Ag Day celebrates 39 years of agricultural education

The REPORTER

Purdue Extension Hamilton County celebrated its 39th annual Ag Day program during National Agriculture Week, March 16-22.

Due to construction at the 4-H Fairgrounds, local Extension staff took the Ag Day experience on the road to each participating school.

Over the course of Ag Week, Purdue Extension staff visited 72 classrooms, delivered 42 presentations, and guided students through a hands-on seed planting activity. Teachers could also use a virtual "Ag Day Trail" created by local Extension staff and filled with educational videos and resources to reinforce the lessons shared. Nearly 2,000 students participated, deepening their understanding of agriculture's critical role in our daily lives.

With many Hamilton County residents now several generations removed from farming, Ag Days have never been more crucial in helping children understand the importance of agriculture.

Don't give up on those dreams

COLUMNIST

What's your dream? Are you living it now or still working for it? Or did you give up on your dream a long time ago?

Ever since I was eight, I've dreamed of becoming an author. More specifically, a full-time author. I've been a part-time author since 2013. I've had one self-published book. I've also had a book released through a hybrid publisher – a combination of self and traditional publishing – and two books released by a tiny, not-so-great traditional publisher.

I've been working on my latest book, How to Thrive, Not Just Survive, Attending Church Solo, for well over a year now. This very newspaper interviewed me about it last winter (thank you, Hamilton County Reporter!) I've been determined to get How to Thrive published by a reputable, traditional Christian publisher.

Rejection has to be the number one struggle for authors. I've been rejected dozens of times by literary agents and publishers. You must get used to it if you want to succeed as a writer. I even experience it through my grant consulting business. We tell our clients that you can have the perfect proposal that checks every box for a funder ... and they can still tell you "No."

Westfield Washington Schools learns how to 'Stop the Bleed'

The REPORTER

Westfield Washington Schools (WWS) reinforced its commitment to safety by playing host to a Stop the Bleed training for school staff on March 17.

This vital training – led by Teresa Layton, Manager School Nurses from Riverview Health and James Ginder, Health Education Outreach Coordinator with the Hamilton County Health Department – equips staff with life-saving skills to respond to traumatic severe bleeding emergencies.

Stop the Bleed is a national initiative designed to empower individuals with the knowledge and confidence to act in a crisis. Uncontrolled bleeding is the leading cause of preventable death in trauma situations, and immediate action can be the difference between life and death. By learning proper bleeding control techniques – including the use of tourniquets, wound packing, and direct pressure – school staff are better prepared to protect students and colleagues in an emergency.

"Safety is an essential priority at Westfield Washington Schools," Layton said. "We are committed to ensuring that our staff have the training and resources to respond effectively. Knowledge is power, and programs like Stop the Bleed give our staff the confidence to act quickly and potentially save lives."

Technology: your favorite invasive species!

GUEST COLUMNIST

Isn't today's wide world of tech exciting, amazing, and incredible? We all enjoy 100-percent secure cloud-stored data. We have computers, tablets, and phones all packed with easy-to-navigate features we desperately need AND enjoy ... features which never change unexpectedly! What's even better is that none of it ever malfunctions or suffers data breaches. It all simply works!

Imagine if boring old breakfast cereal received such an upgrade. Come on General Mills and Google, one of you buy the other and give us something like this...

Remember when you used to just pour cereal, add milk, then eat? Well those days are over! Behold an innovative, secure, healthy, and vastly improved cereal-eating experience for you and your loved ones: Techfast®.

Think outside the cereal box

Step one: pour a sample of your milk (or favorite vegan non-bovine dairy-imitation product) into the InstaScan™ device to confirm it is unspoiled in just three minutes and 42 seconds. Sure, you could sniff it to see if it's spoiled "instantly," but that's unreliable and subjective, unlike InstaScan™. What if you want cereal when your sniffer is on the fritz? You could give yourself food poisoning!

You'll save time and money in the long run because you will no longer need two sniffers in the house to check and double-check milk spoilage. We're all in this cereal bowl together. Don't let the next pandemic start in your spoiled spoonful of last-gen cereal tech.

