place to live.

Thanks to the hard work of Dustin Dixon with Noblesville Youth Assistance and Lisa Samuels of Sheridan Youth Assistance, one Sheridan High School student is well on her way in life.

According to Dixon, this soon-to-be graduate, who will remain nameless in this publication, has been dealt numerous unfortunate circumstances in her life, including the death of her custodial grandmother. Thankfully, some neighbors fostered her through high school.

She was active throughout her high school career and worked part-time. Now, she’s graduating early, has been accepted to college, and will continue to work part-time.

The vehicle shown here has been donated for her personal use while in college and working. Dixon is ensuring its inspection by a mechanic and that it gets a new set of tires.

This young lady has certainly done her part – now it’s time for the community to step up. If you can donate, please do so through the Sheridan Youth Assistance Program by going to tinyurl.com/SYAPdonate.

Any additional funds raised beyond what’s needed for the vehicle will go towards college supplies and living expenses.

Over the railroad & through the woods, with the Nickel Plate Express we go

By ANNA MITCHELL
anna@readthereporter.com

Last Friday, Nickel Plate Express (NPX) introduced railbikes.

The railbikes hold up to four passengers, but solo riders can hit the rails as well. Shipped from Pennsylvania, the bikes are American made and weigh a total of 260 pounds, but passengers can peddle down the tracks with ease.

NPX Executive Director Emily Reynolds, said the railbikes complement the Nickel Plate Express train program.

"We can get people outdoors and physically active and do something totally different and unique," Reynolds said. "Nobody in Indiana is currently offering one."

The bikes have both baskets for purses and cup-holders for water bottles, making them user-friendly. They are equipped with multiple safety features including seatbelts, brakes, and bumpers. The seats slide back and forth to accommodate for a rider's height, and staff can even turn the seats around when the bike needs to go the opposite direction on the tracks.

NPX offers two railbike rides: the "Forest Park Rail Adventure," which is an eight-mile ride that takes around two hours to complete, and the "White River Family Cruise," which is a shorter ride and takes about an hour and a half. Both provide beautiful scenery throughout Hamilton County and its sights.

Reynolds said the "White River Family Cruise" is perfect for families with small children because it starts off downhill, only takes 15 to 20 minutes to ride, and includes a 45-minute break in between.

"We'll let passengers get off, enjoy downtown Noblesville, grab an ice cream cone or a beer from Syd's, or whatever it is that makes your heart happy," Reynolds said. "And then we'll pedal back 45 minutes later."

Reynolds and her staff tested the bikes last fall and received training for them on the weekend of May 18. They have made sure that the road crossings in the "Forest Park Rail Adventure" are safely conducted, and that all other safety features on the bikes are functioning.

Tickets are available online at nickelplateexpress.com/railbike-rides. Although NPX can take walk-ins, they recommend buying tickets online to guarantee a spot on the ride at the desired time. Rides are being offered all summer long.

What is a railbike?

Like a train, a railbike is a vehicle lined up on train tracks. Like a bicycle, it has pedals. Four people can take their seats and pedal together along the tracks.

Here's how our conversation went ...

Young man: Getting the parts will take four to five days.

Me: Okay, will you call me when the kit comes in? If my phone doesn't work, will you call my husband's phone?

Young Man: We have a new rule. You have to leave your phone here at the store.

I'm thinking about the reason for this rule.

Me: Seriously? Do you not think that the new rule is a bit absurd? (I was trying to remain calm and allow my words to process through my niceness filter about what I would say next.)

Young Man: Yes.

Me: May I speak to a manager?

Young Man: He hasn't been here for three weeks. The young man was avoiding making eye contact with me.

Me: So, what you are saying is that I cannot take with me my phone, which I own, and that I've paid you to repair it, and you cannot repair it because you do not have the repair kit. At times, my phone works, including whenever I use it in my car with my Sync system. You are leaving me without a way to contact anyone in an emergency.

Young man: It's a new rule. I am just the messenger.

Me: Well, the rule is ludicrous. What if I walk out those doors and get in my car with my phone, and you call me or my husband when the parts come in?

Young man: He whispers ... take your phone.

It's been eight days, and I have heard nothing from the store about the repair kit being in. Of course, there is no direct number to call to check the status or find out when I can bring my phone in to be repaired.

It should not be this complicated, nor should this ludicrous rule be in effect.

The definition of ludicrous is "amusing or laughable through obvious absurdity." The thing is that ... I'm not laughing.

I have now become a rule-breaker!

HHMS students reach new 'Heights' at Beck's Hybrids

The REPORTER

Earlier this month, over 200 seventh-grade and 15 eighth-grade ag students from Hamilton Heights Middle School (HHMS) enjoyed an immersive experience at Beck's Hybrids in Atlanta.

Beck's corporate headquarters, located in Atlanta about two miles from the middle school, offered students a behind-the-scenes look at the family-owned and operated company. The primary focus of this trip was for students to learn about the vast array of career possibilities that exist at Beck's Hybrids.

Students learned about the company's history, its deep roots in the community, and toured its Atlanta operations. Students were able to see some of the special farm equipment used to plant test crops and venture through the greenhouses to learn about cross pollination. In addition, students spent time in the quality assurance seed lab where testing of germination for corn, soybeans, and wheat under various conditions takes place. The lab allows for hands-on interaction with products to understand better what farmers experience in the field.

"This was not a one-off field trip," explained Connor James, Business and Preparing for Colleges and Careers Teacher. "This is the start of a long term (three-plus years) agreement with Beck's Hybrids as part of our "Reaching New Heights" initiative designed to provide inclusive learning experiences for ALL students. We truly believe exposure to real-world industry and careers will foster student interest and increase engagement."

"The visit proved to be a powerful learning experience for the vast majority of our students," added James. "It was truly a special day."

James continued, "On behalf of HHMS and all the students who attended this immersive experience, we would like to extend our sincere gratitude to Jason Beck for helping to lead this effort within the organization and who helped coordinate the visit. Special thanks to Sonny Beck and Scott Beck for their interest and generosity in opening their doors to our students. We also appreciate the time provided by the best tour guides in all the land, Paul Compton, Scott McCorkle, Bryan Will, and Toby Ripberger. They did a tremendous job guiding our students around the grounds. We also want to thank the entire Beck's Hybrids team for the incredible experience they provided these students."

"Lastly," James said, "these trips would not be possible without our teachers, support staff, and bus drivers. Thank you to ALL who made this day possible. I'm convinced it will have an impact beyond what we are able to imagine."

was interesting because that organization is mostly made up of high school band directors.

"I know there's a history also at Purdue of really great high school band directors going to work at Purdue," Robinson said. "Jay Gephart, the department chair, used to be at North Central. I actually thought, 'Well, I don't know anything about higher ed. So I'm very curious to even just explore if this is something I would want to do maybe in 10 years or something.' I was a little bit curious just about what life would look like at higher ed versus K through 12."

Robinson told The Reporter she felt fulfilled at Noblesville but went on with the application as her fact-finding mission.

"I went ahead and threw a resume in and then the process just kept going," Robinson said. "And then, before you knew it, I was a finalist, and I was actually pretty nervous about that because I didn't even know if I wanted the position until I went and found out a lot more about it."

As part of the interview process, Robinson rehearsed one of their top jazz bands. She said it was very similar to what she already does in her current position.

"It's sort of what I do all the time where I go to schools or I don't know any of the students and I'm hired to go in and do a master class or a clinic and just have this great experience with one rehearsal with students," Robinson said. "This was a very fast and furious version of that. I just felt really at home. Once I did that, I thought, 'Yeah, this is the job. This is what I do every day at Noblesville.'"

That is when she realized she was getting the opportunity to do the things she loves about working at Noblesville, just on a larger scale.

"This could be a really cool thing to continue to build off of what Mo Trout has left in his legacy," Robinson said.

Robinson said her whole adult life has been in Noblesville since graduating from college.

"I've been in that K through 12 music, band, and even choir space: orchestra, guitar, percussion, marching bands, concert band, jazz band, history, theory," Robinson said. "Every class from 6 to 12 – I think I've had a hand in teaching that over the years. When I started, it was just Stacey White and I. We're the only two band directors for the entire district of Noblesville. And now there are seven full time band directors at three schools. I've seen this district develop in such massive ways."

Robinson said her growth as an educator took place as the district also grew in professionalism and systems.

"I'm just I've always been so proud of the work and the consistency of our district," Robinson said. "Every time I hear of a friend at a different district who's not quite as organized or not quite as on a professional level, I've just always been so thankful for the ways that Noblesville has grown and developed. This district has also been a huge part of my own development. I am who I am because of this district. I really am eternally grateful for all the things I have learned and the ways I have grown and been able to serve other boards and other music institutions that are on a state or national level. That's been so wonderful."

From as far away as Scotland, Robinson has had people come just to see what's happening in her classroom. She's been to Australia and will do a three-week residency there this summer because of the things that music teachers do in Noblesville.

