Indianapolis MPO awards Hamilton County $7.8M for three key projects

Two intersections & a pathway will benefit from federal funding

The REPORTER

The Indianapolis Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO) Transportation Policy Committee has awarded $7,813,948 to Hamilton County to fund three key transportation projects.

Hamilton County was awarded $3,788,423 to convert a three-leg intersection at 113th Street and Olio Road into a multi-lane roundabout. It also received $897,600 in funding to replace existing signals and adjust the left-turn lanes at 146th Street and Marilyn Road. Both projects are scheduled to start in 2028.

“These are much-needed improvements,” Hamilton County Commissioner Mark Heirbrandt said. “This funding is an important next step in allowing us to address the growing congestion and safety issues at these intersections.”

The county was

also awarded $3,127,925 to complete Phase 2 of the Steven Nation Community Pathway. The dollars will be used to build a 3.9-mile trail/pathway from Potters Bridge in Noblesville to 234th Street. Also included will be a trailhead at the corner of Cumberland Road and 234th Street. That project is expected to begin in late 2028.

Every year, the Indianapolis MPO (IMPO) receives transportation funding from the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA), and/or the State of Indiana, which is funneled through the Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT). The IMPO then distributes this funding to local public agencies, including cities, towns, counties, and transit organizations, to support transportation improvement projects such as roads, bridges, trails, and transit systems within its planning area.

Protect access to Medicare Advantage

For more than 34 million Americans, Medicare Advantage makes access to quality healthcare affordable to older adults, retirees on fixed incomes, patients with disabilities, low-income individuals, minority patients, and a growing number of veterans. Safeguarding Medicare Advantage will help make, and keep, America great.

Medicare Advantage goes beyond traditional Medicare by offering comprehensive, integrated coverage that includes vital supplemental benefits like vision, dental, hearing, fitness programs, in-home support, meal delivery, and transportation to medical appointments. These services don’t just improve health outcomes. They allow the ever-growing senior population and others with Medicare Advantage plans to maintain their independence and quality of life.

I strongly believe in protecting and strengthening all forms of Medicare, including Medicare Advantage, and I appreciate that President Trump has committed to protecting these programs that we have all earned. With enrollment now surpassing half of all Medicare beneficiaries, Medicare Advantage isn’t just a choice, it’s the preferred option for the 34 million Americans who rely on its affordability and flexibility.

Despite its success, Medicare Advantage has repeatedly been targeted for funding cuts, a move that has already led to higher premiums and reduced benefits for enrollees. Further cuts would put seniors and patients with disabilities at risk, forcing them to pay more for care or lose access to critical services altogether.

Protecting Medicare Advantage is also an investment in our communities and local economies. A healthier, more active senior and special needs population leads to stronger, more vibrant neighborhoods and a more resilient workforce of family caregivers who rely on these benefits to support their loved ones.

That’s why it’s crucial that Indiana’s Congressional delegation and Senators Todd Young and Jim Banks support Medicare Advantage and ensure it remains well-funded and fully protected. With enrollment growing year after year, keeping this program on stable financial footing needs to be a top priority for Washington policymakers.

Medicare Advantage is one of the most successful, widely used, and effective programs available today. Seniors and Medicare-eligible patients must stay informed about their options and voice concerns about the potential consequences if these benefits are diminished. In the best interest of millions of Americans who also want America to be great, lawmakers must stand firmly to safeguard it.

Shaffer opines on property tax metrics

Dear Editor:

All the crocodile tears being shed over property tax cuts omits the scam at the root of the system.

Your soon-to-arrive 2025 property tax bill will be based, like its predecessors, on the assessed value of your home.

“Assessed value” means what your place is worth in today’s market.

That, in turn, is the sum of what you paid for the place and the equity built up since you bought it.

In other words, instead of taxing you on what you actually paid, the county bills you on unrealized capital gain – or puff.

If and when the housing bubble bursts, it will take years for the county to factor in your “loss” in assessed value.

Gleaners Food Bank of Indiana establishes unprecedented ‘Satisfaction Guarantee’

The REPORTER

Gleaners Food Bank of Indiana President and CEO Fred Glass announced Thursday that Gleaners has established a new Satisfaction Guarantee for its partners, as well as everyone else it serves.

The announcement came during Glass’ presentation at the eighth annual Hunger and Health Breakfast hosted by Gleaners and the Indianapolis Business Journal.