Step two: Confirm you are authorized to eat. Instead of 2FA (two-factor authorization), Techfast® features a new and much more user-friendly MFA (Mom-Factor Authentication™). We will send your mom a text message to ask if you are allowed to have another bowl of cereal today because too much sugar is bad for you and if it's after 2 p.m. you're going to spoil your supper.

Sheridan High School inducts 31 outstanding students into National Honor Society

Submitted by Sheridan Community Schools

Sheridan High School (SHS) held its annual National Honor Society (NHS) induction ceremony on Tuesday, March 25.

This event recognized students who have demonstrated excellence in community service, leadership, and positive character. In order to be eligible for NHS membership, SHS students must have a cumulative grade-point average (GPA) of 3.5 or higher. Eligible students are then reviewed and selected to be eligible to be inducted.

The induction ceremony shines a light on students who are making positive impacts in the classroom and outside of it. The event brought together students, faculty, and families to honor the accomplishments of these new inductees. Each inductee was individually recognized and presented with a patch for their letter jacket that marks their membership. This patch symbolizes and recognizes their commitment and embodiment to the four pillars of the NHS. The pillars are scholarship, leadership, service, and character. These pillars guide members in their academic and their personal lives.

DREAMS

One story that always gives me hope is about Madeleine L’Engle, author of A Wrinkle in Time. This book is a well-known classic that came out in 1962. It was also rejected 26 times before finally being accepted by a publisher.

Even though I’m 54, I refuse to give up my dream of becoming a full-time author. When a Christian author by the name of Peggy Sue Wells directly connected me to three good possible publishers last summer, I was thrilled. I was blessed to meet her at the Taylor University Writers Conference.

The first publisher told me “not yet” in September. They asked me to build up my platform and do some speaking on the topic. After I worked hard and did what they instructed, I tried them again in January. They didn’t even bother to reply this time.

I tried the second one three weeks ago. When I saw their email reply last week, I was prepared for the usual rejection. Imagine my surprise when I saw that they were offering me an agreement! I’m now an author with Elk Lake Publishing, with a target of summer 2026 for my book release.

Elk Lake has impressed me so much, and I’m working to use every resource they’ve offered to make my book the best it can be. I know there’s still plenty of hard work ahead, but I’m determined to embrace it all and look forward to this adventure.

I’ve been writing stories and books since I was eight years old. It’s taken me 46 years to get to this point.

If you’re not living your dream yet, I hope you find the spark that keeps lighting your fire to help you continue to go after it. It may take decades, but that makes the eventual victory even more incredible and rewarding!

HONOR

The first pillar is scholarship. Scholarship represents the commitment to academic excellence. NHS members must maintain a high GPA and demonstrate a strong work ethic in the classroom. Their dedication to their learning serves as an inspiration for their peers.
The second pillar is leadership. Leadership in the National Honor Society goes beyond just winning awards or holding a position. Members are expected to lead by example, demonstrate integrity, responsibility, and a willingness to inspire and uplift others. Whether in the classroom, on the field, or in the community NHS members are positive role models.
The third pillar is service. Inductees made a commitment to give back to their school and community through a dedication to volunteer work, fundraising efforts, and acts of kindness. Inductees and members of the NHS are dedicated to making a meaningful impact on the world.
The fourth and final pillar of the NHS is character. Character is the foundation of the members' identities.

Thanks for reading!

Indiana American Water to start spring cleaning in Sheridan

The REPORTER

Indiana American Water will conduct its annual water main flushing in the Town of Sheridan beginning March 30 through April 10 from the hours of 10 p.m. to 8 a.m. during the weekdays.

The company conducts the annual maintenance program of its water distribution system to continue to provide customers with high-quality, reliable water service. In addition, it provides the opportunity for the company to make sure the company’s fire hydrants are operational.

Indiana American Water is responsible for nearly 32,000 fire hydrants in its communities across the state.

Flushing the water system helps to clean out any build-up of mineral deposits and sediment inside the pipes. These deposits can occur when there is a reduced water demand. Hydrants are also inspected and checked for flows in our system.

No interruptions in water service will occur as a result of the flushing. Customers may experience a slight drop in water pressure or temporary water discoloration while this program is underway. Customers should refrain from doing laundry during the time the flushing program is taking place in or near their neighborhood.