Celebrating the retirement of three valued members of Sheridan Community Schools

The REPORTER

Sheridan Community Schools (SCS) is saying goodbye to three respected members of the school community as they move into retirement. Violet Chesney, Molly Heil, and Debbie Merriman have each made significant contributions to the district through their dedication and hard work.

Violet Chesney Dedicated elementary teacher

Violet Chesney has been an elementary teacher at Sheridan Elementary for 16 years, after beginning her career in Frankfort, Ind. Over her career, she has taught kindergarten, first, second, and fifth grades.

Sheridan Elementary Principal Valerie Roberts praised Chesney.

“Violet is a dynamic teacher who has always been passionate about making a difference with her students,” Roberts said. “Her strong leadership in the second-grade team will be missed! We wish her all the best as she enjoys family time, traveling, and wherever life takes her next!”

Chesney expressed her love for teaching in her hometown and the close-knit community.

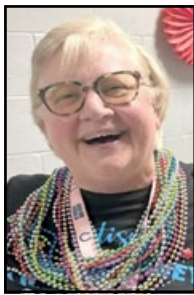

“I will miss my students’ smiles, hugs, and love for learning,” she said. “After retirement, I plan to love on my grandson, enjoy my family, and travel.”

in Palo Alto, Calif., at The Children’s Health Council school, now known as Esther B. Clark Schools.

Heil says she values the connections she formed with her colleagues and students.

“I will miss my teaching friendships the most,” she said. “I’ve always been so lucky to have amazing coworkers that are there for you in all aspects of life.”

Heil’s future plans include possibly moving closer to family in south Florida or western New York.

“Over her 19 years of dedicated service at SMS, Molly Heil has made a profound impact on both her students and colleagues,” SMS Principal Kent Davis said. “We deeply appreciate her unwavering commitment and caring contributions to her students. She will be missed immensely, but we wish her the very best in her well-deserved retirement.”

Reflecting on her time in Sheridan, Heil noted, “When I was called and asked to interview at Sheridan, I honestly didn’t know where Sheridan was. Sheridan turned out to be exactly that one thing I didn’t know I needed at the time.”

Debbie Merriman Dedicated bus driver

Debbie Merriman has been a bus driver for Sheridan since 1990. One of her favorite memories is driving the Girls Varsity Basketball team to Regionals this year. Transportation Director Eric Gifford spoke highly of Merriman.

“Debbie is always willing to help out however needed,” Gifford said. “I will miss having her around on a daily basis to joke around with and give a hard time. She has seen lots of changes in the bus driving industry over the years, and I’m glad she is finally able to retire and spend time with her family.”

Merriman said she will miss the kids and her coworkers the most but looks forward to having more free time in her retirement.

Superintendent Dave Mundy expressed his gratitude for the contributions of Chesney, Hiel, and Merriman.

“Their dedication has helped create the supportive environment that Sheridan Community Schools is known for,” Mundy said. “Their commitment and passion have greatly influenced our school community. We wish them all the best in their well-deserved retirements.”

Teach One to Lead One graduates 148 students at Hamilton Heights

The REPORTER

Last Thursday, Teach One to Lead One (T1L1), honored 148 high school and middle school students from Hamilton Heights who recently completed the T1L1 Leadership Curriculum.

T1L1 is a community mentoring program. Caring adult mentors meet weekly with students throughout the school year. The mentors lead the students in a discussion of 10 Universal Principles that are essential for student leaders to possess if they are to find their purpose and reach their potential. The 10 Universal Principles are respect, integrity, self-control, compassion, courage, teamwork, excellence, humility, enthusiasm, and honor. Students are encouraged to find ways to put these principles into action.

In addition to the graduating students, six students were recognized with the Positive Influence Award. They were, from the high school: Esther Martin, Liam Shaffer, and Alyse Turner; and from the middle school: Gabby Blanton, Bentley Michael, and Dasha Thomas. Six other students were recognized with the Second Mile Award. Those students were, from the high school: Hattie Graham, Conner Smith, and Nicholas Sweeney; and from the middle school: Sydney Forrester, Luke Nichols, and Jason Teboe.

Hamilton County Express will update fleet this fall, IndyGo grant to provide six new minivans

The REPORTER

Hamilton County Express (HCE), a vital lifeline for individuals with disabilities, seniors, and the economically disadvantaged, will add six new minivans to its fleet this fall. IndyGo, the largest public transportation provider in the state of Indiana, has awarded Hamilton County with a grant worth $453,000.

“This grant marks a significant milestone in enhancing public transportation accessibility in Hamilton County,” says Roscoe Brown, Director of Transportation at Janus Developmental Services, which operates Hamilton County Express. “It’s a significant step toward independence for people with limitations, ensuring they can access their community effectively, even without owning a car.”

The grant award will facilitate the acquisition of six low floor minivans that will be accessible for individuals with disabilities (including wheelchair users). The smaller vehicles will also provide easier navigation through city streets and parking lots than the larger buses operated by HCE.

The IndyGo grant award is funded by the Federal Transit Administration and comes with favorable terms, including an increased federal match percentage from 80 to 85 percent for the vehicles, due to the level of federal funding. Additional equipment funded includes interior vehicle security camera systems that will require a 20 percent local match.

Delivery of the new vehicles is expected in early fall.

The Hamilton County commissioners and councilors, the City of Fishers, Fishers’ Disability Advisory Council, and Invest Hamilton County, along with the county’s grant administrator, have been working closely with Hamilton County Express in recent months to enhance public transportation services in the county.

“Public transportation creates economic development, improved infrastructure, and gives mobility to people who don’t have it,” Commissioner Mark Heirbrandt said. “As our community continues to grow, the need for accessible public transportation becomes increasingly apparent.”

Ducks ahoy!

The REPORTER

While the Darlington Bed Race has been canceled this year due to road construction and parking woes, Noblesville Main Street’s (NMS) rubber duck race is still taking place this weekend.

Thankfully, there is no such thing as Hamilton County river construction!

Four local businesses are paying it forward with flocks of 100 racing rubber ducks each.

The following companies bought 100 rubber duck race tickets and announced a local nonprofit to get the money if any of their ducks win:

If Johnston & Company CPA wins, the money will go to Nickel Plate Express.

If Sease Gerig & Associates wins, the money will go to Serve Noblesville.

If Church Church Hittle + Antrim wins, the money will go to Noblesville Schools Education Foundation.

If the Lacy Arts Building wins, the money will go to The Lions Club.

Because each picked a nonprofit organization, and because NMS is itself a nonprofit, that makes these four businesses donation double-dippers.

If you want to jump on the duck-wagon, email NMS Executive Director Kate Baker at kate@noblesvillemain-street.org.

Tales from the crib

Lately, I have been nostalgic for babies, thanks to my son, Austin, turning 30 last week. Thirty isn't old (try telling that to my son) – but him turning 30 does make me old (if you must ask ... add 30 more years to the equation). Yes, our kids age us.

When I was only a few months from turning 30, back in 1994, I was anticipating first-time fatherhood, doing all those things first-time parents do.

Here are details about one of those things.

The baby isn't born yet, but there are things that must be done beforehand to turn young men into fathers.

There is courage to be mustered, and time must be set aside to contemplate the perseverance of the human spirit, but above all, young men must condition themselves to maintain a constant state of both physical and mental grace under fire.

