

REFLECTIONS

We are all experienced in our own unique ways. Thank goodness!

As yet another year is set to end, and a new one begins, our minds start to become cluttered with thoughts of all the new habits we should start as we usher in a brand-new year. The truth is each day is a new beginning. You do not have to wait for a new year to make changes in your life. A reminder I often tell myself.

Since sharing my story, I have had the privilege of watching from afar, three brave young women who live with muscular dystrophy have babies of their own. I remember when the first young lady reached out to me asking for guidance. I thought, "Is this real?" That is when I really started to realize and see the reflection. It was a pivotal moment for me. Since then, we have shared common struggles, and I have shared adaptations that worked for me and my babies. I have offered advice, while reminding them that they have come this far and they have what it takes. Trying to instill confidence and comfort.

I hope that you, too, will head into 2025 seeing yourself as a reflection of helpfulness. The world needs some of what you have to give because of what you learned by never receiving that thing yourself. Share your goodness!

Until next time ...

Calling all artists for Indiana Peony Festival design contest

By KELLIE McVEY
Indiana Peony Festival

As we near the end of 2024, our team is hard at work preparing for the fifth annual Indiana Peony Festival on May 17.

With our five-year anniversary just around the corner, we're more excited than ever to announce this year's highly anticipated design contest. We're passionate about celebrating this milestone and would like to showcase this throughout our 2025 merch.

We are looking for a design that represents our brand and encompasses the festival, but with a five-year celebratory twist: design that promotes our landmark event, but still highlights its original roots. The winning design will receive a $1,000 cash prize plus public recognition for their work.

It's time to put your design skills to the test. Dream up your best design that men, women, and children will wear all year long. We're looking for versatility, passion, and 2025 IPF spirit. Submissions are due by 11:59 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 25. Click here for additional submission details.

Don't just make resolutions, make this your year of decision

"You're going to be proud of me, Lucy ... I've decided that this next year is going to be my year of decision!" – Charlie Brown

Webster defines the word "resolution" as it pertains to this article as 'the act of finding an answer or solution to a conflict, problem, etc.: the act of resolving something: an answer or solution to something...' and we all know that there is an expectation of sorts that most of us will have at least one or two of those resolutions as we enter another new year. However, I like Charlie Brown's perspective much better as it relates to a "year of decision."

Our lives are made up of decisions from the moment we open our eyes in the morning until we enter dreamland that same evening. Decisions vary from the mundane and completely simplistic (do I wear a red sweater or a black sweater today?) to critically important decisions regarding our health and relationships.

For my intent here, we will focus on decisions which may seem simplistic but can have a very positive effect on our fitness level and enjoyment of whatever stage of life in which we find ourselves. I am going to step out on a limb and use myself as an example ...

As a woman of a certain age, I sometimes have to ask myself "How in the world did I get here?" as I often feel little differently than I did in my 20s ... and society has a tendency to push aging folks more and more into the background of life.

Many of us who reach this stage of life have serious health issues which we are forced to confront and handle the best we can with medication and medical assistance. Many of us are blessed that we do not take prescription medications and are able to maintain a positive level of energy most of the time. And, of course, most aging baby boomers fall somewhere in between the two.

Whatever stage you are in (and I am speaking of the "60+" group here) you still have daily decisions to make about your health and fitness. If you are over 60 and you have not had a complete physical in some time, start there. Your physician will order bloodwork and give you an examination which may include heart monitoring and other exams based upon family medical history and your own considerations. A vision exam, dental work and a complete skin examination by a dermatologist are always a good idea.

Once you have these items behind you and are cleared by your physician it is time to make the decision to work with a certified nutrition consultant and perhaps a fitness trainer to take charge of your health and well-being to be the best you possible; not the 20-something you but the current you. Fortunately, many people approaching 70 and over are more active, healthy, and enjoying life now than at any point in history.