The Gleaners Satisfaction Guarantee, believed to be the only such guarantee provided by any food bank in the nation, provides that:

Gleaners guarantees that the food it provides will, upon delivery to any partner or neighbor, have a reasonable “shelf life” assuming proper storage, to their rea- sonable satisfaction, or we will promptly replace it.

“The Gleaners Satisfaction Guarantee is based on our belief that everyone we serve deserves to receive good quality food, whether through our pantry and other partners or directly to our neighbors in need,” Glass said. “While Gleaners has always sought to provide good quality food, we have made new investments and instituted additional policies and practices to even better ensure the quality of the food we provide.”

Gleaners’ new food-quality investments have included promoting industry-expert Nichole Louis to the newly expanded role of Food Safety and Quality Assurance Director; creating the new position of Food Safety and Quality Assurance Specialist and filling it with another food-quality professional; enhancing comprehensive and integrated food quality and safety training for all Gleaners staff; establishing a robust food quality inspection system, where the food is inspected upon receipt, in inventory, through order fulfillment, and during transportation; developing a new Consumer Complaint Tracking System; creating a weekly expiration report to track food retention dates more frequently; and establishing internal Quality Assurance Team meetings.

In addition, Gleaners continues to embrace daily inspections of its Protein Repack Center by an on-site USDA inspector; regular safety training for staff and network partners; temperature monitoring during receiving, inventory, shipping, and transportation; and daily environmental swabbing tests for potential contaminants. As a food distribution organization, Gleaners also receives annual inspections from the Indiana Department of Health and bi-annual AIB food safety audits.

The Gleaners Satisfaction Guarantee

Gleaners believes that everyone it serves deserves good quality food, whether through our pantry and other partners or directly to our neighbors in need (collectively our “Partners”). Thus, Gleaners guarantees that the food it provides will, upon delivery to any Partner, have a reasonable “shelf life” assuming proper storage to their reasonable satisfaction, or we will promptly replace it (the “Satisfaction Guarantee”).

The Satisfaction Guarantee does not extend to food provided to network pantry partners through the Direct Agency Pickup program (DAP) as that food is not physically controlled or provided by Gleaners. Any network pantry partners having food quality issues through DAP should nevertheless contact Gleaners, and we will endeavor to help address the situation with the DAP provider.

Partners should inspect food provided by Gleaners upon delivery, document by photograph any unsatisfactory food, and immediately notify Gleaners. We will pick up and dispose of any such food and replace it with similar, satisfactory food. Likewise, any neighbors receiving food directly from Gleaners (such as through the drive-thru pantry), who upon receiving it discover food that is not of satisfactory quality may return it to be replaced by Gleaners. Neighbors who receive unsatisfactory food from Gleaners through a Partner, should contact the Partner which, if appropriate, should address the situation with Gleaners.

Gov. Mike Braun’s latest executive orders aim to reduce unemployment fraud & increase work search requirements

Submitted by Office of the Governor

Governor Mike Braun signed two executive orders on Thursday to reduce fraud and promote work search activities for Hoosiers on unemployment insurance.

Unemployment insurance is an important temporary safety net for Hoosiers who lose their jobs and are seeking re-employment, and the Governor says these steps will enhance accountability, ensuring no one is taking advantage of this program and thus protecting its integrity.

Cutting down unemployment fraud & abuse

Executive Order 25-33 directs the Department of Workforce Development to take steps to identify fraud and abuse in the unemployment insurance program.

These measures include:

- Verifying applicant eligibility through the use of state and federal new hire directories
- Cross-checking applicant eligibility through state and federal incarceration records, state death records, and the Multi-State Integrity Data Hub
- Conducting additional review and investigation of claims filed from a single internet protocol address using a similar mailing address or bank account
- Ensuring claims made from out-of-state applicants are appropriately verified

prior to approval and payment

The Department of Workforce Development will provide quarterly progress reports to the Governor on its findings and the amount of improper payments prevented by these data-focused efforts to prevent fraud and abuse.

“We need to crack down on fraud in unemployment insurance to protect the integrity of the program and the taxpayer dollars that fund it,” Gov. Braun said. “Today’s executive order will empower the Department of Workforce Development to use data cross-checking tools to find fraudulent activity and stop improper payments.”

Turning the safety net into a springboard: increasing work search requirements to promote a culture of work

Research from the U.S. Department of Labor found that unemployment programs with more stringent work search requirements were more likely to find work, found work more quickly, spent fewer weeks receiving unemployment insurance, and exhausted benefits at a lower rate.