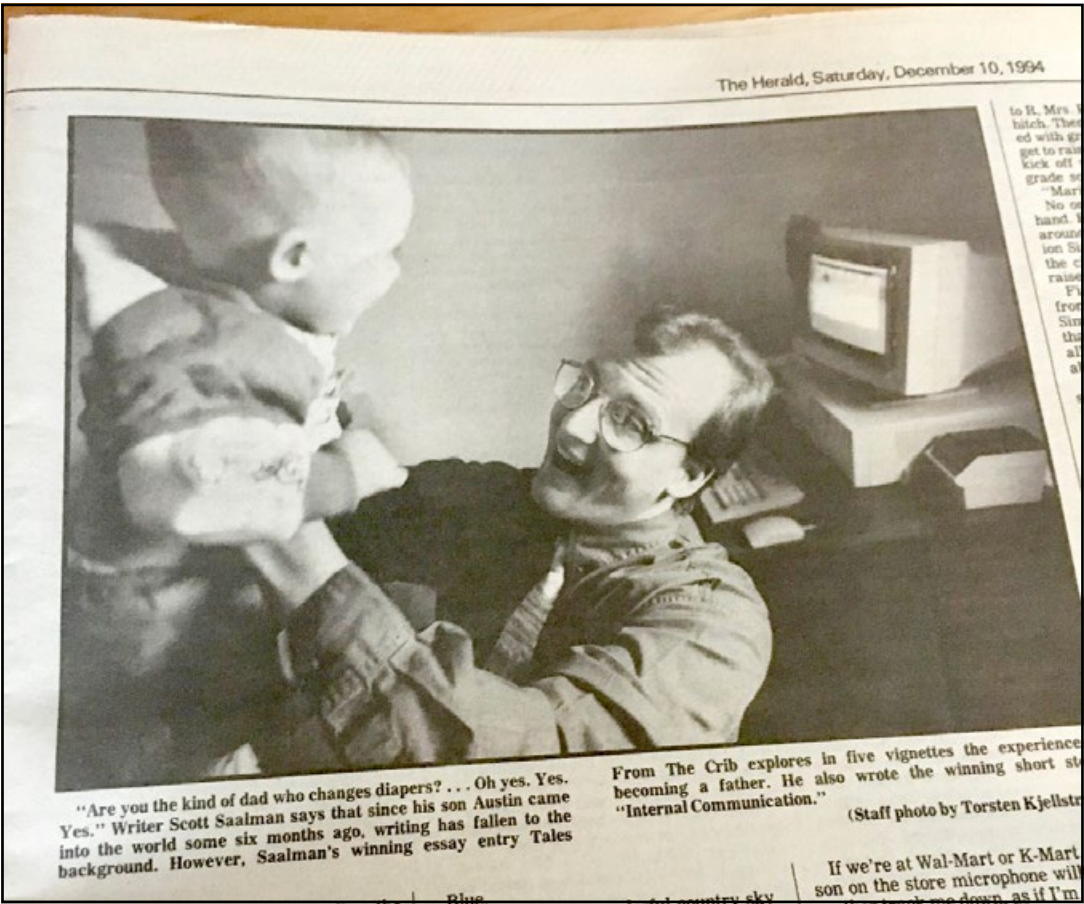

I tell you this because, if you haven't guessed, I had to assemble a single drop rocker hardware crib.

Pressure mounted even before step one: WARNING: FAILURE TO FOLLOW THESE WARNINGS AND ASSEMBLY INSTRUCTIONS COULD RESULT IN SERIOUS INJURY OR DEATH.

I shuddered. It all seemed so ... well ... responsible. A life could be at risk based on something I do of a mechanical nature. I am the self-appointed poster child for the assembly-impaired. I hyperventilate at the simplest threats of home improvement. For me, even refilling the ice tray becomes a trial of life.

STEP ONE: Tool requirements: Phillips screwdriver and hammer.

I couldn't believe the instructions were so technical right off the bat. They couldn't just say screwdriver; they had to use that Phillips word. I wish I had taken shop class where, perhaps, the Phillips thing had been defined. Plus, I've never had good experiences with hammers. The thought of using a hammer haunted me through the whole crib construction process. (Why don't hammers come with instructions?)

A 30-year-younger Scott Saalman with his now 30-year-old son Austin. This photo appeared in The Dubois County Herald on Saturday, Dec. 10, 1994.

STEP TWO: Attach stationary side. What followed was a hellish configuration of connecting nuts, hangar bolts and a lot of wretched little parenthetic secondary instructions that looked something like this:

(G) (O) (O) (D) (L) (U) (C) (K) (S) (U) (C) (K) (E) (R)

Step three consisted of an array of rocker locks, tapping screws, bolts, teething rails and drop side rails. I stared at these parts in disbelief. My God, I thought, UPS obviously got our order mixed up with something from Cape Canaveral. I envisioned a NASA engineer at that very moment wondering how to fit a solid rocket booster onto our wayward baby crib.

At that point, I pondered merely putting a pillow in the crib's cardboard box so that could be the crib.

The only consolation about step three: it didn't require a hammer.

STEP FOUR: Attach side rail to crib.

I twisted and cursed and frantically battled the maple Bassett beast until the shape of an actual baby crib miraculously began to form. Through it all, I worried about all those terrible sounding hex head machine screw things (see Figure G) – it sounded like something from the mad mind of Stephen King. What puzzled me even more was the crib was almost built, but nowhere had I been instructed to use the dreaded hammer.

By the end of step four – still no mention of the hammer – the crib's four walls were attached, and it was basically completed. All that was left was the final step of installing the bed springs and mattress.

I must admit I was really feeling good about my crib-building experience. I shook the crib to test its sturdiness – the whole contraption held – and was actually feeling fatherly for the first time, truly believing that Baby X would be safe in something I constructed.

But the triumphant feeling didn't last long when I started to reach over for the spring and mattress. I realized then that I had built myself within the crib. A trap maker caught in his own trap, so to speak.

I shook the bars and spindles, hoping to find a simple way out of the crib without undoing everything I had done. The sides were too high to step over and too low to slip under.

It dawned on me then: now I know what the hammer is for.

Lonely in a crowd

It's unbelievable how heavy carrying the weight of loneliness can be. It feels crushing at times when you are living through it. The weight of an elephant, a thousand pounds or however you may want to describe it. It's heavy. It's sad. It's ... lonely.

There are all kinds of reasons why people feel lonely in this world. None are easy. The loneliness I feel and have felt in my life that I can speak about is from being disabled. Feeling so incredibly different at times, I wanted to come out of my own skin. Disappear because the loneliness felt so painful. In a crowd of 100 people, it can feel like everyone around you is talking around you, over you, not understanding. It's not intentional usually, it's just what happens. Things are said that isolate you.

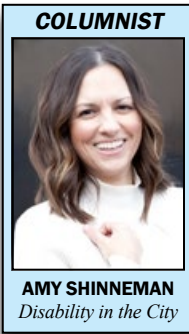

I know from talking to my other friends who live with a disability that they too feel this kind of loneliness. It's just that missing piece, someone else like you.

I will set the scene ... I'm invited to an event where maybe I will know one person. I know it's an event where many other people will be, and everything in me is telling me not to go. Social anxiety is real! But I also want to go and see my friend, and at least try to be social, so I accept the invitation. My friend and I agree to meet at the event because it's just what logistically works best. I arrive, hopefully find an accessible parking spot, which if I do is a huge win and it takes a huge load off my mind.

Maybe get a couple of mean glances, as is the norm when you are youngish/healthy looking from a seated position and parked in an accessible parking space. I think to myself, "Today I am not going to let that bother me, I am here to have fun after all." So, I shake it off and climb out of the car hoping the mean onlookers will catch a glance of my awkward gait as I walk inside with my trusty cane at my side. I enter the crowded room and the first person I look up to make eye contact with is looking at me like I have the plague and scurrying away. "Ok, I've still got this," I tell myself, while nervously looking for my friend, feeling like this may have been a mistake. I get a half smile or two as I continue to look for my friend, and a couple more people staring and quickly turning away.

Then it hits. That lonely in a crowd feeling. I am the only person in the room with a visible disability. People struggle with approaching me or starting a conversation. They don't want to say the wrong thing. They don't know how to talk to me. It's a terrible feeling to feel out of place. After several minutes I connect with my friend, and all feels right again. In the end, despite the challenges, I'm usually glad I went.

Once I'm able to talk with and connect with others there, they realize I'm not so scary after all. This is a scenario that has played out over and over in my lifetime.

Packed agenda included $17M bond details

This month's Noblesville Schools board meeting was jam-packed with recognitions, including the teachers of the year, high school journalist of the year, robotics team, best community for music education, and others. The meeting then moved to action items and committee reports, which are the subject of this column.

This month I will discuss the $17.3 million bond and the strategic planning survey since these are time sensitive.

First, the strategic planning survey. According to the Superintendent's Update, the administration is seeking input from students in grades 6 through 12, parents, employees, and residents of Noblesville township.

As per Dr. Hile, postcards were mailed out last week to the Noblesville Township community asking for input on the survey for the strategic planning of the schools. There is a QR link and website link on the postcards for the survey. Dr. Hile stated that the information for the survey is also available on Parent Square as well as social media. In case you have not received information on the survey, the website link is nobsurvey.com. Deadline for submission to the survey is Friday, May 31.

It is my opinion that the strategic planning for Noblesville Schools is critical and we should give enough time to allow more members of the community to respond. Given the time it takes to receive mail and realizing we have a national holiday on Monday, the deadline for responding to the survey should be extended by a week or two.

Next topic is the proposed $17.3 million bond for repairs and replacement of school property. A large portion of the budget will go to the replacement of HVAC units in the high school that are about 30 years old. The remainder of the money will be divided among various projects including:

1. Renovation of a facility in the high school softball field to make it into a locker room facility for the softball team.
2. The update or rebuild of a building on Noblesville East Middle School used for ticket concessions and restrooms.
3. School paving at Hazel Dell Elementary and Stony Creek Elementary.

4. iPads for grades 9 through 12.

These projects have not been bid out according to the CFO. Final bond request could be higher or lower. Two public meetings have been scheduled, as required by Indiana Code, for Thursday, June 13, 2024, at 10 a.m. and Tuesday, June 18, 2024 at 6 p.m. The Noblesville community is invited to come and comment.

The next school board meeting will be on June 18 at 6 p.m. at which time the final bond resolution will be voted on.