Make a decision this year to be the best you – not like a celebrity, or your neighbor, or best friend, but based on your own particular health and fitness decisions. Not only will you feel better, look better, and enjoy your life more completely, but your loved ones will benefit from the care you give yourself. Those we hold dear and who love us in return will benefit from our decision to evaluate and step forward in 2025 to an increased level of self-care and wellness.

In homage to my Scottish ancestry, I wish you all Bliadhna Mhath Ur!

Sheriff's Office investigates weapons complaint & multi-county pursuit

The REPORTER

At approximately 11:15 a.m. on Dec. 31, 2024, the Hamilton County Sheriff's Office (HCSO) responded to the 16000 block of Province Court in Hamilton County near Fortville following a weapons complaint. The initial caller reported that her husband was threatened when leaving the neighborhood, stating that a suspect wearing a ski mask pointed an AK-47-style rifle at him.

Upon arrival, deputies confirmed that no shots had been fired but verified the reported threat involving the firearm.

A deputy patrolling the area located a vehicle matching the suspect vehicle's description, including its make, color, and license plate. As the deputy followed the vehicle out of the neighborhood and attempted a traffic stop, the suspects fled, initiating a pursuit.

The chase spanned multiple counties, beginning in Hamilton County, continuing through the Fortville area and Hancock County, and proceeding north on State Road 67 into Pendleton and Madison County before turning east onto U.S. 36 into Henry County. Hamilton County deputies terminated the pursuit near County Road 250 East on U.S. 36.

Shortly after, Middletown Police located the suspect vehicle, which had crashed at U.S. 36 and County Road 500 West. Witnesses reported seeing two black male suspects fleeing the crash site on foot, heading southeast into a nearby farm field.

Law enforcement established a perimeter and deployed drones, K-9 units, and additional personnel in an effort to locate the suspects. Despite exhaustive search efforts, the suspects were not apprehended. The suspect vehicle was towed from the scene, and the investigation remains active and ongoing.

HCSO thanks the Henry County Sheriff's Office, the Madison County Sheriff's Office, New Castle Police Department, the Pendleton Police Department, the Middletown Police Department and Hamilton County EMA for their assistance.

HCSO is committed to ensuring public safety and resolving this matter. Anyone with information regarding this incident is encouraged to call the non-emergency number at (317) 773-1282 or submit tips anonymously at this link.

Pre-enforcement period for Safe Zones begins on I-465, I-69 in Clear Path work zone

The REPORTER

INDOT’s worksite speed control pilot program, known as Safe Zones, has been deployed in the current Clear Path I-465/I-69 construction zone on the north-east side of Indianapolis.

The program was authorized by House Enrolled Act 1015 during the 2023 legislative session to protect the lives of motorists and road workers across the Hoosier state. By statute, INDOT may deploy Safe Zones at up to four sites at any given time.

Deployment will begin with a minimum 30-day pre-enforcement warning period during which drivers will receive courtesy notices via mail. The active site on I-70 in Hancock County will be discontinued.

Here’s how Indiana Safe Zones works:

- Signs will be posted as motorists enter and exit worksites notifying them that speed limits are being monitored by an automated system.
- The system will monitor the speed of vehicles using speed timing devices as they pass through work zones. When a vehicle is determined to be traveling 11 mph or more than the posted speed limit, the system will capture an image of the vehicle’s rear license plate. After data is validated, violations will be certified and

PRE-ENFORCEMENT WARNING PERIOD:

Indiana Safe Zones will be deployed on or after Wednesday, January 1, 2025, in the current Clear Path I-465/I-69 work zone in Marion County.

- A pre-enforcement warning period will begin at this time (on or after January 1).
- No violations will be issued during the pre-enforcement period, but courtesy notices will be sent via mail.
- The pre-enforcement period will last a minimum of 30 days.
- The active site on I-70 in Hancock County will be discontinued in late December.

issued to the owner of the vehicle by mail.