Executive Order 25-32 requires additional work search activities for recipients of unemployment insurance, requires recipients to make contact with a Work One office about searching for work in the first week of enrollment, and tasks the Department of Workforce Development to more rigorously audit work search activities to ensure compliance.

This executive action also seeks to turn the safety net of unemployment into a springboard to gainful employment by identifying recipients at the highest risk of exhausting their unemployment benefits and tailoring re-employment services to support them in finding work.

“Unemployment insurance is an important temporary safety net, but it should be exactly that: temporary assistance while searching for a new job,” Gov. Braun said. “Research shows more rigorous work search requirements lead to unemployment recipients finding work faster; even just sending notices reminding beneficiaries of work search requirements led to fewer weeks on unemployment. Today I’m signing an executive order to require more meaningful work search activities to encourage workforce participation, grow our state economy, and promote a culture of work.”

The Bible Reveals...	Passage Found.	Date Science Discovered.	Years prior.
There was an origin of creation and life.	Genesis 1:1; 2:7 (1440-1400 BC)	1920’s	3,300+
Earth is free floating.	Job 26:7 (7th to 4th Century BC)	1650’s	2,000+
Earth is round.	Isaiah 40:22 (740-681 BC)	16th century (first practical proof)	2,200+
First law of Thermodynamics.	Genesis 2:1 (1440-1400 BC)	1850’s	3,200+

Award-winning slider brand Smalls Sliders coming to Indiana

Submitted

Smalls Sliders, the cheeseburger slider brand rapidly growing across the country, is continuing to spread its signature Smorange hue nationwide, this time through its first development agreement inked with esteemed operating group, Indy Craves, led by entrepreneurs Ellen Broyles and Justin Ruetz, while also supported in consulting by Alex Yeater.

The latest deal details 15 Cans coming to the Midwest state, with the first expected to open in the next 12 months.

Broyles and Ruetz each bring a diverse array of experiences and skills to the group's venture with Smalls Sliders. Spanning various industries, including financial services, insurance, and the QSR (quick-service restaurant) space, the group is well equipped to bring the groundbreaking brand into the Indiana market and is eager to make an immediate impact with their first Can. They also plan to engage with the community by becoming active members of their local chambers of commerce and supporting other local charities & organizations.

"Smalls Sliders has been taking the nation by storm, and we were immediately drawn to its unique people-driven approach," Ruetz said. "The brand's simple yet extremely effective model has proven success, and it was a no-brainer to get on board. Smalls is a movement, and we're thrilled to officially bring the unique experience to communities across Indiana."

Smalls Sliders is eyeing growth across the Midwest in 2025, and this agreement in Indiana with Indy Craves is a clear sign for the impressive expansion ahead. The seasoned operating group behind this latest agreement is currently eyeing communities such as Fishers, Noblesville, Carmel, Lafayette, Indianapolis, Kokomo, Muncie, Pendleton, Avon, Plainfield, Greenwood, Terre Haute, Bloomington, and Columbus for Cans.

"Seasoned operating groups like Indy Craves truly differentiate us from other concepts in the QSR space," said Don Crocker, Chief Development Officer of Smalls Sliders. "This agreement is a great way to kick off 2025 and an even better milestone for the brand as we continue to push into the Midwest. Indiana is wide open for development, and we're excited to introduce our concept to guests across the state."

Smalls Sliders opened its first signature 'Smoreange' colored Can in 2019. Since its inception, Smalls Sliders has disrupted the QSR industry with its stacked leadership team and robust development pipeline, furthering its rapid growth trajectory with more than 375 Cans open or under development. The brand continues to garner high-level industry recognition, with Nation's Restaurant News featuring Smalls Sliders in its "Breakout Brands of 2023," and QSR Magazine ranking the brand in its annual QSR 50 Contenders list in 2023 and 2024. Other accolades include ranking on Entrepreneur magazine's "Top New & Emerging Franchises" list in 2023 and 2024 and landing on Technomic's 2024 Future 50 Growth Chains which highlights the fastest-growing restaurant chains.

Carmel's own Hannah Kim earns spot as executive intern at Bucknell University

Submitted

Each year, the Undergraduate Executive Internship Program (UEIP) at Bucknell University in Lewisburg, Pa., offers 10 to 12 highly motivated students the ability to work alongside a mentor in one of the university's executive offices. The unique program helps interns sharpen their professional skills and build relationships with senior staff of the university. It annually attracts driven students who are interested in gaining campus work experience and are dedicated to making a positive impact on campus.