Former Humane Society building to undergo massive renovation, will then house three county departments

The REPORTER

Hamilton County has begun demolishing the interior of the former Humane Society building with the hopes of repurposing the space for three local government offices.

This initiative comes as part of a broader revitalization effort in Noblesville, with the city tearing down the Household and Hazardous Waste building to make way for the Reimagine Pleasant Street project.

The project, overseen by the Buildings and Grounds Department, also marks a significant step towards modernizing infrastructure to better serve the community's needs.

"This project is long overdue," County Commissioner Mark Heirbrandt said. "The buildings on this campus were all built in the 1940s as part of the original Hamilton County

The 12,000 square-foot building will eventually house the county's Hazardous Waste Department, Soil and Water District, and Weights and Measures offices.

Airport. They are all well past their prime. Repurposing the old Humane Society building, demolishing the old buildings, and placing these departments under one roof will help them function more efficiently."

The revamped facility will retain the original footprint of the Humane Society building, spanning 12,000 square feet, and will be built to accommodate the Household and Hazardous Waste Department, Soil and Water District, and Weights and Measures offices.

Envoy, a Fishers-based construction company, has been tasked with the build-out. The interior of the building has been gutted. Renovation can begin once the necessary permits have been acquired. The project is expected to take one year to complete.

The Hamilton County Humane Society relocated to its new facility at 106th Street and Hague Road in Fishers in April 2021. The building has remained vacant since then.

At press time, the cost of this project was not disclosed to The Reporter.

Surprise!

The girl (my mother) was going to be 14. For weeks she had planned her birthday party. When one is in the eighth grade, parties are very special. This was to be the highlight of her year. One day shortly before the important day came, her brother's leg was severely injured. It required almost constant wet dressings. Noise seemed to make it hurt worse.

The party was canceled, regretfully. The birthday came and another brother and sister-in-law came to call. "Come home with us for the night," they urged. Even a mild diversion is welcome when one's big plans are upset. Gratefully she gathered her nighttime gear.

"Do you mind if we go past Grandma's house for a few minutes?" Brother asked.

She really did mind but was too polite to say so. Grandmother lived only two blocks away. She loved her dearly and never missed a day of stopping in for a short visit. But today she had already had her little visit. Oh, well, Grandma goes to bed early; they won't stay long, she thought and summoned up the good grace to smile when they went in.

The night was cold. It felt good to stand by the old potbellied stove and soak up its soothing warmth. She had scarcely warmed herself when the parlor door flew open and cries of, "Surprise! Surprise!" filled the room. Surprised. That was putting it mildly. She was flabbergasted! All her friends were there but not one had given her the slightest hint.

Grandmother and family had seemed concerned only with the injured leg. How sweet it was to be the center of attention, to feel the love and care of family and friends; to know that birthdays really matter.

Honoring those we lost, on & off the battlefield

COVID is here to stay, folks

My military career was bookended by the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq which began in response to the attacks on September 11. Many of us who served in that time lost friends on the battlefield or in support of combat operations. Sadly, many of us also lost friends to suicide. I remember learning of the suicide of my shipmate almost 18 years ago. I was still a fairly young Navy Lieutenant, having only read about the impacts of suicide in the military, and attending briefings on it at safety stand downs and annual training. But this was different. This was my shipmate, a fellow aircrewman, someone I deployed with, joked around with, worked with. He was, in simple terms, a great man and a great sailor. Over the next 10 years, I would personally know four more veterans and service members who would make the decision to take their own life. Sadly, that number is lower than many other veterans I know. Hoosiers are veteran-friendly and pro-military, and we have higher numbers of veterans in our state than most – 9 percent of Indiana residents are veterans compared to 7 percent of the total U.S. population. Not only do we have more veterans per capita than about 30 states, we also have more monuments to veterans than any other state, with only Washington, D.C., having more. Sadly, we also have a per capita veteran suicide rate that is higher than many other states. The numbers are especially alarming for Hoosier Veterans aged 18 to 44, almost triple that of the civilian population in Indiana. In 2019, then-President Trump signed the “governor’s challenge” to end the epidemic of veteran suicide. Indiana did not begin implementing the program until 2023, despite having a veteran suicide rate that is higher than the national average, and the highest in the Midwest, and a recent study showing that Indiana ranks near the bottom of the country for quality of life for veterans. Honoring our veterans is more than statues; it means being committed to providing the infrastructure we need to thrive in society, from mental healthcare, to outreach, to education and job opportunities. This Memorial Day, while we honor those who lost their lives in service to this country, let us also commit to doing more for those who are still with us. We owe it to those we lost – on and off the battlefield. Matt McNally is the Senior Vice Commander of Carmel VFW Post 10003, a retired military pilot, Afghanistan veteran, and advocate for the prevention of veteran suicide.

There’s an expression, “You may be done with COVID, but COVID isn’t done with you.” It’s true. COVID-19 is still very much with us even though we would like to put it totally behind us and resume our normal lives. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention reports nearly 1.2 million cumulative COVID U.S. deaths. And it’s not over folks. We need to continue to protect ourselves, our families, our friends, and our communities. The situation has greatly improved with the societal immunity gained through natural infection and vaccination, and COVID antiviral medications. The federal public health emergency designation has elapsed. There are no longer the huge numbers of severe cases, hospitalizations, deaths, and widespread disruptions to our lives. Unless something unforeseen develops like a new terribly virulent infectious strain, we are not returning to those dark days when the pandemic raged with lockdowns, business and school closures, required masking, social distancing, and other mitigation measures. The apprehension of leaving our homes or attending gatherings is largely over. Also, virulent viruses aren’t dumb. There is no advantage in killing their hosts. COVID-19 progressively evolved to be less virulent while becoming more infectious to boost spread, replication, and mutation to evade the immune system. Ending the emergency designation doesn’t mean that the COVID threat is gone and that our situation is benign without consequences. Serious disease continues and people are still dying of COVID. The CDC reports that for most of 2024, between 1,000 and 2,500 people died weekly. Surges will undoubtedly continue with the seasons and with new variants that emerge. Also remember that COVID is an unusual virus which causes “long COVID” especially in the unvaccinated or in those with repeated infections. The long-term debilitating symptoms include cardiopulmonary complications, fatigue, migraines, and cognitive deficits. The CDC reported in March 2024 that 17.6 percent of Americans have ever experienced long COVID; 6.8 percent currently. So, how should you proceed? Use mitigation strategies prudently. Consider masking in crowded indoor places, public transportation and airplanes, and large gatherings, especially when COVID cases have escalated. Keep current on COVID vaccinations. The new 2023-2024 booster formulation introduced last fall is CDC-recommended now if you never received COVID vaccinations or this booster. If you are 65 and older or immunocompromised, even if boosted last fall, receive an additional booster now. A new booster formulation recommended for most people is anticipated for the fall. Vaccination greatly reduces the risk of severe disease and long COVID. The politicalization of COVID compounded with vaccine disinformation, vaccine hesitancy, complacency, and resistance are unfortunate. The Kaiser Family Foundation reports that only 20 percent of adults have received the 2023-2024 booster. Societal immunity can wane, giving the virus the opportunity to thrive. If you are sick, at least follow the newest CDC recommendations and stay home until afebrile for 24 hours and symptoms improving. Then, mask for at least five days and limit close contact with others. The CDC dropped specific isolation periods and testing recommendations in an attempt to treat COVID like other viral respiratory viruses as a group uniformly. I believe the new recommendations, although easier to follow and more understandable, are flawed. People will go out while still infectious, including those infected but never displaying symptoms. COVID is much more dangerous than other respiratory viruses, lacks seasonality, is still evolving, and can produce disabling persistent long COVID symptoms. COVID is here to stay for the foreseeable future. Be reasonably cautious. Richard D. Feldman, M.D. is an Indianapolis family physician and former Indiana State Health Commissioner who served in the administration of Governor Frank O’Bannon.