If tap water is discolored, Indiana American Water recommends allowing several cold-water faucets to run for a short time until the water runs clear. Using more than one faucet allows the water to clear more quickly. Customers who have questions regarding hydrant flushing may call our Customer Service Center at (800) 492-8373.

Over 4,900 items donated at Indiana’s Light the World Giving Machines

The REPORTER

The bright red Light the World Giving Machines in Indianapolis have once again demonstrated the generosity of Hoosiers during the 2024 holiday season. Since 2023, nearly 23,000 Hoosier adults, teens, and children have generously donated 13,000 items and services worth more than $400,000 at Indy-based Giving Machines.

In 2024, generous Hoosiers purchased items through the Giving Machines to support five local and two global charities, making a significant impact on individuals and families throughout central Indiana and beyond.

“The annual Light the World Giving Machine initiative continues to show the warmth and kindness of Indiana residents,” Giving Machine Indy Co-Chair Bob Petersen said. “Each donation represents a moment when a Hoosier chose to reach out and lift someone they may never meet but to whom they will always be connected.”

2024 Giving Machine Indy highlights

The 2024 Giving Machine initiative in Indianapolis provided vital support across a range of humanitarian needs, including nearly 21,000 meals for hungry Hoosiers, over 900 winter clothing items and hygiene kits for those in need, 375 school supply packages for children, 86 overnight stays for families during medical crises, and more than 1,300 chickens providing sustainable food sources.

- Nourishing bodies and souls: “We just had a graduation today – and next week, we’re welcoming 14 new students into our culinary job training program,” said Michelle Woodruff, Manager of Volunteer Services at Second Helpings. “These donations help us keep that promise: that when they walk through the door, we’ve got them covered.”

- Warmth and dignity for Veterans: “Since the fire last fall, we’ve moved 59 veterans into permanent housing,” Helping Veterans and Families CEO Emmy Hildebrand said. “Each donated move-in kit represents a fresh start for a veteran. That’s a big impact.”

- Transformational opportunities for neighbors: “These items go out the door daily,” Elizabeth Burke-Boskovich, Senior Director of Advancement at Horizon House said. “They’re more than supplies – they’re tools of dignity and hope. A clean shower, a fresh pair of socks, a ride to a job interview ... it’s the start of a transformation.”

- Shelter during medical crises: “Unlike a hotel, we never send a family away because their time is up,” said Jenna Slesinski, Marketing Manager at Ronald McDonald House Charities of Central Indiana. “Thanks to generous Hoosiers and the Giving Machines, we’re able to say: stay as long as you need.”

- Opening doors through education: “Kids don’t just paint,” said Jackie Lai, Director of Marketing, Communications, & JEDI Initiatives at Big Brothers

The Giving Machine at Clay Terrace in Carmel last Christmas season was part of a network of machines enabling anyone to easily donate to any of several causes helping people all over the United States and across the planet.

Big Sisters of Central Indiana. “They connect, they open up, and they begin to see what they’re capable of. These classes are about more than art.”

- Giving chickens turns into global impact: “A woman who has 10 chickens laying 10 eggs a day is able to sell the eggs and send her daughter to school,” said Mary Conceptor Obiero, director of relief development and protection for Church World Service Africa. “You may not have realized when you are giving chicks that the chicken’s eggs can actually keep someone in school and they can be able to finish school.”

Community members like Laramie Meyer and her son Logan felt the joy of giving throughout the 2024 season.

“The power of giving not only makes you feel good inside,” Laramie said as they made their donation, “but the best part is knowing you were able to help others.”

The Light the World Giving Machine initiative, launched in 2017 by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, continues to grow globally. In 2024, Giving Machines operated in 107 cities across 13

- Horizon House
- Right To Play USA
- Ronald McDonald House Charities of Central Indiana
- Second Helpings

countries on five continents, generating over 490,000 donations of vital items and services.

A key feature of this initiative is that 100 percent of all donations go directly to the selected charities, as The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints covers all operational expenses.

The Giving Machines will return to Indiana for the 2025 holiday season to help shine a light on more charities doing great work throughout the Hoosier state and beyond.

WHY THE BIBLE?