UEIP was established in 2007, and interns are hired from among a pool of applicants in various executive offices. This year, the executive interns are using their talents and skills in the Office of the President, Office of the Dean of Students, Office of the Provost, Division of Marketing & Communications, Office of the Dean of Arts & Sciences, Office of the Dean of Engineering, Office of the Dean of the Freeman College of Management, University Advancement, Office of Athletics & Recreation, Division of Library & Information Technology, and for the first year, the Division of Equity and Inclusive Excellence.

"UEIP is an impactful opportunity that is mutually beneficial for the members of the program and Bucknell," said Kayla Howie '25, who works in the Office of the President. "As interns, we get to learn more about the behind the scenes of the University and truly understand how each office works independently and together to allow Bucknell to function. Additionally, the program allows these offices to hear student voices directly."

The interns can use that connection to develop projects they think will be impactful to Bucknellians.

"I applied to UEIP because I have an interest in working in higher education in the future," said Alma Ledwidge '25, who works in the Office of the Provost. Over the year, Ledwidge developed a student transcript that includes extracurricular activities to offer employers a better understanding of how Bucknellians engage on campus. "My mentor listened to what I was interested in – projects that outwardly and effectively benefit the student experience – and let me take those on."

The role also puts the students – who hail from different disciplines – together, allowing collaboration across colleges and offices. The students typically work on a larger project, which wouldn't be possible without their combined knowledge and connections on campus. Past projects have included a 'Bye to the 'Burg' downtown event for departing seniors and the Market Street shops.

"Institutional change cannot be accomplished from one person or one department; it is the joining of forces that will allow for widespread impact," Howie said. "As Bucknell is moving into strategic planning for 2030, student voices are critically important, and we have the potential to use this platform to make sure students' voices are heard and valued in this process and afterward."

The 11 executive interns participating in the program are listed below with their offices, areas of study and hometowns.

- Office of the President: Kayla Howie '25; global management and Spanish majors; Center Valley, Pa.

- Office of the Dean of Students: Julia Reynolds '25; chemistry and environmental science majors and women's & gender studies minor; Linwood, N.J.

This show is by Gavin Thomas Drew and Chapman Shields, with music by Rolin Mains, lyrics by Drew and Mains. This show, sure to appeal to kids and grownups alike, is adapted from the book Sometimes I Get the Wiggles: Be a Seizure Hero by Andee Cooper.

Synopsis

Obituary

Carla Marie Stowe
April 26, 1954 – February 21, 2025

Carla Marie Stowe, 70, passed away at her home in Sheridan on Friday, February 21, 2025. Born April 26, 1954, in Lafayette, Ind., she was the daughter of the late Carl Heinz and Nancy Ellen (Henderson) Wetzel.

She was a 1972 graduate of Frankfort High School and never tired of letting people know how proud she was to be a Hotdog. She later earned her BA in Education at Ball State University, as well as a new nickname while she was there, Sunshine.

Carla spent the first part of her career as a pre-school teacher, helping children get a good start in their school years. Carla used her special gifts and talents to positively influence their young lives.

After many years in early childhood education, Carla decided to make a change in the form of opening her own business. Carla’s Cupboard was a small antique shop located right on Main Street in Sheridan. Carla was a “collector” of just about everything, including, but certainly not limited to: ceramics, stained glass pieces, cardinals, books (which she did read before adding them to her collection), vinyl records, do-dads and what-nots. There were even some actual antiques up at the shop as well. Carla never met a stranger and loved the time she spent sharing her varied collection(s) with anyone who came into the store. If you didn’t find what you were looking for, you at least left with a good back story on some of the pieces in her inventory.

After 10 years in business, Carla closed the antique store and went to work at the Noblesville Walmart. It didn’t take long before she had gotten to know just about everybody who worked there. In 2019, Carla decided to retire, but even in retirement, she made sure that her Walmart family stayed close and kept in touch with each other, as a family should.