You can help eliminate Veteran suicide in Hamilton County

Submitted by Hamilton County Veterans Service Office
The ‘Stronger Veterans, Stronger Communities’ Coalition on the Prevention of Suicide in Service Members, Veterans, and their Families and Caregivers has been a collaborative effort since late 2021 to reduce the number of veteran suicides in Hamilton County. Under the umbrella and leadership of A Healthier Hamilton County: Systems of Care, anyone is welcome to join the Coalition who is interested in preventing suicide. Members include veteran-serving organizations, non-profits, local government, and other entities throughout the county including volunteers and veterans and service members themselves. The coalition has teamed up with the Indiana Department of Veterans Affairs (IDVA) and will be launching the Governor’s Challenge to fight suicide among Veterans here in Hamilton County. We are working collaboratively to leverage all resources for our service members, veterans, and their families to bring meaning and value to their lives. We plan to do this through three the Pillars of the Governor’s Challenge:
1. Identifying the service members, veterans, and their families and caregivers

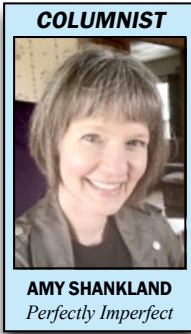

2. Connecting them to resources no matter the level of need.
3. Promoting safety for those in a suicidal crisis
How will we do all this? We need everyone’s help!
The Ask The Question Initiative is part of the Governor’s Challenge and has become part of our Plan in Hamilton County. Five local entities have partially launched our Pilot Group and we plan to close that gap soon. We will then promote the initiative to the community, asking that any person-serving organization go through the Ask The Question Initiative process. The key to Ask The Question is changing how we identify Service Members, Veterans, and their Families and Caregivers in our county. We encourage and will help organizations change their current identification question to the more inclusive “Have you or a family member ever served in the U.S. Military?” If the answer to that broader question is yes, the person will be provided with a QR code that will start the process of linking them to resources. There are a myriad of resources available for those who are serving, have served, or are related to or caring for someone who was/is in the U.S. Military. The Ask The Question Initiative will help those folks link to helpful resources from the multiple Dimensions of Wellness and Social Determinants of Health. As we know, mental health is impacted by other aspects, and stressors, of our lives. As we identify those in or adjacent to the military and connect them to resources, the community, and one another, potential suicidal crises decrease. We have built a team and grown alongside the Governor’s Challenge with the IDVA, who we recently requested funding to further our projects in here Hamilton County. We were encouraged to think BIG with our ideas and include those organizations that currently serve our Military Veteran community to incorporate their ideas in our 12- to 24-month strategic plan. This plan will include our Coalition working hand in hand with many community partners to reach our Military and Veterans who are not connected. We will introduce them to those who will get them their benefits and resources they have earned, helping them be more connected thus building stronger Veterans through stronger communities. The more we all know about where to get the benefits and resources we need to address our issues/needs the stronger more connected we all will be! Speaking of resources, our partner, the Hamilton County Veterans Corp (HCVC) is hosting a Hamilton County Community Resource Fair on July 20 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Noblesville Schools Community Center, 1775 Field Drive at the north end of the stadium at Noblesville High School. This resource fair is not just for our Military Veteran Community (MVC), it’s for all our Hamilton County neighbors! Sure, maybe 30 resources are specific for our MVC, but there will be over 85 resources setup inside and outside the community center to help us all live a more fulfilled life right here in Hamilton County. Bring a Veteran, bring a neighbor! If you are interested in learning more about how you can work with the ‘Stronger Veterans, Stronger Communities’ Coalition to prevent suicide in Hamilton County’s service members and veterans, email kludeker-seibert@hamiltoncountypohc.org. If you are a Veteran or Active Military and wish to become a member of the Hamilton County Veterans Corp, please send an email to secretary@hamiltoncountyveterans.com so you, too, may help us help our MVC. Our dues is only $25 per month and we meet the first Monday of the month at 7 p.m. at the Fishers American Legion, 9091 E. 126th St., in the big American Room. See you there!

Unique ways to bring joy to your workplace

We’ve done quite a bit of talking about food, which is probably making you just as hungry as it is me. Sometimes people’s diets are so challenging that food isn’t even an option. Or maybe you want to add some more fun to those yummy celebrations. Can you sing? This is probably one of the more “out there” ideas in this series, but sometimes I’ll make up a song for someone. Most of the time it’s to the tune of a popular song. For example, I went all “Weird Al” on my coworker Jayme and turned the popular Aerosmith song “Janie’s Got a Gun” into “Jayme’s Got a Bun.” She often styled her long blonde hair into a striking, professional looking bun. Jayme loved it! You can sing to someone individually, or if you’re brave and/or crazy like me, you can sing to them when everyone is gathered. I’m talking about going beyond the typical “Happy Birthday to You” song, people. This is where you can be bold! Just make certain the person won’t be embarrassed by all the attention. And don’t worry if your singing isn’t perfect. Come on, look at the popularity of all those karaoke places! I also like to sing a special song to someone on their voicemail. This is particularly great when they are away on a business trip and not around for their actual birthday. Or when I’m not in the office for some reason. Or when I just want to sing to someone and not have everyone in the room hear it. The advantage to a voicemail song is they can keep it if they like and play it back when they need to be cheered up in the future. Remember my silly email poems? You could also recite a fun poem to someone during a gathering over food, one on one, or on voicemail. The weirder the better. And don’t fret about perfection here. Your sixth-grade English teacher isn’t going to come around and slap you for rhymes that don’t quite work or the incorrect iambic pentameter. You don’t even have to make up a poem. Just hop online. The Poetry Foundation has over 40,000 poems you can choose from. PoemHunter.com has poetry from all over the world. And NetPoets.com enables you to search for poems by keyword. Their poetry map helps you find different types of poems, and the Poetry Buffet category has humorous, holiday, and special occasion poems. Maybe singing and poetry are well beyond your comfort zone. How about decorating someone’s workspace for a special occasion? This can take as little as five minutes or as long as 45. For this category, I rely once again on the dollar store. You can get streamers, balloons, and other fun doodads at a reasonable cost. I like to stock up once a year, so I always have decorations on hand. This is another area where you must proceed with caution. Most people will love coming in to work to see their special day recognized with decorations. If you know the person well and are certain they’ll love all kinds of crazy decorations, go for it. If not, it’s best to be on the safe side and go with some simple balloons and streamers.

No matter what, make certain your decorations don’t hamper their work efforts. You don’t want the birthday person spending a half hour undoing your efforts just so they could get to their desk when they’re approaching a big deadline. Sometimes you don’t have to spend a dime to perfectly decorate someone’s office, cubicle, or locker. I put small rocks from rock wall from home on a different boss’s desk. Ginger was a self-proclaimed “rock hound” – an amateur geologist. When I realized I would be out of the office on Boss’s Day due to a vacation, I stayed a few minutes late one Friday. Since Boss’s Day was the following Monday, I placed various rocks around her desk along with a table tent sign that simply said, “You ROCK as our boss!” I smiled when I got her voicemail of appreciation on my cell phone while strolling through Epcot with my family that Monday! *Amy Shankland is a writer and fundraising professional living in Noblesville with her husband John, two sons, two dogs, and a cat. LONELY

Being disabled can feel very isolating. Making those connections with others who understand is important to bringing about a balance in my life. That rings true for anyone feeling any kind of loneliness. When you can connect with those who understand, it fills your cup and reignites your confidence. Yesterday, I was at a grocery store and loading up my car. A woman approached me and asked if she could take my cart for me. I thanked her and told her how helpful that is to me. Our conversation eventually revealed that she also has family members living with Muscular Dystrophy. I was feeling alone and isolated when she approached me. There had been a woman in the store who wasn’t kind to me. I’m so grateful she took the time to offer kindness. It really turned things around for me. I am just in awe of how the human connection works to relieve loneliness and hurt. It’s incredibly powerful and healing. Until next time ... *Amy Shinneman is a former National Ambassador for the Muscular Dystrophy Association, disability blogger, wife, and mom of two boys. — Good news from Stony Creek Church of Christ —

Why do bad things happen to good people?

Editor's note: This month's column from Stony Creek Church is by Max Dawson, who currently lives in Beaumont, Texas. He lived and preached in Noblesville for many years in the late '60s and early '70s.

It is something that has plagued both the wise man and the fool, the educated and the ignorant, paupers and kings: "Why do bad things happen to good people?"

It is probably a question you have had. At one time or another, almost everyone asks about why there is so much injustice in our world.

We live in a world that is filled with all kinds of wickedness and evil. A great deal of that evil comes upon good people – people who haven't done anything to deserve what happens to them. Our minds don't rest well when we think about the injustice and unfairness that we see around us. It's not just that bad things happen to good people; it is also that good things happen to bad people. Justice is turned upside down.

It is something that King Solomon wrote about three thousand years ago. In Ecclesiastes 8:14, the king said: "There is a vanity which occurs on earth, that there are just men to whom it happens according to the work of the wicked; again, there are wicked men to whom it happens according to the work of the righteous. I said that this also is vanity."

There are good and just men who receive what Solomon thinks ought to happen to the wicked. That is, bad things come upon them. By contrast, Solomon observes that there are wicked men who receive what ought to go to good men. He recognized that life is often unjust and unfair.

So, the problem of bad things happening to good people is not a new problem. It is as old as the Bible and something that nearly every Bible writer wrestled with at one time or another.

Is it right for us to ask questions about injustice?

Indeed, it is right! Many Bible writers asked the same questions that we may have.

Job couldn't understand why so many bad things befell him (Job 30:26-27).

As the author of Ecclesiastes, King Solomon seemed to be constantly troubled by the injustice that he saw (Ecclesiastes 3:16).

Abraham believed it was an injustice if God destroyed the good along with the bad at Sodom. God did not condemn him for asking this. This text is more than Abraham merely asking questions. The last line of that quotation is an expression of Abraham's confidence in God that He would do right. God is not the author of injustice.