- After the pre-enforcement period ends, the first violation will result in a zero-fine warning, the second in a $75 civil fine, and every violation thereafter a fine of $150. In accordance with the statute, collected fines will go into the state’s General Fund.
  - Workers must be present at the site at the time of the event for violations to be valid.
- Similar programs in other states have significantly improved work zone safety. Two years after Maryland launched its program, speeding violations in construction sites fell by more than 80 percent and incidence of worksite-related crashes, fatalities, and injuries were at their lowest in more than 10 years. In the first year that Pennsylvania began continuously enforcing its program, it saw a more than 19 percent drop in worksite crashes. The first four months of INDOT’s pre-enforcement launch of the program show more than a 70 percent decrease in excessive speeding.

Data collected by Indiana Safe Zones will be used strictly for this program and will not be used for surveillance or other law enforcement purposes. INDOT will share annual reports throughout the five-year pilot program with members of the Indiana General Assembly and the traveling public.

Rep. Spartz: bold & decisive leadership needed to reverse this “Titanic” from its catastrophic course

Submitted

On Monday, Congresswoman Victoria Spartz (R.-Ind.-05) released the following statement on her upcoming speaker vote on Jan. 3.

Congress has abandoned its constitutional duty to the American people to properly oversee the spending of their hard-earned money paid as taxes. Our next speaker must show courageous leadership to get our country back on track before this “Titanic” strikes an iceberg at any moment. Severe fiscal calamities often lead to unrest and more government control.

If we are serious about governing, our next SPEAKER must COMMIT PUBLICLY to create at least temporary structures in the House for: 1) authorizations; 2) reconciliation offset policies, and 3) spending audits. We also need to engage competent, unbiased “non-swamp” professionals to help us to at least start getting us gradually out of this serious fiscal mess. The current STRUCTURES, with their perverse incentives, have not been working for decades and will not suddenly start working.

We must have a vision and a concrete PLAN to deliver on President Trump’s agenda for the American people, which I have not seen from our current speaker despite countless discussions and public promises.

The fate of our Republic is at stake and Congress, the ARTICLE 1 BRANCH, with its supreme powers of creating laws and managing our nation’s finances, must start fulfilling its CONSTITUTIONAL DUTIES – not selling out our Republic at the expense of our children.

Spartz

HAPPY NEW YEAR!!!

New Years has always been a time for resolutions, big, small, health, wealth and wishful thinking,,,,, but most don’t last. So, for 2025 let’s start with one that can make a difference in not only your life, but the lives of those you love, are friends with and live next door or are far away. Call it ‘Buddy Checks’. Letters, emails, phone calls, text messages – communications / correspondence / connection - with loved ones and friends who may be near, or far, so you can let them know they are not alone, you are here thinking of them and if they need anything, you are ready to help.

Also, if you have a loved one, relative, friend, neighbor who is deployed this holiday season, write them a letter, correspond and make that connection. Here is why. Throughout World War II, correspondence / connection - particularly letters from loved ones - maintained the morale of troops fighting across the globe. In 1945 alone, nearly three billion pieces of mail were exchanged between servicemembers and the friends and family who supported them on the home front. Wartime letters and diaries reveal that the mail call was one of the most cherished rituals of soldiers and sailors serving abroad. Craving news from home and words of encouragement, troops prized the letters that could, however briefly, allow them to escape the often harrowing and dangerous conditions in which they served.

So, for this New Year’s resolution, let’s all be thankful for what we have. Reach out to those neighbors, friends and family members who are deployed, away from home or still at home, so they may feel that connection and know they are not alone. Let’s roll back the clock and write letters....

Shaffer calls on Nieshalla to take a look at local debt

Dear Editor:

I applaud the 37 state financial officers who wrote the Dec. 27 letter to you with the call to action that noted:

1. Total 2025 federal spending is less than in 2024.
2. Implement a concrete plan to put the federal government on a path to a balanced budget as soon as feasible.
3. Unleash economic prosperity by cutting red tape and tapping into our nation’s vast natural resources with a timeline for reducing the debt that is empowered by a growing economy.

While they represent 37 different states, the Indiana representative could well look homeward first.

Sauce for the federal goose is admirable, it’s even more valuable for the state and local gander.