THE BIBLE AND ARCHAEOLOGY DISCOVERIES.

Consider just a few of many archaeological discoveries that prove the Bible’s accuracy in revealing historical people, events, and places (from “Archaeological Finds.”).

The Tel Dan Stele was discovered in Israel and is dated back to the ninth century BC. It mentions the “House of David,” shattering the long-held view of many skeptics that David was a mythical person.

The Mesha Stele describes Moab’s subjection under Omri, the king of Israel. It also references the personal name of the God of the Bible (Yahweh), and very likely contains a reference to the “House of David.”

The Pilate stone provides archaeological evidence for the existence of the man who sentenced Jesus to death on the Cross. Skeptics frequently denied his existence until the discovery of this stone, which identifies Pontius Pilate as the Prefect of Judea.

Hamilton County Traffic Safety Partnership on lookout for speeding & distracted driving

The REPORTER

Officers with the Hamilton County Traffic Safety Partnership are on high alert as they participate in an annual traffic safety campaign looking for people speeding or driving while distracted.

Distracted driving and speeding caused over 17,000 crashes across Indiana in 2024, resulting in 230 deaths.

To help save lives, the Hamilton County Traffic Safety Partnership is participating in a traffic safety campaign April 5 to 19. During the campaign, which is funded by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration with grants administered by the Indiana Criminal Justice Institute (ICJI), motorists should expect to see an increase in roving and high-visibility patrols.

"Distracted driving isn't just risky, it's deadly," ICJI Traffic Safety Director James Bryan said. "Taking your eyes off the road for even just a few seconds can change a life forever. No text, call, or notification is worth the cost of a crash."

Distracted driving, which involves cellphone use or any activity that takes attention away from the task of driving, is risky behavior that endangers everyone on the road, from the distracted driver and other drivers to passengers, pedestrians, and cyclists. Drivers can prioritize safe driving by keeping their hands on the wheel, their eyes on the road, and their focus on driving.

In 2020, Indiana passed a law prohibiting holding or using a mobile device such as a smartphone or tablet. Since then, law enforcement agencies have worked to educate motorists, issuing 7,684 hands-free citations and 11,203 warnings in 2024 alone. Violating the law is a Class

C infraction, which carries a fine of up to $500 and results in points being added to an individual's driver's license.

"We all share the road, and all Hoosiers share the responsibility to drive safely," ICJI Executive Director Douglas Huntsinger said. "Slowing down is one of the simplest ways to protect yourself and others."

Speeding is an aggressive and deadly behavior. It reduces a driver's ability to steer safely around another vehicle, a hazardous object, or an unexpected curve. As speed increases, so does the likelihood of a crash and the degree of severity, leading to more severe injuries for the driver, passengers, pedestrians, and other road users.

"Speed limits and Indiana's hands-free law aren't just guidelines – they're in place to save lives," Hamilton County Sheriff Dennis Quakenbush said. "Our mission is to keep our community safe, and we will be actively enforcing these laws to ensure that every driver does their part."

Comptroller Nieshalla calls for investigation into EU Corporate Sustainability Directives

Submitted by Office of the Comptroller

Indiana State Comptroller Elise Nieshalla joined 26 state financial officers nationwide asking President Donald Trump to investigate the European Union's (EU) Corporate Sustainability Directives that subject American companies to comply with the environmental, social, and governance (ESG) disclosure rules in their domestic operations.

"These rules are overreaching and work against American companies' interests in reliable, affordable and clean energy by eroding profits and undermining our ability to protect state pension and deferred compensation investments," Comptroller Nieshalla said.

President Trump withdrew the United States from the Paris Agreement earlier this year and directed a review of international agreements and initiatives that unfairly regulate American companies. As part of this review, Comptroller Nieshalla and other state financial officers support the U.S. Trade Representative investigating the EU's Corporate Sustainability Directives and the European "Green Deal," which impose comprehensive ESG reporting on American companies.

Furthermore, the Corporate Sustainability Due Diligence Directive ("CS3D") requires any company doing business in the EU to implement a Paris Agreement-compliant climate transition plan, regardless of their home country.

"As part of my duty to protect public employee investments, I am bringing attention to the EU directives that in effect regulate companies beyond the EU's borders, potentially withholding capital from essential energy industries and distorting financial markets."