Even the great King David wondered about injustice in our present world. In Psalm 10, David was distraught and disturbed. It appeared to him that God was just letting bad people get away with sin. He even wondered if God was hiding Himself while these evil men went about doing their dastardly deeds! The psalm, however, concludes with David expressing confidence in God, that He will indeed do justice and vindicate the oppressed (Psalm 10:14-18).

The solution to the problem of injustice

We need to trust God and think long-term.

Let us think again about the case of Asaph in Psalm 73. By looking to God's answer, Asaph learned that the injustice was only temporary; it will not prevail long-term. And what about King David? He seemed to blame God for the injustice done to him, or at least thought that God was doing nothing to help him (Psalm 10:1-18). David was wrong in his assessment. God did hear his prayer and David eventually admitted that. The real problem was one of time. David (like us) wanted relief immediately. Think-long term!

Job's case bears out the value of seeing the big picture. Job suffered greatly but look at the end of the matter. In Job 42:12-13, we learn that "the LORD blessed the latter days of Job more than his beginning; for he had fourteen thousand sheep, six thousand camels, one thousand yoke of oxen, and one thousand female donkeys. He also had seven sons and three daughters." In His time, God took care of Job and brought him great blessing. That, of course, was the earthly outcome. But we look for more.

In eternity, all outcomes will be good for the righteous. In Revelation 6:9-10, the righteous had suffered terribly under the hand of wicked oppressors. They are pictured as "under the altar," indicating that their lives had been sacrificed for the cause of Christ. They wondered "how long" it would be until God brought justice to them and to their cause? But Revelation 20:4 portrays those same souls as victorious. Their cause has been vindicated. Truly, the words of Revelation 14:13 have application to all those who suffer for the cause of Jesus, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from now on." "Yes," says the Spirit, "that they may rest from their labors, and their works follow them." We look for that time of blessing.

Viewpoint is important. We often don't see a thing in its true nature until we have seen it from all sides. Don't take a short-sighted view of the bad things that happen in life. See all that happens to us in view of eternity.

We can't answer all the questions that can be raised about bad things happening to good people. But we can answer with assurance that it is right to be a person of faith and righteousness. No matter what life brings, God ultimately takes care of His own. He will take care of you if you belong to Him.

A final text: "Trust in the LORD with all your heart, And lean not on your own understanding; In all your ways acknowledge Him, And He shall direct your paths" (Proverbs 3:5-6).

Visitors are welcome and valued. We meet at 15530 Herriman Blvd., Noblesville. Our phone number is (317) 219-5852. We meet for Sunday morning Bible Study at 10 a.m. and have classes for all ages. Worship begins at 11 a.m. and we have a Bible Study Wednesdays at 7 p.m. A warm welcome awaits!

Tao of flexibility

"The stiffest tree is most easily cracked, while bamboo or willow survives by bending with the wind."
— Bruce Lee

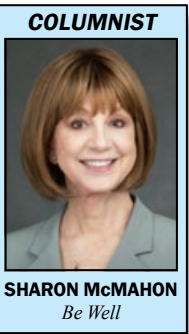

Although Bruce Lee succumbed at the early age of 32 (widely speculated that it was due to a reaction to prescription medication, although the coroner stated result was due to brain edema) he was internationally acclaimed as the premier martial arts professional of his time, and still today.

Lee was adamant about the necessity of muscular strength, muscular endurance, cardiovascular endurance, and flexibility – with "flexibility" being my topic today. For many people the increased use of technology has caused us to remain stationary making increased flexibility even more important in our quest for optimal mobility.

I firmly believe in the fundamental discipline of stretching for a healthy body. Stretching is critical to any sort of fitness regimen, and essential to a body's well-being. Many people are eager to get going on a fitness routine and would rather skip the important step of stretching, thinking it to be unnecessary.

Additionally, there is often confusion on which kind of stretching is best – static, dynamic, passive, active – all important elements of a good stretching routine. Stretching is not for "sissies" – a good, basic routine will provide an important component to a well-rounded workout program which also incorporates aerobic and strengthening activities. I like to think of stretching as something I have in common with Olympic athletes; because they ALL have stretching routines!

The practice of Yoga asanas, or poses, is very good for integrating the body parts most essential to stretching on a regular basis. Some people do not wish to participate in a Yoga class due to its Hindu roots and philosophy. However a good stretching class can accommodate those poses in a more generic way. I teach a "FlexAbility" class which incorporates my knowledge and experience in Yoga in a more physical way for those who wish to approach stretching in that manner.

From athletes to grandparents, all need to stay as flexible as possible to avoid injury and maintain mobility. Stretching reduces the tension in your muscles, increases your strength, lubricates your joints, refreshes your body, relaxes your mind, improves posture, and helps your digestive system.

For those who spend much of their time at a desk or in front of a computer, stretching is essential to their well-being and in carrying out daily activities. Extreme stretching and incorporating bouncing as you stretch is unnecessary and can lead to injury. A common-sense approach will yield the results you are looking for, keeping you limber, energetic, and strong. Check out local classes at a fitness facility, library, or community center soon, as well as availability of books and DVDs (again check with your local library) to get you started and can give you valuable information on anatomy which also may be helpful to you.

As with any change in your physical routine it is always good to begin with a check-up and "all clear" from your physician. Stay flexible!

Sheridan Elementary Carnival: a fun-filled community tradition

Submitted by Sheridan Community Schools

The Sheridan Elementary School (SES) Carnival, an annual event sponsored by the school’s supportive PTO, was a resounding success this year, drawing record attendance.

Blessed with beautiful weather, the event provided a perfect backdrop for families and students to come together and celebrate the end of the school year.

Principal Valerie Roberts highlighted the importance of the event.

“The Annual SES Carnival, sponsored by our outstanding PTO, is our year-end thank you for our students and families,” she said. “Students were free!”

The carnival featured a variety of food trucks offering delicious options to attendees, and special thanks go to the Lions Club for serving up hamburgers and drinks. The Sheridan Fire Department added excitement by filling the dunk tank, which became a popular attraction.

Photos provided by Sheridan Community Schools

Attendees enjoyed a range of activities, including numerous games, face painting, a cake walk, and a photo booth. The event was further enhanced by the efforts of wonderful youth and parent volunteers who helped make the day run smoothly.

A highlight of the carnival was the fantastic Silent Auction, which drew significant interest and participation. All the money raised from the event will go right back to Sheridan Elementary School to support events for the 2024-2025 school year.

The SES Carnival not only provides a fun-filled day for students and their families but also strengthens the sense of community within the school. It stands as a testament to the dedication and hard work of the PTO and the generous support from volunteers and local organizations.

More remains identified in ongoing Fox Hollow Farm investigation

The REPORTER

Hamilton County Coroner Jeff Jellison has announced the identification of more human remains originally recovered in 1996 from Fox Hollow Farm in Westfield, the former home of Herb Baumeister.

Through an extensive forensic genetic genealogy investigation conducted by the FBI and the Hamilton County Coroner’s Office, the remains were identified as Jeffrey A. Jones.

Jones was reported missing August 1993. His last known address was in Fillmore in Putnam

Jellison

Jones is the third person to be identified from Coroner Jellison’s renewed investigation into the more than 10,000 remains recovered at Fox Hollow Farm.

According to Jellison, investigators have four additional DNA profiles that have not yet been identified, bringing the total number of victims to 12. The four unidentified DNA profiles will also be sent to the FBI for genetic genealogy investigation.

“Because many of the remains were found burnt and crushed, this investigation is extremely challenging; however, the team of law enforcement and forensic specialists working the case remain committed,” Coroner Jellison said. “A special thanks goes to the very talented and hardworking people at the FBI, Indiana State Police Laboratory, Dr. Krista Latham of the Biology & Anthropology Department at the University of Indianapolis, and DNA experts from Texas based Othram Laboratory.”

Royals topple Millers for sectional crown

By RICHARD TORRES
For The Reporter

CARMEL – The Class 4A Hamilton Southeastern Royals didn’t just pass the test last Saturday afternoon. They aced it.

With two days prior to the Sectional 8 championship at Cherry Tree Softball Complex, head coach Emily Pusti and the 12th-ranked Royals hit the books at practice.

Add in a delay following last Friday’s title game postponement due to rain, and the Royals were arguably experts on their opponent, and it showed, as HSE toppled Noblesville, 5-2, for its first sectional title since 2017.

“We took time to break Noblesville’s game down and prepare ourselves since Wednesday,” Pusti said. “I feel like that really helped us keep level.”

Knowledge was indeed power for the Hoosier Crossroads Conference champion Royals (21-4), who won their seventh straight game to complete the season sweep of Noblesville, who they also beat, 5-4 in 11 innings, during the regular season.

In the rematch, senior Reese Garland supplied the offense with a pair of home runs, while sophomore ace Grace Swedarsky was just as devastating, pitching 7.0 innings with 12 strikeouts, two walks and two runs allowed over seven hits.