In Carmel – the city and township – its civic, township, schools, and library debt exceed $2.2 billion.

Most of that debt was incurred without taxpayer approval.

Most of that debt was incurred by dodging around flaccid state laws.

All of the debt falls on future generations to pay.

The fiscal, moral and ethical disaster on the local level merely mirrors the federal debacle.

Young Democrats of America condemn surge in online hate against immigrant communities

Submitted

The Young Democrats of America released the following statement on Monday.

The recent rise in hateful, racist, and Hinduphobic rhetoric targeting Indian Americans, along with other immigrant communities, particularly online over the past week, is unacceptable and deeply harmful. Immigrants have always been central to the American story, enriching our culture, driving innovation, and building stronger communities. Such divisive rhetoric undermines the values of opportunity and equality that are at the heart of our nation’s proud tradition.

The Young Democrats of America strongly denounce this hateful rhetoric and reaffirm our commitment to fostering a more equitable and just society. Together, we must reject discrimination and honor the legacy of unity and progress that has shaped our country.

Public school leaders’ reports suggest no overall change in number of teaching positions since last school year

Submitted

The most recent School Pulse Panel (SPP) data from the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), the statistical center within the U.S. Department of Education’s Institute of Education Sciences, show that, when compared to last school year (2023-24), 31 percent of public schools reported losing teaching position(s) and 27 percent reported adding new teaching position(s).

The average difference in total number of teaching positions compared to last school year, accounting for both positions lost and positions added, rounds to zero. In addition, 50 percent of public school leaders reported feeling that their school is understaffed at their current staffing level. Also, compared to the 2021–22 school year, educators estimated that a lower percentage of students were behind grade level in at least one academic subject when starting the 2024–25 school year.

Public schools that lost teaching positions reported the reasons for losing teaching positions included decreased enrollment (55 percent) and loss of funding or budget cuts (52 percent). Public schools that added teaching positions reported the reasons for adding new teaching positions included increased enrollment (60 percent) and addition of new classes or courses (27 percent).

“Meeting the staffing needs, particularly in filling special education teacher vacancies, continues to be a challenge for schools,” NCES Commissioner Peggy Carr said. “The percentage of schools feeling understaffed has risen to 50 percent, up from 45 percent in 2023. With changes in enrollment and budgets, policymakers and practitioners alike are navigating multiple competing priorities as they address these staffing challenges.”

Nationally, 3 percent of all public school teaching positions were vacant as of October 2024, which was not measurably different from the percentage reported in October 2023. This year, 35 percent of public schools reported that they had at least one teacher vacancy as of October, compared to last year’s 37 percent reporting at least one vacancy. The 35 percent includes 20 percent of public schools that were operating with multiple vacancies and 15 percent that were operating with one vacancy. Around a third of school leaders indicated they feel understaffed in special education, at 34 percent.

Six percent of all public school non-teaching staff positions were vacant as of October 2024, which was not measurably different from the percentage reported in October 2023. For non-teaching positions, among those specific types of positions asked about, classroom aides and transportation staff had reported average vacancy rates of 7 percent. Forty-one percent of public schools were operating with at least one non-teaching staff vacancy, lower than the 45 percent reported in October 2023.

According to some leaders in schools with at least one teaching or non-teaching staff vacancy, these vacancies have resulted in an increased need to use teacher or non-teaching staff to handle tasks outside of their intended duties, 42 and 43 percent, respectively. Twenty-nine percent reported class sizes increased as a result of the vacancies, and 22 percent reported needing to share teachers and staff with other schools.

Additionally, school leaders estimated that 40 percent of students were behind grade level in at least one academic subject when they started this school year, a 5 percent decrease since the 2021–22 school year. Most schools reported that at least some students were behind in math and English language arts, at 98 percent each.

The findings released Dec. 12 are part of an experimental data product from the School Pulse Panel, NCES’s innovative approach to delivering timely information regarding the COVID-19 pandemic’s impact on public K–12 schools in the United States. The SPP data, collected Oct. 8 to 22, came from 1,491 participating public K–12 schools from every state and the District of Columbia. The data include information about summer school programs, including programs offered and student participation.