Retirement afforded Carla more time to devote to things that made her feel complete, and those were (in no particular order) her grandchildren, her animals, and being one with nature and the universe. She was a hippie and a free spirit who loved long walks in nature. She felt that the best way to heal and stay connected to Mother Earth was to take some of those walks barefoot. She cared deeply for the animals that added so much love and beauty to the world, and she tried her best to rescue as many as she could. She also loved attending concerts; it’s hard to say just how many shows she went to over the years, but there is most definitely a box of ticket stubs, just itching to be found in her collection, and waiting to tell the story of her musical journey.

She was a member of Zion Evangelical Church in Indianapolis, where she especially enjoyed Christmas services. She was a woman of strong faith, reading her bible daily. She never felt that she had to be at church to worship, choosing to do so at home, or out on a walk where she could talk to God in the beauty of His creation. Carla always claimed that all she needed was God and the Earth, and the rest would take care of itself.

Her greatest joy in life came from her family. She loved spending as much time as she could with her grandchildren and instilled in them her love for history and animals. She also loved sharing stories about her life, especially about the time she got to meet Elvis. The Good Witch of the North also passed along her love for Halloween. Carla leaves a legacy of love that will live on in all who knew her.

Carla is survived by her daughter, Paulee Marie Stowe of Sheridan; stepson, Jordan Stowe (Ashley) of Avon; three grandchildren, Carl Stowe, Makenzie Setters, and Aaliyah Sumpter; brother, C. Mark Wetzel of Carmel; niece, Lauren Wetzel of Carmel; her former husband, Paul Stowe; and her feline BFF, Mr. Snuggles.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Carl Heinz and Nancy Ellen (Henderson) Wetzel; son, Travis Carl Setters; and sisters-in-law, Jennifer Wetzel.

Services will be held at 4 p.m. Sunday, March 2, 2025, at Kercheval Funeral Home, 306 E. 10th St., Sheridan, with visitation from 2 p.m. until the time of service. Per Carla’s request, everyone should come dressed in bright colors, or in your favorite costume.

She will be laid to rest at a later date at Crown Hill Cemetery in Indianapolis.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be presented to the Humane Society for Hamilton County, 10501 Hague Rd., Fishers, IN 46038.

He spent his life in the service of others, generously giving his time and energy to his family, friends, and community. He found joy in simple pleasures, such as tending to the lawns at the country club, playing the farming game on his computer, and following his hobbies of trains and motorcycles. His love for bowling was evident in his active participation in several leagues. John was also an avid Washington Redskins football fan. A proud and dedicated 50-year member of the Cicero American Legion, he served as Department Southern Vice Commander, Past District, and Past Post Commander. His commitment to service was further demonstrated in his 50-year membership in the Masonic Lodge, where he held the title of Past Master.

John is survived by his loving wife of nearly 50 years, Deborah Klepfer; his children, Jason and Courtney Klepfer; his granddaughters, Brooklyn Klepfer and Natalie Klackle-Klepfer; his great-grandson, Greysen Boisseau; his half-brothers, Jerry (Denise) and Gary Klepfer; his half-brother, Jay (Jennifer) Harmon; sister-in-law, Terry Klepfer; and several nieces and nephews. He is preceded in death by his parents and his brothers, Steve and Michael Klepfer.

A visitation for John will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday, March 1, 2025, at Hartley Funeral Homes – Cicero, 209 W. Jackson St., Cicero. This will be followed by a funeral service at 2 p.m. with Pastor Jodi Brown officiating.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the American Legion Legacy Foundation, The American Legion, Donation Processing, P.O. Box 1954, Indianapolis, IN 46206.

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

THE ARK

He made the atonement cover of pure gold—two and a half cubits long and a cubit and a half wide. Then he made two cherubim out of hammered gold at the ends of the cover. He made one cherub on one end and the second cherub on the other; at the two ends he made them of one piece with the cover. The cherubim had their wings spread upward, overshadowing the cover with them. The cherubim faced each other, looking toward the cover.

Waltraud Christina Flynn

October 22, 1938 – February 26, 2025

It is with profound sadness that we announce the passing of our beloved family matriarch, Waltraud Christina Flynn, known affectionately to many as Traudie.

Born in Kassel, Germany, on October 22, 1938, Waltraud embodied resilience and strength, having moved to the U.S. at the tender age of 19. She was a beacon of light in our family, her humor and generosity inspiring all those around her. Waltraud was a woman of great faith, deeply involved in St. Mary's Catholic Church, where she found great comfort and solace.