Swedarsky struck out 15 Millers in the first meeting through 10.0 innings, and this time, she faced only two setbacks – an RBI single by senior Gabby Fowler in the bottom of the third and an RBI groundout by Addi Emmerson in the sixth.

A year ago, Swedarsky stormed onto the scene, striking out 242 batters in 119.2 innings pitched with a 12-5 record and a 1.35 ERA.

The Royals reached the sectional title game last year with Swedarsky in the circle but lost to Westfield, 1-0, which fueled HSE’s motivation to finish the job this spring.

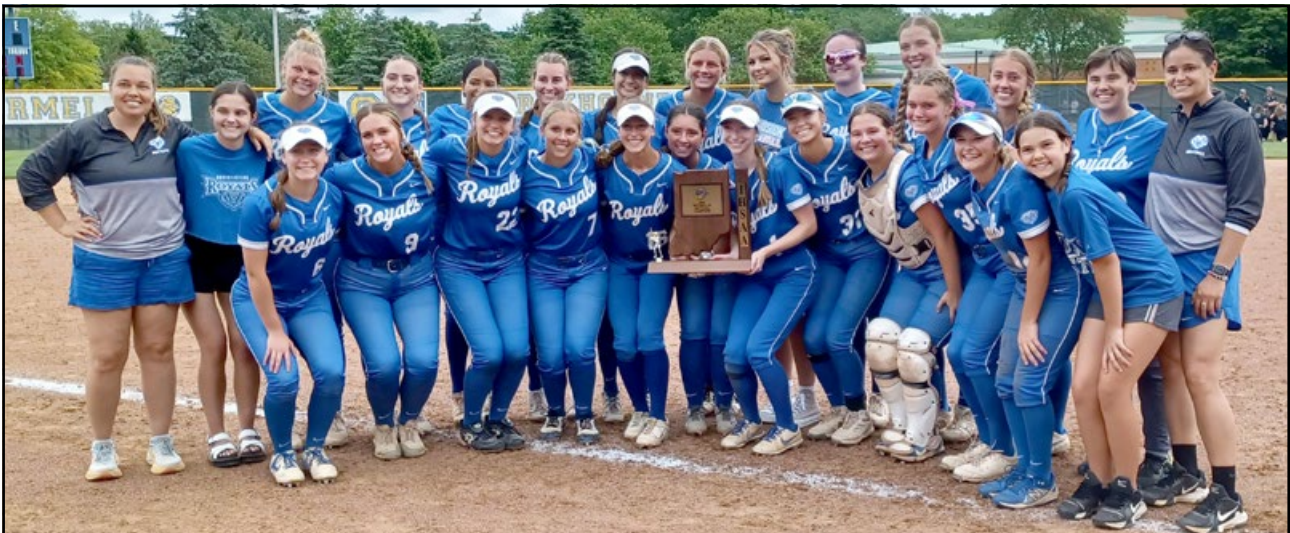

“I learned a lot last year, especially being a freshman. It was learning from your mistakes and applying them this year,” Swedarsky said. “It was on the back of everyone’s minds. We didn’t want to repeat what we did last year.”

Instead, the senior-laden Royals got their revenge, beating Westfield during the regular season, 3-0, and later, 6-0, in the sectional quarterfinals last Monday with Swedarsky striking out 12. Against Zionsville in the semifinals, Swedarsky struck out 17 for a no-hitter in a 2-0 victory.

After the final, she now has 205 strikeouts in 112.0 innings this season with a 1.19 ERA and a record of 13-2 to help HSE secure its 15th sectional title all-time and fourth in 11 years.

The key was consistency in all three phases, and a powerful swing by Garland.

With two outs, Garland (2-for-4) hit a solo shot over the left-center field fence to put HSE up 1-0 in the first. Her second bomb came with one out and one on base in the fifth, which further cemented the Royals’ momentum, 5-1.

“She’s been working really hard at the plate. I know she’s one that if the energy is high, she continues to ride on that energy, and it shows in the way she plays,” Pusti said.

The Millers (16-11) struggled with Swedarsky, who limited the Millers to nine base runners, six stranded and four left in scoring position.

After Fowler’s first hit in the bottom of the third, Swedarsky retired eight consecutive batters faced until Fowler’s second single in the sixth.

“We worked on different things to try to be able to string together hits, and we had opportunities,” Noblesville head coach Deke Bullard said. “We just couldn’t take advantage of them.”

The Millers had a chance in the bottom of the second following back-to-back singles by Emmerson (1-for-3) and Macie Duvall (1-for-3), but Swedarsky struck out two to end the threat.

In the third, a popped-up bunt attempt was turned for a double play by Garland that halted a potential rally after Fowler’s RBI hit.

In both the sixth and seventh innings, Noblesville had a runner in scoring position, but Swedarsky simply stayed stoic.

“They’re always kind of processing what their job is, so I think that’s what helps them stay level-headed. And if not, they always have a teammate that’s always got their back to kind of get them to where they need to be,” Pusti said.

Garland, the offense and defense kept Swedarsky confident throughout.

“Every day at practice, we work on all of that,” Garland said. “I’m really proud of the whole team.”

The Royals had the bases loaded three times in the top of the third, plating a run and a 2-0 lead behind Alex Kiemeyer’s two-out, RBI walk.

Another run scored on an attempted pickoff throwing error at home plate in the top of the seventh that increased HSE’s lead, 5-2. The final run unfolded on Addy Justice’s (3-for-4) single up the middle.

HSE drew four walks, struck out five times and left four runners on base, including two in scoring position.

Noblesville competed without senior pitcher Claire Cullen and sophomore catcher Haley Schatko, who both were sidelined due to injuries.

“Not having Claire, without a doubt, hurt. She has been our go-to all season. She had a great senior year and not having her changes the game for us,” Bullard said.

Lulu Van Beek started for the Millers, going 4.2 innings with three strikeouts, two walks and five hits allowed. The final knock surrendered was Garland’s two-run home run in the top of the fifth.

Junior Emme Yee entered in relief and lasted 1/3 of an inning before freshman Addison Retzinger closed out the final two frames.

Noblesville was competing in its fifth sectional title game in eight seasons, winning in 2018, 2021 and 2022.

“The program is in a very good state from a standpoint of our expectation, which is to be in this game. That’s what we’ve established as a program,” Bullard said. “We had two injuries right before this game, and it literally showed how healthy our program is because it was just next person up.”

Up next for the Royals is a regional showdown with Logansport at 7 p.m. on Tuesday at home.

Hamilton Heights defends sectional title, will face off against Beech Grove in regional play

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

INDIANAPOLIS – The Hamilton Heights softball team successfully defended its Class 3A Sectional 27 championship last Thursday.

The Huskies traveled to host Bishop Chatard and beat a tough Trojans squad 7-5. Chatard had a 4-1 lead on Heights midway through the fourth inning, but the Huskies exploded for six runs in the bottom of the fourth and held the lead from there.

Playing as the home team, the Huskies got their first run in the bottom of the third inning. Addie Doak hit a sacrifice bunt to score Isabel Morrow. The Trojans then put up four runs in the top of the fourth, including a three-run center field hit from Meg Jennings.

“You can see the progress they made this year,” said Heights coach Ken Olovich. “We’ve played them four times now in two years. It’s hard to beat a well-coached team that many years in a row. They’ve improved so much, their pitching is healthy. They put some pressure on our defense and hats off to them. They played a great game.”

Heights got its offense going in the fourth inning. Lily Roush reached second base on error, moved to third base on a passed ball, then scored when Kasisdy Schakel hit a sacrifice fly. The Huskies loaded the bases, then Hailey Hall and Alexia Nickerson got home when Doak reached on error, tying the game at 4-4.

Lily Cash made the go ahead hit, sending a single into right field to bring in Morgan Ottinger and put Heights up 5-4. Hannah Dent brought Doak home with a center field hit, then Cash scored on a passed ball. With that, the Huskies led 7-4. Cash went 3-for-4 at the plate.

Olovich said that the Huskies’ comeback right after the Trojans scored their runs is a “big difference” compared to where Heights was in the past.

“We believe that we can score anytime against anyone,” said Olovich. “Two, three years ago, we’d get down and we’d wonder if we had enough offense to come back. We have an offense. I could bat 15 girls and I’m only allowed to bat nine. I have lots of hitting on this team, so we’re never out of the ballgame.”

The Trojans scored a run in the fifth inning, but that would be all. Roush struck out the side in the sixth inning, and after a couple runners got on base in the seventh inning, caught a pop out for the first out, induced a fly out to Dent in right field for the second out, then notched her 11th strikeout to finish the game.

Roush said that in the dugout, the team said “We’re going to keep going, we’re going to keep pushing. And we did, and we ended up winning, and I just had my teammates back the whole time and everyone had each other’s back.”

Roush retired the first nine batters she faced, including another striking out of the side in the second inning.