Additional data collected from 98 public K–12 schools in the U.S. Outlying Areas – American Samoa, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, and the U.S. Virgin Islands – are also available. Results from this collection include the finding that 82 percent of Outlying Area public schools reported feeling that their school was understaffed as of October.

Experimental data products are innovative statistical tools created using new data sources or methodologies. Experimental data may not meet all of NCES’s quality standards but are of sufficient benefit to data users, in the absence of other relevant products, to justify release. NCES clearly identifies experimental data products upon their release.

All data released can be found on the School Pulse Panel Dashboard.

David (Dave) L. Lawson, 89, Fishers, passed away peacefully on Saturday, December 28, 2024, at Riverview Hospital. He was born at home on October 2, 1935, to Herman E. and Mary B. (Gilliam) Lawson in Noblesville.

He was a Noblesville High School alum, Class of 1953. Dave proudly served his country in the United States Army from 1958 to 1960. He was in Administration most of his life, retiring from the family business; Reynolds Farm Equipment. He was previously Branch Manager at American National Bank (Noblesville Branch) where he met the true love of his life, his wife, Mary. Prior to that, he worked at Myers Furniture, Noblesville. Dave loved the old Noblesville and Fishers communities, serving for a time on the Fishers Town Board, Hamilton County Council and as past- President of the Fishers Lions Club.

Dave also enjoyed motorcycling, owning many different bikes throughout his lifetime, and was Past President of Honda Sport Touring Association (HSTA) and a member of the Gold Wing Road Riders Association (GWRRA). He enjoyed singing and playing his acoustic guitar and was an avid fan of old country music and performers, counting Ray Price, Charley Pride, Merle Haggard and Steve “that kid” Wariner as his favorites; the latter, a friend. As a lifetime member of Fishers United Methodist Church, he and Mary volunteered on adult mission trips in New Mexico and South Dakota. David enjoyed traveling and RV camping with Mary, and they enjoyed a home for a few years in Central Florida. Most of all, Dave genuinely loved his entire family and gave generously.

Craig Alan Riker*February 11, 1979 – December 21, 2024

Craig Alan Riker, 45, passed away on Saturday, December 21, 2024. He was born on February 11, 1979, to Robert and Barbara (Abell) Riker in Plano, Texas.

Craig was loved by so many for his big heart. His contagious laugh, his ability to make you feel at home in his presence, his ornery smile, his sincere nature, and his big bear hugs endeared him to so many of us. Craig never really met a stranger and was able to make friends with just about anyone he came across. He was always up for a good time, and it was sure hard to not have one whenever he was around.

Craig loved working on cars and could fix just about anything. He enjoyed live music, campfires, kayaking & floating down the river, his green bottled beer, and spending as much time as he could with his friends. He was always there to lend a hand and was always willing to give you the shirt off his back ... Lord knows, he never wanted to wear one anyway. Craig was also the best worst dancer you’ve likely ever met – you couldn’t help but want to dance along with him once he got his groove on.

He is survived by his children, Emma, Ethan, Madison, Alexis, and Logan; brother, Gregory Riker; sister-in-law Lori Riker; nieces and nephews, Kyle, Kinsey, Haley, and Emily; and his life-long friend and “brother,” Jason Wise.

In addition to his parents, Craig was preceded in death by his brother, Donnie Riker, as well as so many family members and friends who have gone too soon.

Visitation will be from 4 to 7 p.m., with services at 7 p.m., on Friday, January 10, 2025, at Randall & Roberts Funeral Center, 1685 Westfield Road, Noblesville. A celebration of life event will be scheduled to take place in the Spring of 2025.

The Hamilton County Reporter does not charge families for publishing obituary notices in our pages. Every obituary appearing in online editions Wednesday through Saturday also appears in our Monday print editions. In order to continue to offer this as a community service, we ask that obituaries not exceed 500 words. The limitations of space may not allow for longer ones to appear in print.