Comptroller Nieshalla supports fiduciary-focused policies and has voted to remove investment funds, fund managers, and proxy advisors that promote environmental and social agendas over financial factors, both as a board member of the Indiana Public Employees Retirement System (INPRS) and as chair of the Indiana Deferred Compensation Committee.

Arts camp needs volunteers

The Prism Project at the Center, now in its third season, is a month-long performing arts day camp for children and young adults with a range of physical, cognitive, and sensory disabilities. With thoughtful guidance from arts professionals, the campers develop and present an original stage production designed around each one's unique talents and abilities.

This year's camp, beginning May 28 and closing with a public performance June 22, is at capacity, but more volunteer Buddies are needed to provide the one-to-one support that helps participants be successful. Volunteering is a great experience for college students and a rewarding service opportunity for anyone who can spare three mornings a week for a month. Indiana American Water president addresses new ASCE Report Card, urges more investment in critical water infrastructure

The REPORTER

Indiana American Water President Barry Suits issued the following statement in response to the grades of C- for water and D+ for wastewater respectively in the American Society of Civil Engineers' (ASCE) 2025 Report Card for America's Infrastructure.

"The ASCE 2025 Report Card reveals no change or improvement over the last four years – America's drinking water and wastewater infrastructure is stagnant," Suits said. "The Report Card highlights the urgent need for significant investment in water and wastewater infrastructure, not just across the nation, but also here in the Hoosier State. Our state continues to face challenges when it comes to investing in critical infrastructure, particularly in these sectors."

With over a trillion dollars in infrastructure investments needed in water and wastewater across the country over the next two decades,

American Water continues to work with local, state, and federal leaders to provide expertise and investment in communities across Indiana that need to strengthen their water systems.

Over the next 10 years, American Water plans to invest between $40 billion and $42 billion in its systems across the country to help ensure safe, clean, reliable, and affordable water and wastewater service.

Need more time to file?

IRS Free File is one of the easiest ways to request an extension. A tax filing extension guarantees the taxpayer six additional months to file, with an extended deadline of Oct. 15.

Although an extension grants extra time to file, it does not grant taxpayers extra time to pay if they owe. Taxpayers who owe should either pay their full tax bill or at least pay what they can afford by the April 15 deadline.

In addition to IRS Free File, the IRS reminds taxpayers that there are other free programs available to help:

- Free File Fillable Forms. All taxpayers regardless of their income can use the IRS' Free File Fillable Forms. These are the electronic versions of IRS paper forms and are best for people who are comfortable preparing their own taxes using IRS forms and instructions.

Bankruptcies usually come down to dollars and cents, but one making headlines now also has many people worried about their DNA, too.

The in-home genetics testing company 23andMe filed for Chapter 11 this week, prompting many questions about what will happen next with the personal information at the heart of the company's business.

"We can't determine the future of the company in the direction they want to take it," said Business Insider's Jordan Hart. "We know they're going to continue operating until they find a new buyer."

Hart spoke with WISH-

TV's Jeremy Jenkins on Daybreak. Jeremy shared his own personal concerns as a 23andMe customer

Hart's response: "I think that it's worth taking another look at 23andMe's privacy policy as it exists today, just to get a refresher on what it means for your data. If you choose to delete your account, which data are they required to keep? What data can they delete and throw away as far as, you know, your genetic samples, et cetera."

Indiana's Attorney General has urged people to delete their accounts. An open letter to customers addresses some of the fears, but Hart's Business Insider reporting points out the company claims it must keep some of the data.

Per the website's privacy statement: "23andMe and/or our contracted genotyping laboratory will retain your Genetic Information, date of birth, and sex as required for compliance with applicable legal obligations ... even if you chose to delete your account."

"There are some things that we know for sure that they'll maintain. I believe email addresses as well," Hart says. "And then when it comes to the genetic information, I think that's where a lot of people are going to have questions and want more clarity from 23andMe."

This story was originally published by WISH-TV at wishtv.com/news/business/23andme-bankruptcy-genetic-data.