This marks the second time Heights has defended a sectional title: The Huskies also went back-to-back in 2015 and 2016. Heights won its first sectional in 1986, so the program now has five sectional championships in total.

The Huskies are 21-7, extending their record for season wins. Heights will play in Regional 14 Tuesday, traveling to Beech Grove to play for that championship. The Hornets won Sectional 28 last Wednesday with a 3-2 victory over Speedway in the title game.

COUNTY-WIDE REGIONAL SWEEP

Rocks win first-ever title, Tigers & Hounds continue winning streak

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

NOBLESVILLE – The Westfield girls tennis team’s season of firsts continued last week with the Shamrocks’ first ever regional and semi-state championships.

No. 16-ranked Westfield beat a tough No. 20 Delta team 4-1 to claim the school’s first tennis regional last Wednesday at the Noblesville High School tennis complex. All five of the matches were finished in straight sets, although the Eagles did give the Shamrocks a battle and Westfield coach Trudy Coler said her team “had to work really hard for it.”

“Delta’s a great team,” said Coler. “We played them earlier in the season, but that was the first match of the season. We know how tough a team they are, so we knew we had to come out and play well across the board at every position.”

No. 1 singles Isabella Norris was off the court quickly, winning her match 6-0, 6-0. Westfield’s other two singles players, No. 2 Juliette Grilliot and No. 3 Addi Kooi, picked up 6-2, 6-2 victories. In doubles, the Rocks’ No. 2 team of Brianna Saylor and Carlie Lukowiak won its match 6-4, 6-1. “I was really pumped up,” said Grilliot. “I just kept my feet moving. I was just staying focused.”

Coler said her team was “very fired up today,” and at the same time, the Shamrocks were relaxed.

“I was really happy with their preparation of getting out there and not getting tight,” said Coler. “They tried to stay really loose and they tried to stay focused on what they needed to do.”

“Noblesville, Delta, they have great fans. It’s a really energetic atmosphere,” said Norris. “So, I think just staying controlled and one point at a time, and then pump yourself up and block out the rest of the noise.”

Semi-state wins for Rocks, Tigers

Westfield traveled to Homestead last Saturday to play the No. 26-ranked Spartans for the semi-state, and the Shamrocks easily won 5-0.

All five of the matches were decided in straight sets. In singles, Norris won 6-0, 6-3, Grilliot was victorious 6-1, 6-2 and Isla Harvey took the No. 3 match 6-4, 6-1. No. 1 doubles Jenna Berry and Bella Rivera won a tough match 7-5, 6-1, while No. 2 Bri Saylor and

Individual results

Greyhounds claim regional trophy, several county runners qualify for state

The REPORTER

The Carmel girls track and field team won a tough regional championship last Tuesday.

The Greyhounds edged out Brownsburg and Hamilton Southeastern to claim the Lafayette Jefferson regional. Carmel scored 82 points to win its first team regional title since 2016 and its 11th overall.

In addition, the Hounds picked up two event wins. Emily Norris was first in the 200 dash with a time of 25.28 seconds. Freshman Emma Warner was victorious in a close high jump competition with Hamilton Heights’ Waverly Woolever. Both cleared 5 feet, 5 inches; Warner got the win with less overall misses.

The top three finishers in each event advance to the state finals, which take place Friday at Indiana University. Norris also qualified for state in the 100 dash, where she finished second. Gabriela Grande Rosas advanced in the 400 dash and long jump, taking third in both, while Sadie Foley placed third in the 1600 run.

All three of those athletes joined Olivia Cebalo on the Greyhounds’ second-place 4x400 relay team. Carmel’s 4x800 relay team (Cebalo, Kara Wenzler, Annabel Pollert and Larkin Taylor) also placed second, so both relays advance to state.

Powers won the 1600 run in 5:00.12, Lammie easily claimed the 400 dash in 55.58, over 2.5 seconds ahead of the standard. Kepner edged out Noblesville’s Brinkley Cooper for first place in the 800 run by .03 seconds (2:15.48 to 2:15.51). Both runners are headed to state.

Elia Blackmore placed second in the 100 hurdles, qualifying for state along with HSE’s event champions.

Noblesville placed fifth with 65 points. Hannah Alexander swept the throwing events, dominating the discus in 156 feet, 2 inches, then winning the shot put with a top throw of 44 feet, 6.75 inches.

Delaney Teachnor cleared 12 feet to win the pole vault. Both Millers are headed to state, along with Cooper and Summer Rempe in the 800 run. Rempe and Cooper were also part of Noblesville’s third-place 4x800 relay, joining Riley Flynn and Gretchen Graham.

Fishers scored 47 points for sixth place. Maya Taylor was the 100 dash champion in 12.75 seconds, and joined Mireya Benjamin, Zinnia Pineda and Kylee Black to place second in the 4x100 relay and qualify for state. Macey Miller placed sec-

Royals win first regional title in 11 years

The REPORTER

For the first time in over a decade, the Hamilton Southeastern boys track and field team is a regional champion.

The Royals claimed their first regional trophy since 2013 last Thursday at the Lafayette Jefferson regional. Southeastern scored 89 points, won three events and also qualified 12 on to Saturday’s IHSAA state finals at Indiana University.

Christian Ortiz was part of two Royals victories. He won the open 400 dash in a time of 48.44 seconds, then finished the meet by joining Hunter Hoeft, Jaxson Wanza and Michael Griffith to win the 4x400 relay. The four-some finished in a time of 3 minutes, 16.48 seconds.

Out in the field, Josiah Bird won the discus with a top throw of 177 feet, 8 inches. Southeastern also got an outstanding performance in the long jump, with three athletes qualifying for state in that event.

A school can enter three athletes in a post-season event as long as they all bettered the state standard during the regular season. The Royals’ Dylan James, Blake Braden and Griffith all did just that, and they will all be advancing to state. James placed second with a best leap of 22 feet, 3.75 inches, Braden was fourth with 22 feet, 2.25 inches, and Griffith placed fifth with 22 feet, 2 inches. (The state standard is 22 feet, 0.25 inches.)

The top three athletes in each event, plus those outside the top three who reach the state standard, advance to state. Southeastern’s Mason Alexander took third in the 100 and 200 dashes. Mason Schmitz placed second in the 800 run, Elijah Adams was third in the 300 hurdles and Connor Langsford took third in the pole vault. HSE’s 4x100 relay team of Silas Newton, Chandler Weston, Liam Boyd and Alexander placed fourth but ran under the standard and will head to state.

Fishers was the team runner-up, scoring 73 points. The Tigers had five event wins, led by Tyler Tarter. The senior continued his hurdles dominance by winning the 110 race in 14.00 seconds and the 300 race in 36.17 seconds.

Matthew Kim paced the 800 run, winning in 1:52.77. Joel Gates was first in the shot put with a best throw of 62 feet, while JonAnthony Hall was the long jump champion with a best leap of 22 feet, 7.5 inches.

Gates also placed fourth in the discus, but was above the standard and qualified for state. Fishers also got all three relays on to state: Tarter, Kim, Leo Morrow and Makell Wiggins were second in the 4x400, Declan Mohr, Wiggins, Bryson Slagle and Kim placed third in the 4x800, and Joe Syrus, Carsen Eloms, Hall and Tristan Capps were fifth in the 4x100, but ahead of the standard. The Tigers have nine qualifiers to state.

Carmel finished sixth as a team with 49 points. The Greyhounds got a 1-2 finish from Tony Provenzano and Kyle Grove in the 3200 run; Provenzano won the race in 9:00.35, with Grove clocking in at 9:02.95.

Carmel had seven qualifiers for state. Adom Quist placed second in the 110 hurdles while Theo Thurmond placed third in the discus. The Hounds had three more qualify by the state standard: Cole Taylor was fourth in the 400, the 4x800 relay team of Provenzano, Cooper Szotek, Kiefer Jay and Max Meisner were fifth, as was the 4x400 relay team of Taylor, Gabriel LaBoyteaux, Andrew Moss and Drew Grogan.

Noblesville got three qualifiers on to state, including two in the 1600 run. Caden Click won that event, finishing in 4:15.94, while Jack Strong took third place. The Millers’ 4x800 team of Bradyn Livingston, Banner Barnes, Jack Shinneman and Jude Naville finished fourth but were under the state standard.

Westfield got two relays on to state. The Shamrocks’ 4x800 squad of Maxim Poirier, Caleb Haney, Jack Loiselle and Will Snedeker took second place, while the 4x100 team of Caleb TerriL, Deacon King, Cade Parker and Cato June finished sixth, but with a time of 42.30 seconds, under the state standard of 42.45 seconds.

Sheridan’s Damon Winston won the high jump with a best leap of 6 feet, 6 inches, qualifying him for state. Hamilton Heights’ Peyton McQuinn is also headed to state after winning the pole vault. McQuinn cleared 14 feet, 6 inches.

There were two callbacks to the state meet from the county. Sam Rinker received a callback in the 1600 run, as did Westfield’s Alex Wilson in the pole vault.