Waltraud was a loyal and dedicated homemaker who took immense pride in nurturing her family. Her home was a warm and welcoming sanctuary filled with laughter, love, and the mouthwatering aroma of her cooking. Her hobbies ranged from shopping, watching her favorite shows, to daily walks at Mounds State Park. Waltraud had a special affinity for traveling, especially back to her native Germany, carrying with her the love for her homeland. A member of the Onward and Upward Extension Homemakers Club, she found joy in serving her community and was a steadfast friend to many.

Waltraud is lovingly remembered by her children, Patricia (Jonathan) Burman, Uwe Flynn, Robert (Sandra) Flynn, Sabrina (Brad) Sollberger, Nicole Flynn, Christopher Flynn, Joshua (Margaret) Flynn, and Alexis (Benjamin) Dunkelberger. She also leaves behind her sister, Edelgard Hartung. She was preceded in death by her parents, Adam Steinmetz and Elizabeth Hartung; her beloved husband, Donald Flynn; her daughter, Tammy Flynn; and her brother, Roland Hartung.

"Her children rise up and call her blessed; Her husband also, and he praises her: 'Many women have done excellently, but you surpass them all.'" (Proverbs 31:28-29)

Please join us in celebrating Waltraud's life by sharing your memories and photos on her memorial page. Her legacy of love, resilience, and generosity will continue to live on in the hearts of those she touched. Your stories and pictures will offer comfort and serve as a reminder of Waltraud's remarkable life.

Visitation will be held from noon to 2 p.m. Monday, March 3 at St. Mary's Catholic Church, 302 E. 11th St., Anderson, Ind., with a Funeral Mass immediately following at 2 p.m.

David "Dave" James Chandler

December 22, 1964 – February 25, 2025

With heavy and weary hearts, we announce the unexpected passing of David J. Chandler on Tuesday, February 25, 2025.

David (Dave) was more than a beloved person; he was deeply cherished by his family and friends. Dave was a loving son and brother, admirable father and grandfather, adoring husband, and devoted friend. More so, Dave was a son of God and lived every day committed to sharing the love of Jesus Christ with everyone around him. Dave and his surviving wife Sharon worked tirelessly to provide for their children and grandchildren and built a family together on a foundation of faith and unconditional love.

For many, Dave was a mentor, ensuring he invested in others and going above and beyond to lend a helping hand or a comforting hug. Dave, also known as Pap, had eight grandchildren and cherished each one deeply. Pap's purpose was to teach his grandchildren about Jesus and how to love others as he did. Dave especially enjoyed camping with his family and playing ball with his beloved dog Ozzy.

Dave's authentic self left lasting impressions in our hearts, and while his death feels sudden and unjustified, as a family we find solace in Dave's never wavering faith in God and trust in God's plan. We will forever relish the memories of Dave's witty humor and charm, reminding ourselves of the passion he had for living life. We are now only left to honor Dave's memory by sharing with others his eternal love for God and family.

Survivors include his wife, Sharon Chandler; children, Jason Chandler (Jordan), Megan Voorhies (Hayden), Nathan Chandler (Hope), Dianna McNutt (Joe), Marissa Davidson (Bret), Gabriella Mangin (Gage), and Isabella Mangin (Cole); grandchildren, Joselyn, Reese, Piper, Cooper, Damon, Coralee, Owen, Hudson; parents, John and Barb Chandler, of Elwood, Ind.; sister, Colleen Gallik (Richard); niece, Kayla Gallik of Brookfield, Ill.; brother, Robert Chandler (Nancy); nieces, Emily and Samantha Chandler; nephew, Jeffery Chandler of Huntley, Ill.; brother, Eric Chandler of Plano, Texas; nephews, Austin and Michael French of Muncie, Ind.; aunt, Judi Carey of Wheeling, Ill.; and cousin, Kristen Schmidt (Michael).

Dave was preceded in death by his sister, Carrie Chandler; and cousin, Jeffery Carey.

Please join us at noon on Saturday, March 1, 2025, at CrossRoads Church, 19201 Grassy Branch Road, Westfield, where the service to celebrate the life of David James Chandler will begin at 1 p.m.

Following the service, there will be a meal and a time for sharing memories.

Bussell Family Funerals is privileged to care for the Chandler family.

Gingerich awarded Purdue Baseball Alumnus of the Year

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

In the 1980s, Rex Gingerich helped the Purdue University baseball team make history.

Gingerich returned to Purdue on Feb. 1 to speak at the First Pitch Dinner and also pick up a prestigious award. Gingerich was recognized as the Purdue Baseball Alumnus of the Year for his steadfast commitment to the university and Purdue Athletics over the years.