Attorney General Todd Rokita driving right through this deceptive collection plan

General Motors LLC and its own subsidiary, OnStar LLC, engaged in widespread deceptive practices by secretly collecting and selling Indiana drivers' personal data to third parties, including insurance companies, without their knowledge or consent, Indiana Attorney General Todd Rokita has alleged in a lawsuit filed by his office this week.

We're taking action to hold them accountable and protect our consumers from these deceptive practices."

The complaint alleges that for years, General Motors has used unfair, abusive, deceptive acts, and omissions to hide its data sharing practices from consumers. It asserts that General Motors coerced them into activating OnStar in their vehicles and enrolling in services as part of an “onboarding” process. General Motors then treated consumers’ enrollment as consent to collect and sell their driving data, without ever explicitly informing them of these practices.

AG Rokita said these practices violate the Indiana Deceptive Consumer Sales Act and is seeking a permanent injunction to stop them and is also looking for civil penalties against the companies as well as consumer restitution and other relief.

"Hoosiers were secretly misled and used," Rokita added. "Their actions are unacceptable and we're fighting back to ensure this type of behavior never happens again."

With this lawsuit, AG Rokita aims to protect Hoosiers against unfair business practices that mislead consumers into relinquishing their privacy rights.

Hoosiers are encouraged to contact the Office of the Indiana Attorney General if they believe they have been impacted by these allegations. Consumers can file a complaint by visiting indianaconsumer.com or calling 1-800-382-5516.

tices by secretly collecting and selling Indiana drivers' personal data to third parties, including insurance companies, without their knowledge or consent, Indiana Attorney General Todd Rokita has alleged in a lawsuit filed by his office this week.

Marketing their OnStar "Smart Driver" system as a way to "maximize vehicle performance, while reducing the rate of wear and tear," General Motors instead turned around and sold customers' driving data in order to raise insurance rates and collect their share of the deceptive dollars.

The lawsuit, filed in Marion Superior Court, claims that General Motors and OnStar misrepresented their telematics system as a safety and convenience feature for consumers while using it to harvest detailed driving behavior and location data — such as speed, hard braking, and late-night driving habits — and selling it to data brokers for profit. These brokers then created risk profiles and driving scores, which were sold to insurers, resulting in higher premiums or canceled policies for unsuspecting Hoosiers.

"Everyone deserves transparency and honesty from the companies they do business with, especially when it comes to having their data protected," AG Rokita said. "General Motors and OnStar turned a supposed safety feature into a way to make money, profiting off Indiana drivers without their knowledge."

TODAY'S BIBLE READING

SETTING UP THE TABERNACLE

So the tabernacle was set up on the first day of the first month in the second year. When Moses set up the tabernacle, he put the bases in place, erected the frames, inserted the crossbars and set up the posts. Then he spread the tent over the tabernacle and put the covering over the tent, as the LORD commanded him.

He took the tablets of the covenant law and placed them in the ark, attached the poles to the ark and put the atonement cover over it. Then he brought the ark into the tabernacle and hung the shielding curtain and shielded the ark of the covenant law, as the LORD commanded him.

Moses placed the table in the tent of meeting on the north side of the tabernacle outside the curtain and set out the bread on it before the LORD, as the LORD commanded him.

He placed the lampstand in the tent of meeting opposite the table on the south side of the tabernacle and set up the lamps before the LORD, as the LORD commanded him.

Moses placed the gold altar in the tent of meeting in front of the curtain and burned fragrant incense on it, as the LORD commanded him.

Boys Basketball State Championship Preview

Class 2A, University Trailblazers

University is making its first-ever boys basketball state finals appearance

By CRAIG ADKINS
For The Reporter

It's always a unique scenario when both teams that are vying for a state championship have never been there before. This happens to be the case with the Class 2A boys basketball state championship with Manchester and University when they meet up Saturday at Gainbridge Fieldhouse in Indianapolis at 12:45 p.m.

On paper, these two teams have caught fire at the perfect time. It's just a matter of what happens on the big stage in front of all those fans to cap off their state tournament runs.

No. 3 Manchester Squires (25-2) vs. University Trailblazers (20-9)

Week-by-week, University keeps making history for its program. Winning its sixth sectional and their second regional title, the Blazers now have their first semi-state championship and are set to play for their first state championship. University claimed its first semi-state championship last Saturday with wins over Linton-Stockton and Parke Heritage.