TODAY’S BIBLE READING*CONSECRATION OF THE PRIESTS

“Take from this ram the fat, the fat tail, the fat on the internal organs, the long lobe of the liver; both kidneys with the fat on them, and the right thigh. (This is the ram for the ordination.) From the basket of bread made without yeast, which is before the Lord, take one round loaf, one thick loaf with olive oil mixed in, and one thin loaf. Put all these in the hands of Aaron and his sons and have them wave them before the Lord as a wave offering. Then take them from their hands and burn them on the altar along with the burnt offering for a pleasing aroma to the Lord, a food offering presented to the Lord. After you take the breast of the ram for Aaron’s ordination, wave it before the Lord as a wave offering, and it will be your share.

Sandra Edwards*d. December 9, 2024

Sandra Edwards, 63, passed away at her home in Sheridan on December 9, 2024.

Quiet on the outside, Sandra was strong and unwavering in her love for her family. Sandra was a proud and loving mother to Jeremy (Adriana) Edwards and doting grandmother to Neil. She was a loving sister and a favorite aunt, which she liked to remind her niece and nephews of. She had the strongest hugs that her family misses so much. Sandra was a member of Community Bible Fellowship Church and loved and followed Jesus. Her life will be remembered as one of service. She literally and figuratively gave the coat off her back. Her legacy is the example she lived.

In lieu of flowers, send flowers to an important woman in your life. Why wait until she’s gone? Or better yet, pick up the phone and tell her you love her. Don’t take time for granted. Following Sandra’s example, ask yourself, “How can I be a blessing today?”

A memorial service will be held at 10:30 a.m. on January 10, 2025, at her church, Community Bible Fellowship Church, 231 E. 161st St., Westfield.

Trailblazers split pair of games at Lebanon tourney

The REPORTER

University's boys split a pair of games in the consolation bracket of the Lebanon Holiday Tournament on Saturday to bring home a sixth-place finish.

The Trailblazers rolled over Faith Christian 70-40 in their first contest of the game before dropping a 60-48 decision to Indianapolis Metropolitan.

University never trailed against Faith Christian with Peter Morales hitting two early three pointers to put the Blazers up 6-2. Morales added another three for nine points in the opening period and Cooper Cammack had two baskets in a 20 second span as University led 19-6 after one.

The Trailblazers opened the second quarter on a 9-2 spurt behind five points from Blake Gray and four from Max McComb. McComb would go on to score 11 points in the second as University opened up a 39-15 halftime advantage. Ten Trailblazers saw first-half action.

The third quarter was more of the same. Morales had a triple and Gray had two steals and layups for seven University points in the first 70 seconds. University kept pouring it on in the third quarter reaching a 35-point lead at 58-23 with 1:36 on the clock and instituting a running clock for the rest of the game.

McComb had a team-high 17 points. Morales had a career-high 16 points in his first varsity start. Gray had 14 and Cammack 12.

University and Metropolitan battled on even terms in the first half of the fifth-place game with the teams knotted at 26 at halftime. Neither team held more than a four-point lead and there were nine lead changes. University held what turned out to be their last lead at 26-25 on a Cammack bucket.

The game turned in the first five minutes of the third quarter as the Pumas outscored the Blazers 15-3. A Gray three pointer accounted for the only University points in that stretch. The Trailblazers battled for the rest of the game but were unable to get closer than seven the rest of the way.

Gray had 16 and Morales 11 to lead University. Morales earned a spot on the all-tournament team with 27 points in Saturday's two games.

University coach Justin Blanding was upbeat after the games. "We are playing great basketball and playing well enough to win games. We just have to close them. Now we have guys injured and are banged up pretty bad. During this time we had some young guys step up which is encouraging. With all the adversity the ball is going to start to bounce our way. Our record does not tell the story. We are a pretty good ball club."

University stands at 3-6 on the season. The Blazers are next in action Saturday when they travel to Bethesda Christian. Metropolitan, ranked 10th in Class 1A in the USA Today media poll, is 10-3.