Gingerich, the founder and CEO of Chariot Automotive Group and a 40-year veteran of automotive sales, pitched for the Boilermakers from 1984-87, helping lead the program to a then program-record 37 wins in 1986 and the team's first NCAA Regional bid in 1987.

"Forty years ago, you're not thinking about ever being in that position," said Gingerich, who now lives in Westfield. "To get recognized like that is very humbling. I was very honored and humbled and appreciative to be recognized, for sure."

Gingerich was a star at Kokomo High School before heading to Purdue, where he established himself as a solid pitcher for the Boilermakers. He threw in 54 games with 26 starts, totaling 204 innings pitched. From 1984 to 1987, Purdue compiled a record of 135 wins, 102 losses and three ties.

"It was a great honor, great privilege," said Gingerich. "I've always thought that it was a special way to be able to go to college, to be a part of the baseball team and have the relationships with all the players and coaches that I had and still have 40 some years later."

Gingerich graduated with a general management degree from the Krannert

School of Management. He remembers that the curriculum included "marketing, there was finance, business law, accounting, economics."

Blazers beat Phalen on Senior Night

By RICHIE HALL
sports@readthereporter.com

CARMEL – The University boys basketball team finished its regular season Thursday with an exciting Senior Night win.

The Trailblazers beat Phelan Academy 64-55 at the U Center. The game was played at a fast, hectic pace during all four quarters and was even in the first half. University made a run in the third quarter to get a lead and held off the Falcons in the fourth.

"We're not in our regular routine, we have the Senior Night stuff," said University coach Justin Blanding. "When we get out of our routine, we can get a little uncharacteristic. We settled back in pretty well."

The Trailblazers' first run came in the first quarter, a 6-0 spurt that got University ahead 8-4. Faisal Mohamud made two free throws, then senior Max McComb scored two layins, the second off a Mohamud steal.

Phelan came back to tie the game at 10-10 by the end of the first quarter. The second period was an equally tight quarter, with the Falcons leading 26-22 late. The 'Blazers used another 6-0 run to lead 28-26; Mohamud scored off another steal, then a McComb basket and Cooper Cammack layin pushed University ahead.

Blake Gray finished the half with a 3-pointer, giving the Trailblazers a 31-27 lead at the break. Phelan Academy tied the game at 33-33 early in the third quarter, after which University used a 9-2 run to take control of the game.

McComb went 4-for-4 from the free-throw line during the spurt, and also made a steal that Cammack turned into a layin. Gray finished the run with his third 3 of the game. Senior Zien Bland also made a 3 in the quarter.

"We're such a good shooting team that when shots aren't going in, we get deflated," said Blanding. "But once we start making them, then we turn into a different team. So, we were fortunate enough to get it going at the right time."

Gray drained his third triple of the game later in the quarter. He was also part of an 8-0 run that bridged the third and fourth periods, scoring three points to finish the third and put University up 51-42.

McComb made a traditional three-point play with 6:30 left in the fourth to get the 'Blazers a double-digit lead, then made two more free throws to put University ahead 56-42. The Falcons were within 57-48 with less than three minutes left, but the Trailblazers had one more run left, a 7-1 spurt that put the game out of reach.

McComb finished the game with a double-double of 20 points and 12 rebounds. Gray totaled 15 points and blocked two shots, while Mohamud scored 10 points and made six steals. McComb had four steals. Josh Henderson collected six rebounds and Cammack had five.

University is 14-9 and travels to Park Tudor on Tuesday for Class 2A Sectional 42 play. The Trailblazers take on Covenant Christian at 6 p.m.

GINGERICH

Rex Gingerich received the Purdue Baseball Alumnus of the Year award at the Boilermakers' First Pitch Dinner on Feb. 1. Gingerich was a star for Purdue, helping lead the program to a then program-record 37 wins in 1986 and the team's first NCAA Regional bid in 1987. He is pictured at left with current Boilers coach Greg Goff.

Working ahead
He also took an entrepreneurial class, in addition to the core curriculum as well. Gingerich managed his education well with playing baseball. Some of the keys to that were having a relationship with his professors and learning time management, which included being prepared to work ahead.

"There was an added value to the education of life and getting things done," said Gingerich. "I always looked at it as a real privileged and a treat and was honored to have that experience."