Head coach Justin Blanding is 32-22 in his second season, and he already has the Blazers making their first state finals appearance. Blanding coached the University girls from 2015-23 and went 154-40, leading them to semi-state twice in 2019 and 2022.

University plays a tough schedule with eight opponents that are 3A and 4A enrollment. Going 3-5 in those games has made the Trailblazers a battle-tested team, preparing them for a tournament run like this.

The regular season started out rough at 2-5, four of those first five losses were by five points or less. After that, the Blazers won nine of 10, including an eight-game winning streak, their longest of the season.

University went 3-3 before sectional started, with lopsided losses to Heritage Christian, Westfield and Guerin Catholic, but that just fueled the Trailblazers for this tournament run through Class 2A south for seven consecutive wins, 6-0 in state tournament play.

Senior Max McComb is the leading scorer with 15.1 points per game with 4.9 rebounds and 3.6 assists. Junior Blake Gray is the other double-figure scorer with 11.6 per contest. Gray pulls down 3.1 rebounds and dishes out 2.5 assists. Fellow junior Faisal Mohamud is at 9.8 points.

Sophomore Josh Henderson averages 7.1 points and four rebounds, along with junior Cooper Cammack (5.0, 5.5 boards), senior Zien Bland (4.5) and sophomore Peter Morales (4.5) all contribute to the Trailblazers' offensive attack.

University scores 58.2 points per game, but allows 54.0 per game. The Trailblazers grab 24.3 rebounds, dish out 14.8 assists and create 9.1 steals per outing. They also shoot 46 percent overall, 34 percent on three-pointers and 53 percent from inside the arc and match the Squires at 68 percent at the foul line.

Manchester has also reached the state finals for the first time in their program's history, dating back to the 1930s. The Squires have won 13 sectional titles, but this was their first since 1995. They won just their second regional, 54-36 over Tipton and made their first semi-state appearance since 1994. In that previous semi-state appearance, Manchester lost to eventual state champion South Bend Clay and former Purdue standout Jaraan Cornell.

The Squires have just two losses on the season. In their second game, they lost to 4A Homestead (71-48) and then rattled off 17 straight wins. Their second loss came at Maconaquah (75-70 in overtime) just two weeks before sectional. They won their final two regular season games, along with five in a row in the tournament for a current seven-game winning streak heading into the state finals.

Head coach Eli Henson has Manchester on the right track in just his fifth season with an 83-35 record. Henson is 192-139 overall in 14 seasons. Previously, he was at Whitko (46-48) from 2016-20 and North White (63-56) from 2011-16, winning a sectional in 2014.

Manchester tied for first with Maconaquah in the newly formed Three Rivers Conference with an 8-1 league mark. They also had key regular season wins over Tippecanoe Valley, LaVille, Northwestern, Rochester, Adams Central and Bluffton.

A senior laden group, the Squires are led by Gavin Betten averaging a double-double at 25.6 points and 12 rebounds. He also dishes out 4.1 assists, grabs 3.3 steals and blocks 3.0

University sophomore Josh Henderson averages 7.1 points and 4.0 rebounds per game for the Trailblazers, who will take on Manchester Saturday in the IHSAA boys basketball Class 2A state championship game.

shots per game. Ethan Hendrix compliments well at 17.9 per contest, along with 3.8 rebounds, 4.2 assists and 3.1 steals. Hendrix also shoots 41 percent (53-130) from three-point range.

Tallon Torpy comes in at 9.4 points, 3.3 rebounds, 2.7 assists and 1.8 steals.

Torpy also shoots great from outside at 34 percent (41-122). Kaleb Kline chips in 4.6 points and has made 36-for-80 (45 percent) from outside-the-arc. Junior Aaron Reid rounds out the starting five at 2.7.

As a team, Manchester scores 67.7 and gives up just 44.3 per game. They average 29.5 rebounds, 15.3 assists, 11.5 steals and turn it over just 9.2 times per contest. The Squires shoot 50 percent overall, making 58 percent of 2's and 35 percent of their 3's and are 68 percent free throw shooters.