Technology and computers were becoming more widespread in the 1980s, but college student-athletes were still decades away from being able to take on-line classes, although Gingerich thinks studying on-line is harder to do.

"We had a block so we could get in classes," said Gingerich. "Primarily, our classes were in the morning. Then we would have the afternoons free. If there was a home game during the week, we could go to class in the morning and not miss anything. If we were on the road, we would have to miss classes. They would allow you to turn your work in early or turn it in late. That was a skill set that you learned, to be able to communicate, stay in front of things so you don't get in a big hole."

Gingerich already had automotive sales experience before getting to college. He began working for his family's dealership, McGonigal Buick Cadillac GMC, while still in high school. Rex's father Ivan Gingerich, 95, is still one of the owners of McGonigal, having started working there in the late 1940s.

"He's been officially employed there for 71 years," said Rex Gingerich.

In 1991, Rex Gingerich participated in the General Motors Dealership Management Development program, which provides training and education on how to run a dealership. He continued his dealership education in 1994 by attending the National Automobile Dealers Association's "Dealer Candidate Academy."

"That program really gave me the confidence to manage and operate and own a car dealership," said Gingerich. "I bought my dad's partner out in 1995. The degree from Purdue and my on-the-job training gave me the confidence to move forward."

Gingerich bought three more dealerships over the next 25 years, purchasing the fourth one in 2020, the year that Chariot Automotive Group was formalized. "That's our umbrella company that provides support to the dealership," he said.

Meanwhile, Gingerich still maintains ties to the Boilermakers. He said he still stays in touch with "five or 10" teammates and mentioned that there is an alumni weekend every spring, "so you catch up with a lot more guys." One of Gingerich's teammates, Doug Schreiber, was the Purdue coach from 1998 to 2016.

There was also a second-generation Gingerich on the Boilermakers' team. Wes Gingerich, Rex's son, played for Purdue from 2020 to 2024.

"That was extremely gratifying," said Rex Gingerich. Being able to do that in my career, to play there was such an awesome thing. Just to see your son be able to have that same kind of experience 40 years later, that's another dream come true. To succeed and to thrive, continue to be the best version of himself, it's pretty neat."

"I grew up a big Purdue fan," said Wes Gingerich. "It was my dream school to go and play there." Wes said when he got offered, he was "super excited. I was just happy to make my dad proud and to follow in his footsteps."

Wes Gingerich also played all four years at Purdue, graduating last May with a degree in selling and sales management.

"He played outfield," said Rex Gingerich. "He was primarily center field, but he would play any position in outfield."

Wes Gingerich had one more year of eligibility after graduating from Purdue, so he is currently playing as a graduate student at Bradley University in Peoria, Ill., and participating in a one-year program called not-for-profit leadership.

Wes also returned to Purdue a few weeks ago to see his father speak and receive his award.

"I think it's awesome," said Wes Gingerich. "He loves Purdue and he loves baseball. It meant a lot to him to receive the award. It was good for him to think about his time playing and reflect on that. I enjoyed hearing him speak at the First Pitch dinner."

Heights sixth-grade team wins Husky Invite

Submitted

The sixth-grade Lady Huskies basketball team fought its way to victory at the 2025 Husky Invitational last Saturday. The team showcased its incredible talent and teamwork in two outstanding games.

In the first matchup against Frankton, the girls worked together seamlessly to establish an early lead and held strong for a well-earned victory. The championship game against Western was a battle from start to finish. With only a one-point lead at halftime, the girls came back with focus and intensity, demonstrating their unity and resilience to secure the Championship title!

“From the very beginning, we knew that reaching our goal of winning the Championship would require hard work and commitment,” Head Coach Laurie Prater said. “The girls embraced the challenge, dedicating six days a week to practice, pushing themselves to improve every single day. Their determination paid off in the best way possible!”

Prater added, “We couldn’t have done it without the energy and support of our amazing 6th-grade cheerleaders and the incredible fans who cheered us on every step of the way. Their encouragement helped fuel our team’s determination until the final buzzer.”

Prater said this season has been an absolute joy for the coaches.

“Taylor and I have had the privilege of coaching most of these girls since second grade, with the exception of last year when we moved up to coach sixth grade,” Prater said. “Having them back on our team, along with getting to know the new players, has made for an incredible season filled with growth, dedication, and fun. I’m beyond proud of all 14 girls and can’t wait to see them finish the season strong in our final two games.”