Mad Ants clinch playoff berth with Thursday night victory

The REPORTER

The Indiana Mad Ants hit the road Thursday night for the first of two games with the Grand Rapids Gold (Nuggets affiliate). Indiana entered tonight’s game with a chance to clinch a playoff berth as long as they defeated the Gold. Despite trailing for most of the game, Indiana outscored Grand Rapids 30-22 in the fourth quarter on their way to a 112-110 victory. RayJ Dennis finished two assists shy of a triple-double in the win.

Enrique Freeman scored the first points of the night. The two-way forward found an open lane and finished with an emphatic one-handed dunk. Along with Freeman, two-way guard RayJ Dennis was also active for the Mad Ants on Thursday. Halfway through the first quarter, the Mad Ants trailed Grand Rapids 18-16. Following a missed shot, Jahlil Okafor grabbed the rebound and scored with a layup. Okafor missed Monday’s game with an illness.

Indiana trailed 28-20 coming up on two minutes left in the quarter. Cameron McGriff cut into the deficit with a corner three. Okafor showed off his range with a three-pointer on the next possession.

With 18 seconds left in the quarter, McGriff drew a shooting foul. He tied the game with a one-for-two free throw. As the quarter was coming to an end, a shooting foul was called on Indiana. Grammy-nominated country group Midland to headline Firestone Legends Day Concert May 24

Submitted by IMS

Grammy-nominated country group Midland will headline the Firestone Legends Day Concert on Saturday, May 24 at the Everwise Amphitheater at White River State Park in Indianapolis.

The celebration of “The Greatest Spectacle in Racing” expands into downtown Indianapolis with the concert the night before the 109th Indianapolis 500 presented by Gainbridge.

“On the final day before the Indy 500, the countdown to the green flag is full of unmatched energy and excitement,” INDYCAR and Indianapolis Motor Speedway President J. Douglas Boles said. “While fans enjoy the honky-tonk sounds of Midland at the Firestone Legends Day Concert at a fantastic venue in downtown Indianapolis, IMS will be ready to welcome more than 350,000 fans at 6 a.m. the following morning.”

Concert tickets will be available for purchase starting at 10 a.m. Friday, March 28, at LiveNation.com.

Fans can celebrate Legends Day presented by Firestone at both IMS and throughout downtown Indianapolis. Legends Day kicks off with the 109th Indianapolis 500 Public Drivers’ Meeting and driver autograph sessions at IMS. Fans then can make their way downtown for the AES 500 Festival Parade and the Firestone Legends Day Concert.

Double Grammy nominees Midland came together at a friend’s wedding over common influences and the need for a return to post-Urban Cowboy Country.

For lead singer/guitarist Mark Wystrach, bassist/vocalist Cameron Duddy and lead guitarist/vocalist

Jess Carson, the now five-time platinum hit “Drinkin’ Problem” set the stage for their critically acclaimed “On The Rocks” and No. 1 Billboard Top Country Albums debut “Let It Roll” to unite classic country fans, hipsters and media alike.

Based in Dripping Springs, Texas, the trio of songwriters, who developed their sound at Tornillo, Texas’ storied Sonic Ranch, have been building a following that’s sold out the Houston Rodeo and Livestock Show, packed a multiple-night stand at Fort Worth’s iconic Billy Bob’s and reopened North Hollywood’s legendary Palomino Club for one night only.

Bringing listeners a resurgence of their thick harmonies, sad melodies, tart lyrics and steel guitar with their album “The Last Resort: Greetings From,” the retro-Nuevo trio has grown from bar band to an in-demand headliner. Midland’s fourth studio album, “Barely Blue,” was released in September 2024 to critical acclaim.

Firestone has served as the presenting sponsor of Legends Day since it debuted in 2014. The partnership brings together two platforms – racing and country music – that have played significant roles in the rich history of the time-tested Firestone brand.

The 109th Indianapolis 500 by Gainbridge is scheduled for Sunday, May 25. Race Day tickets are on sale at IMS.com or by calling or visiting the IMS Ticket Office. General admission tickets for Legends Day presented by Firestone start at $20. This ticket does not include concert admission. IMS gates open at 8 a.m. and close at 3 p.m.
